For many years we have watched the steady progress of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS in public estimation, and its beneficent effects as a cure for all complaints arising from the stomach of a morbid nature, and we are free to say that it can be relied upon as a certain relief and remedy. Its proprietors have made the above preparation, after years of careful study and sifting, and are now reaping the reward claimed by this valuable specific, and which they so richly merit. It is the only preparation of the kind that is reliable in all cases, and it therefore demands the attention of the afflicted. j3

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA cleanses and renovates the blood, instils the vigor of health into the system, and purges out the humors that make disease. a12 2m

NOT A FEW of the worst disorders that afflict mankind arise from corruption of the blood.—HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA is a remedy of the utmost value. a12 2m

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Dr. Ham's Aromatic Invigorator

removes from the system the ill effects caused by the excessive use of alcoholic liquors, and effectually destroys the appetite for these stimulants. It gives tone to debilitated mucous surfaces. Bilious matter is removed from the system, thereby restoring it to its normal healthful condition. As a medicine, it is quick and effectual, curing the most aggravated cases of Dyspepsia, Kidney Complaints, and all other derangements of the Stomach and Bowels, in a speedy manner.

This elegant preparation has stood the test of years. A wine-glassful before eating will give a good appetite and prevent all suffering from indigestion. Ladies of weak and delicate constitutions should take the Invigorator three times a day. A wine-glassful before retiring will insure sweet and refreshing sleep. All the proprietor asks is a trial, and to induce this he has put up the Invigorator in pint bottles at 50 cents,—quarts $1.00. Principal Depot, 45 CENTRAL WHARF, BOSTON. Sold by all Druggists. my13eod3m

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world; the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable, instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effects of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the hair soft and beautifully black or brown. Sold by all Druggists and Perfumers, and properly applied at the Wig Factory, 16 Bond Street, New York. a2 6eodaglyr

YOUNG LADIES BEWARE!

OF THE INJURIOUS EFFECTS of Face Powders and Washes. All such remedies close up the pores of the skin, and in a short time destroy the complexion. If you would have a fresh, healthy and youthful appearance, use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA. a12 2m

Holloway's Pills.—IS THIS YOUR CASE?—A yellow suffusion of the skin, pain or pressure in the right side, dullness of spirits and indisposition to exertion, and a general feeling of weariness and weakness are infallible evidences that the liver is not doing its duty. When these symptoms are experienced, immediate resort should be had to HOLLOWAY'S PILLS, which act directly upon the bile-producing organ, and, more certainly and rapidly than any other known medicine, restore it to a healthy condition. Sold by all Druggists.

Brandreth's Pills.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Brandreth's Pills have been known and used by your grandfathers and grandmothers. They are always safe, and sure to do you good. They are purely vegetable, and diminish the death principle; some think they increase the principle of life. But in taking out bad humors from the blood, they do make the body lighter, and thus seem to add energy. Many families have used them for upwards of forty years.

They are the best medicine for Colds, for all Bilious Affections, for Fullness about the Head or Heart, and in all Cutaneous and Contagious Diseases they are unrivalled. In all cases in which a purgative is indicated, no medicine yet known can be compared to them. Two hundred physicians have testified that Brandreth's Pills are superior to all other purgatives whatever. Sold by all Druggists. my21

To Owners of Horses.

Thousands of Horses die yearly from Colic. This need not be. Dr. Tobias' Venetian Horse Liniment will positively cure every case, if given when first taken. The cost is only one dollar. Every owner of a Horse should have a bottle in his stable, ready for use. It is warranted superior to anything else for the cure of Cuts, Wind Galls, Swellings, Sore Throat, Sprains, Bruises, Old Sores, &c. This Liniment is no new remedy. It has been used and approved of for 21 years by the first horsemen in the country. Given to an overdriven horse, it acts like a magic. Orders are constantly received from the RACING STABLES OF ENGLAND for it.

The celebrated Hiram Woodruff used and recommended it to his friends, years before his death. Col. P. P. Bush, of the Jerome race course, has given me a certificate stating it to be superior to any other he had used. Hundreds of others can be seen at the Depot, 10 Park Place, N. Y. Sold by the Druggists and Store-keepers. my21

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excesses of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with the invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

The best remedy for the cure of CONSUMPTION, AND ALL DISEASES OF THE LUNGS. It causes the phlegm and matter to rise without irritating those delicate organs (the Lungs,) and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops night sweats, and changes all the morbid secretions to a healthy state.

It contains no opium in any form. It is perfectly harmless for the most delicate child. It is everywhere in good demand and gives good satisfaction.

The result of its use is proof of its great value.—Its extraordinary healing properties are experienced by all who use it. Their testimony will be found in a pamphlet, which can be had of the agents where the medicine is for sale. d25

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, expectoration throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relaxe the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show that the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, (which is all ashes,) is made of use by the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they are unable to stop the cough, to dry up the night sweats, stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and these will take their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulceration Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, inflammation, or ulceration, pleurisy, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not the lungs that are wanted, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Monday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. Q. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1y|a4

THE BEAUTIFUL AND POPULAR

FAIRY OPERA OF "LAILA,"

IN THREE PARTS.

By G. W. Stratton of Boston, will be performed

AT THE TEMPLE!

TUESDAY EVENING, JUNE 8TH,

By Thirty Young Misses,

Under the particular training of T. P. Moses, who will preside at the Piano and direct the performance.

In addition, also to the Scenery belonging to the house, Mr. Moses has just finished painting two Handsome Rural Scenes, nine feet high by sixteen long, each on Panorama cloth, expressly for the occasion.

The twenty-one Mountain Maidens and nine Fairies will appear in appropriate and beautiful Costumes.

In addition, also, to the attractions of "Laila," Mr. ANGELO BECK of Boston, a young man of wonderful skill on the Piano, will entertain the audience, AT THE CLOSE OF FIRST AND SECOND PARTS, by playing very difficult and beautiful Operatic Pieces and Airs with variations, by eminent composers. By request he will play the familiar air "Mocking Bird," with some variations of his own, especially his inimitable Whistling Imitations of a dozen Mocking Birds together, which of itself is worth the price of ticket.

Doors open at 7½; to commence at 8 o'clock.

TICKETS, to all part of the house, 35 cents,—for sale at the apothecary stores of J. H. Thacher, Wm. R. Preston, the music store of E. A. Joy, at Butler & Leighton's on Daniel Street, F. W. Ham's on Congress Street, and at the Temple.

"OPERATIC PERFORMANCE.—The pupils of the Bridgewater Academy produced, on Wednesday evening, Stratton's Fairy Opera of 'Laila.' To say it was a complete success in every particular is not praise enough. The scenic arrangements far surpassed anything before seen here. The costumes were not only elegant, but in perfect taste, and, in short, no entertainment in this town ever attracted so fine an audience or gave more unbounded satisfaction." m y20

Morning Chronicle.

A MULE RIDE IN FLORIDA.—A gentleman writing from Fernandina, Florida, to the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser, gives the following amusing account of his adventures with a gentle mule. He says:

The boys insisted that I needed relaxation. My health required it. I had a pretty fair article of health, I thought: enough at least me as long as I lived. But I must accumulate a stock for future use. The South was the place to get it. And riding was healthy. The sand is too deep to ride, except on horse back, and so I thought I would take a ride. I applied to the livery man for a horse. He had one. He looked sorrowfully at me, as though he pitied me.

Did I ever ride a mule? I never had. He had as good riding horses as were ever saddled, but if I wanted a "Rock Me to Sleep, Mother," style of a ride, I would take a mule. I don't consider myself a first-class judge of mules. I had some vague notions in regard to them; supposed they would do a large amount of work, with a very little feed, and were immortal. I had read of one being driven over the same route, by the same boy, for 87 years, and he was a young mule yet.

Bring forth the mule. The mule was brought. He was a meek looking cuss—a perfect "Uriah Heep" of a mule, so far as "Umbleness" was concerned. At least that was the view I took of him. He was saddled, and I mounted. For a mile or two he paced beautifully. I thought those old monks I had read about knew what they were doing when they traveled on mules. I had a high respect for their judgement. Just then my mule began to show symptoms—symptoms of what I did not know. I found out. Dropping his head between his legs, his heels described a parabolic curve, or a diabolic curve, or some other infernal curve, in the air, and I got off and sat on the ground. I got off over his head, and I did it quick. I'm not so old, but I can get off an animal of that kind as quick as a boy. Then I looked at the mule, to see if he was hurt. He didn't appear to be. Then I inquired around, to see how I was. I reported an abrasion on the left hip, and a contusion on the lower end of my back. Then I thought I would pronounce a left-handed blessing on that mule, and on his forefathers and foremothers before him, and on his children after him. But I didn't.

I wondered if he would stand fire. If I had had a pistol, I would have put the muzzle to his ear, and tried him. Not that I was hostile toward him, but I was afraid somebody might take a ride on him some day and get hurt. But I had no pistol, so that benevolent and sanguinary idea was frustrated. Then I got up and shook the dust off my feet, and brushed the sand off my trowsers, as a testimony against that place. Then I led mule carefully home, and stated my case to the livery man.

But when I looked that he should offer to send for a doctor, or a Samaritan, to do me up in a rag, and pour olive oil and champagne on my bruises, he only laughed. And his man that he had to help him laid down on a bench and laughed—and I stood holding the mule—then I laughed. It was ridiculous. But I've learned a little wisdom. Next time I ride on horseback it will be a different kind of beast from a bogus jackass.

SYMPTOMS.—Some of the symptoms of old maidishness are thus described by a Scotch paper. When a woman begins to drink her tea without sugar—that's a symptom. When a woman begins to read love stories abed—that's a symptom. When a woman sighs on hearing of a wedding—that's a symptom. When a woman begins to say that she has refused many an offer—that's a symptom. When a woman begins to say what a dreadful set of creatures men are, and that she wouldn't be bothered with one of them for the world—that's a symptom. When a woman begins to have a little dog trotting after her—that's a symptom. When a woman begins to have a cat at her elbow at meal time, and gives it sweetened milk—that's a symptom. When a woman begins to say that a servant lass has no business with a sweetheart—that's a symptom. When a woman begins to rub her fingers over the chairs and tables to see if they are dusty—that's a symptom. When a woman begins to go to bed with her stockings and a flannel night-cap on—that's a symptom.

☞ The accounts of James E. Harvey, late minister to Portugal, amounting to $23,000 in gold, have been audited and paid. It will be remembered that Mr. Harvey, formerly connected with the Tribune, was one of Mr. Lincolns earliest appointee, but owing to the publication of a letter of his written before the capture of Fort Sumter Congress had resolutely refused to make any appropriation for his salary. The present Congress however has authorized his payment.

TRIPLETS.—Capt. Myers, of the Fourth Police, Boston reports that "Mrs. Doe, wife of Mr. Buck, residing in Deer Park, on Boston Common, was safely delivered of triplets, Wednesday." The reader of course, will understand that they are three little Deers.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

BOSTON, June 1.

The Woman's Rights question may be considered as settled. A few days since I saw an individual of the female persuasion grinding a hand organ on Tremont street.

Boston streets were never dirtier than now; in fact, if they grow much worse I fear New York will become jealous, so anxious is the metropolis that Boston should excel in nothing. If one half the praise given Butler for cleaning New Orleans, were his due, (which from a residence there I very much doubt,) Boston would do well to employ the "Member from the Fifth District" to superintend cleaning its streets.

The benefit of Manager Selwyn on Friday night will be a great event with patrons of the stage. Every available seat has long since been sold, and parties holding tickets can realize a large advance if they choose, as tickets are now advertised for.

The entries for the Trotting Congress are full, and include many of the best horses in the country. The event will be only second in interest to the Peace Jubilee. * M.

AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE, OVERSEAMING, —AND— SEWING MACHINE!

H. N. DUNYON, 27 Market Street, Agent for Portsmouth and vicinity.

The Reasons Why

This is the best Family Machine to Purchase.

1. Because it will do everything that any machine can do—the finest of sewing, hemming, falling, cording, tucking, braiding, binding, gathering, quilting, &c., better than any other machine.
2. Because it can work a beautiful button-hole, making a fine pearl, as by hand. (Not done on any other Sewing Machine.)
3. Because it will work a beautiful eyelet-hole. (No other machine can.)
4. Because it will embroider over the edge, making a neat and beautiful border on any garment. (Not done on any other Machine.)
5. Because it can do "overhand seaming," by which shirts, pillow-cases and the like are sewed "over and over." (No other Machine can do it.)

Caution.

We would hereby warn the Public against abogus advertisements of Button-Hole Attachments, as the AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE is the first and only Button-Hole and Sewing Machine combined in the world.

WHAT ADVERTISERS SAY.

The firm, whose letter we print below, gave us in 1867 what was then the largest contract we had ever received for our Lists of 100 LOCAL NEWSPAPERS." The fact that they this year renew the order and increase the amount is the best argument we can give that these "Lists" are good advertising mediums.

LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL, MANUFACTURERS OF Axes, Shovels, Saws, &c., No. 118 WATER STREET, PITTSBURG, PA., Dec. 3, 1868.

MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO.: Gentlemen:—One year ago with much hesitation we gave you an advertisement for one of your Lists of Newspapers, and have now to say that ever time thereafter we unhesitatingly added two more Lists of One Hundred papers.

But a short time since, before we were inquired of on every side for "Colburn's Patent Red Jacket Ax," proving to us that your plan of Lists had reached better purchasers to whom we wanted to introduce the new patent Ax.

The year having now nearly gone by, we cannot but believe your system of advertising by "Lists of Local Papers" is the kind of advertising we want, and we to-day forward you an order still adding one more List of One Hundred papers, making the number now stand four (4) Lists of One Hundred (100) local papers.

The more we talk with newspaper agents and editors' agents the more we believe the kind of arrangement we have made with you is preferable to any we have ever heard of. The merit of the Ax itself has, of course, something to do with the great demand for it, but we are satisfied that by your system of advertising by "Lists" we have accomplished in one year what would have ordinarily taken us five years to accomplish.

Respectfully, LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL.

The following from the National Publishing Co., of Philadelphia, may be taken as an answer to those who inquire if these "Lists" can really be good advertising mediums.

OFFICE OF THE National Publishing Company, No. 26 SOUTH SEVENTH STREET, J. R. JONES, President. PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10, 1868.

MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 40 PARK ROW: Gentlemen:—It is more than three years since we began advertising in your "Lists of One Hundred Papers" each, and in that time have given "The List System," as originated by you, a thorough trial, and we can now say it is the cheapest and best general advertising medium we have any knowledge of.

We have tried every possible mode of advertising, having dealt with the principal agents, and thro' nearly every advertising agency in the country, and have no hesitation in saying that your Lists have paid us 50 per cent. better than any other way. Respectfully, NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO.

☞ F.W. Rogers had $200 insurance on his stable, burned Tuesday night,—and Dan'l. H Spinney a similar sum on his building; the latter included in a policy of $1000 on all the property in his wood yard. Thomas Devine, a graduate from the Reform School, has been arrested as the incendiary. Officer Taylor had left the vicinity of the fire just before it broke out, and met two young men as he was going away. These two state that they heard a noise as of some one sliding down the side of a building, and met Devine running away from the barn where the fire was kindled in the upper loft. Devine was held in the sum of $1000 to appear Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. He has been before the Police Court several times on charges of theft.

AN EPISODE.—Mike Long, who lives at the North End, got married Tuesday evening; and was having a good social time over the event with his friends, when the fire-bell struck. Learning the locality, and knowing that Mr. Rogers had valuable Cows in his barn—disregarding his wedding toggery, and notwithstanding the remonstrances of his bride and others, he kicked in the doors of the barn, and assisted in saving all the stock. The ladies of course rewarded his courage and pluck with their smiles, &c., and he proved himself a good cow-herd but no coward. May the new couple never lack milk.

THE APPOINTMENT of Mr. Daniel L. Randall as Captain of the Watch at the Navy Yard was well deserved and is satisfactory to Republicans. We hear that Mr. Kean, who was removed to make place for Mr. Randall, has been employed there for nearly 25 years. Mr. Randall comes of a patriotic family, four of his brothers having served in the army during the rebellion—and is an efficient worker for the Republican cause.

☞ A friend who knows informs us that there are seven graves at the Navy Yard which were not decorated on Memorial Day—those of three sailors and four marines; and our informant thinks the Kittery Post of the G. A. R.'s should not have neglected them—though they were not on Kittery's soil.

☞ The New Hampshire Gazette for this week, is now ready for delivery at the Chronicle office. Price 5 cts. per copy—$2. per year. Contains all the Local and other reading from the Daily Chronicle.

☞ The Portsmouth Cornet Band will give the first Concert of the Season on Market Square, Friday Evening, June 4th, commencing at 8 o'clock. The public are invited. Seats free.

☞ The Rockingham Ten Cent Savings Bank, which has been in operation in this city for eighteen months, has $140,000 on deposit.

☞ Auctioneer Wendell sold the house No. 6 Chestnut St., belonging to W. W. Black, on Saturday, for $1400. Mr. Alfred Stavers was the purchaser.

☞ The world renowned Davenport Brothers are to give an entertainment at the Temple, Thursday evening, June 10th.

☞ Mr. Ira Haselton of this city was conveyed to the Insane Asylum at Concord on Tuesday.

☞ Steamer Appledore arrived in this port from Boston on Wednesday.

SOMETHING LIKE.—The fence in front of the First Congregational Church at Exeter having become sadly out of repair, was removed to give way to a new one. A subscription paper was drawn up to get money to defray the expenses of the same, but its circulation was very brief, as the first man to whom it was presented wrote substantially as follows; "I will defray the entire expense; W. Odlin." The fence is to be of iron and will cost about $1000. News Letter.

Some difference between this, and refusing to pay your Parish Tax, isn't there?

OFFICIAL PROGRAMME.

GREAT NATIONAL

PEACE JUBILEE!

(Projected by Mr. P. S. GILMORE.)

To be held in the

CITY OF BOSTON,

JUNE 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19, 1869,

To Commemorate the Restoration of

PEACE THROUGHOUT THE LAND!

This glorious event in our National History will be celebrated by the

GRANDEST MUSICAL FESTIVAL

Ever known in the History of the World.

The President of the United States,

Members of his Cabinet, Heads of Departments, Governors of all the States, and many other distinguished persons from all parts of the country, together with the Representatives of Foreign Governments at Washington, have been invited by the Mayor and City Council of Boston, to become the guests of the city during the Festival.

AN IMMENSE COLISEUM,

The largest structure in America, capable of accommodating

Fifty Thousand Persons,

Has been erected especially for this occasion.—The interior of the building will be magnificently Decorated with Emblems of National Peace and Harmony.

The extraordinary expense incurred in preparing for this great festival, has been met, with remarkable generosity, by the public spirited, art-loving citizens of Boston, and the Executive Committee take great pleasure in announcing the following

TOO LATE!

"Ah! si la Jeunesse savait—si la vieillesse pouvait!"

There sat an old man on a rock
And unceasing bewailed him of Fate—
That concern where we all must take stock,
Though our vote has no hearing or weight;
And the old man sang him an old, old song—
Never sang voice so clear and strong
That it could drown the old man's long,
For he sang the song "Too late! Too late!"

"When we want, we have for our pains
The promise that if we but wait
Till the want has burned out of our brains,
Every means shall be present to state;
While we send for the napkin the soup gets cold, [old,
While the bonnet is trimming the face grows
When we've matched our buttons the pattern is sold,
And everything comes too late—too late!

When strawberries seemed like red heavens—
Terrapin stew a wild dream—
When my brain was at sixes and sevens
If my mother had 'folks' and ice-cream.
Then I gazed with a lickerish hunger
At the restaurant man and fruit-monger—
But oh! how I wished I were younger
When the goodies all came in a stream—in a stream!

I've a splendid blood horse, and a liver
That it jars into torture to trot;
My row-boat's the gem of the river—
Gout makes every knuckle a knot! [Rome,
I can buy boundless credits on Paris and
But no palate for menes—no eyes for a dome—
Those belong to the youth who must tarry at home,
When no home but an attic he'd got—he'd got.

How I longed in that lonest of garrets,
Where the tiles baked my brains all July,
For ground to grow two pecks of carrots,
Two pigs of my own in a sty,
A rose-bush—a little thatched cottage—
Two spoons—love—a basin of pottage:
Now in freestone I sit—and my dotage—
With a woman's chair empty close by—close by!

Ah! now, though I sit on a rock,
I have shared one seat with the Great;
I have sat, knowing naught of the clock,
On Love's high throne of state;
But the lips that kissed and the arms that caressed [pressed,
To a mouth grown stern with delay were
And circled a breast that their clasp had blessed,
Had they only not come too late! too late!"

FITZ HUGH LUDLOW, in Harpers Magazine.

New Hampshire Items.

Sylvester G. Clorson, a convict in the State Prison, escaped at 3 o'clock, Thursday morning. He was engaged in cleaning out the vaults and in the darkness ran by the teams. He is about 50 years of age and has served three or four terms before.

Mrs. Lovejoy, of Bristol, who has a large collection of curiosities, has just received from a Western friend, a piece of the last tie of the Pacific Railroad.

The Bristol News says that Mr. Henry Pattee set five traps for hedgehogs near the "Devil's Den," in South Alexandria, on a recent evening, and found a hedgehog in each trap the next morning. The average weight of the animals was twenty pounds.

The first section of the proposed railroad from Concord to Rochester, being the six miles between East Concord and Loudon Mills, was explored on the 31st, by a party of gentlemen from Concord and other places. In the afternoon, a public meeting, at which Mayor Stevens, of Concord, presided, was held in Cutchins's Hall, in Loudon. Remarks were made by a number of prominent gentlemen, some of whom offered to each build half a mile of the route, and a committee of five, with Wm. K. Holt, of Loudon, as Chairman, was appointed to call a meeting of the citizens of that town, to see what aid they will give the enterprise.

A letter which was mailed in San Francisco on the evening of the 21st of May, was received at the Post Office in Manchester at noon on the 29th, being seven days and a half on its passage "across the continent." This is some improvement on the system which prevailed "in good old colony times," when it took ten days or a fortnight to get a letter from Boston to Philadelphia.

—A negro postmaster has been appointed at Cuthbert, Georgia. The over-nice white citizens cannot brook the insult of receiving their mails through his hands. Accordingly they have their mails stopped at another post office a few miles further, and send their negro servants after them daily. The color is not so much the objection after all. In the one case a servant of the public would hand them their letters, in the other they receive them from a personal servant. There is nothing like sentiment.

—Robert: "Mary, what do you mean by peculiar fitness in marriage?" Mary, (simpering,)—"when your wedding gloves are just a shade too small, but must go on!"

TSING TEA—Black Dragon Chop.
NATURAL LEAF, perfectly pure (TSING signifies pure) Prepared without any coloring or foreign substance. Cured on Porcelain (not copper) over a slow fire. Delightful flavor, exceedingly powerful and strong. Combines all the healthy virtues of the Tea-plant. Mandarins and higher class of natives use no other.
This celebrated Tea was first introduced here by the ORIENTAL TEA COMPANY, in May, 1868, when the limited quantity imported was rapidly sold, at the high price of $1.50 a pound. It met with such unqualified approval, and the demand for it from all sections was so great, that the Company at once made arrangements to procure a larger supply, upon more favorable terms, for the future; and they have just received the first invoice for this year, which will be sold at the low price of $1.10 a pound, at which (but little over half what it cost one year ago) it is the cheapest Tea known; and the Company feel that they cannot too highly recommend it to all who drink Tea, as it possesses the flavor and strength, and the soothing, invigorating properties of both Black and Green, without any injurious quality; being chemically pure and free from coloring matter or any foreign mixture, it will suit the taste and please all who love Tea.
The Tea is put up neatly in pound parcels, 36 pounds in a chest, with the price, $1.10, printed on each package. The wholesale price by the chest is $1.00 a pound, and orders from Traders, Hotel-Keepers, Peddlers, Clubs, or Families, for chests of 36 pounds or more, will be filled at the wholesale price. Parties living in towns where we have agents can always get this Tea from them.
Like all other goods sold by the Oriental Tea Company, this Tea is warranted to give entire satisfaction; and parties ordering can do so with the full assurance that if the whole or any part fails to suit, it may be returned at our expense, and we will refund the money.
SPECIAL NOTICE.—As a matter of convenience to the public, we are arranging with Apothecaries and other Merchants, all over the country, to act as Agents for selling our Teas and Coffees in their locality, at our warehouse prices. Our profits are small, but we give over four-fifths of them to Agents as Commission. We want an Agent in every town in the Union, and will send full particulars, terms, prices, &c., upon application by mail from Traders desiring it. DYSPEPSIA
AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete health; and I feel that no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being well once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY.

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

SATURDAY, JUNE 5, 1869.

The News.

The War Department is to station four or five hundred cavalry troops on the frontier of Kansas to protect the settlers from Indian depredations during the summer.

A very superior class of emigrants is now arriving at New York, a large portion of them being Norwegians. Three hundred skilled English and Welsh workmen of different trades landed on Wednesday.

The New York Chamber of Commerce has passed a resolution favoring a renewal of the reciprocity treaty with Canada.

The civil war in Japan continues without abatement.

New Hampshire Legislature.

In the House, on Thursday, Patrick McDonough, Democrat, of Manchester, was admitted to a seat. He received 101 votes as first and 113 as second Representative of Ward 6, at the March election—214 votes in all, being more than the two other candidates, who were chosen, received. The moderator declared him not elected, but the House gave him the seat.

In Convention with the Senate, the votes for Governor at the last election were declared. Onslow Stearns had 65,788, John Bedel 32,001, Scattering 95. Whole vote 67,819. Stearns' plurality 3733.

Next Wednesday has been assigned as the day for the election of Secretary of State, Treasurer, Printer, and Warden of the State Prison.

Prof. E. D. Sanborn of Dartmouth College, Democratic Senator elect in the 11th district, has resigned, as he would be obliged to relinquish his Professorship were he to accept.

In the Senate on Friday, the President announced the Committees. Senator Bailey of District One is Chairman of the Committees on State Institutions and Claims, and is a member of the Committee on Agriculture and Manufactures.

The House Committees were announced by the Speaker. The Portsmouth delegation are members of the following Committees, viz.; Mr. Hackett is Chairman of the Committee on National Affairs; Mr. Jones is Chairman of the Committee on Retrenchment and Reform; Mr. Robinson is Chairman of the Committee on Reform School; Mr. Reding is a member of the Committee on Elections; Mr. Wilson on State Prison; Mr. Miller on Agricultural College; Mr. Vaughan on Military Affairs; Mr. Henderson on Incorporations; Mr. Coffin on Unfinished Business, and Mr. Langdon on Printer's Accounts.

☞ A new lease of life is taken up by the First Unitarian Society of Christians in Dover, where we perceive by the Enquirer that Rev. Rufus P. Stebbins, D. D., will occupy the pulpit on the first, Rev. Samuel K. Lothrop, D. D., the second, Rev. Dr. Stebbins, the third, and Rev. Andrew P. Peabody the fourth Sunday in June. This seems to be good policy, for a Society, who wish for the best of preaching, on the Lord's Day, and who are willing and able to do among themselves, the needful amount of visiting and management commonly done by pastors,—until they find one who can be both preacher and pastor.

NAVAL.—Commander Blake has been detached from the command of the Swatara, 6, and placed on waiting orders.

Commodore James P. Foster died at Indianapolis Wednesday morning. He was born in Kentucky, and appointed from Indiana in May, 1846.

Another change has been made in the naval uniforms of captains and commanders. Captains are to wear four stripes of gold lace on the sleeve of the coat each one-half an inch wide. Commanders will wear three stripes of a similar nature. Staff officers, with the assimilated rank of commander, will wear three stripes similar to those worn by a captain.

—On Monday night, Military Hall, in Paterson, N. J., was struck by lightning, which invaded a ball-room in which there was a dance going on. The lightning ran under a long bench which filled with girls, face downward, into the middle of the floor, stunning them for a minute, and causing great consternation. One man had all the hair burned off his head.

Work has begun on the Hotel and Station of the Mount Washington Railway. Work on the road will not begin till June. Only 500 feet of the road remains to be built, and by July cars will run from the foot to the summit.

A Newmarket letter to the Granite State News states that the keeper of a drinking place there got into a fight with one of his victims a short time since in the street, and got the worst of it. He ordered a policeman to arrest his customer and confine him in the lobby. His sister, who is the wife of the customer, notified her brother that if he did not order his release, she would enter a complaint against him for rum-selling. This had the desired effect, and the man was liberated.

A temperance movement is taking place in Manchester. On the evening of the 30th a meeting of two thousand persons was held in Smyth's Hall. Hon. Daniel Clark acted as President and Rev. D. C. Babcock as Secretary. The speech was made by Dr. Dio Lewis and is said to have been very telling. A Committee of five ladies was appointed to draft an "appeal" to liquor sellers. A Committee of fifteen ladies was also appointed to secure aid.

Col. G. H. Pierce, of Dover, has a contract for laying a section of block paving on Tremont street, Boston. The paving is to be of spruce, and he has made a contract for 90,000, with parties in Canaan, to be delivered at Gage's Mills, Fisherville, and then cut into grooved blocks by special machinery, and afterwards treated at the Robbins Wood Preserving Works in Concord.

Daniel Warner had one of his legs broken at an iron foundry in Concord on Thursday, by an iron wheel which fell on him.

Professor Hitchcock is now preparing his report on the gold fields in the State, which will be laid before the present legislature.

The Dover Enquirer states that the hands on the City Hall clock have not been moved since one year ago. A good timer.

Officer Osgood arrested a young man from Northwood, for fast driving in Dover on Monday last. He was fined and discharged, promising not to violate the law in future.

The Enquirer says "a young lady came to Dover in the cars on Monday afternoon, and was so drunk and disorderly that officer Warren had to arrest her and put her in the Police Station. She was released the next morning, promising to leave in the cars. Another lady was seen at the depot drunk on Tuesday. The appearance of a drunken man is humiliating enough, but to see a lady drunk is a sad sight indeed." This is a queer use of the word lady, it seems to us.

The catching of pickerel in the waters of the State has been legal since last Monday night.

The Ham tavern, with two barns, in Bow, four miles from Concord, were burnt Friday morning. They were owned by Thomas Stewart of Concord, and insured.

SANDOWN, May 31.

The inhabitants of this town are mostly farmers. Owing to the scarcity of help, which it is almost impossible to procure for love or money, many have not yet finished their planting. Grass is looking well, but judging from the appearance of the apple trees, fruit will bring good prices next fall.

The schools in three of the districts have commenced. Miss Sarah M. Davis is teaching in No. 1, Miss Ball of Auburn in No. 2, and Miss Sarah E. French of Fremont in No. 3. All are experienced teachers, and the schools bid fair to be successful.

Mr. Abner Clarke, while at work in his mill a few days ago, had one of his hands injured by a circular saw.

The people here are making efforts for additional mail privileges. By the present arrangement, we have a mail twice a week from Exeter to Chester and return. Two petitions have been circulated through the town, one for a daily mail from East Kingston to Sandown via North Danville, and the other for the same from Plaistow to Sandown via South Danville and East Hampstead. If this latter route prevails, a new P. O. will probably be established at East Hampstead, by which the people in this vicinity will be much benefitted. C.

CUBA.—Advices from Santiago contradict the report of the capture of the filibusters recently landed at the Bay of Nipe, who have escaped to the interior, leaving behind them some materials of war, including four guns, for want of transportation.

A Washington dispatch says that an expedition left the southern coast on the 29th of May. It numbered 475 men who are part of General Jordan's command. All of them are ex-federal and confederate soldiers. The expedition was in charge of a former colonel of the confederate army from Louisiana, —De Russey.

The resignation of Captain-General Dulce of Cuba was demanded by the volunteers, who have also forced the Governor of Matanzas to relinquish his office, and now appear to be the real governing power of the island.

HORRIBLE!—The Kansas newspapers publish the following particulars of the Indian massacres:—

"The tongues and hearts were cut out of the dead bodies; the calves of their legs were slit down and tied under their shoes; pieces of flesh were cut from their backs; pieces of telegraph wire were stuck into their bodies; their ears were cut off and their heads scalped. The Indians boiled the hearts of their victims for medicine. The Swedish settlers who were attacked all lived in one house. Only those were killed who left the house for a place of greater security. Those who remained in the house were not molested. This occurred in two instances. The calamity is mainly attributable to a lack of arms. Whenever a gun was fired the savages made no fight."

BUSINESS NOTICES.

WEAKNESSES OF MERCHANTS.—How strange it is that most all Druggists and Grocers care less for the health and lives of their customers than they do for the dollars they make out of them. They try to shove off such goods upon which they make the most profit, no matter about the quality. Coffee ground with peas, pepper with burnt saw-dust, butter mixed with tallow, nutmegs made of wood, and rot-gut whiskey in square bottles to resemble medicine and called Bitters. A truly valuable article, however, like SPERR'S STANDARD WINE BITTERS, costs more to make, because it is of genuine Native Wine, with the most valuable Barks, Herbs and Roots, but the retail price is put down as low as any other Bitters, leaving less profit. Therefore the dealer grumbles because they cost him more than the common run bitters, but must sell for the same price, and his money interest is to recommend the stuff upon which he makes the most money. Beware of the cheap and worthless! Sold by Speer's Standard Wine Bitters, a genuine article, and not merely an intoxicating beverage. First class dealers in America and Europe keep them.

CATARRH, CATARRH—Disgusting, Complaint.—Get pint bottles of Wolcott's Annihilator. It will cure it. And if you have rheumatism, or any pain, get Wolcott's Pain Paint, in white wrappers, at all druggists.

To assist nature in the cultivation of glossy curls, or to prevent their falling off, by premature disease of the scalp, resort to that wonderful preparation, "Barrett's Vegetable Hair Restorative," and see what art can do.—Bangor Democrat.

FOR CATARRH buy full Pint Bottles of Wolcott's Annihilator, in white wrappers, $1. Wolcott's Pain Paint is also in white wrappers only. Sold at druggists.

Dr. Ham's Aromatic Invigorator

removes from the system the ill effects caused by the excessive use of alcoholic liquors, and effectually destroys the appetite for these stimulants. It gives tone to debilitated mucous surfaces. Febrile matter is removed from the system, thereby restoring it to its normal healthful condition. As a medicine, it is quick and effectual, curing the most aggravated cases of Dyspepsia, Kidney Complaints, and all other derangements of the Stomach and Bowels, in a speedy manner.

This elegant preparation has stood the test of years. A wine-glassful before eating will give a good appetite and prevent all suffering from indigestion. Ladies of weak and delicate constitutions should take the Invigorator three times a day. A wine-glassful before retiring will insure sweet and refreshing sleep. All the proprietor asks is a trial, and to induce this he has put up the Invigorator in pint bottles at 50 cents,—quarts $1.00. Principal Depot, 45 CENTRAL WHARF, BOSTON. Science Advances.

As soon as an article purporting to be of utility has been tested, and its merits endorsed by public opinion, unprincipled parties endeavor to replenish their depleted purses by counterfeiting, and substituting a spurious for the genuine article.—Some time since, mercury, in the disguise of pills, powders, &c., was given for all diseases of the stomach and liver, while quinine was freely administered for the chills. At length HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS made its advent, and an entire new system of healing was inaugurated. The beneficial effects of this valuable preparation were at once acknowledged, and mineral poisons suffered to sink into that obscurity to which an enlightened age has consigned them.—There have been many spurious Bitters palmed upon the community, which, after trial, have been found perfectly worthless, while HOSTETTER'S has proved a blessing to thousands, who owe to it their restoration to health and vigor.

For many years we have watched the steady progress of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS in public estimation, and its beneficent effects as a cure for all complaints arising from the stomach of a morbid nature, and we are free to say that it can be relied upon as a certain relief and remedy. Its proprietors have made the above preparation, after years of careful study and sitting, and are now reaping the reward claimed by this valuable specific, and which they so richly merit. It is the only preparation of the kind that is reliable in all cases, and it therefore demands the attention of the afflicted. j2

Holloway's Pills.—IS THIS YOUR CASE?—A yellow suffusion of the skin, pain or pressure in the right side, dullness of spirits and indisposition to exertion, and a general feeling of weariness and weakness are infallible evidences that the liver is not doing its duty. Brandreth's Pills.
TO THE PUBLIC.

Brandreth's Pills have been known and used by your grandfathers and grandmothers. They are always safe, and sure to do you good. They are purely vegetable, and diminish the death principle; some think they increase the principle of life. But in taking out such humors from the blood, they do make the body lighter, and thus seem to add energy. Many families have used them for upwards of forty years.

They are the best medicine for Colds, for all Bilious Affections, for Fullness about the Head or Heart, and in all Cutaneous and Contagious Diseases they are unrivalled. In all cases in which a purgative is indicated, no unrivalled yet known can be compared to them. Two hundred physicians have testified that Brandreth's Pills are superior to all other purgatives whatever. Sold by all Druggists. my21

To Owners of Horses.

Thousands of Horses die yearly from Colic. This need not be. Dr. Tobias' Venetian Horse Liniment will positively cure every case, if given when first taken. The cost is only one dollar. Every owner of a Horse should have a bottle in his stable, ready for use. It is warranted superior to anything else for the cure of Cuts, Wind Galls, Swellings, Sore Throat, Sprains, Bruises, Old Sores, &c. This Liniment is no new remedy. It has been used and approved of for 31 years by the first horsemen in the country. Given to an overdriven horse, it acts like magic. Orders are constantly received from the RACING STABLES of ENGLAND for it.

The celebrated Hiram Woodruff used and recommended it to his friends years before his death. Col. P. P. Bush, of the Jerome race course, has given me a certificate stating it to be superior to anything he had used. Numerous certificates may be seen at the Depot, 10 Park Place, N. Y. ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

The best remedy for the cure of CONSUMPTION, and ALL DISEASES OF THE LUNGS. It causes the phlegm and matter to rise without irritating those delicate organs (the Lungs,) and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops night sweats, and changes all the morbid secretions to a healthy state.

It contains no opium in any form. It is perfectly harmless for the most delicate child. It is everywhere in good demand and gives good satisfaction.

The result of its use is proof of its great value.—It extraordinary healing properties are experienced by all who use it. Their testimony will be found in a pamphlet, which can be had of the agents where the medicine is for sale. j25

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all these to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, a practitioner in medicine, is unrivalled in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, ripens throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to digest the food, and helps the Syrup and the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring on the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and in fact, they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can, and cure Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are in a state of inflammation and are decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring the liver into healthy action, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless, and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 25 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. THE POST OFFICE ROBBERY.—Developments are being made which show a rather complicated state of affairs, implicating outside parties in the late robberies of the mails, which have continued for eight months and ended in the arrest of young Hanscom. The peculations were so frequent that parties in Manchester, Boston and other places joined in general complaint against the losses sustained from letters passing through the office in Portsmouth.—The attention of the Post Office Department was so frequently called to these misdemeanors that it was thought necessary to send a Post Office Detective to look them up, who arrived here just in season to find that Ex-Postmaster Adams, Postmaster Pierce and Detective Kent had worked up the case, which led to the arrest of one of the criminals, —and were on the track of others implicated. Ex-Postmaster Adams had suspected some of the guilty parties, and had been actively engaged in endeavors to ferret them out before the expiration of his term of office.

Hanscom was examined before U. S. Commissioner Asa Fowler of Concord on Wednesday, pleaded guilty and was held to bail in the sum of $1000 to appear at the next term of the U. S. Circuit Court, at Exeter, Oct. 8th, the bail being placed at a low figure on account of the youth of the prisoner.

Communication.

Messrs. Editors:—I have to record the painful intelligence of the departure of Rev. Father Murphy from this place, the scene of his devoted labors and devoted love. He goes to Exeter, to assume the pastoral duties there. But he goes without his people's consent! In him we have lost a pastor, a father, and a friend. He leaves the people behind him, in the wildest state of excitement; an excitement which he strove by every means in his power to allay, but the people will not be comforted.

He made every generous concession to them,—he gave his house for the use of their children, until they would be able to provide one of their own. Every means has been tried to prevail on our Bishop to alter his decision, but without avail. Delegations have waited on him, and in the most respectful and humble manner have laid the petitions of the people at his feet. Arguments and entreaties, prayers and tears, have been used, but our eloquent appeal, the earnestness of our entreaties, the sincerity of our prayers and the touching exhibition of our tears, have proved as vain as idle spray. But the end is not yet!

A CARD.—The officers and members of Storer Encampment, Post No. 1, G. A. R., desire to express their grateful appreciation of the kind assistance afforded them in their observance of Memorial Day.

They would especially acknowledge renewed obligations to the ladies, for valuable services, without which, success would hardly have been achieved.

The Post would further acknowledge a gratuity of $75 from the City Government, and $20 from the members of Steam Fire Engine Company No. 2, together with other donations of money from private sources,—a handsome and substantial recognition of the occasion, highly gratifying to the participants.

The Post feels honored in remembering the courtesy of the organizations that joined in the procession, and trusts that the pleasure which their appearance occasioned others, may have been reciprocal.

By order of Storer Encampment.
EDWIN A. TILTON,
Chairman Com. Invitation.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—On Thursday evening, about 8 o'clock, B. Frank Gardner, son of Andrew Gardner, Esq., met with an unfortunate accident, which has probably resulted in the total loss of his eye-sight. He had a pistol loaded with powder, which was accidentally discharged, the contents going into his face. The unfortunate youth is but 16 years of age. His face is greatly swollen and his eyes closed up, presenting a shocking appearance. Dr. Hall thinks his sight is destroyed, but cannot ascertain surely until the inflammation subsides.

BARLEY, BEER, AND BREAD.—Messrs. Editors:—In a recent paper, among your News, appeared this item.

The National Brewers Convention has passed a resolution urging the repeal of the barley tariff. Barley is an unprofitable crop in this country.

That is, the Brewers' Convention says so; but, as I raised Barley for many years, when it sold only for a very low price, and my barley paid well then, I don't believe their saying is true,—but think it must pay now.

Mr. Nathan B. Folsom was the only buyer here, of Barley, at the time alluded to, and he would buy it for the Brewers abroad, at 37 1-2 cts. per bushel. This seemed too low, so a portion of the barley was fed out to my fowls, and they paid well for the grain which they consumed. Another portion, carefully cleaned, was used for bread and puddings, and the remainder of the fed left the swine.

The straw, for beds and fodder, was valuable then, and would be still more valuable now.

In the Boston Advertiser of May 22, 1869, Barley is quoted at $2 to $2.10, at wholesale. Why it should be unprofitable to raise it, at that price, or two-thirds of it, is not very clear. Nor is it quite clear that the duty should be taken off. If it were desired to import Barley for Bread, so as to have a cheap but wholesome bread stuff, that might be a reason for its coming free, or nearly so. But the Brewers' Convention don't mean that. They only mean that they would like to make a little more profit, though their gains are now much larger than those of almost any business, if the income returns in this city are any standard of comparison, as Mr. M. Fisher returns an income of eleven thousand dollars, and Mr. Frank Jones returns twenty two thousand.

There has been some talk about bloated bondholders,—but they don't seem equal to the bloated brewers. Is it desirable to take off a portion of the farmer's profit, and give it to the brewer? If so, take off the duty. If not, let it be.

AN OLD FARMER.

☞ At a meeting of the Directors of the Eliot and Kittery Mutual Fire Insurance Company, held on Monday last, the following named gentlemen were elected officers for the ensuing year; Warrington Paul, President; Daniel A. Hill, Treasurer, and Maj. Alexander Junkins, Secretary.—Maine Democrat.

ELIOT.—The Biddeford Journal states that Mr. Elias A. Staples of Eliot is to take his new shell boat, called the "Cheemaun," to Boston, and with a picked crew, try her speed with those of the well-known builders, McKay & Elliott.

KITTERY.—W. G. Parker, Esq., has recently sold his stock of goods to his son Horace B. Parker, who will continue the business at the old stand near the depot. Mr. P. retires from business with the good wishes of the citizens generally.—Biddeford Democrat.

YORK.—Capt. John M. Paul sold his homestead farm recently at public sale. Leonard Cook, Esq., was the purchaser. Mr. Paul designs making Kittery his permanent place of residence.—Biddeford Democrat.

☞ Mr. Albert H. Sides has been appointed to the Clerkship in the Post Office made vacant by the removal of Wm. M. Hanscom.

ANOTHER PORTSMOUTH AUTHOR.—It has just been discovered that the author of "The Dead Letter" and "The Figure Eight," tales that have been widely read and greatly admired by lovers of modern romance, is Samuel Dodge, a young man of this city so modest and unassuming that his friends and even his family connections had no intimation that he was engaged in literary labor. "The Dead Letter" was first published in Beadle's Monthly, then issued in book form and had extensive sale, and the publishers of the Western World have now bought the copyright and are reprinting it as the leading feature of their popular and widely-circulated journal. The style of the story, judging from the few chapters we have read, is somewhat of the sensational order, but far more talent is evinced in its composition than in that of most of the popular story-writers of the day.

MARRIAGES.

In this city, May 29, by Geo. G. Brewster, Esq., Mr. ANDREW P. SORSON and Mrs. TEMPERANCE A. SNOW.

DEATHS.

In this city, June 4, WALLACE P. LAMPREY, aged 8 months, son of John A. and Susan H. Lamprey.

☞ At the Dover trots, Thursday and Friday, the bay horse, Luther V. Hayes of New Durham, took prizes for horses that never beat 3 minutes, and the 2:50 purse. Best time 2:46.—Arcola of Portland took purse for horses that never beat 2:40,—in 2:44, 2:43, 2:41. Purse for all horses was won by gray Sheridan, of Lisbon, Me.—Time 2:39, 2:48. Nelly Locke's sulky was foully run into and smashed up by a negro driver of a Brunswick horse, and so she lost the race by this outrage. That black driver should have been ordered off the track long before, for foul driving.

The double team race was won by F. Jones' Lady Emma and Mate, in two straight heats, in 3:03, 2:54,—the pair trotting the last half mile handsomely in 1:21,—and they have been driven but little together. We shall give more particulars hereafter.

☞ It is proposed, for the benefit of our transient seafaring population, and such others as may choose to avail themselves of it, to give a series of Historical Readings, — on each Sabbath morning at 9 o'clock, if fair weather.—The first of the course will be given at Union Wharf to-morrow (Sunday), 6th instant. No charge.

Morning Chronicle.

THE SNOW FORT BATTLE.

BY T. S. ALDRICH.

Concluded from Yesterday.

The victory, however, had not been without its price. Six North-enders, having rushed out to harass the discomfited enemy, were gallantly cut off by General Ames and captured. Among these were Lieutenant P. Whitcomb (who had no business to join in the charge, being weak in the knees), and Captain Fred Langdon, of General Harris's staff. Whitcomb was one of the most notable shots on our side, though he was not much to boast of in a rough, and-tumble fight, owing to the weakness before mentioned. General Ames put him among the gunners, and we were quickly made aware of the loss we had sustained, by receiving a frequent artful ball, which seemed to light with unerring instinct on any nose that was the least bit exposed. I have known one of Pepper's snow-balls, point-blank, to turn a corner and hit a boy who considered himself absolutely safe.

But we had no time for vain regrets. The battle raged. Already there were two bad cases of black eye, and one of nose-bleed, in the hospital.

It was glorious excitement, those pell-mell onslaughts and hand-to-hand struggles. Twice we were within an ace of being driven from our stronghold, when General Harris and his staff leaped recklessly upon the ramparts and hurled the besiegers heels over head down hill.

At sunset the garrison of Fort Slatter was still unconquered, and all the South-Enders, in a solid phalanx, marched off whistling "Yankee Doodle," while we cheered and jeered them until they were out of hearing.

General Ames remained behind to effect an exchange of prisoners. We held thirteen of his men, and he eleven of ours. General Ames proposed to call it an even thing, since many of his eleven prisoners were officers, while nearly all our thirteen captives were privates. A dispute arising on this point, the two noble generals came to fisticuffs, and in the fracas our brave commander got his remaining eye badly damaged. This didn't prevent him from writing a general order the next day, on a slate, in which he complimented the troops on their heroic behavior.

On the following Wednesday the siege was renewed. I forgot whether it was on that afternoon or the next day that we lost Fort Slatter; but lose it we did, with much valuable ammunition and several men. After a series of desperate assaults, we forced General Ames to capitulate; and he, in turn, made the place too hot to hold us. So from day to day the tide of battle surged to and fro, sometimes favoring our arms and sometimes those of the enemy.

General Ames handled his men with great skill; his deadliest foe could not deny that. Once he out-generalled our commander in the following manner. He massed his gunners on our left and opened a brisk fire, under cover of which a single company (six men) advanced on that angle of the fort. Our reserves on the right rushed over to defend the threatened point. Meanwhile, four companies of the enemy's scalers made a detour round the foot of the hill, and dashed into Fort Slatter without opposition. At the same moment General Ames' gunners closed in on our left, and there we were between two fires. Of course we had to vacate the fort. A cloud rested on General Harris' military reputation until his superior tactics enabled him to dispossess the enemy.

As the winter wore on, the war-spirit waxed fiercer and fiercer. At length the provision against using heavy substance in the snow-balls was disregarded. A ball stuck full of sand-bird shot came tearing into Fort Slatter. In retaliation, General Harris ordered a broad side of shells; i. e., snow-balls containing marbles. After this, both sides never failed to freeze their ammunition.

It was no longer child's play to march up to the walls of Fort Slatter, nor was the position of the besieged less perilous. At every assault three or four boys on each side were disabled. It was not an unfrequent occurrence for the combatants to hold up a flag of truce while they removed some insensible comrade.

Matters grew worse and worse. Seven North Enders had been seriously wounded, and a dozen South-Enders were reported on the sick list. The selectmen of the town awoke to the fact of what was going on, and detailed a posse of police to prevent further disturbance. The boys at the foot of the hill, South-Enders as it happened, finding themselves assailed in the rear and on the flank, turned round and attempted to beat off the watchmen. In this they were sustained by numerous volunteers from the fort, who looked upon the interference as tyrannical.

The watch were determined fellows, and charged the boys valiantly, driving them all into the fort, where we made common cause, fighting side by side like the best of friends. In vain the four guardians of the peace rushed up the hill, flourishing their clubs and calling upon us to surrender. They could not get within ten yards of the fort, our fire was so destructive. In one of the onsets a man named Mugridge, more valorous than his peers, threw himself upon the parapet, when he was seized by twenty pairs of hands, and dragged inside the breastwork, where fifteen boys sat down on him to keep him quiet.

Perceiving that it was impossible with their small number to dislodge us, the watch sent for reinforcements. Their call was responded to, not only by the whole constabulary force (eight men), but by a numerous body of citizens, who had become alarmed at the prospect of a riot. This formidable array brought us to our senses: we began to think that maybe discretion was the better part of valor. General Harris and General Ames, with their respective staffs, held a council of war in the hospital, and a backward movement was decided on. So, after one grand farewell volley, we fled, sliding, jumping, rolling, tumbling down the quarry at the rear of the fort, and escaped without losing a man.

But we lost Fort Slatter forever.—Those battle-scarred ramparts were razed to the ground, and humiliating ashes sprinkled over the historic spot, near which a solitary lynx-eyed policeman was seen prowling from time to time during the remainder of the winter.

The event passed into a legend, and afterwards, when later instances of pluck and endurance were spoken of, the boys would say, "By golly! you ought to have been at the fights on Slatter's Hill!"—From the "Story of a Bad Boy," in Our Young Folks.

—The phrase "going snacks" originated at the time of the plague in London. A noted body snatcher then resided in that city, named Snacks. His business increased so fast that he offered to any person who should join him in his hardened practice half the profits; those who joined him were said to go with Snacks. Hence, going Snacks, or dividing the spoils.

—At the famous White Pine mines a man was recently hired to dig a grave for one who had died there. When the funeral procession arrived at the grave, the digger was in it, and refused to leave, declaring that he had "struck a fine lead" and could not think of allowing the body to be buried "in the hole."

— It is a rule that when Austrian army officers below a certain rank marry they shall deposit a certain sum of money with the Finance Minister as security. Up to 1830, thirty million florins had thus been deposited. A recent investigation shows that the whole amount has been embezzled.

—A Vienna editor has been fined for publishing the following advertisment: "A young man of prepossessing appearance desires to get acquainted with a handsome married lady." What would the Vienna authorities do with the "Personal Columns" of New York papers?

—The poet Longfellow, at a party in Boston, asked a French gentleman, who happened to be present, why he seemed sad and unhappy at that moment? To which the latter replied, "Me very mosh dissatisfy. Me jus hear dat my fadere be dead!"

—Mr. Ottarson, formerly night editor of the New York Tribune, but removed from that place some time since by Mr. Young, for reasons on which it is not worth while to enter, has been restored to his old desk.

BUTTON-HOLE, OVERSEAMING, —AND— SEWING MACHINE!

H. N. DUNYON, 27 Market Street,
Agent for Portsmouth and vicinity.

The Reasons Why

This is the best Family Machine to Purchase.

1. Because it will do everything that any machine can do—the finest of sewing, hemming, felling, cording, tucking, braiding, binding, gathering, quilting, &c., better than any other machine.

2. Because it works a beautiful button-hole, making a fine pearl, as by hand. (Not done on any other Sewing Machine.)

3. Because it will work a beautiful eyelet-hole. (No other machine can.)

4. Because it will embroider over the edge, making a neat and beautiful border on any garment. (Not done on any other Machine.)

5. Because it can do "overhand seaming," by which shirts, pillow-cases and the like are sewed "over and over." (No other Machine can do it.)

Caution.

We would hereby warn the Public against albogus advertisements of Button-Hole Attachments, as the AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE is the first and only Button-Hole and Sewing Machine combined in the world.

This Machine is for sale only at our establishment, 27 Market Street, where we cordially invite the Public to Call and Examine for themselves, and be convinced that this is the Best and Cheapest Machine for any family.

N. B.—All Machines are Warranted for one year. Instruction given at the house of purchaser free. Persons buying this Machine never wish to exchange for any other.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837,
NO. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such uninterruptable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him for procuring their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

WHAT ADVERTISERS SAY.

The firm, whose letter we print below, gave us in 1867 what was then the largest contract we had ever received for our Lists of 100 Local NEWSPAPERS." The fact that they this year renew the order and increase the amount is the best argument we can give that these "LISTS" are good advertising mediums. —Ed. Tribune.

LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL,
MANUFACTURERS OF
Axes, Shovels, Saws, &c.,
No. 118 WATER STREET,
PITTSBURG, PA., Dec. 3, 1868.

MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO.:
Gentlemen:—One year ago with much hesitation we gave you an advertisement for one of your Lists of Over 100 Local papers; it was a short time thereafter we unhesitatingly added two more Lists of One Hundred papers.

But a few weeks before we were inquired of on every side for "Colburn's Patent Red Jacket Ax," proving to us that your plan of Lists had reached the very parties to whom we wanted to introduce our patent Ax.

The year having now nearly gone by, we cannot but believe your system of advertising by "Lists of 100" is just the kind of advertising we want, and we to-day forward you an order still adding one more List of One Hundred papers, making the number now altogether four (4) Lists of One Hundred (100) local papers.

The more we talk with newspaper agents and editors' agents the more satisfied we are that the arrangement we have made with you is preferable to any we have ever heard of. The merit of the Ax itself has, of course, something to do with the great demand for it, but we are satisfied that by your system of advertising by "Lists" we have accomplished in one year what would have ordinarily taken us five years to accomplish.

Respectfully,
LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL.

The following from the National Publishing Co., of Philadelphia, may be taken as an answer to those who inquire if these "Lists" can really be good advertising mediums.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10, 1868.

MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 40 PARK ROW:
Gentlemen:—It is more than three years since we began advertising in your "Lists of One Hundred Papers" each, and in that time have given "The Lied System" as originated by you, a thorough trial, and we can now say it is the cheapest and best general advertising medium we have any knowledge of.

We have tried every possible mode of advertising, having dealt with the press direct, and thro' nearly every advertising agency in the country, and have no hesitation in saying that your Lists have paid us 50 per cent. better than any other way. Respectfully,

THE OLD BACHELOR.

BY JOSH BILLINGS.

A chronic old bachelor iz invariably ov the neuter gender, i don't care how much he may offer tew bet it aint so.

They are like dried apples on a string—want a good soaking before they will do to use.

I suppose there iz some of them who have a good excuss for their nuterness; many of them are too stingy to marry. This iz one of the best excuses I know ov, for a stingy man aint fit tew have a nice woman.

Some old bachelors git after a flirt, and can't travel so fast as she doz, and then conclude awl the female group are hard to ketch, and good for nothing when they are ketched.

A flirt is a rough thing to overhaul unless the right dog gets after her, and then they are the easiest ov awl to ketch, and often make the very best ov wives.

When a flirt really falls in love she iz as powerless as a mown daizy.

Her impudence then changes into modesty, her cunning into fear, her spurs into a halter, her pruning hook into a cradle.

The best way to ketch a flirt, iz tew travel the other way from which they are going or sit down on the ground, and whistle some lively tune till the flirt comes round.

Old bachelors make the flirts, and then the flirts get more than ever, by making the old bachelors.

A majority of flirts git married finally, for they have a great quantity of the most dainty titbits of woman's natur, and alwus hav shrewdness to back up their sweetness.

Flirts don't deal in poetry and water grewel; they hev got tew hav brains, or else somebody would trade them out of their capital at the fust sweap.

Disappointed luv must ov course be all on one side, and this aint any more excuse fur being an old bachelor than it iz for a man to quit all kinds of manual labor, jist out of spite, and jine a poorhouse bekause he kan't lift a tun at one pop.

An old bachelor will brag about his freedom to you, hiz relief from anxiety, hiz independence. This is a dead beat past resurrection, for everybody knows their ain't a more anxious dupe than he iz. All hiz dreams are charcoal sketches of boarding-school misses; he dresses, greases his hair, paints his grizzly mustach, cultivates bunyons and corns, tew please his captains, the wimmen, and only gets laffed at for biz pains.

I tried being an old bachelor till I wuz about twenty years old, and came very near dieing a dozen times. I had more sharp pain in one year than I have had since, put it all in a heap. I was in a lively fever all the time.

There is only one person who has inhabited this world thus far that I think could have been an old bachelor and done the subject justice, and he was Adam; but I hold it is every man's duty to selecket a partner and keep the dance hot.

WAITING FOR BABY TO "COME UP."—A little friend of ours, (says the editor of Merry's Museum), who has been told that though the flowers died in the autumn, they would come up as beautiful as ever in spring, lost her baby sister, and some time after was found sitting by the little grave with a face full of hope and expectation. On being asked why she was there, she said, with a air of innocent faith:

"O, I'm waiting for baby to come up, we planted her last winter; but she'll soon come now, prettier than ever, like my snow-drops in the garden."

It took a long time to teach her the truth and she was much grieved because baby would not sprout visibly, and blossom again on the little green bed where she had slept so long.

PAINTING ZINC.—A difficulty is often experienced in causing oil-colors to adhere to sheet zinc. Boettger recommends the employment of a mordant, so to speak, of the following composition: one part of chloride of copper, one of nitrate of copper, and one salammoniac are to be dissolved in sixty-four parts of water, to which solution is to be added one part of commercial hydrochloricacid. The sheets of zinc are to be brushed over with this liquid, which gives them a deep black color; in the course of from twelve to twenty-four hours they become dry, and to their now dirty gray surface a coat of any oil-color will firmly adhere. Some sheets of zinc prepared in this way and afterwards painted have been found to entirely withstand all the atmospheric changes of winter and summer.—The Builder.

—A lady of Portland remarked of the Rev. Dr. Todd's unfriendly review of Miss Phelps "Gates Ajar:" "Let Dr. Todd write a book himself, and name it, accoring to his hard theology, "The Gates Slammed to and Barred."

—A gentleman near San Antonio, Texas, has a ranche of 130,000 acres, fenced in, and forty thousand head of cattle pastured on it.

—Miss Virginia Ream's clay model for the statue of Lincoln, ordered by Congress, is shipped for Italy, whither she goes to cut the statue.

TSING TEA—Black Dragon Chop.
NATURAL LEAF, perfectly pure (TSING signifies pure) Prepared without any coloring or foreign substance. Cured on Porcelain (not copper) over a slow fire. Delightful flavor, exceedingly powerful and strong. Combines all the healthy virtues of the Tea-plant. Mandarins and higher class of natives use no other.
This celebrated Tea was first introduced here by the ORIENTAL TEA COMPANY, in May, 1868, when the limited quantity imported was rapidly sold, at the high price of $1.80 a pound. It met with such unqualified approval, and the demand for it from all sections was so great, that the Company at once made arrangements to procure a larger supply, upon more favorable terms, for the future;—and they have just received the first invoice for this year, which will be sold at the low price of $1.10 a pound, at which (but little over half what it cost one year ago) it is the cheapest Tea known; and the Company feel that they cannot too highly recommend it to all who drink Tea, as it possesses the flavor and strength, and the soothing, invigorating properties of both Black and Green, without any injurious quality; being chemically pure and free from coloring matter and foreign admixture, it will suit the taste and please all who love Tea.
The Tea is put up neatly in round packets, 36 pounds in a chest, with the price, $1.10, printed on each package. The wholesale price by the chest is $1.00 a pound, and orders from Traders, Hotel-Keepers, Peddlers, Clubs, or Families, for chests of 36 pounds or more, will be filled at the wholesale price. Parties living in towns where we have agents can obtain it of them at the retail price.
Like all other goods sold by the Oriental Tea Company, this Tea is warranted to give entire satisfaction; and parties ordering can do so with the full assurance that if the whole or any part fails to suit, it may be returned at our expense, and we will refund the money.
SPECIAL NOTICE.—As a matter of convenience to the public, we are arranging with Apothecaries and other Merchants, all over the country, to act as Agents for selling our Teas and Coffees in their locality, at our warehouse prices. Our profits are small, but we give over four-fifths of them to Agents as Commission. We want an Agent in every town in the Union, and will send full particulars, terms, price-lists, &c., upon application by mail from Traders desiring it. DYSPEPSIA
AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can not describe, notwithstanding from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being well once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY.

The News.

Since the adjournment of Congress the President has removed nine of his own appointees; two consuls, one Indian agent, two collectors, one assessor and three postmasters.

President Grant has been visiting the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland.

☞ The Newport News says that an immense water-spout was seen on the Sound on Wednesday evening. After a hard shower a dense cloud was observed to form in the heavens. Soon a huge upright funnel descended from the cloud. A similar cloud arose from the bottom of the Sound, and the two became united during a vivid flash of lightning. The spinning column of water thus formed danced over the waves like a huge giant in a waltz. In its course it sucked up a row boat, sending it spirally several hundred feet in the air, carrying it over a boat house, and dropping it on the beach. Just outside the harbor it struck a brig, completely dismasting it. Nearing the beach it was seen by a boy who said he heard a terrible roaring. The boy ran for his life, and the spout ran upon the shore, apparently in pursuit of him. Striking the beach fronting the Castle, the vast pillar of water broke, and the shore for an eighth of a mile was deluged by its flood.

RESPONSIBILITY OF ENGLAND FOR HER CONDUCT DURING THE WAR.—Rev. Dr. Henry thus concludes a letter on this subject to the Hartford Courant:—

"Great Britain is bound to have laws and rules of evidence, which will enable her effectually to discharge her neutral obligations; and whether she has or not, does not alter her responsibility to us. Her conduct is rightfully a matter of official complaint, and cause of war, too,—if satisfaction and reparation be refused.

But let us remember that it is, after all, very greatly, if not mainly, a question of damages. That ought surely not to lead to war, if no unreasonable claim in amount is pressed. So far as it is a question that concerns our dignity, I am quite sure that need not be cause of of war, any more between the two nations than between two gentlemen actuated by a just sense of the gentlemanly honor which ever regards the withholding of all apology when due, to be one of the most dishonorable things a man can do."

☞ One of the best evidences of President Grant's honesty and capacity, is found in the fact, that the copperhead presses from Brick Pomeroy down to the —— & ——, are busily engaged in trying to defame, reproach and slander him. Their praise of him would be suspicious; but their blame is suspicious; and the eagerness with which they snap at every morsel of dirt from any shaky republican source, shows them to be short of any better capital.

And Nathan H. Weeks was elected.

No returns were received from the town of Gosport.

The report of the committee was accepted, the convention rose and the senate withdrew.

In the House of Representatives bills were introduced by Mr. Reding of Portsmouth, to amend chapter 271 General Statutes, and by Mr. Hackett of Portsmouth, relative to the conveyance of real estate.

Mr. Hackett of Portsmouth offered a resolution, That the committee on manufactures be requested to inquire into the expediency of making provision by law for procuring, by survey or otherwise, the location and extent of the unused water power of this State, and report thereon.

Mr. Hackett said that he called the attention of the House to this subject with a view to the further development of an important source of the power and growth and wealth of the State.—In the unused water power of the State, if used as it ought to be and as it ultimately would be, laid a source of power and wealth, greater than mines of silver or gold. The Great Western Railroad—the Pacific Railroad as it is called — would greatly augment the wealth of this country.

The country was receiving increased accessions of strength from foreign immigration of a greatly improved character and largely augmented in numbers. These foreigners were bringing to this nation annually nearly money enough to pay the interest on the national debt, and what was of more value, habits of orderly and frugal industry:—These were coming here, now that our difficulties were settled, to participate in our blessings and help us bear the national burdens. The whole energies of the country which had been engaged in civil strife, sharpened and quickened by the conflict, were taking a different direction and augmenting the wealth of the nation.

New Hampshire could and would not be able to share in the great growth of the country and the career of prosperity opening before it, which had no parallel in its history, unless some pains were taken to develop her industry and keep her population at home. She must export more merchandise and fewer men, and in the use of those means of growth and prosperity referred to in the Governor's message, no more effectual method could be taken than to have brought to the notice of the public her immense water power yet unexplored. There was no doubt, if investigation was had, and the location and extent of this water power was put into a convenient shape, the people would be astonished, and it would lead capitalists from within and without the borders of the State to investigate it, and something would be done in those portions of the State that were without railroad facilities and manufacturing centres to give them prosperity and growth.

The speaker was afraid the next census would reveal the fact that those districts had not retained the population they had in 1860, and the only way to counteract the diminution of the population and maintain the relative importance and influence of the State, was to diversify the pursuits of the people. He was not prepared to say whether the best way to accomplish his object was by a survey, or embodying the facts in some other form. The resolution proposed to have the matter considered by a committee, and the result of these deliberations reported to the House.

The resolution was passed.

A message was received from the Senate anouncing the passage of the following resolution:

In all matters before the Legislature in which hearings are had before the several committees, the hearing shall be had before the committee of the Senate and House jointly, whenever said committees shall so elect; but they shall consider, vote and report separately to their respective branches; and at such hearings the chairman of the Senate committee shall be chairman of the joint committee.

Mr. Hackett opposed and Mr. Lord of Manchester favored it, and it was finally tabled.

TO CLEAR A ROOM OF MOSQUITOES.—A writer in a South Carolina paper says "I have tried the following, and find it works like a charm. Take of gum camphor a piece about one third the size of an egg, and evaporate it by placing it in a tin vessel, holding it over a lamp or candle, taking care that it does not ignite. The smoke will soon fill the room, and expel the mosquitoes. One night I was terribly annoyed by them, when I thought of and tried the above, after which I never saw nor heard them that night, and next morning there was not one to be found in the room, though the window had been left open all night."

—On Monday, the largest elephant in the world which has come under the control of man arrived at Hoboken in the steamer Holsatia from Hamburg. She is called the Empress, and was formerly the property of the Emperor of Russia. She is twenty years old, and is twelve and a half feet high.

—A story is told of a German shoemaker who, having made a pair of boots for a gentleman of whose financial integrity he had considerable doubt, made the following reply to him when he called for the articles: "Der poots ish not quite done but der beel ish made out."

— Traveller in Mexico: "Ain't you ashamed to beg—a stout fellow like you? I should think you might work." Picturesque beggar, (drawing himself up,) "Senor, I asked you for alms, not for advice."

BUSINESS NOTICES.

FACTS FOR THE LADIES.—I have a Wheeler & Wilson machine, (No. 289), bought of Mr. Gardiner, in 1853, he having used it a year. I have used it constantly, in shirt manufacturing, as well as family sewing, sixteen years. My wife ran it four years, and earned between $700 and $800, besides doing her house work. I have never expended fifty cents on it for repairs. It is, to-day in the best of order, stitching fine linen bosoms nicely. I started manufacturing shirts with this machine, and now have over one hundred of them in use. I have paid at least $2000, for the stitching done by this old machine, and it will do as much as any machine I have. W. F. TAYLOR.

Science Advances.

As soon as an article purporting to be of utility has been tested, and its merits endorsed by public opinion, unprincipled parties endeavor to replenish their depleted purses by counterfeiting, and substituting a spurious for the genuine article.—Some time since, mercury, in the disguise of pills, powders, &c., was given for all diseases of the stomach and liver, while quinine was freely administered for the chills. At length HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS made its advent, and an entire new system of healing was inaugurated. The beneficial effects of this valuable preparation were at once acknowledged, and mineral poisons suffered to sink into that obscurity to which an enlightened age has consigned them.—There have been many spurious Bitters palmed upon the community, which, after trial, have been found perfectly worthless, while HOSTETTER'S has proved a blessing to thousands, who owe to it their restoration to health and vigor.

For many years we have watched the steady progress of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS in public estimation, and its beneficent effects as a cure for all complaints arising from the stomach of a morbid nature, and we are free to say that it can be relied upon as a certain relief and remedy. Its proprietors have made the above preparation, after years of careful study and sifting, and are now reaping the reward claimed by this valuable specific, and which they so richly merit. It is the only preparation of the kind that is reliable in all cases, and it therefore demands the attention of the afflicted. j2

But in taking out bad humors from the blood, they do make the body lighter, and thus seem to add energy. Many families have used them for upwards of forty years.

They are the best medicine for Colds, for all Bilious Affections, for Fullness about the Head or Heart, and in all Cutaneous and Contagious Diseases they are unrivalled. In all cases in which a purgative is indicated, no medicine of the kind can be compared to them. Two hundred physicians have testified that Brandreth's Pills are superior to all other purgatives whatever. Sold by all Druggists. my21

To Owners of Horses.

Thousands of Horses die yearly from Colic. This need not be. Dr. Tobias' Venetian Horse Liniment will positively cure every case, if given when first taken. The cost is only one dollar. Every owner of a Horse should have a bottle in his stable, ready for use. It is warranted superior to anything else for the cure of Cuts, Wind Galls, Swellings, Sore Throat, Spavin, Ringbone, Old Sores, etc. This Liniment is no new remedy. It has been used and approved of for 21 years by the first horsemen in the country. Given to an overdrive horse, it acts like a charm. It is recommended constantly received from the RACING STABLES of ENGLAND for it.

The celebrated Hiram Woodruff used and recommended it to his friends, years before his death. Col. P. P. Bush, of the Jerome race course, has given me a certificate stating it is superior to any other he had used. Hundreds of others can be seen at the Depot, 10 Park Place, N. Y. ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

The best remedy for the cure of CONSUMPTION, and ALL DISEASES OF THE LUNGS. It causes the phlegm and matter to rise without irritating those delicate organs (the Lungs,) and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops night sweats, and changes all the morbid secretions to a healthy state.

It contains no opium in any form. It is perfectly harmless for the most delicate child. It is everywhere in good demand and gives good satisfaction.

The result of its use is proof of its great value.—Its extraordinary healing properties are experienced by all who use it. Their testimony will be found in a pamphlet, which can be had of the agents where the medicine is for sale. d25

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by a healthy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relaxe the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel is deadly poison which is very dangerous to take unless with great care, and yet will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gastic stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made from, enters the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made healthy blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they commence at the top, instead of at the bottom, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and these will stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, or bronchial inflammation, pleurisy adhesions, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets healthy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 36 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. G. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1ylw4

THE BEAUTIFUL AND POPULAR

FAIRY OPERA OF "LAILA,"

IN THREE PARTS,

By G. W. Stratton of Boston, will be performed

AT THE TEMPLE!

TUESDAY EVENING, JUNE 8TH,

By Thirty Young Misses,

Under the particular training of T. P. Mosce, who will preside at the Piano and direct the performance.

In addition to the Scenery belonging to the house, Mr. Mosce has just finished painting two Handsome Rural Scenes, nine feet high by sixteen long, each on Panorama cloth, expressly for the occasion.

The twenty-one Mountain Maidens and nine Fairies will appear in appropriate and beautiful Costumes.

In addition, also, to the attractions of "Laila," Mr. ANGELO BECK of Boston, a young man of wonderful skill on the Piano, will entertain the audience, AT THE CLOSE OF FIRST AND SECOND PARTS, by playing very difficult and beautiful Operatic Pieces and Airs with variations, by eminent composers. By request he will play the familiar "Mocking Bird," with some variations of his own, especially his inimitable Whistling Imitations of a dozen Mocking Birds together, which of itself is worth the price of ticket.

Doors open at 7; to commence at 8 o'clock.

Single Tickets 35 cents; Packages of 4 for $1 —for sale at the apothecary stores of J. H. Thacher, Wm. R. Preston, the music store of E. A. Joy, at Butler & Laighton's on Daniel Street, F. W. Ham's on Congress Street, and at the Temple.

☞ From a Boston Paper.

"OPERATIC PERFORMANCE.—The pupils of the Bridgewater Academy produced, on Wednesday evening, Stratton's Fairy Opera of 'Laila.' To say it was a complete success in every particular is not praise enough. The scenic arrangements far surpassed anything before seen here. The costumes were not only elegant, but in perfect taste, and, in short, no entertainment in this town ever attracted so fine an audience or gave more unbounded satisfaction." my26

A true copy.

Attest, MARCELLUS BUFFORD, City Clerk.

☞ Mr. Moses' Opera Concert, tomorrow evening, will beyond question be a more enjoyable entertainment, and far more praiseworthy, than the majority of foreign Operas,—and without any of the personal elements which often detract from many of the best professionals. Miss Annie Davis is to sustain the leading character—Mr. Moses has painted new and beautiful scenery, and the exhibition will be very fine, musically and in the dramatic display. All who feel any interest in the beautiful, or who would encourage the highest and best culture of youth, should help Mr. M. to a full house, which he merits so well.

THE ALARM OF FIRE, Sunday morning at 1 o'clock, was occasioned by the burning of a house and barn at Newington, owned by Mark H. Wentworth, Esq., of this city. The house was unoccupied. About 6 tons of pressed hay was taken from the barn by Hon. Frank Jones and H. R. Stoddard, Esq. The fire was supposed to be incendiary.

STONE & MURRAY'S CIRCUS has always given first class entertainments, since first they appeared in Portsmouth years ago. Their company is one of the most complete now travelling, and embraces the best talent in the profession. They pitch their big tent here on Friday, June 18th.

THAT STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL AND LEVEE comes off this evening at the vestries of the Freewill Baptist Church on Pearl Street. People who don't like strawberries and ice cream need not attend. Every body else is expected to be there to see others relish the delicious fruit.

THE POLL TAX levied by the City Government this year is $3.60, the rate of taxation being $2.40 on $100. Last year the rate was $2.20 on $100, and the poll tax $3.30.

—Mr. Pratt, for forty years editor of the Poughkeepsie Eagle, says, in his reminiscences of politics in the days of Clinton, Tompkins and Jay, that party virulence in those days was greater than it is at the present day.

Exactly so.—About 53 years ago, there was a political fight on the Parade, (now Market Square,) and many of our citizens remember the yells and hootings, the coat-cuttings, and the beautiful demonstrations of the early triumphs of the Jackson party here. Some remember the mob that burnt the N. Y. Bank Sign—and also "that night," when these disorderly hosts were vanquished in a battle of their own beginning.

RAILROAD ROUTE.—Some paper has this item:—

The route for the proposed railroad from Concord to Rochester will commence at East Concord, thence to Pittsfield, north of Bear Hill; from there through the valleys of the Suncook and Snackety rivers to Strafford, and from thence down the valley of a small stream to Rochester.

The Rochester Courier copies the above, and then adds:—

This is all right but the last part.—The "valley of a small stream" between Strafford and Rochester isn't there!

—The youngster who asked his mother if he should'nt go and have a tooth pulled, and on being denied that pleasure said that "she was never willing for him to have a good time," reminds us forcibly of the little girl in the "Gates Ajar," who wanted to know "If she was a good girl through the week, if God would'nt let her go down to hell some Saturday afternoon to play with the little girls there."

COMMODORE JOHN A. WINSLOW assumed command at the Navy Yard on Saturday, and received the customary salute.

From the Portsmouth Journal.

UNION GATHERING.—The Eastern Star Division S. of T. entertained the Strawberry Bank Lodge of G. T. on Tuesday evening last, and the occasion was a happy one to both societies. The exercises commenced at 8 o'clock at Rechab Hall, where a couple of hours were pleasantly occupied in recitations, dialogues, &c., displaying the brilliancy of the Eastern Stars, and an interesting address by Rev. Mr. Kelsey. The party then repaired to the hall of the S. of T. and partook of supper which all pronounced good, and then returned to Rechab Hall and participated in social games, which would probably have continued until the small hours of the following morning had not the alarm of fire at midnight caused a hurried dissolution of the party. The occasion will be one of happy remembrance by the participants.

PORTLAND, SACO AND PORTSMOUTH RAILROAD.—The annual meeting of the corporation is to be holden at Kittery on Monday, 7th. The twenty-ninth Annual Report of the Directors informs us that the receipts of the past year have been $575,036.10, and the expenditures (including $10,000.00 renewal fund) $409,449.28; making the net income $165,586.82; which, after deducting $141,807.55 for payments not included in running expenses, for new engines, cars, dividends, taxes, &c., leaves the company a surplus accrued this year of $23,779.27.

BOSTON CUSTOM HOUSE.—Hon. Walter Harriman of this State is to enter upon his duties as Collector of the port of Boston on Monday 7th. The seekers for place under him complain that his hands are so tied by the Massachusetts men to whom he is indebted for his office, that he cannot give New Hampshire men a fair representation in the subordinate officers. Hosea Eaton Esq. of New Ipswich has been appointed to an inspectorship.

DRAFTS.—We commend not the draft as the soldier understands it, nor as the horse feels it with a heavy load on a hot day, nor that which the doctor warns us is the source of colds, fevers and the like, and by no means that which drains the intoxicating cup; but ever that which, flows from Preston's Soda Fountain, where the syrups are made by himself from the fruit, and the soda is his own manufacture.

"Better far than all the frantic juice Which Bacchus pours."

MARRIAGES.

In Exeter, May 26, Mr. BENJAMIN F. FRENCH of Sandown and Miss MARGIE GORDON of Brentwood.—May 29, Mr. WILLIAM C. MARBLE and Miss SARAH E. BARKER.

In Dover, May 20, CHARLES B. HALL of D. and NELLIE MEADER of Genie.

In Rochester, May 26, Mr. GEO. A. MCDUFFEE and Miss EMMA S. HOYT.

DEATHS.

At Bradford, Mrs. LYDIA BERNEY, formerly of this city.

Funeral services at the grave in Harmony Grove Cemetery, at 6 o'clock this (Monday) evening. Relatives and friends invited to attend.

In Amesbury, May 31st, Mr. J. S. LANE, aged 36 years—a soldier who served in one of the Maine regiments during the war.

BY REV. I. P. BOLTON, SO. MALDEN, MASS.

WEBSTER'S COUNTING-HOUSE AND FAMILY DICTIONARY is the crowning enterprise of the same house, their seventh and largest abridgement of Webster. For ordinary family use it is nearly as valuable as the $12 work, at something like a fifth of the price. It has two sets of illustrations, many of them reduced from the larger work.—But the very best of them is omitted,—the ship on page 1751 and the engines on 1758. It seems to me that the cross trees is as important a word to illustrate for the "counting-house" as basque, visite, or victorine. But I am provoked by the scientific inaccuracies in the whole set. In the original work, $2000 more expended on the science would have added $20,000 to the value of the work. The publishers secured a few leisure hours of a few great men, and with what result? Look at the derivations of Manomay, Dimyary, Eremacausis! Look at the misuse of capitals in scientific names! Look at a few insects: the Cricket, truly so called, represented by "Gryllus" domesticus; the Grasshopper, falsely called a cricket by most people, by a locust, falsely named Gryllus viridissimus and falsely defined; the Locust, commonly called grasshopper, by a creature that is neither locust nor grasshopper; while the Cicada, falsely called locust, is not figured; and even under Gryllus, where we have quite another "Gryllus viridissimus" from that eight pages before, the name of the species is given wrong. The Gryllus on page 312 is an Adheta, that on p. 589 is probably a Locusta, while the third attempt at Gryllus, p. 594, is true to genus but misnamed as to species. Now, after telling the publishers all this, we find in our new book the Locust only of all these insects figured, and that, as before, by an animal as unlike any locust as a dog is unlike a pig. The Woodchuck of the new book is, I think, a beaver, and the whale has the head of a sorqual, (fin-back,) the body of a cachelot, (sperm-whale,) and the tail of a fish, for the cetacean tail is flat horizontally like a beaver's. I tell you of these things because this is one of the best books of one of our very best houses, which spends immense sums of money in perfecting its works. I never find fault with second-rate works, as you very well know.

Among the adjuncts copied or abbreviated from the Quarto, is found one that is original in this Counting-house Octavo, on Money Weights and Measures of the principal countries in the world, by E. B. Elliott of the Treasury Department. It was but a week or two ago I had a regular chase through my library for the weight of our gold coin. The weights and measures of the whole world I had in Alexandre's Dictionary of them; the relative values of many coins were easily found. The sovereign I found in Chambers' Encyclopedia, and calculated what our gold ought to be. Here we have the weight and fineness of the principal coins of the world. But, either through stiff accuracy or by oversight, Mr. Elliott enumerates among our legal coins a silver dollar of 412.5 grains; the half-dollar being 172. Until 1853 our silver coins contained more than a dollar's worth of silver in a dollar, two halves, four quarters, or ten dimes. They were of course melted up as fast as coined.—In 1853–54 the coining of silver dollars was either tacitly or expressly discontinued by law, the other silver coins were reduced in weight, and made a tender for limited sums only. This change, which stupidity deferred twenty years, (I urged it in the Courier and Enquirer in 1847,) gave our currency its first rest. All those silver dollars have gone to Asia, to the melting pot or to the cabinet of curiosities, years ago; the American silver dollar, — of 412.5 grains or any other,— is known only to history. Here too we have the legal terms of our metric system of weights and measures, with a discussion of the relations of the English Yard, the American Yard, and the French Meter, with the true theoretical meter, of which ten million extend from the Equator to the North Pole on the meridian of Dunkirk and Formentera. Here too we have a synopsis of a law of July, 1866, reducing our postage by increasing the weight of a single letter from a half-ounce to fifteen grams, and of all books and other matter in the same proportion; a law which the P. M. G. has never put in force to this day, that I can learn. But does Mr. Eliot vary his spelling from that of the law and the Dictionary on purpose? Both say meter, gram; he says metre, gramme.

On the matter of a universal gold coinage I have spent some time. The true unit should be 100 times the value of the smallest coin necessary. A gram of gold, nine-tenths fine, meets this condition pretty exactly. Its value would be $0.603, practically sixty cents.

GUYOT'S GEOGRAPHIES.—It is very gratifying to learn that Prof. Guyot, the friend and companion of Agassiz, after gaining a world-wide reputation as a geographer, after years of scientific study, has prepared, with great clearness and simplicity, geographies adapted to the children in our common schools. Those who have read the works or listened to the lectures of Prof. Guyot, need no one to recommend these books to their attention. But to those who ask for testimonials,—recommendations from our most distinguished teachers and scientific men from all parts of the country, can be found by hundreds. Not only the children in our schools, but all who have formed their ideas of the earth from old systems of geography, will find great benefit from these new books, which are valuable not only for instruction but for entertainment and discipline. Our school committees and teachers should see that they are introduced into every school in the State. G. OSGOOD.

HOW TO GROW HUBBARD SQUASHES.—As it is getting almost time to plant I want to have some one raise some good Hubbard squashes. I raised good ones last year. They took the shine off any I ever raised before. This is how I did it: I purchased some genuine and fresh seed which I then planted in this way:—I dug as many holes as I wanted hills, about a foot and one half deep, which I filled with good hog manure to within five or six inches of the top; then I filled up even with fine earth, and I covered the seeds as near as I could guess with one inch of earth. They came up and grew so fast that the bugs didn't have time to wink hardly before they were out of their reach. Instead of the weeds chocking the squashes, the squashes chocked the weeds. I think hog manure is the best remedy known for squash bugs.

TO KEEP FOWLS HEALTHY.—The way I keep my fowls in health, I clean out the house once a week; put wood ashes under the roosts; have iron basins for them to drink from; whitewash inside of hen-house with hot lime; put a little kerosene oil on the roofs once a month. The main food is oats, and cake of scraps to pick on. I never feed but once a day—at noon, or when I shut them up at four or five, p. m. When they run out, then give them all they will eat. In my experience, there is no way to get diseased fowls easier than to keep them stuffed; it makes them lazy, and they won't work as much as they ought, to keep them in a healthy condition.

WATERY POTATOES.—Put into the pot a piece of lime as large as a hen's egg; and how watery soever the potatoes may have been, when the water is poured off, the potatoes will be dry and mealy.

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT!

THE RIGHT THING AT LAST!

BENJAMIN NORTON,

Having been appointed Selling Agent for this City and surrounding towns, of the AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT COMPANY, is now prepared to sell any quantity, from one pound upward, of

THE BEST PAINT!

ever offered in this city.

It is Durable, Beautiful, Water Proof, Elastic and Economical.

This Paint is all Ready for Immediate Application, and requires no oil, thinning or drying.

It is prepared in pure White and one hundred Different Shades, and is unsurpassed in all respects.

It dries with a hard, rich, glossy surface; does not run from seams or nail holes; will not chalk, crack or peel off; covers more surface with the same body, and is cheaper, more lasting, and better in every respect than any other Paint.

Many testimonials from those who have used it in other places of its superiority over other Paints might be given; but I will only invite those of this city and surrounding towns who intend using Paints, to call at the

GROCERY AND PROVISION STORE,

Nos. 16 & 18 Cabot Street,

which is the ONLY PLACE in the City where it has been used, and examine the Paint where it has been applied in ten or twelve different shades, and where they can change any color they desire for use, outside or in, and buy from one pound upwards.

In using the Chemical Paint, there is no difficulty in matching any color at any time, as all the shades are numbered, and the same number will always match.

These Paints are manufactured in New York, and Newburgh, Ohio. BENJ. NORTON,

Agent for Chemical Paint Company.

WHAT ADVERTISERS SAY.

The firm, whose letter we print below, gave us in 1867 what was then the largest contract we had ever received for our "LISTS OF 100 LOCAL NEWSPAPERS." The fact that they this year renew the order and increase the amount is the best argument we can give that these "LISTS" are good advertising mediums.

LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL,

MANUFACTURERS OF

Axes, Shovels, Saws, &c.,

No. 118 WATER STREET,

PITTSBURG, PA., Dec. 3, 1868.

MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO.:

Gentlemen:—One year ago with much hesitation we gave you an advertisement for one of your Lists of One Hundred local papers; a very short time thereafter we unhesitatingly added two more Lists of One Hundred papers.

But a short time elapsed before we were inquired of on every side for "Colburn's Patent Red Jacket Ax," proving to us that your plan of Lists had reached the very parties to whom we wanted to introduce the new patent Ax.

The year having now nearly gone by, we cannot but express our satisfaction of advertising by "Lists of Local Papers" is just the kind of advertising we want, and we to-day forward you an order still adding another List of One Hundred papers, making the number now altogether four (4) Lists of One Hundred (100) local papers.

The more we talk with newspaper agents and editors' agents the more satisfied we are that this arrangement we have made with you is preferable to any we have ever heard of. The merit of the Ax itself has of course something to do with the great demand for it, but we are satisfied that by your system of advertising by "Lists" we have accomplished in one year what would have ordinarily taken us five years to accomplish.

Respectfully,

LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL.

The following from the National Publishing Co., of Philadelphia, may be taken as an answer to those who inquire if these "Lists" can really be good advertising mediums.

Gentlemen:—It is more than three years since we began advertising in your "Lists of One Hundred Papers" each; and in that time have given "The List System," as originated by you, a thorough trial, and we can now say it is the cheapest and best general advertising medium we have any knowledge of.

We have tried every possible mode of advertising, have dealt with the press direct, and through nearly every advertising agency in the country, and have no hesitation in saying that your Lists have paid us 50 per cent. better than any other way. Respectfully,

TWAIN'S LAST.—Mark writes to the Tribune from Elmira, N. Y., as follows:

The Wilson trial came to an end yesterday. In some respects this was the most remarkable case that has ever had a place upon the criminal records of the country. It excited great interest in this part of the State, and during the last ten days the Court room has been pretty generally crowded with eager listeners. The facts of the Wilson case were simply these: On the 17th of February last, George L. Roderick provoked a quarrel with Dr. R. Wilson, in front of the Union Hotel in this place. Wilson put up with a good deal of abuse before he even showed temper. He tried to pacify Roderick, but to no purpose. Roderick called him a thief, a liar, a swindler; yet Wilson bore it all calmly. Roderick grew more excited, and heaped one opprobrious epithet after another upon Wilson, and finally called him a member of the New York Legislature. At this Wilson sprang to his feet, and remarking to Roderick that he would not take that from any man, shot him dead with an ax-handle. Such was the evidence elicited upon the trial. The Court acquitted Wilson upon the ground that the provocation was sufficient.

APPLE TREES.—In taking up trees great care should be taken not to injure or break the small roots and fibres. In setting out trees dig holes four to six feet in diameter and two feet deep; fill the holes part full with weeds, elders, rotten wood or any vegetable substance, cover with earth, dip the roots of the tree in water and set in, using great care in getting the earth around the small roots. Charcoal, lime, ashes and sawdust are good to cut around the trees. To prevent drought, mulch with sawdust, leaves chip manure, or weeds and briars, covered lightly with earth. To prevent mice from injuring them in winter, bank up with earth, and remove in spring. This is not a sure preventive in all cases, but will rarely fail.

Apple trees do best in lime and potash soils, and when these are deficient they should be supplied. Orchards should be set, if possible, on land descending easterly, and should be protected from north and north-westerly winds, not on cold or wet land, but on light and good land.

To make trees bear fruit that are vigorous growers, and make wood too fast, cut all the small roots completely around the tree, to the depth of twelve to fifteen inches. This can be done with a sharp spade. Also, cut off the ends of the twigs over the whole top of the tree. This will not fail to produce the desired result if faithfully followed. Cut off all dead and decaying limbs from all trees, and keep all your apple trees well pruned. —Woodstock Standard.

JERUSALEM.—Recent accounts from Jerusalem speak of the rapid progress and important results of Lieut. Warren's explorations in the Sacred City.—More than fifty shafts have been sunk, revealing archways, galleries, buried halls, reservoirs and water-courses, thus getting glimpses of the city as it was.—By one of these shafts the foundations of the old Temple area have been found, ninety feet below the present surface. On some of these ancient foundation stones numerous mysterious characters have been found, some engraved on the stone, others merely painted red, but the key to their meaning has yet to be hit upon. The exploration of the Birket Israil, or Pool of Bethesda, has revealed a vast vaulted reservoir, nearly 100 feet deep.—N. Y. Observer.

TSING TEA—Black Dragon Chop.
NATURAL LEAF, perfectly pure (TSING signifies pure) Prepared without any coloring or foreign substance. Cured on Porcelain (not copper) over a slow fire. Delightful flavor, exceedingly powerful and strong. Combines all the healthy virtues of the Tea-plant. Mandarins and higher class of natives use no other.
This celebrated Tea was first introduced here by the ORIENTAL TEA COMPANY, in May, 1867, when the limited quantity imported was rapidly sold, at the high price of $1.80 a pound. It met with such unqualified approval, and the demand for it from all sections was so great, that the Company at once made arrangements to procure a larger supply, upon more favorable terms, for the future;—and they have just received the first invoice for this year, which will be sold at the low price of $1.10 a pound, at which (but little over half what it cost one year ago) it is the cheapest Tea Known; and the Company feel that they cannot too highly recommend it to all who drink Tea, as it possesses the flavor and strength, and the soothing, invigorating properties of both Black and Green, without any injurious quality; being chemically pure and free from coloring matter or any foreign mixture, it will suit the taste and please all who love Tea.
The Tea is put up neatly in pound parcels, 36 pounds in a chest, with the price, $1.10, printed on each package. The wholesale price by the chest is $1.00 a pound, and orders from Traders, Hotel-Keepers, Peddlers, Clubs, or Families, for chests of 36 pounds or more, will be filled at the wholesale price. Persons desiring to travel where we have agents can always get the Tea from them.
Like all other goods sold by the Oriental Tea Company, this Tea is warranted to give entire satisfaction; and parties ordering can do so with the full assurance that if the whole or any part fails to suit, it may be returned at our expense, and we will refund the money.
SPECIAL NOTICE.—As a matter of convenience to the public, we are arranging with Apothecaries and other Merchants, all over the country, to act as Agents for selling our Teas and Coffees in their locality, at our warehouse prices. Our profits are small, but we give over four-fifths of them to Agents as Commission. We want an Agent in every town in the Union, and will send full particulars, terms, price-lists, &c., upon application by mail from Traders desiring it. DYSPEPSIA
AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words never can express, I obtained relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the Traveling Druggist to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being well once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. S. B. LIBBY,

TUESDAY, JUNE 8, 1869.

The News.

McCracken is dead—so 'tis said.

Prof. Goldwin Smith admits that he was frightened over the prospect of trouble between Great Britain and America when he replied to Senator Sumner's speech, but that his alarm has departed.

Reen, who chopped off the head of Cronan in Charlestown, Mass., and was found guilty of murder, hung himself in East Cambridge jail, Sunday afternoon.

3000 emigrants left Liverpool last week.

The Printers' National Convention met at Albany, N. Y., on Monday.

Imprisonment for debt has been abolished in Belgium.

General Miles's couriers report that two additional bodies were found, making thirteen victims of the recent Indian massacre in Kansas. The Indians are devastating the settlements on the Solomon and Republican rivers. The Indians have been in the vicinity of White Rock and Lake Sibley all the week in large numbers, killing and destroying everything. The colonies in Jewell and Mitchell counties, in north-western Kansas, have been driven into Republic and Washington counties, and twenty persons were killed. Mr. Wintelpeck, an old citizen, was killed while crossing the Republican River. There is a famine among the settlers in that part of the State.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

RYE, June 7th.

The town meeting yesterday, called by the selectmen for the purpose of getting instructions from the legal voters about granting the petition for a new highway near the Farragut House, was attended by about a dozen voters besides the selectmen and town clerk—not one of the petitioners was present, and no one appeared in behalf of them or of those most interested in having the road laid out, and the meeting voted to postpone the subject until the next annual meeting in March. If but a very few of those who had signed the petition for the road had taken the pains to have been present and voted to instruct the selectmen to have it laid out, they would have carried the point, but as they chose to stay away, the result may be that the County Commissioners will be called upon, and if they decide in favor of the road, the expense will be considerably more than if the town had constructed it in the first place.

The contract for carrying the mail between here and Greenland Depot and back, daily, except Sundays, has been awarded to parties down in Maine.—They do not propose to carry it themselves, and are trying to find a carrier, who will find a team, or go on foot.—it taking about half a day to do it in, for 75 cents a trip. As the lowest bid from this place was a dollar a trip, and not many, if any other, bids at any price, the competition will not be very great for doing it at 75 cents, and as it is not probable contractors can get much more than that, their prospect for making a fortune out of this contract looks rather dubious.

Everybody in Rye seems to be putting up new buildings, additions, or repairing of some sort this season. In addition to operations mentioned in a previous letter, it may be noticed that Mr. Charles A. Drake at Breakfast Hill is building a barn, Mr. W. J. Rand, near the West School House, is putting up a building, which will connect his house with his barn—Mr. Charles Green has got up a frame for a carriage and wood house, and Mr. Jonathan Locke is completing a building for similar purposes—Mr. Charles Garland is enlarging and improving his barn, by splitting it open and making it wider, and Mr. Trefethen at the east end is doing the same thing to his barn—Mr. John Webster is putting up a corn and carriage house, and Mr. Nathaniel Foye is putting an L to his residence. In fact, there never seemed to be so much building going on in town before, and parties who have not seen the place for twenty-five years would be likely to note some changes if they should visit here now. R.

—The Crown Prince of Denmark, on the 27th of July, will marry the Crown Princess of Sweden. When it was officially announced last year that this marriage had been settled, the news was received with great satisfaction by the Danish people, who regard it as the first step toward the union of the two Kingdoms.

—A Connecticut youth attempted to drown a superfluous kitten in a paper bag with a large stone; as a result the cat reached home before the boy.

—Chicago now claims to be an eastern city, as it is only 900 miles to the Atlantic coast, while it is 2850 miles to the Pacific coast.

New Hampshire Items.

The editor of the Rochester Courier recently saw at North Wakefield, widow Joseph Bickford, whose age is 99 years and 6 months, out in the field dropping beans. Mrs. Bickford did not have the appearance of such extreme old age as one would expect, and is able to perform as much work in a day as most women who are 30 years younger.

Mr. Geo. W. Came, freight master at Union, was dangerously injured recently. While climbing up a freight car, heavily laden and in motion, and before he had secured a firm hold of the brake, the car came in contact with another car, standing motionless upon the track and he fell upon the track, severely bruising his left hip and back, head and face. The left arm was fractured midway between his elbow and shoulder, and the flesh cut and bruised. This arm and his body, lying upon the track, were sufficient to stop the already retarded motion of the car, but had nearly proved fatal.

The late Benson Leavitt of Boston, who was buried at Hampton Falls on Thursday, served in the war of 1812 in a company of artillery detached from the Third Regiment of New Hampshire Militia for the defence of Portsmouth harbor in September, 1814.

Hosea Proctor of Stoddard, has a Dutch and Durham heifer that weighed, when a few days less than one year old, seven hundred pounds, and is a model of symmetry. She has had only ordinary feed.

In Munsonville (Fetersboro') on Wednesday forenoon last, as Ada Fisher, daughter of Justus Fisher, aged about 7 years, was climbing upon a pile of timber, she was killed by a heavy stick falling upon her.

On Thursday, of last week, as Mr. H. D. Evans of Sharon, was riding in the woods on a pair of wheels, his foot caught on a stump and against the axle in such a manner as to break both bones of the right leg.

Stratham has 215 voters, 25 of whom are named Wiggin.

The top of Mount Washington is still covered with snow.

Some one has sent the Rochester Courier, a list of snow storms that occurred in the winter of 186 8–69. The first was on the 17th day of October, 1868, and the last on the 1st day of May, 1869. There were, according to the record, 36 snow storms during the period above mentioned.

A law suit concerning a school house in Barnstead prevented the holding of a public school in that particular district for two years past.

Mr. G. T. Barker of Loudon, who years past has suffered from imperfect eyesight and was totally blind for two years, has been restored to perfect vision, in Boston, by a year's treatment. Mr. B. is aged seventy odd years.

We have received the Annual Report of the Warden of the State Prison, Joseph Mayo, Esq.

On the 30th ult., as the people were returning home from church at Deerfield Centre, a wheel of a wagon driven by Mr. Josiah B. Tilton came off, and he reined his horse so as to come in contact with another wagon, in which were three ladies, Mrs. Daniel Stevens, Mrs. Clemantha Tilton, and Mrs. Hiram Swain. This carriage was overturned, the occupants thrown out, and Mrs. Tilton was so badly hurt that her recovery was considered doubtful. One other lady was seriously injured, having a gash cut in her head and two of her teeth knocked out.

On the 1st, Benjamin Dow went into the field of C. L. Prescott, in Gilford, and deliberately shot one of his best cows—firing five bullets into her.—He is either half crazy or wholly mad, and is now in Belknap County jail.

Sylvester G. Closson, who escaped from the State Prison on Wednesday evening last, was captured at Claremont on Saturday night.

PHRENOLOGY IN BOSTON.—During the great Peace Jubilee, the Publishers of the Phrenological Journal, New York, will occupy Room No. 6, in the Studio Building, 110 Tremont Street, where they will be happy to meet their New England friends.

☞ A Perusal of the Programme of the Peace Jubilee awakens feelings of the liveliest emotion. Never before was such a grand musical feast provided, either in this country or in Europe.

—At Genesee, N.Y., on Saturday last, a man who had been a noted copperhead tore from the grave of his son, a soldier, the flowers placed there by his former comrades, and scattered them in the mud in the streets, with oaths and loud imprecations on those who had decorated the grave. [The miserable father must have been drunk. A sober man would not do so.]

—A stuffed cat, placed on a strawberry bed will, it is said, frighten away the birds which destroy the fruit.

Science Advances.

As soon as an article purporting to be of utility has been tested, and its merits endorsed by public opinion, unprincipled parties endeavor to replenish their depleted purses by counterfeiting, and substituting a spurious for the genuine article.—Some time since, mercury, in the disguise of pills, powders, &c., was given for all diseases of the stomach and liver, while quinine was freely administered for the chills. At length HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS made its advent, and an entire new system of healing was inaugurated. The beneficial effects of this valuable preparation were at once acknowledged, and mineral poisons suffered to sink into that obscurity to which an enlightened age has consigned them.—There have been many spurious Bitters palmed upon the community, which, after trial, have been found perfectly worthless, while HOSTETTER'S has proved a blessing to thousands, who owe to it their restoration to health and vigor.

For many years we have watched the steady progress of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS in public estimation, and its beneficent effects as a cure for all complaints arising from the stomach of a morbid nature, and we are free to say that it can be relied upon as a certain relief and remedy. Its proprietors have made the above preparation, after years of careful study and sifting, and are now reaping the reward claimed by this valuable specific, and which they so richly merit. It is the only preparation of the kind that is reliable in all cases, and it therefore demands the attention of the afflicted. j2

Holloway's Pills.—IS THIS YOUR CASE?—A yellow suffusion of the skin, pain or pressure in the right side, dullness of spirits and indisposition to exertion, and a general feeling of weariness and weakness are infallible evidences that the liver is not doing its duty. When these symptoms are experienced, immediate resort should be had to HOLLOWAY'S PILLS, which act directly upon the bile-producing organ, and, more certainly and rapidly than any other known medicine, restore it to a healthy condition. Sold by all Druggists'

Brandreth's Pills.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Brandreth's Pills have been known and used by your grandfathers and grandmothers. They are always safe, and sure to do you good. They are purely vegetable, and diminish the death principle; some think they increase the principle of life. But in taking out bad humors from the blood, they do make the body lighter, and thus seem to add energy. Many families have used them for upwards of forty years.

They are the best medicine for Colds, for all Bilious Affections, for Fullness about the Head or Heart, and in all Cutaneous and Cutaneous Diseases they are unrivalled. In all cases in which a purgative is indicated, no medicine yet known can be compared to them. For hundred years physicians have testified that Brandreth's Pills are superior to all other purgatives whatever. Sold by all Druggists.

To Owners of Horses.

Thousands of Horses die yearly from Colic. This need not be. Dr. Tobias' Venetian Horse Liniment will positively cure every case, if given when first taken. The cost is only one dollar. Every owner of a Horse should have a bottle in his stable, ready for use. It is warranted superior to anything else for the cure of Cuts, Wind Galls, Swellings, Sore Throat, Sprains, Bruises, Old Sores, &c. This Liniment is no new remedy. It has been used and approved of for 31 years by the first horsemen in the country. Given to an overdriven horse, it acts like magic. Orders are constantly received from the RACING STABLES of ENGLAND for it.

The celebrated Hiram Woodruff used and recommended it to his friends before his death. Col. P. P. Bush, of the Jerome race course, has given me a certificate stating it to be superior to any other he had used. Hundreds of others can be seen at the Depot, 10 Park Place, N. Y. Sold by the Druggists and Store-keepers. my21

ERADICATES ERUPTIVE AND ULCERATIVE DISEASES OF THE

THROAT, NOSE, EYES, EYELIDS, SCALP and SKIN,

Which so disfigure the appearance, PURGING the evil effects of mercury and removing all taints, the remnants of DISEASES, hereditary or other, and is taken by ADULTS and CHILDREN with perfect SAFETY.

TWO TABLE-SPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoctions as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with the invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

The best remedy for the cure of CONSUMPTION, and ALL DISEASES OF THE LUNGS. It causes the phlegm and matter to rise without irritating those delicate organs (the Lungs,) and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops night sweats, and changes all the morbid secretions to a healthy state.

It contains no opium in any form. It is perfectly harmless for the most delicate child. It is everywhere in good demand and gives good satisfaction.

The result of its use is proof of its great value.—Its extraordinary healing properties are experienced by all who use it. Their testimony will be found in a pamphlet, which can be had of the agents where the medicine is for sale. d25

Ellis' Iron Bitters.

Having used your Iron Bitters in my practice, I can testify to its superior tonic properties for invigorating the appetite and promoting digestion. I can unhesitatingly recommend it in cases of general debility and dyspepsia, and in conditions of the system requiring the use of a ferruginous tonic. Its agreeable flavor must recommend it to all. Yours, Respectfully,

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary consumption. The pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be free to act and to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do. Nothing ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the liver and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, they do stop, they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and ready to ulcerate. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of Food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. G. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yja4

By G. W. Stratton of Boston, will be performed

AT THE TEMPLE!

TUESDAY EVENING, JUNE 8TH,

By Thirty Young Misses,

Under the particular training of T. P. Moses, who will preside at the Piano and direct the performance.

In addition to the Scenery belonging to the house, Mr. Moses has just finished painting two Handsome Rural Scenes, nine feet high by sixteen long, each on Panorama cloth, expressly for the occasion.

The twenty-one Mountain Maidens and nine Fairies will appear in appropriate and beautiful Costumes.

In addition, also, to the attractions of "Laila," Mr. ANGELO BECK of Boston, a young man of wonderful skill on the Piano, will entertain the audience, AT THE CLOSE OF FIRST AND SECOND PARTS, by playing very difficult and beautiful Operatic Pieces and Airs with variations, by eminent composers. By request he will play the familiar Air "Mocking Bird," with some variations of his own, especially his inimitable Whistling Imitations of a dozen Mocking Birds together, which of itself is worth the price of ticket.

Doors open at 7½; to commence at 8 o'clock.

Single Tickets 35 cents; Packages of 4 for $1—for sale at the apothecary stores of J. H. Thacher, Wm. R. Preston, the music store of E. A. Joy, at Butler & Laighton's on Daniel Street, F. W. Ham's on Congress Street, and at the Temple.

No. 137.

An Ordinance in amendment of Ordinance No. 104.

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Portsmouth:

That the City Messenger shall be paid for his services as such and for assistance to the City Clerk the sum of Five Hundred Dollars per annum and no more, to commence on the first day of January now last past.

Passed May 20, 1869.

No. 138.

An Ordinance relating to Common Sewers.

Be it ordained by the City Council of the City of Portsmouth as follows:

That any person may open a drain into any public drain or common sewer, under the direction of the street commissioner, by paying to the City Clerk for the use of the city for a permit to do so, a sum equal to one and one-half per cent. of the valuation of the property proposed to be drained, as made by the assessors in the last assessment of taxes previous to said permit being granted.

And any votes heretofore passed fixing a different sum than that named herein are hereby rescinded.

Provided, however, any owner or occupant of real estate situate more than one hundred feet from any public sewer may construct a private drain from such real estate into any public sewer upon paying for the use of the city one per cent. upon the last valuation of said estate for taxation. And such owner or occupant may allow any other owners or occupants to drain into such private drain upon such terms and conditions as may be agreed upon and upon the payment for the use of the city of one per cent. upon the like valuation of such real estate to be drained; and all drains shall be constructed under the direction of the street commissioner.

Passed May 20, 1869.

STONE & MURRAY'S CIRCUS. — The following, from the Springfield Republican, will give an idea of the excellence of this popular circus:

"The pavilion of Stone & Murray was completely filled last night by a most enthusiastic audience, and hundreds were actually refused admittance, the managers preferring to remain satisfied with a full house of patrons, all comfortably seated, than to have an overflowing crowd in constant confusion. The performances were the finest we ever saw, and gave unbounded satisfaction. The troupe is a very large one and composed of the magnates of the ring. In fact, we are certain that no other exhibition can equal that of Stone & Murray."

For full details of this Circus we refer he reader to the advertisement.

THE FIRE at the Wentworth farm early Sunday morning, was no doubt the work of an incendiary. A report was in circulation on Monday to the effect that parties were engaged on Saturday in cleaning the house. Mr. Wm. B. Jenness, however, Superintendent of the Wentworth farm, informs us that the house had been unoccupied since last October, when Mrs. Jenness nailed down the windows and fastened all the doors, carrying the key to the Wentworth mansion. The house was first fired in a place where the wind could rake freely, and the barn was the last to burn. The buildings were insured for $800.

Communication.

A GOOD MOVE.—The Hair Dressers of this city, believing that they need one evening during the week for their own use, and that their wearied bodies need some relaxation and rest from the turmoil of business and close confinement, have universally agreed to close their "Boudoirs of Art" on Tuesday evening of each week, excepting when that evening precedes a holiday or—comes on Saturday. "Let us have Peace!" SQUIBS.

Our Navy Yard Correspondence.

Twenty seven carpenters and nineteen laborers were discharged from the Yard on Saturday—among them Chas. W. Stimson, formerly Master Carpenter.

Representatives Lynch and Ela are expected to visit the Yard this week.

REPUB.

THE CONCERT TO-NIGHT will be no child's affair, although the performers are many of them young. The Opera of Laila has been well received everywhere when it has been given; and we doubt if it has before been presented under a manager so tasteful and devoted as Mr. Moses. He has painted new scenery, and manufactured numerous decorations for the occasion, and the tableaux and exhibition will be one of the most brilliant and beautiful ever presented in this city; while the music is said to be very pleasing. The Misses Davis sustain the leading characters, with about thirty other misses, all in appropriate costumes.

And beside the merits and real attractions of the entertainment—the manager, we think, is entitled to some consideration on this occasion of a Benefit—for he has devoted many years to the dissemination of a love for music and the beautiful, especially in the education of the young; and deserves to be remembered by the persons and the community he has thus benefitted.

In addition to the Opera, there will be some fine Piano music by Mr. Beck of Boston, who is reported to be a dashing and brilliant performer. The entertainment is richly deserving a full house, and we hope will receive it.—See the advertisement for particulars.—A Boston exchange remarks as follows:

"OPERATIC PERFORMANCE.—The pupils of the Bridgewater Academy produced, on Wednesday evening, Stratton's Fairy Opera of Laila.' To say it was a complete success in every particular is not praise enough. The scenic arrangements far surpassed anything before seen here. The costumes were not only elegant, but in perfect taste, and, in short, no entertainment in this town ever attracted so fine an audience or gave more unbounded satisfaction."

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

YORK, June 2.

Chas. J. Hutchins, Esq., of York, for three years past engaged as Clerk in the Internal Revenue Department at Washington, has to-day arrived at this place with his lady. Mr. Hutchins is a very worthy and estimable young gentleman, and his many friends will give him hearty greeting.

A man from Kittery, who was making a very long call on a grass (or sea) widow in York, the other night, as is his wont, on re-appearing, found his horse and harness had been turned loose into the road, and his wagon cut and defaced, as badly as the character of the couple suffered by the reports in circulation. And two men from Kittery are said to have met there on a recent evening. The club who operate here in such cases, have their eyes upon that house; and as the price of tar has declined, it may be more bountifully used in connection with some worn-out feathers.

THE ANNUAL MEETING of the P. S. & P. Railroad was held at Kittery on Monday, and many strangers visited this city. Messrs. Ichabod Goodwin of Portsmouth, John B. Brown of Portland, Chas. E. Barrett of Portland, E. A. Rollins of Somersworth, S. Lothrop Thorndike of Boston, Nathaniel Hooper of Lynn, and Stephen H. Bullard of Boston were chosen Directors. The new Board were instructed to press the claims of the corporation for the payment of the interest due by the Eastern and Boston & Maine corporations in coin—they having leased the road in 1847 for 99 years at 6 per cent on the par value of the stock, payable in coin or its equivalent.

ON A VISIT.—A fine looking company of State Militia from Manchester arrived here on Monday and proceeded to Newcastle, where they propose to camp out near the beach for three days, and if they like it well enough will extend their visit through the week. Capt. David Urch commands the corps with Lieut. E. A. Nichols. The company consists mainly of the Head Guards, Co. C, 1st N. H. Militia, but there are a number from another company with them, including Capt. Fellows.

☞ The police force have taken possession of their newly fitted quarters at the City Hall. 'Tis said that every cell is engaged for occupation during Jubilee week!

☞ Woodbury Locke's gray mare Nellie Locke is entered, with nine others, in a 2:30 race for a $4000 purse, at Riverside Park on Wednesday.

MASTA'S PULMONIC BALSAM

IS A SPEEDY and certain remedy for Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Influenza, Hooping Cough, Asthma and the various Affections of the Lungs.

☞ The attention of those afflicted with COLDS, COUGHS, and with any disease of the lungs, is directed to this valuable remedy. On account of sudden changes in the weather, colds and coughs are easily taken, and if neglected may lead to disease of the lungs. What is needed under such circumstances is a reliable remedy—speedy in affording relief, and effectual in arresting further progress of the disease.

☞ To arrest the existing irritation of the air-passages and the lungs, speedily and effectually, the seat and cause of cough is an important step gained toward relief and cure in the first stages of the disease. MASTA'S PULMONIC BALSAM possesses this important power, and while it promptly and effectually arrests all existing irritation, and rapidly relieves cough, it renders the lungs further relief by promoting a free discharge of the accumulated mucus in the air-passages, imparting a healthy action and vigor to the chest at the same time.

☞ Those suffering with cough and the first stages of lung disease, will therefore find in this valuable preparation a speedy and decided relief. Even those whose condition is beyond recovery, will derive from its use great benefit as well as comfort. For the class of diseases it is designed to relieve, the general commendation it has received has proved its efficacy beyond question. For the past ten years have been speedily and effectually cured by its timely use while suffering from severe colds, protracted coughs, and from other forms of lung disease. It is prepared from vegetable balsams and the medicinal properties of roots and herbs, with no minerals nor poisonous acids; simple and safe in the material used, it can be taken at any time.

Sold in Portsmouth by J. H. THACHER, and by Druggists and Dealers in medicines throughout the New England States.

Morning Chronicle.

BASE BALL GOSSIP.—The National Chronicle of June 5th, the official organ of the ball tossers, comes to us enlarged to eight pages brim full of interesting reading for lovers of out-of-door sports. The Chronicle is well managed and bears proof of growing prosperity. It publishes the scores of the games in all the States, and in this issue it has an interesting pen-and-ink sketch of the nine of the celebrated Cincinnati Club, now on a tour to this section of the country.

The Cincinnatis play the Lowells of Boston on Thursday, the Tri-Mountains on Friday and the Harvards on Saturday. They left home May 31st on a month's trip through New York, Ohio, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Maryland, District of Columbia, and West Virginia, to play 24 games during their absence from home.

A State Tournament of Maine Base Ball Clubs will come off at Portland (probably,) July 5th and 6th, the club winning the silver ball to retain it, because the silver ball contests were an element of discord and provoked bitter rivalry among the contestants.

Since the parade ground on Boston Common has "gone to grass" base ball playing in that city has been at a discount, but we are glad to learn from the Chronicle that a movement is now on foot and being pushed through by responsible parties, which if harmonized and concerted action by the leading clubs is given, will enable the lovers of the National game in Boston to have a splendid ground, easy of access, within a month.

The Atlantics and Haymakers scored 19 each in a recent match, and called it draw-game.

The approaching contest between the Atlantics and Mutuals is attracting much attention.

The Eon Club of Portland have organized for the season with the strongest nine they ever had.

The Athletics of Portland are said to be the heaviest batters in Maine.

The Unions of Haverhill, Mass., have beaten the Athletics of Newburyport, 35 to 25.

One of the best games of base ball ever played in New Hampshire took place in Nashua on Saturday week, between the Clippers of Manchester, and the Hunky Dory Club of Nashua. At the end of the tenth inning the game stood 11 to 11.

The Arctics of Manchester have beaten the Atlantics of Amoskeag, 40 to 16.

The Harvards scored 34 to 16 for the Fairmounts in eight innings recently. The Fairmounts had previously beaten the Lowells by 2 runs.

The champion Mutuals got away with the Irvingtons, last week, 23 to 16.

The Philadelphia Athletics scored 35 to 21 with the Intrepids, last week.

Mort Rogers and other well-known Boston players are engaged in organizing a New England Picked nine from among the members of the Trimountain, Lowell, and Harvard Clubs. They contemplate a visit to New York and Philadelphia next month.

The return game between the Harvards and Lowells which was postponed on account of rain, has been indefinitely postponed, and at present it is very uncertain when the game will be played.

Soule has retired from the Harvard nine; Gray of the Freshmen nine takes his place.

The trustees having charge of Jarvis Field, Cambridge, where the Harvards and Lowells have been wont to play match games, have forbidden ball playing there, because it keeps Harvard students away from their recitations.

The funny man of the Philadelphia City Item, says McBride of the Athletics has invented a musical base ball bat. So perfect is this invention that the force of every hit is expressed in music. For instance, if you make a first base hit, it immediately plays, "Jordan is a hard road to travel;" if a second base hit, it strikes up "Get out of the way, old Dan Tucker," (meaning the first base man, we suppose;) if the hit is hard enough to get to the third base, it peals forth "Three Little Ingins;" and if you make a home run, it plays "Home, Sweet Home" (base;) if the striker is caught on the "fly," it strikes up "Hast thou no feeling;" but if the ball is not caught, we hear "Willie we have missed you."

On Saturday afternoon the Harvard club played a match with the Dartmouth College nine, in Lowell. Dartmouth did not succeed in making a single run, while Harvard scored 38,—a result unprecedented in base ball history. The National club made but one run against the Cincinnati once, and the Atlantic club also gave the Mohawks but one run in a full game.

The Lowells, although without the services of Lovett, Joslin, Alline and Boyd, defeated the Granites of Lynn by a score of 42 to 9, on Saturday afternoon.

NAVAL.—Orders have been issued to naval constructors to prepare models and estimates for two ships of war, one a turreted steamer, and the other a fast-sailing frigate, for the construction of which appropriations will be asked of Congress at its next session.

PREPARATIONS FOR THE JUBILEE.—Ethan Spike writes from Boston to a contemporary that Mr. Gilmore has five earthquakes making at the South Boston foundries, for the Peace Jubilee, and two more "lively ones from South America," for the hallylooyar chorus; the great Hoosac Boar, three fiddlers of the venerable King Cole, and Peter Piper of pickled pepper memory, hev arrived. I applied for a sitooation and was recharged several times. Mr. G. thinks my voice has more vollum than sweetness. 'I don't think I can work you in, unless as a bull of Bashan, in a bellerin korus.' Says I, 'anywheres; I am willing to exert sech vocal powers as thaat hes gin me, where they will be most effectin. Let us hev piece.' 'Amen,' says he.

☞ Among those who have signified their intention to be present at the centennial exercises at Dartmouth College are President Grant, General Sherman, Chief Justice Chase—a graduate in the class of 1826—the English minister to the United States, Hon. J. W. Grimes of Iowa, Hon. John Wentworth of Chicago, His Excellency Governor Jewell of Connecticut, Governor Stearns of New Hampshire and ex-Governor Fenton of New York. The present Earl of Dartmouth—a lineal descendant of the patron from whom the college derives its name—has not as yet returned a decisive answer to the invitation extended him.

—The captain of the ship National Eagle, which arrived on Thursday at San Francisco from Hong Hong, reports observing, May 17, an active volcano on an island in latitude 31 18 north, longitude 139 50 east. The Island is about five miles from Smith's Island. The vessel passed midway between the island, and when abreast of the volcano they could hear it roaring fearfully. A dense mass of smoke and steam ascended from the island.

WHAT IT SIGNIFIES.—The solitary ringlet floating dreamily from the waterfalls of marriageable ladies, has a meaning and for the benefit of the young men, we give it correctly, as follows: 'If it is extremely long, the wearer is in market and anxious to get an offer right away; if only moderately long, it shows that only good offers will be entertained; and if very short the lady is very particular, but still willing if the right man comes along.'—Ex.

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT!

THE RIGHT THING AT LAST!

BENJAMIN NORTON,

Having been appointed Selling Agent for this City and surrounding towns, of the AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT COMPANY, is now prepared to sell any quantity, from one pound upward, of

THE BEST PAINT!

ever offered in this city.

It is Durable, Beautiful, Water Proof, Elastic and Economical.

This Paint is all Ready for Immediate Application, and requires no oil, thinning or drying.

It is prepared in pure White and one hundred Different Shades, and is unsurpassed in all respects.

It dries with a hard, rich, glossy surface; does not run from seams or nail holes; will not chalk, crack or peel off; covers more surface with the same body, and is cheaper, more lasting, and better in every respect than any other Paint.

Many testimonials from those who have used it in other places of its superiority over other Paints might be given; but I will only invite those of this city and surrounding towns who intend using Paints, to call at the

GROCERY AND PROVISION STORE,

No. 16 & 18 Cabot Street,

which is the ONLY PLACE in the City where it has been used, and examine the Paint where it has been applied in ten or twelve different shades, and where they can choose any color they desire for use, outside or in, and buy from one pound upwards.

In using the Chemical Paint, there is no difficulty in matching any color at any time, as all the shades are numbered, and the same number will always match.

These Paints are manufactured in New York, and Newburgh, Ohio. BENJ. NORTON, Agent for Chemical Paint Company.

AMERICAN

BUTTON-HOLE, OVERSEAMING,

SEWING MACHINE!

H. N. DUNYON, 27 Market Street,

Agent for Portsmouth and vicinity.

The Reasons Why

This is the best Family Machine to Purchase.

1. Because it will do everything that any machine can do—the finest of sewing, hemming, felling, cording, tucking, braiding, binding, gathering, quilting, &c., better than any other machine.

2. Because it can work a beautiful button-hole, making a fine pearl, as by hand. (Not done on any other Sewing Machine.)

3. Because it will work a beautiful eyelet-hole. (No other machine can.)

4. Because it will embroider over the edge, making a neat and beautiful border on any garment. (Not done on any other Machine.)

5. Because it can do "overhand seaming," by which shirts, pillow-cases and the like are sewed "over and over." (No other Machine can do it.)

Caution.

We would hereby warn the Public against bogus advertisements of Button-Hole Attachments, as the AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE is the first and only Button-Hole and Sewing Machine combined in the world.

This Machine is for sale only at our establishment, 27 Market Street, where we cordially invite the Public to Call and Examine for themselves, and be convinced that this is the Best and Cheapest Machine for any family.

N. B.—All Machines are Warranted for one year. Instruction given at the house of purchaser free. Persons buying the Machine never wish to exchange for any other.

WHAT ADVERTISERS SAY.

The firm, whose letter we print below, gave us in 1867, what was then the largest contract we had ever received for our "LISTS OF 100 LOCAL NEWSPAPERS." The fact that they this year renew the order and increase the amount is the best argument we can give that these "LISTS" are good advertising mediums.

MANUFACTURERS OF

Axes, Shovels, Saws, &c.,

No. 118 WATER STREET,

PITTSBURG, PA., Dec. 3, 1868.

MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO.:

Gentlemen:—One year ago with much hesitation we gave you an advertisement for one of your Lists of One Hundred local papers; a very short time thereafter we cheerfully added two more Lists of One Hundred papers.

But a short time elapsed before we were inquired of at the office, "Who is Ax? Who is Ax? Red Jacket Ax," proving to us that your plan of Lists had reached the very parties to whom we wanted to introduce our business.

The year having now nearly gone by, we cannot but believe your system of advertising by "Lists of One Hundred" is just the kind of advertising we want, and we to-day forward you an order still adding one more List of One Hundred papers, making the number now altogether four (4) Lists of One Hundred (400) local papers.

The more we talk with newspaper agents and editors' agents the more satisfied we are that the arrangements you have made with you is preferable to any we have ever heard of. The merit of the Ax itself has, of course, something to do with the great demand we have had, but we are satisfied that by your system of advertising by "Lists" we have accomplished in one year what would have ordinarily taken us five years to accomplish.

Resp'ectfully,

LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL.

The following from the National Publishing Co., of Philadelphia, may be taken as an answer to those who inquire if these "Lists" can really be good advertising mediums.

MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 40 PARK ROW:

Gentlemen:—It is more than three years since we began advertising in your "Lists of One Hundred Papers" each, and in that time have given "The List System," as originated by you, a thorough trial, and we find it to be the cheapest and best general advertising medium we have any knowledge of.

We have tried every possible mode of advertising, having dealt with the press direct, and they nearly every advertising agency in the country, and have no hesitation in saying that your Lists have paid us 50 per cent. better than any other way. Respectfully,

PLEA FOR CHARITY.

If one had never seen the full completeness
Of the round year, but tarried half the way,
How should he guess the fair and flowery sweetness
That cometh with the May?—
Guess of the bloom and of the rainy sweetness
That come in with the May?

Suppose he had but heard the winds a-blowing,
And seen the brooks in icy chains fast bound,
How should he guess that waters in their flowing
Could make so glad a sound?—
Guess how their silver tongues should be set going
To such a tuneful sound?

Suppose he had not seen the blue-birds winging,
Nor seen the day set, nor the morning rise,
Nor seen the golden balancing and swinging
Of the gay butterflies—
Who could paint April pictures, worth the bringing
To notice of his eyes?

Suppose he had not seen the living daisies,
Nor seen the rose, so glorious and bright,
Were it not better than your far off praises
Of all their lovely light,
To give his hands the holding of the daisies
And of the roses bright?

O! Christian man, deal gently with the sinner;
Think what an utter wintry waste is his
Whose heart of love has never been the winner,
To know how sweet it is—
Be pitiful, O! Christian, to the sinner,
Think what a world is his.

He never heard the lisping and the trembling
Of Eden's gracious leaves about his road—
His mirth is nothing but the poor dissembling
Of a great soul unfed—
O! bring him where the Eden-leaves are trembling
And gave him Heavenly bread.

As winter doth her shriveled branches cover
With greenness, knowing spring-time's soft desire,
Even so the soul, knowing Jesus for a lover,
Puts on a new attire—
A garment fair as snow, to meet the lover
Who bids her come up higher.

PICTURES FOR THE PEOPLE.—An Art Workshop.—If we should say that out in Roxbury a 20 horse-power Corliss engine was turning out oil paintings at the rate of hundreds per day, the public would think that a modern Munchausen was writing, but when we say that such an engine is turning out pictures, so soft, so spirited and so accurately reproduced, that the average observer cannot distinguish them from Oil Paintings, we should be stating a simple fact. In the last Atlantic Monthly Mr. Parton gave a long and very interesting account of the art of chromo lithography, derived from an inspection of the works of Louis Prang & Co. Under his graphic and skillful handling Chromo Lithography was made to assume its proper rank as an art; and as such—as a novel and important development of industrial science, which this paper regards as one of its peculiar fields, it seems to demand all honor and success.

The works of Louis Prang & Co., of Boston, are the largest of their kind in the world, trebling in extent and facilities the largest chromo establishment in England. Within six years Prang's chromo lithographs have attained a popularity unprecedented in the history of Art.

As an educator Mr. Prang deserves a high place in our annals. He has made "things of beauty" and put them within the attainment of the humblest; and the love of the beautiful before dormant in many a soul, has been aroused by his works to an activity which clothes the whole world in brighter hues, and makes life itself a poem.

☞ Nearly one thousand men are now employed on the St. Paul and Pacific Railroad, some of whom have been at work on the Union Pacific road. Cars are already running sixty miles west of St. Paul, and the ties are out for ninety miles further. The track is going down at the rate of half a mile a day. It is expected that 160 miles of the road will be completed before the snow flies.

—A countryman who had never paid more than twenty-five cents to see an exhibition went to view the "Forty Thieves." The ticket-seller charged him seventy-five cents for a ticket. Passing the pasteboard back, he quickly remarked: "keep it, mister, I don't want to see the other thirty-nine," and out he marched.

—"Atom" of the Harvard Advocate reports having seen the following inscription on a grave-stone in an express wagon on State street:—

"We can't have everything to please us, Little Johnnie's gone to Jesus."

—At San Francisco the Chinamen have been set to work making cheap shoes, and imported goods of that class are driven from the market. They now talk of giving them similar employment in Brigham Young's dominions.

—One railroad carried 228 tons of strawberries to Chicago in a single week.

TSING TEA—Black Dragon Chop.
NATURAL LEAF, perfectly pure (TSING signifies pure) Prepared without any coloring or foreign substance. Cured on Porcelain (not copper) over a slow fire. Delightful flavor, exceedingly powerful and strong. Combines all the healthy virtues of the Tea-plant. Mandarins and higher class of natives use no other.
This celebrated Tea was first introduced here by the ORIENTAL TEA COMPANY, in May, 1868, when the limited quantity imported was rapidly sold, at the high price of $1.80 a pound. It met with such unqualified approval, and the demand for it from all sections was so great, that the Company at once made arrangements to procure a larger supply, upon more favorable terms, for the future;—and they have just received the first invoice for this year, which will be sold at the low price of $1.10 a pound, at which (but little over half what it cost one year ago) it is the cheapest Tea known; and the Company feel that they cannot too highly recommend it to all who drink Tea, as it possesses the flavor and strength, and the soothing, invigorating properties of both Black and Green, without any injurious quality; being chemically pure and free from coloring matter or any foreign mixture, it will suit the taste and please all who love Tea.
The Tea is put up neatly in pound parcels, 36 pounds in a chest, with the price, $1.10, printed on each package. The wholesale price by the chest is $1.00 a pound, and orders from Traders, Hotel-Keepers, Peddlers, Clubs, or Families, for quantities of 36 pounds or more, will be filled at the wholesale price. Parties living in towns where we have agents can always get the Tea from them. Like all other goods put up by the Oriental Tea Company, this Tea is warranted to give entire satisfaction; and parties ordering can do so with the full assurance that if the whole or any part fails to suit, it may be returned at our expense, and we will refund the money.
SPECIAL NOTICE.—As a matter of convenience to the public, we are arranging with Apothecaries and other Merchants, all over the country, to act as Agents for selling our Teas and Coffees in their locality, at our warehouse prices. Our profits are small, but we give over four-fifths of them to Agents as Commission. We want an Agent in every town in the Union, and will send full particulars, terms, price-lists, &c., upon application by mail from Traders desiring it. DYSPEPSIA
AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than twenty years, during which time I have tried almost everything that was recommended for these complaints, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be procured, I was induced by the physicians that I last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some time—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being well once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 9, 1869.

The News.

Fall River, Mass., had a holiday on Monday over the return of the consolidated Fall River and Bristol Steamboat line to its original starting point, in that city.

The U. S. S. Saratoga has yellow fever at Hvana.

The Washington city election on Monday resulted in the success of the Republican ticket by 2000 majority. There was considerable rioting, and one negro was killed. Twenty persons were wounded.

The French elections are over. MM. Thiers, Ferry, Jules Favre and Garnier Pages have been declared elected by ballot.

New Hampshire Legislature.

In the Senate, on Monday, the President announced Messrs. Scripture, Livingston and Bailey as Committee on Finance.

In the House a petition was received asking for a division of the town of Sanbornton.

Mr. Badger of Concord introduced a resolution instructing the Committee on Retrenchment and Reform to inquire into the expediency of abolishing the office of Public Printer, and of providing for the public printing by contract, after advertising for proposals for doing the same. The resolution was adopted.

On motion of Mr. Hackett, of Portsmouth, the House adjourned at a quarter before 4 o'clock on Tuesday, to attend the funeral of the late Richard Bradley, for many years a member of the House.

Mr. Reding, of Portsmouth, introduced a bill to discontinue the printing of the appendix to the journal.

Communication.

ASTRONOMICAL.—The planet Saturn was in opposition to the Sun on the 4th inst., and consequently it will be the most favorable time for observation during the present month. He now shows himself in his largest phase, that is possible to the inhabitants of this earth.

Saturn is distant from the Sun about 900 millions of miles, and is 79,000 miles in diameter, in bulk 900 times greater than the earth, and notwithstanding his vast size, revolves on his axis once in about 10 hours, constlinting his day and night.

Saturn has 8 moons and two vast flat concentric rings "and to eyes like ours, if any such eyes be upon it, it must be hung all around by most gorgeous minglings and masses of glory." His revolution around the Sun constitutes about 30 of our years. The best time to view him is from 9 o'clock in the evening to midnight; two or more of his moons are now distinctly visible with the aid of a good night glass.

He is quite brilliant in the South East at 9 o'clock in the evening, at about 25 degrees above the horizon and is quickly known by his bright and steady rays without any twinkling. A few Degrees South West of Saturn may be seen the bright fixed star Antares, whose nearest distance from our earth, from the most accurate astronomical calculations cannot be nearer than 20 trillions of miles. To conceive of this immense distance, suppose a ball when discharged from the mouth of a cannon to move 500 miles every hour without intermission, it would require fourteen million two hundred and fifty five thousand, four hundred and eighteen years to reach the nearest of the fixed Stars. A few days previous to the great solar eclipse of August 7th I shall have remarks to make on this and other eclipses. TYRO.

☞ The New Hampshire Gazette for this week, is now ready for delivery at the Chronicle office. Price 5 cts. per copy—$2. per year. Contains all the Local and other reading from the Daily Chronicle.

☞ Hon. Ichabod Goodwin has been re-elected President of the P. S. & P. R. R., Eliphalet Nott, Treasurer, and Charles E. Barrett, Clerk.

☞ Meeting of Mercantile Library Association this evening.

—"My son," said an old man, "beware of prejudices. They are like rats, and men's minds are like traps; prejudices get in easily, but it is doubtful if they ever get out."

—"'Tis plain!' tis plain?" Dick, musing, cried. "What's, plain, my dear?" asked Dick's young bride. "Your face, my love!" said Dick, and sighed.

—The liquidation of the claims of modern socialism consists in filling a man with liquor until he is arrested, and then bailing him out.

—Idleness is hard work for those who are not used to it, and dull work for those who are.

TROTTING.—In the trots at the Cocheco Park, Dover, on Thursday and Friday,—the purse of $75 for horses that never beat 3 minutes, ($50 to first horse, $25 to second,) was won by G. F. Nutter's bay horse Luther V. Hayes, (a tall horse of seventeen hands,) of New Durham, in three straight heats—time 2:51, 2:51, 2:57. Bay horse Peter, owned by John F. Drew of Durham, second. There were eight entries:

Jos. Churchill, Brookfield, enters g g Wild Ned
John F. Drew, Durham, b g Peter
E. C. Thompson, Haverhill, b g Jerry
G. F. Nutter, New Durham, b g Luther V. Hayes
A. T. Peirce, Brunswick, Me., s g Berwick
H. B. Pinkham, Brunswick, blk m Tontine Belle
O. J. Brackett, Great Falls, b g Ned Forrest
E. Howe, Portland, Me., b m Domino

Of these, seven came to the score, Berwick being drawn. Wild Ned, driven by Len Churchill, won first heat in fine style, and Churchill would doubtless have had the race, but on weighing, he was 3-4 of a pound short of the stated weight, 150 lbs., and so was declared distanced. He blowed and swore a good deal, (and should have been driven off the grounds) but all of no avail.

For horses that never beat 2.40, Purse $150—75 to first, $50 to second, $25 to third.

H. B. Stoddard, Portsmouth, enters s m Topsy
John H. Coombs, Lisbon Falls, Me., g g Sheridan
H. G. Hayes, Concord g m Messenger Girl
H. B. Pinkham, Brunswick, Me., b g Jack Shepard
W. S. Thomas, Augusta, Me., r m Charlotte
O. J. Brackett, Great Falls, b g Jack of Trumps
G. H. Bailey, Portland, Me., r m Arcola
W. K. A. Holt, Dover, r m Rosa

Rosa was sick, and drawn. The race was well contested and won by Arcola of Portland, in three straight heats—2:44, 2:48, 2:41. Jack Shepard of Brunswick, Me., second, and Messenger Girl of Concord, third. There was a collision and smash-up in this race, but no great damage done except to sulkys. Water didn't cause it.

On Friday trot for horses that never beat 2:50. Purse $100—$60 to first, $25 to second, $15 to third.

H. B. Stoddard, Portsmouth, enters s m Topsy
F. C. Thompson, Haverhill, enters b g Jerry
G. F. Nutter, New Durham, Luther V. Hayes
H. B. Pinkham, Brunswick, blk m Tontine Belle
A. T. Peirce, Dover, s g Berwick

Won by the big bay Luther V. Hayes in three straight heats—he not making a break in the six heats of two days. Time 2:49, 2:46, 2:51. Berwick second, and Jerry third. John H. Wiggin drove the Hayes horse well. Mr. Stoddard drove Topsy first heat, John McGlew in the second, when distanced—a trace unhooking, and he slacking up to fix it.

This L. V. Hayes is a regular giraffe, but has a long swinging stroke, like a locomotive; and although standing so high, and weighing probably 1100, and with feet as big as a two-quart measure, he is an easy runner and good laster, and goes clear and smooth, and needs no pads or protections of any kind. His owner was offered $2000 for him at this fair. For a green horse, he is a hard one to beat. He was sold two years ago for $200, and when a colt for $50. Before the race, Topsy was the favorite at long odds, and as Mr. Stoddard himself laid against her, he requested of the pool-holders another driver to be put in his place, but the game little mare evidently lost by the change, as McGlew was over-weight and a stranger to her.—The trot open for all horses, afforded but little sport, but created a good deal of excitement. A negro jockey from Brunswick, all through both days, outraged all the rules of turf decency by his foul driving and impudent badinage, and finally came near causing a serious catastrophe.

Dudley H. Smith of Concord, Benj. Collins of Dover, and Charles S. Jones of Great Falls, were the judges through both days; and they performed the duties very acceptably, but were evidently, perhaps inevitably, influenced by their personal preferences, to favor their own party. We are aware of the difficulties of the position, but we think no well informed spectator will deny but that black rascal should have been ruled off the course long before.

For this open purse $200—$125 to first, $50 to second, $25 to third.

J. H. Coombs, Lisbon Falls, Me., g g Sheridan
W. S. Thomas, Augusta, Me., r m Carlotta
G. H. Bailey, Portland, Me., r m Arcola
H. B. Pinkham, Brunswick, b g Jack Shepard
Woodbury Locke, Portsmouth, g m Nelly Locke
A. T. Peirce, Dover, r m Rosa

The Dover track is narrow, and so not good for scoring; and although three only (Nelly Locke, Sheridan and Jack Shepard,) came to the scratch, yet as that nigger driver of Shepard evidently went in to crowd and push Nelly out, from the first,—when they finally got a start, Nelly was shut out from her second place, and a length or more behind; and she did not work well in the heat, and lost it in favor of Sheridan, in the slow time for her of 2:39, the other horse not making a skip. Sheridan is a good horse, and although possibly able to go fast enough to beat Nelly,—though we don't believe it,—of course that can't be done in '69.

On the second heat, Nelly was just entering the home-stretch on the first half-mile, Sheridan in the lead, when the everlasting nigger run his Jack Shepard (well named) up behind and against Mr. Locke's sulky, locking into and twisting off a wheel, and both teams coming down in a heap. Nelly's carriage was smashed badly, but no other great harm done, we believe, except that she lost the race thereby,—for as she did not come home in season, the judges declared her distanced.—This they had an undoubted right to do; but we insist that they also had the right, by the Trotting Course rules, to give her second place, and that this would have been nothing more than fair, in view of the foul driving against her. As Sheridan thus distanced all competitors, he took the entire purse or three purses. The talk about Nellie's sulky falling to pieces before the black man's team struck it, is all gammon.

Entries for double teams, both horses to be owned by one man—3 in 5 to harness; 2 to start. Purse $50 — $35 to first, $15 to second.

F. Jones, Portsmouth, s m Lady Emma and mate
O. J. Brackett, Gt. Falls, b g Jack of Trumps "
H. B. Pinkham, Brunswick, ch m Tontine Belle "

Here was the nigger again, behind Tontine Belle and Mate, with John McGlew tooling Lady Emma and Mountain Maid—Jack of Trumps and Mate not coming in. Our darkey drove across McGlew's team once, but his pair took first heat, in 3:03; and Mr. Jones, as McGlew came round, told him to drive right over him if he got in his way again, and so he didn't. Second heat, McGlew won in 2:54, last half 1:21, the distanced pair running.

Thus ended the meeting, which was a fair success, all things considered.—Tickets were put at 50 cents, ladies and carriages free, and there was a large and highly respectable attendance. The Dover Cornet Band furnished very acceptable music, the weather was fine, and the track in good condition. All the trots were mile heats, best 3 in 5.

We were indebted to Mr. Tucker of the New Hampshire Hotel, Mr. Petree of the American House, Mr. Geo. Gray of the Dover Gazette, Col. Daniel Hall, and especially to Hon. Frank Jones of this city, for courtesies on the occasion. The combination ride up and across the Ferryway at Dover Point, was a very enjoyable trip,—thanks to Mr. Jones for it. P.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

A WONDERFUL PHYSICIAN—EXTRAORDINARY CURES WITHOUT MEDICINES.—Dr. Gage, the renowned Naturopathic Physician, whose wonderful cures without medicines or surgery have created such a stir throughout the principal cities of the Union, has taken parlors at the American House, Dover, N. H., from Tuesday, June 1st, until about the 20th.

The Dr. frankly tells the patient whether he considers the case curable, and daily rejects many he considers incurable. He charges nothing for consultation, and his terms for treatment are reasonable.

FACTS FOR THE LADIES.—I have a Wheeler & Wilson machine, (No. 289), bought of Mr. Gardiner, in 1859, he having used it a year. I have used it constantly, in shirt manufacturing, as well as family sewing, sixteen years. My wife ran it four years, and earned between $700 and $800, besides doing her house work. I have never expended fifty cents on it for repairs. It is, to-day in the best of order, stitching fine linen bosoms nicely. I started manufacturing shirts with this machine, and now have over one hundred of them in use. I have paid at least $3000, for the stitching done by this old machine, and it will do as much as any machine I have.

Home Questions for the Sickly and Debilitated.

Is it worth while to endure penal torture after every meal, when indigestion can be immediately relieved and permanently cured by so agreeable a remedy as HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS?

Does it pay to be compelled by debility and languor to abandon active business, when brain, nerve and muscle can be braced up, and the whole system restored to a healthy condition, by a course of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Why approach the dinner-table daily with a positive disgust for all that is savory and delicious, when a vigorous appetite for even the plainest fare is created by the use of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Is it wise to live in this bright world as if it were a dungeon, gloomy, discontented and miserable, when the worst case of hypochondria can be cured in a week by such a pleasant and wholesome exhilarant as HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Can it be possible that any person of bilious habit will run the risk of remittent fever or billious colic, when he can tone and regulate the great secretive organ with HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Is it not a species of moral insanity for any merchant, farmer, mechanic or traveler, to be without the best known antidote to the effects of malsonnet air and impure water, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Considering the harrassing and depressing nature of the functional derangements to which woman is subject, is it not astonishing that any invalid of the fairer sex should hesitate to seek the certain relief afforded in such cases, by the genial operation of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

These are questions of deeper interest than any of the political dogmas of the day, and those whom they concern are invited to give them something more than a passing thought.

Brandreth's Pills.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Brandreth's Pills have been known and used by your grandfathers and grandmothers. They are always safe, and sure to do you good. They are purely vegetable, and diminish the death principle; some think they increase the principle of life. But in taking out bad humors from the blood, they do make the body lighter, and thus seem to add energy. Many families have used them for upwards of forty years.

They are the best medicine for Colds, for all Bilious affections, for Fullness about the Head or Heart, and in all Cutaneous and Contagious Diseases they are unrivalled. In all cases in which a purgative is indicated, no medicine yet known can be compared to them. Over a hundred physicians have testified that Brandreth's Pills are superior to all other purgatives whatever. Sold by all Druggists. my21

To Owners of Horses.

Thousands of Horses die yearly from Colic. This need not be. Dr. Tobias' Venetian Horse Liniment will positively cure every case, if given when first taken. The cost is only one dollar. Every owner of a Horse should have a bottle in his stable, ready for use. It is warranted superior to anything else for the cure of Cuts, Wind Galls, Swellings, Sore Throat, Sprains, Bruises, Old Sores, &c. This Liniment is no new remedy. It has been used and approved of for 21 years by the first horsemen in the country. Given to our own driven horse, it acts like magic. Orders are constantly received from the RACING STABLES of ENGLAND for it.

The celebrated Hiram Woodruff used and recommended it to his friends, years before his death. Col. P. P. removes from the system the ill effects caused by the excessive use of alcoholic liquors, and effectually destroys the appetite for those stimulants. It gives tone to debilitated mucous surfaces. Effete matter is removed from the system thereby restoring it to its natural healthful condition. As a medicine, it is quick and effectual, curing the most aggravated cases of Dyspepsia, Kidney Complaint, and all other derangements of the Stomach and Bowels, in a speedy manner.

This elegant preparation has stood the test of years. A wine-glassful before each meal will give a good appetite and prevent all suffering from indigestion. Ladies of weak and delicate constitutions should take the Invigorator three times a day. A wine-glassful before retiring will insure sweet and refreshing sleep. ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

The best remedy for the cure of CONSUMPTION, and ALL DISEASES OF THE LUNGS. It causes the phlegm and matter to rise without irritating those delicate organs (the Lungs,) and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops night sweats, and changes all the morbid secretions to a healthy state.

It contains no opium in any form. It is perfectly harmless for the most delicate child. It is everywhere in good demand and gives good satisfaction wherever used.

The result of its use is proof of its great value.—Its extraordinary healing properties are experienced by all who use it. Their testimony will be found in a pamphlet, which can be had of the agents where the medicine is for sale. 6m26

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to fatten; the disease matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, (no matter how much it may be,) for expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has no more of the lungs broken to cure.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relaxe the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon sound; the stools show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the nutritious food to dissolve with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, to tone the nerves, and when they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks under it.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own grow. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are in some of these ways sound and decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have the power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a healthy liver, tone the stomach up so it begins to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh; and as soon as the body begins to fatten lung tissues commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills free in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs ten pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and advised him to go home to die. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed, and he will also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. Patients can write for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

To Let—2 Two-Story Houses: J. P. Bartlett. Bear's Head Hotel, Hampton: S. H. Dumas. Notice: Rittery Trade Association.

OUR CATHOLIC CITIZENS are in a great ferment just now concerning the removal of Father Murphy from St. Mary's Church, in this city, to Keene. The Diocese of Portland, we believe, includes Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, with the Bishop at Portland; but effort is being made to constitute New Hampshire a separate Bishopric.

Father Murphy is a very capable and efficient Priest, and has done much so develope and build up the Church in several places; and the trouble now seems to be that he has been ordered away very suddenly and unexpectedly, when it is said both he and his people had been given to understand that he was to find a permanent home in Portsmouth. His zeal in the temperance cause among his flock, and his total lack of effort for the copperheads, (at least,) are assigned by his friends as probable reasons for his summary removal.

Father Murphy is ordered hence to Keene, while Father O'Brien goes from Keene to Exeter, and the Exeter Priest is to come here. The removal of Father Murphy is hinted to have been caused by a long petition from his opponents here; and against the new arrangement the best of his people are said to be strongly determined—though we hardly see how the Church discipline can be relaxed in their case, however hard it may seem. Concerning this matter, a well-informed correspondent sends us the following Communication.

At the Hall of the Mutual Benefit Association in this city, the congregation of St. Mary's Church assembled, on Saturday evening, to protest in a quiet, orderly and dignified manner, against the removal of Rev. Father Murphy. The meeting was presided over by Mr. Edmund Roach, who discharged the duties of the chair efficiently and satisfactorily.

In the course of the meeting several short, spirited and effective speeches were delivered, by Messrs. Thos. Sheehan, Edmund Roache, James Jamieson, Michael T. McCarthy and others. It was unanimously resolved to send a delegation of fifty persons to wait upon the "new Priest," and to instruct him that the people want no new Priest, and that they are determined to support none other than Rev. Father Murphy. The people appointed the Tuesday following for the next meeting.

On Sunday, after divine service, the fifty chosen delegates, headed by Philip O'Neill, their chairman, quietly formed at the Church, and marched, two by two, to the late residence of Rev. Father Murphy. The delegation was received courteously by Rev. Father O'Brien, who was merely sent to perform service that day. A copy of the resolutions, with the names of the delegates, was presented him, and the delegates dispersed.

Rev. Mr. O'Brien delivered a most thrilling and effective discourse on "the Soul," on Sunday.

☞ By the courtesy of the City Clerk we are able to furnish the following interesting statistics. The number of polls taxed in Portsmouth the present year is 2499—a decrease of 91 from last year. There are 159 male and 13 female canines; 438 horses valued at $41,309; 96 oxen, valued at $6509; 489 cows valued at $17,021; 108 head of neat stock valued at $2287; 81 sheep valued at $162; carriages valued at $22,642; and 64 hogs (a decrease of 51) valued at $452. The valuation of real estate is $2,924,895; mills and machinery, $302,850; bridges, $22,500; wharves, $45,974; stock in trade, $1,049,618; aqueduct $40,000; shares in banks, &c. $883,114; money on hand, $433,308. The total valuation is $6,166,990 against $6,280,012 last year, a reduction of $113,022.

NO POST OFFICE LIST.—Postmaster Peirce has decided to suspend the practice of putting out lists of letters received, for the inspection of the public. This action is taken in consequence of the danger of delivering letters to the wrong persons, as there are a number of wretches who make a practice of calling for letters not their own, many persons who receive their letters here occasionally being unknown to the Postmaster and his clerks. The new method involves more trouble and vexation to these public officers, but will tend to prevent the misdelivery of important documents.

Detective Kent, who seems to find more game in the Post Office Department than in the counterfeit business, arrested a woman at Great Falls on Tuesday, for calling for and taking from the Post Office in this city, letters belonging to another person. She was brought to this city, and confessed her guilt.

THE BREWER'S CONGRESS, which met at Newark, N. J., last week, has adjourned to meet in Davenport, Iowa, next May. The finance committee reported a balance in the treasury of over $6000. Resolutions were adopted that beer should be taxed, not as a luxury, but on the same plan as the necessaries of life, and brewers relieved from arbitrary seizures by ignorant officials; that the tariff on Canada barley should be reduced, and the tax on malt repealed; that their manufacture promotes temperance, and that they will use all honorable means to drive puritanical temperance men from political power.—Late paper.

How easy it is to reason falsely; but how very hard to give up the false conclusions to which such reasoning must inevitably lead! Here am I, who have all my life been guilty of cruel injustice to a most worthy class of philanthropists and true benefactors of the human race, in regarding brewers and their beer as enemies of Temperance and of mankind! This mistaken idea has prejudiced my opinions in very many cases. When I have seen three hundred men paid their week's earnings at 7 o'clock on Saturday evening, and two-thirds of them more or less drunk, on beer, before Sunday morning, I have considered beer-swilling a species of drunkenness. When I saw four High School boys, in this city, "taking their beer" one day at recess time, in my innocent ignorance I failed to recognize their devotion to true temperance. I even thought they were in a fair—a very fair way to become drunkards! But the scales have left my eyes,—I am in darkness no longer.

The Brewers in Convention have "resolved" that they are the true Apostles of Temperance,—and if they don't know, I should like to find out who does? Father Matthew, begone! and you, Neal Dow, hide your diminished head! Your "puritanical temperance" notions won't do for the Brewers' Congress and me. You don't know what Temperance means,—it means beer.—City Fathers and School Committemen, now's your chance to guard the youths and maidens of the city from all danger of intemperance, forever, by teaching them to love XXX ale. Send a few barrels of it to each school, male and female. How charming! to see the future wives and mothers of Portsmouth imbibing the extract of malt and true temperance from quart mugs.—But I,—how shall I sufficiently humiliate myself for so long retaining an unjust and unworthy prejudice against a wealthy and powerful class of men? I can't do it sufficiently, so I won't try it at all.

Dare base calumny whisper that the disinterested men composing the Congress of Brewers were influenced by a taint of the base "root of all evil," the lust of filthy lucre, in demanding that "the tariff on Canada barley should be reduced, and the tax on malt repealed?" Do they want to make money still faster even than at present? Perish the unworthy thought! Pure benevolence, and love for the true temperance cause are the main-springs of their actions.—They desire only to bring the "necessaries" of life to the lips of all. Tax boots and breeches, shirts and marriage certificates, hoop skirts and chignons.—They are not necessaries, but luxuries, and I've been among peoples who had none of 'em,—nor, worst deprivation of all, had they beer. God help them!

True Temperance must win. "All honorable means (beer,—extra superfine election beer, and monies received for other beers, are honorable,) will be used" to oust the sham temperance men from power. These honorable means will be crowned with success; and then, when everybody is converted (like me) to a belief in the truth that the manufacture of beer promotes temperance, we will get a Congress of Distillers to "resolve" that whiskey-making and rum-drinking are Temperance; and drunkenness and its attendants,—suffering, poverty and crime,—will cease forever, and the Millenium be close at hand.

OFFICIAL PROGRAMME.

GREAT NATIONAL

PEACE JUBILEE!

(Projected by Mr. P. S. GILMORE.)

To be held in the

CITY OF BOSTON,

JUNE 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19, 1869,

To Commemorate the Restoration of

PEACE THROUGHOUT THE LAND!

This glorious event in our National History will be celebrated by the

GRANDEST MUSICAL FESTIVAL

Ever known in the History of the World.

The President of the United States,

Members of his Cabinet, Heads of Departments, Governors of all the States, and many other distinguished persons from all parts of the country, together with the Representatives of Foreign Governments at Washington, have been invited by the Mayor and City Council of Boston, to become the guests of the city during the Festival.

AN IMMENSE COLISEUM,

The largest structure in America, capable of accommodating

Fifty Thousand Persons,

Has been erected especially for this occasion.—The interior of the building will be magnificently Decorated with Emblems of National Peace and Harmony.

The extraordinary expense incurred in preparing for this great Festival has been met, with remarkable generosity, by the public spirited, art-loving citizens of Boston, and the Executive Committee take great pleasure in announcing the following Morning Chronicle.

A Live Man.—The Gloucester Advertiser gives an interesting account of the business and farming operations of Mr. Geo. H. Rogers, of that place, (who, by the way, is a brother of Mr. F. W. Rogers of this city, and is well known here.) We select a few extracts from the Advertiser article,—which we commend to the perusal of all our readers, whether live or dead:

The farm comprises about 250 acres, embracing what was formerly known as the "Harbor Pasture" and land adjoining. Seven years ago it was completely wild, abounding in swamps, rocks, and berry bushes, presenting as rough a piece of territory as could be found on the Cape. The soil, however, is of excellent quality, the situation very fine, with a maritime view unsurpassed on the New England coast. There is also easy access to Little Good Harbor Beach and Bass Rocks, which affords fine bathing, gunning and fishing facilities.

The change which intelligent labor has produced in this locality during the past seven years is indeed wonderful. Forty acres of tillage and mowing land is now under a high state of cultivation, bearing most excellent crops. Some four miles of first-class roads have been constructed, while rod upon rod of well built stone wall is visible on every hand. There are some forty head of cattle and neat stock kept on the farm, and the sales of vegetables and milk form important items of income.

While strict attention has been given to the agricultural branch, that of horticulture and floriculture have also kept pace, and there are now upwards of 300 fruit trees of various kinds in thriving condition, together with a large grapery, peach house, greenhouse and conservatories, where a beautiful variety of flowers in various stages of development presents a scene which offers a feast for the eye, while their perfume renders the air redolent with sweetness.

There are two large and substantial buildings on the premises, one of which is occupied by Mr. Rogers as a summer residence, and the other intended for a first-class summer boarding house. Both occupy commanding positions, and the grounds about the former are laid out quite tastefully with terraces and flower beds, which present a scene of beauty worthy a visit.

This season it is contemplated to erect four cottage houses and a stone cottage with a French roof and tower. This will occupy the site so familiarly known as "Sayward's Lookout," from the fact of its being the spot which the old pilot Sayward used to visit daily, while expecting vessels from foreign ports. It is a most admirable situation, giving one of the finest views of Massachusetts Bay to be obtained anywhere on the Cape.

Glancing about town, Mr. Rogers' enterprise and love for making improvements meets one on every hand. No other single individual has done so much in this direction. By his energy and talents the old Fort has been covered with dwelling houses, and wharves have sprung up there as if by magic. Such a man is indeed a public benefactor, and long may he live to enjoy the fruits of his labors and continue to push along his plans of improvement. Gloucester needs more of such men, who will take their money out of bonds, and instead of passing an aimless sort of existence, keep their wealth at work in real estate, fishing vessels, and the like, where it will give employment and provide homes and means of livelihood for those who are willing to work. Capital was intended for just such purposes; and Mr. Rogers shows that he is a firm believer in such views.

Five Cents Worth.—A man from the country invested five cents in the purchase of an orange, and preparatory to getting himself outside of it, threw the peel on the sidewalk. Soon after a young woman came along, slipped upon the peel, and fell, breaking her leg. The woman was to have been married the next day, but wasn't. The man who was to marry her had come from St. Paul, Minn., and was oblige to return on account of business, to await the recovery of the girl. On his way back he unfortunately took a train on the Erie railroad, which ran off the track and his shoulder blade was broken, forcing him to stop at Dunkirk for repairs.

The Travelers' Insurance Company, in which he was insured had to pay $250 in weekly instalments before he recovered. On getting back to St. Paul he found that his forced absence had upset a business arrangement which he had expected to complete, at a pecuniary loss to him of $5,000. Meantime the injured girl suffered a relapse, which so enfeebled her health that her marriage was delayed, which had a bad effect on the young man, and he finally broke the engagement and married a widow in Minnesota with four children.

This so worked upon the mind of the girl that she is now in the insane hospital at Middletown. Her father, outraged by the conduct of the young man, brought a suit for breach of promise, and has just recovered $19,000. The anxiety and expense of the whole affair thus far have been enormous, as anybody can see. Similar cases are likely to occur so long as people will persist in throwing orange peel around loose.

—If you have a bad temper, lose it. If a good one, keep it. If a doubtful one, make it certain. If a sweet one, use it for the benefit of your friends. If a jolly one, cultivate it for example's sake and the delectation of the community. If none at all, avoid looking into the mirror lest you see a goose.

THE ARTIST'S TALE.

BY GEORGE OSGOOD.

Perchance the artist's tale you know,
Who, from the children, long ago,
That round his window played,
Sought out a sweet Italian child,
So pure, so beautiful, so mild,
That he his face portrayed.
The picture of the innocent,
On which his earnest eye was bent,
He hung upon his wall;
And mused, full many a silent hour,
On one whose sweetness had the power
A bright day to recall.
You, who with love and hope have smiled,
While thinking of some favorite child
Who plays about your home,
May weep to think how time and care,
Or sin and vice their lines may wear
On features innocent and fair,
When evil days shall come.
The picture of the model child
Serenely from the canvas smiled,
Though many years had flown;
And seemed as sweet as on the day
When, with the children at their play,
Rung out, among the glad and gay,
His voice's merry tone.
You, too, perchance, may dream, to-night,
Of one with brow so pure, so white,
So free from every stain,
That you may fondly hope that he
His earlier peace and purity
In manhood may retain.
In after years the painter found
In prison cell a felon bound
For crimes of deepest dye;
And deemed that, in no earthly place,
So hideous and so vile a face
Would ever meet his eye:
And then he traced with faithful hand
This leader of some desperate band,
Whose bloated cheek and eyeballs wild
Might contrast with the lovely child
Whose picture graced his room.
The demon's fierce and horrid glare,
The angel's look serene and fair,
Hang in the light and gloom;
And as from this to that you turn,
After the artist's work is done,
You scan with pain and sadness learn,
The child you love, the man you spurn,
Are both too truly one!

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT!

THE RIGHT THING AT LAST!

BENJAMIN NORTON,

Having been appointed Selling Agent for this City and surrounding towns, of the AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT COMPANY, is now prepared to sell any quantity, from one pound upward, of

THE BEST PAINT!

ever offered in this city.

It is Durable, Beautiful, Water Proof, Elastic and Economical.

This Paint is all Ready for Immediate Application, and requires no oil, thinning or drying.

It is prepared in Pure White and one hundred Different Shades, and is unsurpassed in all respects.

It dries with a hard, rich, glossy surface; does not run from seams or nail holes; will not chalk, crack or peel off; covers more surface with the same body, and is cheaper, more lasting, and better in every respect than any other Paint.

Many testimonials from those who have used it in other places of its superiority over other Paints might be given, but we will only invite those of this city and surrounding towns who intend using Paints, to call at the

GROCERY AND PROVISION STORE,

Nos. 16 & 18 Cabot Street,

which is the ONLY PLACE in the City where it has been used, and examine the Paint where it has been applied in ten or twelve differ ntshades, and where they can choose any color they desire for use, outside or in, and buy from one pound upwards.

In using the Chemical Paint, there is no difficulty in matching any color at any time, as all the Shades are numbered, and the same number will always match.

These Paints are manufactured in New York, and Newburgh, Ohio. BENJ. NORTON,
Agent for Chemical Paint Company.

Also for sale, at the same place, the Best Quality of

MEATS AND GROCERIES!

AS LOW AS CAN BE BOUGHT IN THE CITY.

AMERICAN

BUTTON-HOLE, OVERSEAMING, —AND—

SEWING MACHINE!

H. N. DUNYON, 27 Market Street,

Agent for Portsmouth and vicinity.

The Reasons Why

This is the best Family Machine to Purchase.

1. Because it will do everything that any machine can do, such as hemming, stitching, quilting, cording, tucking, braiding, binding, gathering, quilting, &c., better than any other machine.

2. Because it can work a beautiful button-hole, making a fine pearl, or eye hand. (Not done on any other Sewing Machine.)

3. Because it will work a beautiful eyelet-hole. (No other machine can.)

4. Because it will embroider over the edge, making a neat and beautiful border on any garment. (Not done on any other Machine.)

5. Because it can do "overhand seaming," by which shirts, pillow-cases and the like are sewed "over and over." (No other Machine can do it.)

Caution.

We would hereby warn the Public against slabogus advertisements of Button-Hole Attachments, as the AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE is the first and only Button-Hole and Sewing Machine combined in the world.

This Machine is for sale only at our establishment, 27 Market Street, where we cordially invite the Public to Call and Examine for themselves, and be convinced that this is the Best and Cheapest Machine for any family.

N. B.—All Machines are Warranted for one year. Instruction given at the house of purchaser free. Persons buying this Machine never wish to exchange for any other.

WHAT ADVERTISERS SAY.

The firm, whose letter we print below, gave us in 1867 what was then the largest contract we had ever received for our "LISTS OF 100 LOCAL NEWSPAPERS." The fact that they this year renew the order and increase the amount is the best argument we can give that these "Lists" are good advertising mediums.

LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL,
MANUFACTURERS OF
Axes, Shovels, Saws, &c.,
No. 118 WATER STREET,
PITTSBURG, PA., Dec. 3, 1868.

MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & Co.:

Gentlemen:—One year ago with much hesitation we gave you an advertisement for one of your "List of One Hundred local papers; a very short time thereafter we substantially added two more Lists of One Hundred papers.

But a short time elapsed before we were inquirers of us every week for "Crown's Patent Bad Jacket Ax," proving to us that your plan of Lists had reached the very parties to whom we wanted to introduce the new patent Ax.

The year having now nearly gone by, we cannot but believe your system of advertising by "Lists of Newspapers" is just the kind of advertising we want, and we to-day forward you an order still adding one more List of One Hundred papers, making the number now altogether four (4) Lists of One Hundred local papers.

The more we talk with newspaper agents and editors' agents the more satisfied we are that the arrangement we have made with you is preferable to any we have ever heard of. The merit of the Ax itself has, of course, something to do with the great demand for it, but we are satisfied that by your system of advertising by "Lists" we have accomplished in one year what would have ordinarily taken us five years to accomplish.

Respectfully,
LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL.

The following from the National Publishing Co., of Philadelphia, may be taken as an answer to those who inquire if these "Lists" can really be good advertising mediums.

MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 40 PARK ROW:

Gentlemen:—It is more than three years since we began advertising in your "List of One Hundred Papers" each, and in that time have given "The Old System," as originated by you, a thorough trial, and in the light of all the cheapest and best general advertising medium we have any knowledge of.

We have tried every possible mode of advertising, having dealt with the press direct, and indirectly every advertising agency in the country, and have no hesitation in saying that your Lists have paid us 50 per cent. better than any other way. Respectfully,

OCCULT SYMPATHIES.

If Nature knew my sorrow,
Would she borrow
My sad song?
Or if she knew my pleasures,
Would her measures
Lift along?
Not at all! Oh, not at all!
Nature is no man's thrall,
The bird sings in the air,
And knows not of our care.
The wind amid the trees
Makes its own melodies.
What signifies to them our happiness or woe?
Let the hoarse billows roar! Let the wild breezes blow!

Not so, grave moralizer,
Be thou wiser;
And so learn,
That we ourselves to Nature
Give the feature
And the plan.
She pranks her in our guise,
And lives but in our eyes.
If you and I are glad,
The bells ring merry mad;
If we are grieved at heart,
The skies their gloom impart.
And winds among the trees, and waves upon the shore,
Sound sadly, ever sadly—sadly evermore!

☞ By an advertisement in another column, it will be seen that Boar's Head hotel is now open to the public, under the management of its widely-known proprietor, Col. Dumas. There is no pleasanter location on the sea coast for a summer resort; the house has been put in complete order for the accommodation of guests, and is one of the very best kept hotels to be found on any beach in New England. Mr. Baker, the popular clerk, is at his old post again this season.

—A farmer was asked why he did not take a newspaper. "Because," said he, "my father, when he died, left me a good many newspapers, and I haven't read them through yet."

—Corn is in tassel in Georgia.

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT!
THE RIGHT THING AT LAST!
BENJAMIN NORTON,
Having been appointed Selling Agent for this City and surrounding towns, of the AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT COMPANY, is now prepared to sell any quantity, from one pound upward, of
THE BEST PAINT!
ever offered in this city.
It is Durable, Beautiful, Water Proof, Elastic and Economical.
This Paint is all Ready for Immediate Application, and requires no oil, thinning or drying.
It is prepared in pure White and one hundred Different Shades, and is unsurpassed in all respects.
It dries with a hard, rich, glossy surface; does not run from seams or nail holes; will not chalk, crack or peel off; covers more surface with the same body, and is cheaper, more lasting, and better in every respect than any other Paint.
Many testimonials from those who have used it in other places of its superiority over other Paints might be given; but I will only invite those of this city and surrounding towns who intend using Paints, to call at the
GROCERY AND PROVISION STORE,
Nos. 16 & 18 Cabot Street,
which is the ONLY PLACE in the City where it has been used, and examine the Paint where it has been applied in ten or twelve different shades, and where they can choose any color they desire for use, outside or in, and buy from one pound upwards.
In using the Chemical Paint, there is no difficulty in matching any color at any time, as all the shades are numbered, and the same number will always match.
The Paints are manufactured in New York, and Newburgh, Ohio. BENJ. NORTON,
Agent for Chemical Paint Company.
Also for sale, at the same place, the Best Quality of
MEATS AND GROCERIES!
AS LOW AS CAN BE BOUGHT IN THE CITY.

AMERICAN
BUTTON-HOLE, OVERSEAMING, AND
SEWING MACHINE!
H. N. DUNYON, 27 Market Street,
Agent for Portsmouth and vicinity.
The Reasons Why
This is the best Family Machine to Purchase.
1. Because it will do everything that any machine can do—the finest of sewing, hemming, felling, cording, tucking, braiding, binding, gathering, quilting, &c., better than any other machine.
2. Because it can work a beautiful button-hole, making a fine pearl, as by hand. (Not done on any other Sewing Machine.)
3. Because it will work a beautiful eyelet-hole. (No other machine can.)
4. Because it will embroider over the edge, making a neat and beautiful border on any garment. (Not done on any other Machine.)
5. Because it can do "overhand seaming," by which shirts, pillow-cases and the like are sewed "over and over." (No other Machine can do it.)
Caution.
We would hereby warn the Public against alleged advertisements of Button-Hole Attachments, as the AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE is the first and only Button-Hole and Sewing Machine combined in the world.
This Machine is for sale only at our establishment, 27 Market Street, where we cordially invite the Public to Call and Examine for themselves, and be convinced that this is the Best and Cheapest Machine for any family.
N. B.—All Machines are Warranted for one year. Instruction given at the house of purchaser free. Persons buying this Machine never wish to exchange for any other.

TSING TEA—Black Dragon Chop.
NATURAL LEAF, perfectly pure (TSING signifies pure.) Prepared without any coloring or foreign substance. Cured on Porcelain (not copper) over a slow fire. Delightful flavor, exceedingly powerful and strong. Combines all the healthy virtues of the Tea-plant. Mandarins and higher class of natives use no other.
This celebrated Tea was first introduced here by the ORIENTAL TEA COMPANY, in May, 1868, when the limited quantity imported was rapidly sold, at the high price of $1.60 a pound. It met with such unqualified approval, and the demand for it from all sections was so great, that the Company at once made arrangements to procure a larger supply, upon more favorable terms, for the future;—and they have just received the first invoice for this year, which will be sold at the low price of $1.10 a pound, at which (but little over half what it cost one year ago) it is the cheapest Tea known; and the Company feel that they cannot too highly recommend it to all who drink Tea, as its possesses the flavor and strength, and the soothing, invigorating properties of both Black and Green, without any injurious quality; being chemically pure and free from coloring matter or any foreign mixture, it will suit the taste and please all who love Tea.
The Tea is put up neatly in pound parcels, 36 pounds in a chest, with the price, $1.10, printed on each package. The wholesale price by the chest is $1.00 a pound, and orders from Traders, Hotel-Keepers, Peddlers, Clubs, or Families, for chests of 36 pounds or more, will be filled at the wholesale price. Parties living in towns where we have agents can always get this Tea from them.
Like all other goods sold by the Oriental Tea Company, this Tea is warranted to give entire satisfaction; and parties ordering can do so with the full assurance that if the whole or any part fails to suit, it may be returned at our expense, and we will refund the money.
SPECIAL NOTICE.—As a matter of convenience to the public, we are arranging with Apothecaries and other Merchants, all over the country, to act as Agents for selling our Teas and Coffees in their locality, at our warehouse prices. The profits are small, but we give over four-fifths of them to Agents as Commission. We want an Agent in every town in the Union, and will send full particulars, terms, price-lists, &c., upon application by mail from Traders desiring it. DYSPEPSIA
AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved; following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being well once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY.

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

THURSDAY, JUNE 10, 1869.

The News.

Boston is rapidly filling up with strangers.

The Massachusetts Senate has killed the bill for a Metropolitan Police for Boston.

Peach trees in Kentucky are breaking with the weight of the young fruit.

Edwin Booth, the eminent tragedian, was married, on Monday, at Long Branch, to Miss Mary McVicker, formerly of Chicago.

Strawberry growers in Pennsylvania and Delaware find difficulty in getting enough persons to pick the fruit. It is so plentiful that the growers will sell for what they can get.

An annexation resolution has been killed in the Nova Scotian House of Assembly, 7 to 26.

Dorchester is very anxious to be annexed to Boston.

The Secretary of the Treasury sold $2,008,000 in gold, receiving therefor $2,778,717 in currency, on Tuesday. The amount of gold in the treasury is $82,000,000 and $25,000,000 in coin certificates.

The jury in the Craig-Sprague breach of promise case, in Chicago have returned a verdict awarding the plaintiff $100,000, the full amount claimed by her for damages.

Senator Sprague has been delivering that speech in Newark, N. J.

Gen. Sheridan states that the late Indian depredations in Kansas were committed by the Cheyennes. Sheridan's troops are to protect the line of the Kansas Pacific R. R.

The Republican majorities in the Washington city election range from 4530 to 15,361. The lower board of the city council is wholly republican, and the upper board has eleven republicans to three democrats. About one third of the whole number of members in the two boards are colored men.

Senor Ignacio Mariscal is the new Minister to the United States from Mexico.

New Hampshire Legislature.

In the House on Tuesday, Mr. Henderson of Portsmouth presented a claim of Wm. O. Sides. Referred to Committee on Military Affairs.

The resolution received from the Senate in regard to joint committees hearings was taken from the table.

Mr. Ramsdell of Nashua moved the following substitute:

"In all matters referred to a committee by either branch of the Legislature, wherein a hearing is to be had, the committee having the matter in charge shall invite the appropriate committee of the other house to sit with them during the same, for the purpose of information and in order to expedite the progress thereof when the same shall come to be considered by the other house."

Mr. Hackett of Portsmouth said he was very decidedly opposed to the original proposition, for the reasons he assigned last Friday. The amendment obviated almost entirely the objection he had, and he hoped it would be agreed to.

The resolution as was passed.

Mr. Hadkett introduced a bill in amendment of Chapter 169, General Statutes;—giving consent to the acts of the Massachusetts Legislature relating to the Boston & Maine Railroad.

Mr. Durgin of Hampton introduced a bill to prohibit the digging of clams from the flats in and near Hampton river during the months of June, July and August.

Mr. Hackett of Portsmouth introduced a bill relating to the conveyance of real estate.

In the House on Wednesday Mr. Hackett introduced a bill amending chapter 169, General Statutes; and another relating to the adoption of children.

In Joint Convention chose the Republican nominees for the various State offices, by the following votes:

For Secretary of State, John D. Lyman of Farmington, 193; Geo. W. M. Pitman of Bartlett, 121.

For State Treasurer, Peter Sanborn of Concord, 184; John Sargent of Littleton, 118.

For Commissary General, (no contest) John Clark of Portsmouth, 9; David E. Griffin, 2.

For Senator in 11th district, Cyrus Taylor of Bristol, 188; Alfred A. Cox of Enfield, 44. Cox was the defeated Republican candidate before the people and Taylor was his opponent in the convention. The latter received only 23 votes at the polls. Cox was very objectionable to Republicans and 'tis said he purchased his nomination.

For State Printer, John B. Clarke of Manchester, 185; Jas. M. Campbell of Manchester 117; Scattering, 5.

The Merchant Service.—No. XV.

After some little time spent in looking about the ship, we found ourselves near the fo'castle, which now contained only six or eight wretched looking specimens of humanity, and Merchant called one of them out, to show us some fun, he said. "Come out here, you Jacky, and give us a grin!" said he: then to us, "Jacky's my funny man,—he can grin splendid."

The few unhappy men were sitting in the fo'castle, idle; and the expression of grovelling fear on each face as Merchant looked in, which gave way to another of settled, hopeless misery, as soon as they found that Jacky only was wanted, was enough to damn any law or collection of laws which allows such a state of things to exist. But when Jacky came out his shipmates were quite forgotten.

A young man, not more than twenty-two years of age, crouching like a beaten cur, with his bruised and swollen features distorted in a ghastly attempt to "grin" so well as to escape violence from the brutal officer, — with every look and motion indicative of constant, overwhelming fear, and shaking like a leaf,—the wreck gabbled some unintelligible trash. The man was an idiot.

"There! get up there on the windlass end and grin, or I'll boot your jaw off! Come out here, you hounds, (to the other men,) and laugh! Out you come! Grin, pretty Jacky, grin! (giving the miserable caricature a blow on the foot with a belaying-pin that made him howl.) Why don't you laugh? (to the trembling skeletons ranged in a row in front of the windlass, and giving one of them a slap in the face with his open hand that sent him reeling against the bulwarks,) why don't you laugh when I tell you?" I omit the oaths and curses with which his speech was garnished.

Sick of the infernal scene, I turned to my mate with "Come, Charley, in Heaven's name let's leave this." But Charley, before following me to the gangway, stepped up to the merciless wretch, Merchant, and, shaking a big fist under his nose, said, "Look here, you murdering villain! Every hour you are out of hell, the devil's cheated of his just rights,—and I'd like to send you there!" Merchant was a big man, and, though a bully, I think not a coward; yet something restrained him from attacking Charley. It was as well for him; for Charley, who was as big as himself, was (as I afterwards found out,) not only possessed of great strength and activity, but of the most indomitable courage and his righteous indignation would have made his presents to Mr. Merchant more forcible than pleasant to that gentleman, I am certain.

It may be asked why I did not put the law in motion to obtain protection for these men, and to punish their oppressors,—but what law should I have appealed to? Alonzo Merchant had a legal right, under American law, to order one man to get up on the windlass and grin, and the others to stand and laugh at him; and if that law does not expressly delegate the power to abuse sailors to their officers, it does carefully provide that the means of redress for seamen shall be so difficult of attainment as to be practically impossible.—But I did report all I saw to the then (and now, for aught I know,) U. S. consul, Henry Driver, Esq.; a prosperous and respected merchant of Dunedin, an active and successful politician, a gentleman, and, when sailors are concerned, an undiluted scoundrel. He knew that all I said, and more, was true; and, though I do not suppose he had any legal power to release that crew from slavery, he could have sent the captain, and his tool, Merchant, home to be tried for manslaughter. But, like every American consul that I have ever had anything to do with personally, or heard of, (with the single exception of Mr. Roberts, the Hong Kong consul who discharged the crew of the Francis P. Sage,—and I have been informed that he was recalled for exceeding his powers in this and several other cases,) he thought old sailors not worth bothering about; and so, after waiting two weeks for men, in a port where they were plentiful, the floating hell went to sea,—leaving Alonzo Merchant in jail, to which he was sent for three months for an assault upon the mate of the British ship "Lady Young." I saw him afterward, down-hearted and hungry, and generously didn't give him a cent, though I had plenty of money at the time.

In our merchant service are hundreds of men like Alonzo Merchant and Wm. Frost, who, perhaps naturally no worse than others, by a long course of schooling in cruelty, and by being educated in the belief, inculcated by our laws, that it is right to wrong sailors, have become more savage than savages; and to such men are entrusted unlimited powers over the lives and fortunes of thousands of human beings,— and then good, honest people regret and wonder that sailors are debased! How astonishing! In the Alonzo Merchant ship was a library, put on board by some Seamen's Friend Society, and a lot of tracts. What immense satisfaction and benefit her men must have derived, after getting below and binding up their hurts, from the perusal of these good books! What may not be hoped from the seed thus sown? PAKEHA.

An old man of 80 years, Mr. Otis Gilson of Henniker, fell from his chair while engaged in tying his shoes, on Friday last. One rib was broken by the fall, which penetrated one of his lungs. At last accounts he was in a critical condition.

Edwin Twitchell, a workman in Barker's paper mill, at West Peterborough, got one of his hands among the knives connected with the bleacher, on the 1st, losing his forefinger at the knuckle joint, and having his other fingers badly mangled.

Jonathan Brown, of Loudon, eloped last week with a girl twenty years old, leaving a wife and four children, who have no means of support and will become a county charge.

Neal Dow of Portland, Me., lectured in Manchester on the evening of the 2d, in favor of a State Police,—which is not likely to be established in New Hampshire this year.

Mrs. Ruth Hemphill of Henniker was 100 years old on the 5th. Her faculties have all been retained to a wonderful degree, her sight being very good and her hearing being scarcely impaired by her great age. During the day she received visits from a large number of friends, and in the evening was serenaded by the Henniker Cornet Band.

On the 31st ult., a barn belonging to Mr. James Berry, of Milton Mills was burned with all its contents. A yoke of oxen, a cow, calf and two lambs perished in the flames. Insured for $300.

Messrs. Phillips, Messer, Colby & Co., of New London (Scytheville), have made 48,000 scythes during the past year.

—General C. C. Andrews of Minnesota was appointed Minister to Sweden on Saturday, and sailed for Europe on the same day with his credentials and his instructions in his pocket.

FACTS FOR THE LADIES.—I have a Wheeler & Wilson machine, (No. 289), bought of Mr. Gardiner, in 1853, he having used it a year. I have used it constantly, in shirt manufacturing, as well as family sewing, sixteen years. My wife and four sisters, and earned between $700 and $800, besides doing her house work. I have never expended fifty cents on it for repairs. It is, to-day in the best of order, stitching fine linen bosoms nicely. I started manufacturing shirts with this machine, and now have over one hundred of them in use. I have paid at least $3000, for the stitching done by this old machine, and it will do as much as any machine I have. W. F. TAYLOR.

Home Questions for the Sickly and Debilitated.

It is worth while to endure penal torture after every meal, when indigestion can be immediately relieved and permanently cured by so agreeable a remedy as HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS?

Does it pay to be compelled by debility and languor to abandon active business, when brain, nerve and muscle can be braced up, and the whole system restored to a healthy condition, by a course of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Why approach the dinner-table daily with a positive disgust for all that is savory and delicious, when a vigorous appetite for even the plainest fare is created by the use of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Is it wise to live in this bright world as if it were a dungeon, gloomy, discontented and miserable, when the worst case of hypochondria can be cured in a week by such a pleasant and wholesome exhilarant as HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Can it be possible that any person of bilious habit will run the risk of remittent fever or bilious colic, when he can tone and regulate the great secretive organ with HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Is it not a species of moral insanity for any merchant, farmer, mechanic or traveler, to be without the best known antidote to the effects of poisoned air and impure water, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Considering the harrassing and depressing nature of the functional derangements to which woman is subject, is it not astonishing that any invalid of the feebler sex should hesitate to seek the certain relief afforded in such cases, by the genial operation of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

These are questions of deeper interest than any of the political dogmas of the day, and those whom they concern are invited to give them something more than a passing thought.

Brandreth's Pills.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Brandreth's Pills have been known and used by your grandfathers and grandmothers. They are always safe, and sure to do you good. They are purely vegetable, and diminish the death principle; some think they increase the principle of life. But in taking out bad humors from the blood, they do make the body lighter, and thus seem to add energy. Many families have used them for upwards of forty years.

They are the best medicine for Colds, for all Bilious Affections, for Fullness about the Head or Heart, and in all Cutaneous and Contagious Diseases they are unrivalled. In all cases in which a purgative is indicated, no medicine yet known can be compared to them. Two hundred physicians have testified that Brandreth's Pills are superior to all other purgatives whatever. Sold by all Druggists. my21

To Owners of Horses.

Thousands of Horses die yearly from Colic. This need not be. Dr. Tobias' Venetian Horse Liniment will positively cure every case, if given when first taken. The cost is only one dollar. Every owner of a Horse should have a bottle in his stable, ready for use. It is warranted superior to anything else for the cure of Cuts, Wind Galls, Swellings, Sore Throat, Sprains, Bruises, Old Sores, &c. This Liniment is now ready. It has been used and approved of for 21 years by the first horsemen in the country. Given to an overdriven horse, it acts like magic. Orders are constantly received from the RACING STABLES of ENGLAND for it.

The celebrated Hiram Woodruff used and recommended it to his friends, years before his death. Col. P. P. Bush, of the Jerome race course, has given me a certificate stating it to be superior to any other he had used. Hundreds of others can be seen at the Depot, 10 Park Place, N. Y. CONCENTRATED FLUID EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA

ERADICATES ERUPTIVE AND ULCERATIVE DISEASES OF THE

THROAT, NOSE, EYES, EYELIDS, SCALP and SKIN,

Which so disfigure the appearance, PURGING the evil effects of mercury and removing all taints, the remnants of DISEASES, hereditary or otherwise, and is taken by ADULTS and CHILDREN with perfect SAFETY.

TWO TABLE-SPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Compound Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoctions as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of those diseases, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla; its power is extraordinary, more so than any other Drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

The best remedy for the cure of CONSUMPTION, and ALL DISEASES OF THE LUNGS. It causes the phlegm and matter to rise without irritating those delicate organs (the Lungs,) and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops night sweats, and changes all the morbid secretions to a healthy state.

It contains no opium in any form. It is perfectly harmless for the most delicate child. It is everywhere in good demand and gives good satisfaction.

The result of its use is proof of its great value.—Its extraordinary healing properties are experienced by all who use it. Their testimony will be found in a pamphlet, which can be had of the agents where the medicine is for sale. 6m

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter begins a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relaxes the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do when the liver is deeply disordered; copious mal (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, to stop fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive power, throw up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, to digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow healthy and strong, the lungs heal, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since that time many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and on No. 57 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yja4

ROSSINI'S SUBLIME MASS,

"MESSE SOLENNELLE,"

JUST PUBLISHED.

The only Complete and Authorised American Edition. The only edition containing English words in addition to the Latin.

Arranged with full piano accompaniment, to which is added, on each page, a score for Cabinet Organ or Harmonium, a combination producing a fine orchestral effect.

The "Messe Solennelle" is now being performed in the principal cities of Europe, to the universal admiration of the musical world, who have been anxiously awaiting its publication.

Price in Paper, $1.60; Boards, 2.00; Cloth, $2.50. Sent post-paid on receipt of price.

(The price of the foreign copy is more than double this edition and contains only the Latin words.)

THE DAVENPORT BROTHERS.—These wonder workers, who have astounded people in Europe and America, are to give one of their mysterious and highly interesting performances at the Temple, this evening. Wherever they go, their exhibitions are attended by the best classes of the people, and it has been found difficult to find room in the large halls for the multitudes who have witnessed their marvellous performances. They have been constantly travelling for years, have been "shown up" by others who profess to know as much and perform without the alleged aid of "the spirits" what the Davenports do, and yet the latter are at the height of popularity, coining money from their wondrous works, claiming that they receive spiritual aid, and defying detection. They allow persons chosen by the audience to bind them with cords, and come forth from their cabinet free and unfettered.

At one of their performances in Boston a well known resident of that city was bound securely and his coat was taken off and thrown into the audience, and that of another gentleman was substituted, the coats being put off and on without any trickery on the part of the person bound. The majority of these singular performances are done in the dark, and the mystery of the thing may induce curious people to try their hands at ascertaining the peculiar means by which these things are done. Believers and disbelievers in spiritualism may rest assured that however they may differ in opinion, they will be sufficiently mystified if they attend the performance to-night, and that every one who invests 35 or 50 cents for the entertainment will get his or her money's worth of mystery.

☞ A Lie by Insinuation, is one of meanest forms of that cowardly fault:—and such a lie in a nameless paper here, has just been brought to our notice,—viz.; the statement that Mr. Rogers, who lost his barn by fire, rewarded Mr. Long, who saved his cows, by the promise of a pint of milk per day for three months, —accompanied by the sneering question, Is not that generous? This question would have been pertinent, if the reward had been no greater than the statement. But Mr. Long acknowledges, with satisfaction, that he has received from Mr. R. a barrel of best Flour worth $12, besides an agreement to furnish him with Milk for six months.

SOFT-SOAPING THE MAYOR.—The indefatigable and enterprising Proprietor of the Sagamore House, Mr. James S. Peirce, not content with enlarging his quarters at that pleasant summer residence and keeping them clean, has, it is said, taken a contract for washing Market Street, and, desiring to work north and south at the same time, made a deposit of soft soap near the office door of Hon. Frank Jones' salesroom a day or two since. The cleansing qualities of that soap are highly spoken of by those who saw how nicely it did its work.

☞ The woman arrested for taking letters from the Portsmouth Post Office belonging to other parties has been committed to jail in default of $1000 bail, which she was required to furnish.

THE LAST VELOCIPEDE RIDER seen in Portsmouth was a blue-coated individual, with brass buttons and white gloves revolving down Pleasant Street at the rate of five miles an hour.

PERSONAL.—Paymaster Edwin Putnam, U. S. N., arrived in town on Tuesday, and is to relieve Paymaster J. N. Carpenter as Purchasing Paymaster, on the first of July.

☞ The police force are now prepared to furnish excellent lodgings every night for 28 persons. Vagabonds traveling in this direction will please take notice.

☞ We are pleased to see City Marshal Johnson again on duty. His severe illness has left its traces of suffering on our weighty and plucky Chief of Police.

☞ Horn and Bloodgood's Combination Company appear in this city with the comic Vivian, on Saturday, June 19th.

☞ The Engines of the U. S. S. Nantasket at the Navy Yard were started on Wednesday andran very smoothly.

☞ The next concert by the Band will probably come off on Market Square, on Friday evening next.

☞ The Granite States beat the Mutuals at base ball at the Plains on Wednesday, 31 to 27.

THE CONCERT given on Tuesday evening by Mr. T. P. Moses' class of thirty young Fairies, was well received by a large audience. The sight of so many beautiful and beautifully-dressed young girls ought to satisfy any reasonable person for the expenditure of a quarter-dollar; but in addition, the stage was tastefully decorated, and the whole Operetta of "Laila" was well performed, the singing being generally good,—the choruses especially so; Mr. Beck's performance on the piano was applauded, and deservedly encored; and the beautiful new scenes painted by Mr. Moses expressly for this occasion merited the warm commendations bestowed upon them. The whole entertainment was a success; and the manner in which it was received shows that a good concert,—and Mr. M. never gives any other,—will sometimes pay, even in Portsmouth, without the aid of burnt cork or stale newspaper jokes.

For the Chronicle.

GOOD NEWS FOR THE DYSPEPTICS.—A friend who has for many years deprived himself of the pleasure of eating pastry made of white flour, on account of Dyspepsia, informs us that he has discovered that pastry which will not distress the most delicate stomach, can be made from Graham and white flour mixed together. Three quarters graham and one quarter white flour. Pies, Baked Dumplings, Pudding crusts, &c. can be made in this way, and are as falcitable as the same articles made wholly of white flour. The pastry should be sweetened a little to take off the bitter taste of the graham.

☞ The London Times in an article on the French election points to the facts that three and a half millions of Frenchman are voting in opposition to only four millions who support the government. Whatever the relative strength of the parties may be in the Corps Legislatif, this is a significant result of universal suffrage and is bound to influence the entire policy of the Frenchgovernment.

THE REPUBLICAN LEGISLATIVE CAUCUS at Concord, Tuesday night, renominated Hon. John D. Lyman as Secretary of State, Hon. Peter Sanborn, State Treasurer, and John B. Clarke, Esq., of the Manchester Mirror, State Printer,—the latter receiving 83 votes—one more than was necessary for a choice. Capt. John Clark of Portsmouth was nominated for Commissary General.

—An incipient riot occurred in Albany on Saturday between a party of shoemakers on a strike and other workmen who refused to join in the movement. A number of men were wounded, three of them severely. The police quelled the disturbance, which at one time bade fair to assume formidable proportion.

[The idlers had the right to stop their own work, if they saw fit,—but none to strike or injure those who declined to stop.]

☞ When the Peace Jubilee was first talked of, it was deemed an impossibility by many to secure so large a chorus as was proposed. Had the chorus galleries of the Coliseum been made of twice the proposed capacity, they could have readily enough been filled.

☞ The New Hampshire Gazette for this week, is now ready for delivery at the Chronicle office. Price 5 cts. per copy—$2. per year. Contains all the Local and other reading from the Daily Chronicle.

☞ Collector Young will be in this city on Friday and Saturday of this week to make the annual U. S. revenue collection for 1869.

☞ It is rumored that there is to be a re-distribution of offices at the Navy Yard.

☞ The Mercantile Library Association has adjourned to September.

—There were eighteen hundred arrivals of vessels at the port of Chicago during the month of May.

DEATHS.

☞ The Funeral of Miss HANNAH MELCHER will take place this (Thursday) afternoon at half past 2, from No. 3 Pearl Street.

MASTA'S PULMONIC BALSAM

IS A SPEEDY and certain remedy for Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Influenza, Hooping Cough, Asthma and the various Affections of the Lungs.

☞ The attention of those afflicted with COLDS, COUGHS, and with any disease of the lungs, is directed to this valuable remedy. On account of sudden changes in the weather, colds and coughs are easily taken, and if neglected may lead to disease of the lungs. What is needed under such circumstances is a reliable remedy—speedy in affording relief, and effectual in arresting further progress of the disease.

☞ To arrest the existing irritation of the air-passages and the lungs, speedily and effectually, the seat and cause of cough is an important step gained toward relief and cure in the first stages of the disease. MASTA'S PULMONIC BALSAM possesses this important power, and while it promptly and effectually arrests all existing irritation, and rapidly relieves cough, it renders the lungs further relief by promoting a free discharge of the accumulated mucus in the air-passages, imparting a healthy action and vigor to the chest at the same time.

☞ Those suffering with cough and the first stages of lung disease, will therefore find in this valuable preparation a speedy and decided relief. Even those whose condition is beyond recovery, will derive from its use great benefit as well as comfort. For the class of diseases it is designed to relieve, the general commendation it has received has proved its efficacy beyond question. For the past ten years has been speedily and effectually cured by its timely use while suffering from severe colds, protracted coughs, and from other forms of lung disease. It is prepared from vegetable balsams and the medicinal properties of roots and herbs, with no minerals nor poisonous acids; simple and safe in the material used, it can be taken at any time.

Sold in Portsmouth by J. H. THACHER, and by Druggists and Dealers in medicines throughout the New England States.

THE USE OF A MAGIC LANTERN.

Dr. Gaylen was a widower, whereas Molly Bawn was seventeen; and Larry Darrons, Jun., (too rich to care for any thing but the honor of his 'M. D.' should it ever come), was girlhood's ideal of manhood. He was the reverse of the Dr. 'He was tall; he was dark; he was haughty of mien.' Obviously, then, the Doctor must have been short, florid, and genial. Playing the fiddle might have seemed inconsistent with Larry's haughtiness; but then Apollo could have played the fiddle (if he had had one,) and Larry not only had one, but could only play tunes, while Larry could upon those magic strings speak, laugh, wail, sob; and come out wonderfully as a cat, a mocking bird or a handsaw. The Doctor's bass was fine; but Larry's tenor was operatic. They were both visiting in the neighborhood of 'Bawn's Mills' (the country seat of Morris Bawn, Esq., opposite the mills, is one of the finest suburban features of Philadelphia); but Dr. Gaylen was with a staid Quaker family; whereas Larry was the guest of Benoni Gadfly, Esq., father of the Misses Gadfly, who were the dearest friends that Molly Bawn had in the world. Of an evening Larry Darrons would ride over to call upon Miss Bawn; and of a morning Miss Bawn would drive over to see—the Misses Gadfly.

There was another guest at the Gadfly villa who was very attentive to Miss Bawn; but from him Larry Darrons derived no uneasiness, as he had been equally attentive to her mother eighteen years before. This gentleman's name was Slipkin. At the Fair Mr. Slipkin was eminently useful. After the first day he became known among the ladies as 'that dear Mr. Slipkin; he was so obliging!' Then he was a person of inexhaustible resource; and if any thing in the way of an address was insisted upon being made, he, Mr. Slipkin, was the man among men to make it.

On the second evening of the Fair they improvised a concert, the most delightful thing you can imagine! In the course of which entertainment Dr. Gaylen had the opportunity of assuring Miss Bawn, from the very depths of his chest, that 'he'd offer her that hand of his, if he could love her less'—which was not likely but he was much applauded at the close of his self-denying observations.

The little glow of satisfaction, however, which had been imparted to him by the public appreciation of his voice and approbation of his sentiments speedily cooled down when in answer to a highly pitched request from Larry Darrons for an interview, under more favorable circumstances than those afforded by an uncomfortably crowded concert-room, Miss Molly Bawn responded, unhesitatingly, 'Yes, I'll meet thee by moonlight alone;' and the entire audience evinced complete satisfaction with the arrangement.

Hence the Dr. was very reluctant to give his promise to partake in another entertainment of the same nature, as announced by the Rev. Mr. Strate Westcott (the eloquent rector of St. Paneras,) for the ensuing evening; and was only brought to terms by a 'Do!' from Miss Molly Bawn.

'But I warn you,' said he, 'that I shall ask a favor in return.'

'Oh, I'll do anything you ask me to, Dr. Gaylen,' answered the young lady, glancing at him over her shoulder as she took Larry Darrons' arm.

The Dr. did not feel complimented. That childlike confidence had rather the air of regarding him as a father.

'A lovely girl, Sir,' said Mr. Slipkin, offering Dr. Gaylen a cigar as they walked homeward together.

'Have you known her long?' asked the Doctor, accepting the donation, but half inclined to be jealous of Mr. Slipkin.

'Ever since she was a baby,' replied that gentleman. 'I knew her mother.'

'Did you, indeed?' exclaimed the Dr. 'So did I.'

'I admired her mother immensely,' said Mr. Slipkins.

'So did I,' repeated the Doctor.

'Yes: I don't mind mentioning it to you, after all these years. At one time I was quite a beau of hers.'

'So was I,' said Dr. Gaylen, laughing.

'Well, upon my word!' cried Mr. Slipkins, joyously. 'And did she never speak to you of me?'

'Never,' answered the Dr., emphatically.

'She was a great flame of mine, nevertheless. Why, Sir, I positively loved that girl.'

'What a coincidence! My dear Sir, so did I.'

'Ha ha! Yes, Sir; I actually asked her to be my wife.'

'So did I,' the Doctor confessed.

'And she actually refused me.'

'So she did me,, said the Doctor.

'But she was a charming woman, nevertheless. Still—all's for the best, you know. I was four years her junior.'

'All's for the best, no doubt,' assented the Doctor. 'I was seven. I had rather a fancy for old girls in my extreme youth; but I've gotten bravely over it.'

'So have I,' said Mr. Slipkin. 'This is Gadfly's gate. They are all on the porch. Quite a merry party. Engaces Anni Labuntur. Eh, Doctor? The girls don't care for old fellows like you and me.'

Dr. Gaylen bade him good-night with some precipitancy.

The second concert was even a greater success than the first. The Doctor was cheerful up to the very close of the evening, when his spirits evaporated on hearing Larry Darrons again inform Miss Bawn, as an incentive to punctuality, that he distinctly promised to 'show the night-flowers their Queen.' As nothing, however, was further from Molly's thoughts than allowing herself to be exhibited in that capacity, the Doctor need not have fallen into such a brown study, nor have jumped out of it with such a bounce when the Queen of the night-flowers touched his arm—so might she have touched her uncle's—and reminded him that she was in his debt.

'What was the favor, Dr. Gaylen?'

'I was only going to ask,' the Doctor's voice trembled a little, perhaps from fatigue in singing, 'whether I might drive over for you and bring you to the Dissolving Views.'

The Fair was to close next night with that exhibition.

The Queen hesitated a moment, and then said, 'Certainly;' and then added, 'Thank you.'

'At seven?'

'Yes; at seven.'

And she again took Larry Darrons' arm. For all that, the Doctor went home—avoiding Mr. Slipkin—comparatively happy, to dream of a fair landscape flushed with sunset, with a road in the foreground, along which a splendid bay was drawing a spick and span new buggy. He was to drive Miss Bawn to the Dissolving Views. Blissfulness!

But he didn't. That office was performed by Larry Darrons.

It happened thus: Young Mr. Darrons, with whom—for the distance was not great—Miss Molly Bawn had usually preferred walking, went over to give her the opportunity of exercising that preference in the parlor.

'Dressed?' he exclaimed.

'Yes,' said she, faintly; for she had not told him of her engagement with the Doctor, and knew that there was gall with bitterness in store for him.

'Unusual promptitude! Would you mind explaining?'

But explanations were spared to Molly by the entrance of an excited handmaiden with a summons for the Doctor. The poor people of the neighborhood among whom he had practiced a little, had conferred that title upon Larry.

'Who is it?'

'Sure, I'll bring him till ye see him.'

And returning in a few moments, the green daughter of Erin ushered in a ragged, red-faced, panting, sobbing little urchin, who announced that his 'daddy was took very suddint with a broken leg.'

'Took with a broken leg, is he?' repeated Larry, looking as though he himself were 'took very bad' indeed, with something that went raspingly against the grain. 'Go for Dr. Burton.'

'Dr. Burton's away to town.'

'Dr. Worster then.'

'Dr. Worster says he's sick and can't come; and besides, daddy didn't pay him last time; and he had to go somewhere else, and so—that's the reason.'

'Well, I can't go,' said Larry, looking at the hair of Bawn's Mills.

'Please sir, you was to come right away. Daddy's been since noon, and he couldn't get no help.'

'I tell you, my little man, that you must go somewhere else. There's Dr. Ashton—he's always ready. Tell your daddy, that I had a prior engagement.'

'I would go, if I were you,' said Molly, softly.

'What! and give you up for a whole evening? I care more for you than I do for all the—all the broken legs in the world.'

'How very flattering!' returned the Queen of the night-flowers.

'Besides, I am not a physician quite yet.'

'You're very skillful.'

'You've no idea how awkward I am at times. I have an inward presentiment that this would be one of those times. Ah, Molly!' He lowered his voice, and looked at her with very melancholy eyes—'don't banish me. They can easily get some one; and I had set my heart upon to-night.'

'Never mind me, just for one evening.—It's very kind of you to wish to be with me, but—'

'There can be no buts about it, Miss Molly,' said the young man, turning away, and looking out of the window. 'Here, my boy; tell your—aha! the very thing! There's Gaylen in his gig.'

The Doctor drove up, radiant in new garments, and anticipations of happiness. Larry opened the window and hailed him joyously. The way out of the difficulty was clear.

'Man's leg broken? No physician to be had. Want one to come?'

Poor Dr. Gaylen! How the light faded in his kindly face! What a strange gray shadow came over it! Molly marked his change of countenance, and somehow felt more complimen by it than by all Larry's protestations. But the Doctor was true to the instincts of his profession.

'I'm very sorry, Miss Bawn,' said he, looking especially melancholy, as he let the reins dangle and festoon themselves over his knees,' but if the poor fellow's been lying there since noon, the sooner I reach him the better. You'll excuse me, I suppose.'

'Indeed, I will. Dr. Gaylen, and thank you for going.'

'Yes, I rather suppose that, too,' said the Doctor, looking mournfully at Larry Darrons.

'No—no—no. I didn't mean—' Molly began, but she was confused rather than audible, and the Doctor went on: 'You needn't be incommoded, though. I'll send back the buggy by this little man, who looks as if he could drive, and,' (said the Doctor, sighing) 'Mr. Darrons can drive you down.'

'That's a capital arrangement?' said Larry. In due time the vehicle returned. Larry handed the lady into it, and though she was rather silent they had a pleasant drive through the shady roads, and between the fields of spring, beautiful in the level sun. And this was the realization of the Doctor's dream.

Concluded To-morrow.

WHAT ADVERTISERS SAY.

The firm, whose letter we print below, gave us in 1867 what was then the largest contract we had ever received for our "LISTS OF 100 LOCAL NEWSPAPERS." The fact that they this year renew the order and increase the amount is the best argument we can give that these "LISTS" are good advertising mediums.

LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL,
MANUFACTURERS OF
Axes, Shovels, Saws, &c.,
No. 118 WATER STREET,
PITTSBURG, PA., Dec. 3, 1868.

MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO.:
Gentlemen:—One year ago with much hesitation we gave you our first contract for one of your Lists of One Hundred local papers; a very short time thereafter we unhesitatingly added two more Lists of One Hundred local papers.

But a short time elapsed before we were inquicted of on every side for "Colburn's Patent Red Jacket Ax," promising to us that your plan of Lists had reached the very centers to whom we wanted to introduce the new patent Ax.

The year having now nearly gone by, we cannot but believe your system of advertising in "Lists of Local Papers" is just the kind of advertising we want, and we to-day forward you an order still adding three more Lists of One Hundred papers, making the number now aggregate four (4) Lists of One Hundred (100) local papers.

The more we talk with newspaper agents and editors' agents the more satisfied we are that the arrangement we have made with you is preferable to any we have heard of. The merit of the Ax itself has, of course, something to do with our great demand for it, but we are satisfied that by your system of advertising in "Lists" we have accomplished in one year what would have ordinarily taken us five years to accomplish.

Respectfully,
LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL.

The following from the National Publishing Co., of Philadelphia, may be taken as an answer to those who inquire if these "Lists" can really be good advertising mediums.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10, 1868.
MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 40 PARK ROW:
Gentlemen:—It is more than three years since we began advertising in your "Lists of One Hundred Papers" each; and in that time have given "The List System," as originated by you, a thorough trial, and we can now say it is the cheapest and best general advertising medium we have any knowledge of.

We have tried every possible mode of advertising, having dealt with the press direct, and thro' nearly every advertising agency in the country, and have no hesitation in saying that your Lists have paid us 50 per cent. better than any other way. Respectfully,

The Bald Man's Ballad.

BY ELISHA.

Shall I, Elijah's chosen heir,
Complain because my crown is bare?
Does not the better part—the brain—
With all its teeming thoughts, remain?
So this best gift abide with me,
Hirsute or hanged let others be.

Yet time has been, ere sinful pride,
Within this shrunken breast had died,
When I have wept with anguish torn,
From weary night to joyless morn,
To see each glossy ringlet fall,
Lost Leah's hand had toyed withal.

Why, why should Heaven permit the fop
And fool to wear so fine a top,
While rarely can be found the Sage
Retains his hair to middle age?
And, in a social point of view,
Their lot is something better, too.

See yonder ape in silken curls,
Smirking and capering with the girls;
No painful fears his hopes prolong,
He wins the fairest of the throng,
Alas! poor silly maid, she's wed
Dull Esau's hair not Jacob's head.

How oft I've seen old Coupon's son
Strut down the streets of Babylon,
Ogling the maids on either side,
Whose smiles to him are ne'er denied.
For he has gold, and sh—a head
Well thatched, but all untenanted.

I knew his father long ago,
When he pegged shoes in Cobbler's Row
A worthy man; and had he taught
The son his trade, the good-for-naught
Had found less time to oil his head,
And might have earned his daily bread.

But let them buzz and hum their fill,
Poor gilded flies, a frost shall kill!
I envy not their little hour
Of sunshine round my lady's bower:
And yet 'tis hard sometimes to see
The world prefer such mites to me.

At home, abroad—ay, everywhere,
The bald man meets with much to bear;
The ragged urchins in the street
With ribald jest my coming greet;
E'en as I passed, this very day,
"Go up, baldhead!" they bawled away.

Of course I cursed them then I prayed
Forgiveness for the wrath displayed,
As quite beneath my ministry;
Boys 'll be boys, where'er they be;
So let the young rogues play their game—
A day has been I did the same.

I found a cure for others' ill,
But mine has been bevond my skill;
I bade the white-lipped Naaman lave
His leprous limbs in Jordan's wave;
And him its balm made fresh and fair,
But, oh! 'twould not restore my hair.

I've oft an hundred shekels paid
For some new tonic's vaunted aid;
But soon perceived to my despair,
The thinner grew the moist-red hair.
All this was when my youthful brow
Bowed not to fate—I care not now.

The Power that bade the raven wing
His laden flight where, famishing,
Elijah lay, will guard the head
Where not a single hair is spread,
As if 'twere graced with tresses fine,
Or bristled like the porcupine.

☞ Potato bugs are so troubling Wisconsin farmers, that a sermon on their viciousness and worthlessness is inserted in one of the papers of the State. The writer censures Noah for having preserved a pair of potato bugs and a pair of fleas in the ark, and thinks it was "a mighty small piece of business." It thus relates the result of an effort to utilize these insects:—

"A year or two since, an enterprising manufacturer of liquor tried crushed potato bugs to color wine. He gave them a fair trial, but at the end of six months found that they didn't color the wine a particle better than the juice of bedbugs does, and that the flavor given the wine was not as good as that given by the bed-bug juice. There was one more objection. He could catch bedbugs all seasons of the year, but could not find potato bugs only about six or eight months of the year. He has pronounced curses upon potato bugs, and declared them good for nothing."

☞ A correspondent of the Boston Advertiser styles the bill for the consolidation of several Railroads into the "Great Northern Railroad"—"An Act to create a Monopoly of Railway Traffic between Boston and Lake Ontario, and to perpetuate high rates of freight between Massachusetts and the West."

The bill has passed the Massachusetts Senate.

—Mr. Duncan, appointed United States Consul at Naples, was the incumbent of the Carlsruhe Consulate during the war, when he was much lionized by loyal Americans as the solitary South Carolinian in Europe who stood up for the United States.

—Not only the laurel tie and the gold spike that finished the Pacific Railroad were immediately taken up, but the rail, tie and spikes that were intended to be permanent were at once seized and appropriated by relic hunters.

—The plan of cutting a ship canal from the Bay of Biscay to the Mediterranean is still under discussion.

—Emma Webb, the actress, leaves the stage for the stump in opposition to the woman suffrage movement.

—He that loses his conscience, has nothing left that is worth keeping.

TSING TEA—Black Dragon Chop.
NATURAL LEAF, perfectly pure (TSING signifies pure) Prepared without any coloring or foreign substance. Cured on Porcelain (not copper) over a slow fire. Delightful flavor, exceedingly powerful and strong. Combines all the healthy virtues of the Tea-plant. Mandarins and higher class of natives use no other.
This celebrated Tea was first introduced here by the ORIENTAL TEA COMPANY, in May, 1865, when the limited quantity imported was rapidly sold, at the high price of $1.80 a pound. It met with such unqualified approval, and the demand for it from all sections was so great, that the Company at once made arrangements to procure a larger supply, upon more favorable terms, for the future; and they have just received the first invoice for this year, which will be sold at the low price of $1.10 a pound, at which (but little over half what it cost one year ago) it is the cheapest Tea known; and the Company feel that they cannot too highly recommend it to all who drink Tea, as it possesses the flavor and strength, and the soothing, invigorating properties of both Black and Green, without any injurious quality; being chemically pure and free from coloring matter or any foreign mixture, it will suit the taste and please all who love Tea.
The Tea is put up neatly in pound parcels, 36 pounds in a chest, with the price, $1.10, printed on each package. The wholesale price by the chest is $1.00 a pound, and orders from Traders, Hotel-Keepers, Peddlers, Clubs or Families, for chests of 36 pounds or more, will be filled at the wholesale price. Parties living in towns where we have agents can always get this Tea from them.
Like all other goods sold by the Oriental Tea Company, this Tea is warranted to give entire satisfaction; and parties ordering can do so with the full assurance that if the whole or any part fails to suit, it may be returned at our expense, and we will refund the money.
SPECIAL NOTICE.—As a matter of convenience to the public, we are arranging with Apothecaries and other Merchants, all over the country, to act as Agents for selling our Teas and Coffees in their locality, at our warehouse prices. Our profits are small, but we give over four-fifths of them to Agents as Commission. We want an Agent in every town in the Union, and will send full particulars, terms, price-lists, &c., upon application by mail from Traders desiring it. The News.

The official returns of the French elections indicate that the government will have a majority in the new Corps Legislatif of 136.

The boundary trouble between Turkey and Persia has been adjusted.

The Mutual and Yale Base Ball Clubs had a game at New Haven on Wednesday. The Mutuals won, 18 to 16.

The Republicans of Washington Territory have elected their candidate for delegate to Congress, by 500 majority.

The election for senators and representatives at Panama resulted in favor of the ministerial party.

The Arizonians call for troops to protect them against the Indians.

Aleck Stephens is gloomy on the situation.

Strawberries are very plenty in New York, at from ten to fifteen cents per quart. One farm in New Jersey sent 400,000 quarts to market on Tuesday.

The filibusters who landed in the Bay of Nipe, Cuba, have effected a junction with the forces of General Quesada.

The waiters' strike in New York has ended, the Union having resolved to let any one go to work for whom he pleases and at any wages he can get. The proprietors, however, refuse to take the strikers back unless they forswear the trade union.

The belligerent rights of the Cuban insurgents have been recognized by the Chilian government.

New Hamphire Items.

T. L. Thorpe of Manchester buys the refuse waste of cotton mills, carries it to his mill in Londonderry, cleanses it and sells it again for its original purposes. He turns out a ton a day.

The dwelling house of Francis Carleton, in Bedford, was destroyed by fire on the afternoon of the 6th. A defect in the chimney caused it. Loss $2000; no insurance.

The Mirror says that A. W. Sanborn was eight days in going to California and about the same in returning. The fare was about $200 and the distance travelled 6000 miles.

Leonard Powers, Esq., of Cornish states that during the past year snow fell in that town nine of the twelve months.

Lancaster voted to appropriate five per cent. of the town valuation, between $35,000 and $40,000, in aid of the extension of the White Mountain Railroad to that place, provided it be done before January 1, 1871.

A new post office has been established at Wolfeborough Centre, and George W. Sawyer has been appointed postmaster.

THE STATE OF TEXAS.—The opinion of the Attorney General of the United States on the Weaver case in Texas is a very able and conclusive document.—The facts were, that Weaver, a civilian, was tried by a military commission last September for the murder of a freedman, the District Judge having certified that he could not have a proper trial in the State Courts. The question was, whether a case in which all the parties were civilians, could be tried by a military tribunal so long after the war had ended in Texas. The whole question of the military government of the unrestored States was then put directly in issue.

Att'y Gen. Hoar finds that Texas—and the same reasoning applies to the other rebellious States—was, during the war, deprived by her own treasonable act of all lawful government as a State, and thus when her soil became subject to the military power of the United States, her citizens came under military law. That condition ended, not when hostilities ceased, but when the U. S., through Congress, determined that it should end, which was when the provisions of what is usually called the Military Reconstruction Act of 1867 should be complied with—which result has not yet happened. This conclusion, he says, is perfectly consistent with other declarations of the Government, that the war has ended for specific purposes, such as calculating the pay of soldiers, &c. This opinion, therefore, clinches the whole reconstruction legislation of Congress, and quenches the last hope of those who had predicted that Grant's administration would begin a reaction against the advanced Republican standard. It will also inspire confidence among the President's supporters, that the forthcoming opinion of the Attorney General on the true status of Georgia at this time will be equally thorough.

Editorial Correspondence of the Chronicle.

CONCORD, June 10.

The capital and the capitol have been more enjoyable during the past cool days, than we ever found them before; and there has been sufficient business of public and private importance both in the House and out going on, to make things interesting.

My suggestion, even though rather doubtfully made, last week that Col. Kent might be elected Speaker—was not well seconded, he receiving only 26 votes to 132 for Mr. Wheeler of Dover—which is regarded as rather a Boston & Maine Railroad triumph, if it has any R. R. bearing at all, as almost any move is suspected to have now-a-days. My misconception of Col. Kent's chances was caused entirely by his friends and himself over-rating his strength in the middle and upper sections of the State,—and they say, by breach of agreement in the matter. Portsmouth gave him an almost undivided vote. Not a very important matter, and rather late to refer to it perhaps—but your correspondent likes to be right on the record, and to give reason for the faith that is in him.

The subject of interest for this week, is of course the Election of State Officers, especially the Printer, Mr. John B. Clarke, of the Manchester Mirror, for the third time, though there was quite a struggle over it. Of which more anon. The other old officers were also re-elected, without opposition, except that Capt. John Clark of Portsmouth is Commissary General the last year, in place of the done brown bummer general of last year, who it seems floated over to the copperheads on the rum plank.

Several meetings of the friends of the Portsmouth & Dover and the Lake Shore Railroads, from Portsmouth, Dover and elsewhere, have been held at the Eagle Hotel here, within a few days, to see what could be done for the promotion of inland rails for our city and Dover; but Portsmouth people, some of them, are afraid of a B. & M. cat under the meal, and we think will not favor a Lake Shore charter unless it be provided that the B. & M. Road shall not use it against our interests, at any rate—which does not seem to suit some of the prominent Dover men.

But the Dover and upper country people are to try again for their Lake Shore charter, and we think may succeed. It is the wonderment of everybody here, as of this writer, why Portsmouth and the Eastern Railroad don't build the P. & D. Road. The Dover folks don't want their Lake Road hampered with or tied to any other, and the Portsmouth & Ogdensburg plan meets with little favor from them.

In looking over the reports of public institutions, we notice there are in the Insane Asylum two hundred thirty-seven persons, 116 men, 121 women. In the State Prison, one hundred twenty-nine viz., 121 males and 8 females. In the Legislature 317 members,—all men, and as is pretty well-known, forming the largest legislative body in this country or probably in the world—larger than Congress even. And besides, the lobby or third house, also contains a large number—and is an attachment which we believe neither of the other institutions have—in which exemptions they are fortunate. Agriculture is to receive more patronage, and the military less, this session, than heretofore, it would seem. $44,000 in one year for soldiering, and nothing for farming, in a State and congress of farmers, would seem to be disproportionate. A Board of Agriculture we think will be established.

Among the bills introduced during the week, is one for a State Police, and another from Nath'l White and others, for Female Suffrage. Let the women vote, we say, if they want to!

Bills to reduce the bushel of Potatoes to 60 instead of 64 lbs., and to sell Milk by wine and not beer measure, as in Massachusetts and elsewhere, are also in—and should and doubtless will pass.

Also a bill to increase the tax on Savings Bank deposits from three-fourths of one per cent. to the rate taxed on property generally wherever these institutions are located. It would be better to repeal our absurd usury law, and allow free trading in money as in other goods.

On Thursday Mr. Reding of Portsmouth introduced a resolution inquiring into the increase of the tariff of rates for passengers and freight over the C. & P. Railroad,—contrary to the law allowing the lease of said road to the Concord corporation. Mr. Reding in a few remarks urging the passage of the resolution, stated that the law was violated by increase of the fare from $1.50 to $1.80, and corresponding freight increase—that this section of the line paid as well as any other, and received but 7 per cent, while the original corporation declared 10 per cent. and a surplus.

Mr. Reding also gave notice of a bill to repeal the Usury law, which now forbids any higher rate than 6 per cent. The new law proposes to allow 8 per cent, and will doubtless pass.

Mr. Hackett introduced a petition for an appropriation for Dartmouth College, and bills relating to the adoption of children and the partition of real estate.

A bill forbidding the marriage of first cousins, was introduced, and referred to a special committee of five. It ought to pass.

The State Masonic bodies have held their annual meetings this week. Dea. John Knowlton of Portsmouth presents his 42d annual report as Treasurer of the Grand Lodge—during which long term he has missed but three meetings.

The Com. on Agricultural College, of which your correspondent is a member, are to visit Dartmouth College on Friday, per special train. Yours, F.

FACTS FOR THE LADIES.—I have a Wheeler & Wilson machine, (No. 289), bought of Mr. Gardiner, in 1853, he having used it a year. I have used it constantly, in shirt manufacturing, as well as family sewing, sixteen years. My wife ran it four years, and earned between $700 and $800, besides doing her house work. I have never expended fifty cents on it for repairs. It is, to-day in the best of order, stitching fine linen bosoms nicely. I started manufacturing on this machine and now have over one hundred of them in use. I have paid at least $3000, for the stitching done by this old machine, and it will do as much as any machine I have.

Dr. Ham's Aromatic Invigorator

removes from the system the ill effects caused by the excessive use of alcoholic liquors, and effectually destroys the appetite for these stimulants. It gives tone to debilitated mucous surfaces. Effects a healthy secretion from the system, thereby restoring it to its normal healthful condition. As a medicine, it is quick and effectual, curing the most aggravated cases of Dyspepsia, Kidney Complaints, and all other derangements of the Stomach and Bowels, in a speedy manner.

This elegant preparation has stood the test of years. A wine-glassful before eating will give a good appetite and prevent all suffering from indigestion. Ladies of weak and delicate constitutions should take the Invigorator three times a day. A wine-glassful before retiring will insure sweet and refreshing sleep. All the proprietor asks is a trial, and he knows this he has put up the Invigorator in pint bottles at 50 cents,—quarts $1.00. Principal Depot, 45 CENTRAL WHARF, BOSTON. Home Questions for the Sickly and Debilitated.

Is it worth while to endure penal torture after every meal, when indigestion can be immediately relieved and permanently cured by so agreeable a remedy as HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS?

Does it pay to be compelled by debility and languor to abandon active business, when brain, nerve and muscle can be braced up, and the whole system restored to a healthy condition, by a course of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Why approach the dinner-table daily with a positive disgust for all that is savory and delicious, when a vigorous appetite for even the plainest fare is created by the use of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Can it wise to live in this bright world as if it were a dungeon, gloomy, discontented and miserable, when the worst case of hypochondria can be cured in a week by such a pleasant and wholesome exhilarant as HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Can it be possible that any person of bilious habit will run the risk of remittent fever or bilious colic, when he can tone and regulate the great secretive organ with HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Is it not a species of moral insanity for any merchant, farmer, mechanic or traveler, to be without the best known antidote to the effects of poisoned air and impure water, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Considering the harrassing and depressing nature of the functional derangements to which woman is subject, is it not astonishing that any invalid of the feebler sex should hesitate to seek the certain relief afforded in such cases, by the genial operation of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

There are questions of deeper interest than any of the political dogmas of the day, and those whom they concern are invited to give them something more than a passing thought.

Brandreth's Pills.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Brandreth's Pills have been known and used by your grandfathers and grandmothers. They are always safe, and sure to do you good. They are purely vegetable, and diminish the death principle; some think they increase the principle of life. But in taking out bad humors from the blood, they do make the body lighter, and thus seem to add energy. Many families have used them for upwards of forty years.

They are the best medicine for Colds, for all Bilious Affections, for Fullness about the Head or Heart, and in all Cutaneous and Contagious Diseases they are unrivalled. In all cases in which a purgative is indicated, no medicine yet known can be compared to them. Two hundred physicians have certified that Brandreth's Pills are superior to all other purgatives whatever. Sold by all Druggists. my21

To Owners of Horses.

Thousands of Horses die yearly from Colic. This need not be. Dr. Tobias' Venetian Horse Liniment will positively cure every case, if given when first taken. The cost is only one dollar. Every owner of a Horse should have a bottle in his stable, ready for use. It is warranted superior to anything else for the cure of Cuts, Wind Galls, Swellings, Sore Throat, Sprains, Bruises, Old Sores, &c. This Liniment is no new remedy. It has been used and recommended by Drivers for the first horsemen in the country. Given to an overdriven horse, it acts like magic. Orders are constantly received from the RACING STABLES of ENGLAND for it.

The celebrated Hiram Woodruff used and recommended it to his friends, years before his death. Col. P. P. Bush, of the Jerome race course, has given me a certificate stating it to be superior to any other he has used. Hundreds of others can be seen at the Depot, 10 Park Place, N. Y. ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

The best remedy for the cure of CONSUMPTION, and ALL DISEASES OF THE LUNGS. It causes the phlegm and matter to rise without irritating those delicate organs (the lungs,) and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops night sweats, and changes all the morbid secretions to a healthy state.

It contains no opium in any form. It is perfectly harmless for the most delicate child. It is everywhere in good demand and gives good satisfaction.

The result of its use is proof of its great value.—Its extraordinary healing properties are experienced by all who use it. Their testimony will be found in a pamphlet, which can be had of the agents where the medicine is for sale. d25

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off; and the patient has no more use for the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use without a physician,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the night sweats, to stop the cough, stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and these all cease of themselves. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy. jl0

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, or ulceration of the lungs, or a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the things that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets healthy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 228 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physician having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, when all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 30 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. Patients can receive the advice free, through examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1ya4

MAP OF PORTSMOUTH.—Messrs. Editors:—An attempt is about to be made to have Mr. Hoyt's Map of Portsmouth engraved and offered to the citizens, at the smallest price for which the work can be executed. Mr. Hoyt's Map is very correct, embracing the whole city and its connections with the adjoining towns, together with all the roads, the houses with the occupants' names, where it was practicable, and withal is beautifully executed. It will do honor to the city and no doubt every one will be glad of a copy of it. A subscription paper will be opened, making it optional whether to have a copy on plain paper only, or one handsomely mounted for hanging in offices and parlors. It has been suggested that the Map might be further ornamented by having photographic pictures of public buildings, churches and dwelling houses engraved on the margin, as is the case in our county maps, to be paid for by those who are willing to incur the expense. This movement, Messrs. Editors, is a very laudable one, it is to be hoped that there will be a general subscription, and that many who will take one to hang in the counting-room, will also take another plain one for preservation.

The Map will undoubtedly be valuable and convenient, not only for Home use, here, where it will be indispensable, but also for a reminder of the old Homestead, by those Sons of Portsmouth who live abroad, and who will do themselves and the author the favor of subscription for copies of the Map.

☞ We are pleased to learn that Frank B. Gardner, who it was feared had lost the sight of both eyes by the discharge of a pistol a few evenings since, will probably save the sight of one eye and possibly both. He remained insensible for days but is now able to give an account of the accident, and states that the pistol was discharged while he was looking into the muzzle to see the wad!

☞ In the trot at Riverside Park on Wednesday, gray mare Nellie Locke came in second in the first heat, being beaten a half length for the first position by Fanny Allen, in 3:34 1-2. Nellie was number 7 in the second heat and was withdrawn.

☞ To prevent further inquiry we will state that our "soap item" was furnished by Mayor Jones, whose organ is so unused to it that it doesn't recognize its paternity. Go on with your soft soap, ye thick-headed num-skulls!

☞ The New Hampshire Gazette for this week, is now ready for delivery at the Chronicle office. Price 5 cts. per copy—$2. per year. Contains all the Local and other reading from the Daily Chronicle.

MOONLIGHT EXCURSION.—Mr. Wilber I. Trafton has chartered the new steamer Appledore to make a moonlight excursion to the Shoals on the evening of June 22d. It is designed to have a hop at Appledore.

☞ Several Watchmen have been discharged at the Navy Yard, and soldiers have been employed in their places.

☞ Our attentive Lewiston correspondent "H." writes us that "three men named Grace, Fling and Gibbons, were drowned last week, while driving logs on the Androscoggin river. They were all young men and two of them were married.

The Base Ball fraternity are trying to get up some excitement in this vicinity. At the match game last summer much trouble was caused by claims of the Eons of Portland and the Androscoggins of this city, to the championship. At a late meeting of the Association it was decided to authorize the President of the Association to give the silver ball to the club that should receive the assent of the greatest number of clubs of the Association, and it should then be played for again at the July tournament. The various clubs have responded and five have voted that the Androscoggins were the champions, and three that the Eons were champions, and many of the clubs have taken neutral grounds. It is probable that the ball will come here until July.

Fourth of July will doubtless be celebrated here by processions of firemen and other organized bodies. A meeting is to be held immediately for this purpose."

—An attempt was made to throw the Lowell and Lawrence train from the track last Saturday. Four sleepers were laid across the track about thirty feet apart. The train ran over three of them, but was stopped short of the fourth. The operator, a drunken German, named Springer, whom the conductor had put off the train, stood by watching the effect. He was arrested.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

RYE, June 10th.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—A sad and fatal accident occurred in Stratham on Tuesday afternoon, 8th inst., by which Miss Semira Shapley of Rye was so seriously injured that she died the following day. It appears that the deceased in company with Miss Ellen Rand, had been to New Market and were on their return home, when in Stratham near the residence of Mr. Sam'l Jones, the horse was frightened by a dog, who suddenly jumped over the fence into the road. The horse turning short round, threw the ladies to the ground, and Miss Shapley's head coming in contact with the wall she was rendered insensible at once, Miss Rand fortunately escaping serious injury. Assistance was rendered immediately, and Miss Shapley, in an unconscious state, was taken to the residence of Mr. Jones, where she lingered without consciousness until the next day.

Her funeral took place Thursday. The deceased, was a very estimable young lady, and her sad and untimely end has thrown a gloom over a large circle of friends, and their sympathy, as well as that of the whole community is deep and sincere for her afflicted relatives. She was a successful school teacher and taught the South School last winter, and of late has been the organist at the Congregational church. Her loss will be seriously felt, not only in her own family, but to the community at large. R.

THE STATE PRISON.—The Annual Report of the Warden of the N. H. State Prison (Joseph Mayo, Esq.,) states that the whole number of prisoners is 129—six less than one year ago. Eight of the number are females. The Prison has proved a source of profit, its debt being reduced over five thousand dollars, or more than one third. The Warden urges some reasons why the contract system should be done away with, that of economy being the principal one. There are many items of interest in this Report. We subjoin his remarks upon the "Causes of Crime":

With propriety I might have headed this section, "Cause of Crime." One, more than any and all others, is the prolific cause of the crimes that fill the cells of our penal institutions. Take out of this prison those who attribute their presence here to intemperance, and there would be hardly enough left to care for the buildings. I am firmly convinced that a vigorous execution of our prohibitory law would decrease our prison committals more than one half.

Give every rum-seller a life-sentence, and other sentences would be few and far between. We have many sad cases of young men from respectable families brought here in consequence of taking a single glass of liquid poison sold by some heartless violator of the law.

How to provide safe accommodations for all of our inmates has been a matter that has given us no little trouble since I have had charge of this institution. A rigid enforcement of our admirable prohibitory law would leave us room enough and to spare.

That is the economical view. The physical and moral evils of drinking worse than useless intoxicating liquors, distilled or fermented, are almost beyond computation, yet how generally disregarded. And as long as there are so many fools who will part with their pence for a dram, there will probably be some Mr. and Mrs. Crowders, who will grow rich on the Fools' Pence.

EFFECTS OF A DRINKING BET.—Not long since three men, at or near Northfield, Minnesota, made a bet that they could drink forty glasses of beer each. Two of them drank the required number, but the third became too drunk to drink his, and, as he laid on the floor, the others poured the requisite number down him, and afterwards tied him up by the heels with a long chain, and swung him backwards and forwards for some time. They then took him to a physician who told them that it was impossible to help him, as his small and large intestines were all rolled and mixed together, and there was no way that they could be placed in a natural position again. The person died soon afterwards.

Morning Chronicle.

THE USE OF A MAGIC LANTERN.

Concluded from Yesterday.

They were in ample time for the Dissolving Views, but Miss Bawn insisted upon taking a seat upon the penultimate bench, toward the door.

'You can't see here,' said Larry Darrons.

'I can see all I want to,' answered Molly.

Who should be the orator of the evening but Mr. Slipkin? How eloquent he was! how pathetic! how facetious! and how gentlemanly! And with what a variety of themes he proved to be familiar. The projectors of the exhibition had counted largely on Sunday-school patronage, and special selections of subjects had been made, under the 'suggestions' of Mr. Gaddy, with the purpose not only of amusing the hopes of the community, but also of improving the occasion to their moral instruction and advancement. As one means, among others, to the latter end, there was called into play in the music circle on the great white sheet, a very pale little boy, with an expression of the utmost nausea depicted on his otherwise ingenuous countenance. He was reclining, evidently in a state of physical prostration and mental contrition, against the giant bole of an oak, in a boundless contiguity of shade. An emty basket lay supine beside him, and a pound cake, beautifully frosted and deeply excavated on one side, fell from his nerveless hand.

The picture told its own story, and Mr. Slipkin improved the occasion with marked ability.

While he was doing so, a gentleman came quietly in and stood near the penultimate bench.

'And now, children,' concluded Mr. Slipkin, 'the friends of this greedy little boy will have to come out and find him in the woods, and take him home, and send for the doctor to come.'

And then Molly, looking up, saw that the Doctor had come without being sent for.

'Dr. Gaylen?'

'Ah, Miss Bawn?'

'How is he?'

'Fast asleep.'

'Thank you.'

'Yes,' thought the Doctor. 'I know what she thanks me for.'

But the little boy who had made himself sick, was now in a state of dissolution; and the Doctor looked at the screen. Another little boy! This view was striking, and elicited great applause. In front of a heathen temple, with all the modern conveniences, was a group of children so vividly dressed that there was a small whirlwind of 'ohs' and 'ahs.' But the central little figure was that of the other little boy, who had an empty basket in one hand and a prize peach in the other. He was a chubby, sturdy little chap, and became popular instantly. He looked very happy, and so did his playmates, each of whom held in his or her hand a specimen of the kindly fruits of the earth.

'Now, my dear children,' said Mr. Slipkin, when he could make himself heard.—'I want you to look very hard at that little boy.' Mr. Slipkin's emphasis on 'that,' was one of the finest points ever made in American oratory. 'He has had a basket sent to him, at his school. But instead of stealing away by himself with it, like a very selfish and wicked little boy, that little boy has called all his little companions around him, and has given one thing to one and another to another, till all that he has for himself is one single, solitary PEACH!'

Grand climax on the part of Mr. Slipkin, which brings down the house, Dr. Gaylen applauding with the loudest.

'I ask you, children,' Mr. Slipkins continues, 'to look very hard at that little boy.—And why, children? why did I ask you to look very hard at that picture and at that little boy? Because, children, that picture is a true picture, and that little boy was a real little boy.'

Profound sensation.

'And now he's a real man!'

Increased sensation.

'And his name is——'

Breathless suspense.

'You all know him—'

Feverish impatience.

'Dr. Gaylen!'

Thunders of applause, during which the Doctor rushed wildly out of the building.

Mr. Slipkin, after the exhibition, being sent to look for him, finds him in the deepest shadow on the other side of the way.

'Gaylen?'

'Slipkin! Dear me, how could you do that? I had forgotten all about it!'

'Never mind. You and I and Jack Stencil were at the 'Infants' Retreat' together; and Jack remembered it, and painted it.—There's a young lady waiting for you—Miss Bawn.'

'For me? Where's Mr. Darrons?'

'I rather think it's all up there. And look. She's up there at the window for you.'

'I'll get my horse,' said the Doctor.

The net profits from the Fair were $1000. Unfortunately, the very next week the stiff little steeple blew down; and it cost exactly that sum to put it up again.

Those cases of fracture are sometimes very tedious? Not steeples—but legs and arms. But it was 'real good of Dr. Gaylen—so the Misses Gaddy said—to drive out all this way from town to see his poor patient; at first once a week; then, as he grew better, twice; as he continued to improve, every other day; and, ultimately, every day.

At last the doctor's patient is well enough to hobble to his cottage-door and bid the good-by. In the distance is the Rev. Mr. Strate Westcott, with a new fifty-dollar bill in his pocket-book. He is in a close carriage—He is not alone. A lady is with him; a young lady, who looks all the happier for being there, and all the prettier for blushing.

As the carriage rolls down the hill, this lady, looking into a little basket, says:

'There's just one peach left, Charley; will you have it?'

But the Doctor—there being nobody in that shady road to catch him doing it—kisses her cheek and does not care much about peaches.

A SERIOUS ACCIDENT occurred on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, Wednesday night about 10 o'clock, near Annapolis Junction, wrecking several cars, and injuring a number of passengers. The car containing President Grant was not thrown off nor injured.

—Hearth and Home for May 29 had a capitol cartoon of the "Bad Farmer," who is lifting a gin barrel out of his rickety wagon. The next number gives the "Good Farmer," puffing his pipe under the noon shade in the hay field! That sermon would have been better if the preacher had stopped with the first head.

—The Chicago mosquitoes found the spring weather in that city very unfavorable to their health, and have left it for a salubrious clime.

—The Chicago Post wishes that the author of "The Gates Wide Open" would "sail in" and spare the public another book.

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT!

THE RIGHT THING AT LAST!

BENJAMIN NORTON,

Having been appointed Selling Agent for this City and surrounding towns, of the AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT COMPANY, is now prepared to sell any quantity, from one pound upward, of

THE BEST PAINT!

ever offered in this city.

It is Durable, Beautiful, Water Proof, Elastic and Economical.

This Paint is all Ready for Immediate Application, and requires no oil, thinning or drying.

It is prepared in pure White and one hundred Different Shades, and is unsurpassed in all respects.

It dries with a hard, rich, glossy surface; does not run from seams or nail holes; will not chalk, crack or peel off; covers more surface with the same body, and is cheaper, more lasting, and better in every respect than any other Paint.

Many Painters have been those who have used it in other places of its superiority over other Paints might be given; but I will only invite those of this city and surrounding towns who intend using Paints, to call at the

GROCERY AND PROVISION STORE,

Nos. 16 & 18 Cabot Street,

which is the ONLY PLACE in the City where it has been used, and examine the Paint where it has been applied in ten or twelve different shades, and where they can choose any color they desire for use, outside or in, and buy from one pound upwards.

In using the Chemical Paint, there, is no difficulty in matching any color at any time, as all the shades are numbered, and the same number will always match.

These Paints are manufactured in New York, and Newburgh, Ohio. BENJ. NORTON, Agent for Chemical Paint Company.

AMERICAN

BUTTON-HOLE, OVERSEAMING, AND—

SEWING MACHINE!

H. N. DUNYON, 27 Market Street,

Agent for Portsmouth and vicinity.

The Reasons Why

This is the best Family Machine to Purchase.

1. Because it will do everything that any machine can do—the finest of sewing, hemming, felling, cording, tucking, braiding, binding, gathering, quilting, &c., better than any other machine.

2. Because it can work a beautiful button-hole, making a fine pearl, as by hand. (Not done on any other Sewing Machine.)

3. Because it will work a beautiful eyelet-hole. (No other machine does it.)

4. Because it will embroider over the edge, making a neat and beautiful border on any garment. (Not done on any other Machine.)

5. Because it can do "overhand seaming," by which shirts, pillow-cases and the like are sewed "ever and ever." (No other Machine can do it.)

Caution.

We would hereby warn the Public against albogus advertisements of Button-Hole Attachments, as the AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE is the first and only Button-Hole and Sewing Machine combined in the world.

This Machine is for sale only at our establishment, 27 Market Street, where we cordially invite the Public to Call and Examine for themselves, and be convinced that this is the Best and Cheapest Machine for any family.

N. B.—All Machines are Warranted for one year. Instructions given at the house of purchaser free. Persons buying this Machine never wish to exchange for any other.

WHAT ADVERTISERS SAY.

The firm, whose letter we print below, gave us in 1867 what was then the largest contract we had ever received for our "LISTS OF 100 LOCAL NEWSPAPERS." The fact that they this year renew the order and increase the amount is the best argument we can give that these "LISTS" are good advertising mediums.

LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL,

MANUFACTURERS OF

Axes, Shovels, Saws, &c.,

No. 118 WATER STREET,

PITTSBURG, PA., Dec. 3, 1868.

MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO.:

Gentlemen—One year ago with much hesitation we gave you an advertisement for one of your Lists of One Hundred local papers; a very short time thereafter we advantageously added two more Lists of One Hundred papers.

But a short time elapsed before we were inquired of on every side for "Colburn's Patent Hot Jacket AX," previous to us that your lists of lists had reached the very parties to whom we wanted to introduce the new patent AX.

The year has now gone by, we cannot but believe your system of advertising by "Lists of Local Papers" is just the kind of advertising we want, and we to-day forward an order still adding one more List of One Hundred papers, making the number now altogether four (4) Lists of One Hundred local papers.

The more we talk with newspaper agents and editors' agents the more satisfied we are that the arrangement we have made with you is probable to any we have ever heard of. The merit of the AX itself has, of course, something to do with the great demand for it, but we are satisfied that by your system of advertising "Lists" we have accomplished in one year what would have ordinarily taken us five years to accomplish.

Resp'ctfully,

LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL.

The following from the National Publishing Co., of Philadelphia, may be taken as an answer to those who inquire if these "Lists" can really be good advertising mediums.

J. R. JONES, President.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10, 1868.

MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 40 PARK ROW:

Gentlemen:—It is more than three years since we began advertising in your "Lists of One Hundred Papers" each, and in that time have given "The List System," as originated by you, a thorough trial, and we can now say it is the cheapest and best general advertising medium we have any knowledge of.

We have tried every possible mode of advertising, having dealt with the press direct, and therefore nearly every advertising agency in the country, and have no hesitation in saying that your Lists have paid us 50 per cent. better than any other way. Respectfully,

TRUE COURAGE.

I love the man whose honest heart
Will bravely dare and bravely do;
Who will not act the coward's part,
But, strong in right, will right pursue;
Whose knee, never bending at the nod
Of titled pomp or regal power,
But bows alone before his God,
With holy crown of love to dower;
Who dares to be a world of one,
And do to a brother's hand span,
Though dark the sky and rough the form,
If yet that brother be a man;
Who smiles where'er a wrong is found,
And bears a spirit undismayed;
Nor courts applause and empty sound,
But firmly trusts in what he's made.

Such are the men who've stood the tide
And clove the way through giant wrong,
Who've fought triumphant, side by side,
'Mid perils dread and doubt long;
Their manly forms are thickly sown
On many an ancient field of fame;
But such as truth they've widely thrown,
To blossom rich in coming time,
Amid those names of the dark,
Whose lessons pale and silent lie,
Their lives a spring fragrance shed,
Their names, immortal, ne'er shall die.

CULTIVATION OF THE POTATO.—Dr. F. M. Hexamer of Westchester county, recently read a paper on the potato, before the New York Fruit Growers Club, from which we extract the following:

The principal cultivation of the potato consists in keeping the soil loose and free from weeds. Whatever process effects these points best and cheapest is the best cultivation. As soon as the potato vine appears above ground a furrow should, with a small plough, be ploughed away from the rows as close to the potatoes as possible. About two weeks after this a furrow, with the double mouldboard plough, is opened in the center between every two rows, and repeated every two or three weeks afterward, until the vines cover the ground. If the field is very weedy and the plough does not destroy all the weeds, it is necessary to go over the ground after each ploughing and hoe up the weeds left by the plough, and also uncover vines occasionally covered by the plough.

After the ploughing has been discontinued a very important part of the cultivation commences. In order to obtain a full crop, there should not at any time be a single weed visible in the field, and all the weeds growing after the last ploughing should be pulled by hand. After a rain, when the soil is light and loose, is an excellent time for weeding potatoes, and it should have the preference before any other farm work. The time required is but very little compared with the advantage gained.

The labor saved in digging in a clear field is more than is required to pull the weeds when they are small, not to add the increase of the crop. We have raised large crops without the use of a hoe, by simply ploughing three times and pulling the weeds twice. When potatoes are planted late, so that the ground can be ploughed twice before planting, that is probably the cheapest way to raise the crop.

Had I to make a selection of six varieties to plant for marketing, I'd choose for early: early rose; because it is the earliest and best early variety, having yielded 264 bushels per acre. Early Goodrich, which although, it has not succeeded well in the last wet season, is when grown under favorable conditions of excellent quality, of good size, shape, and color, productive and free from disease. For medium or main crops: Harrisons; because it is the most productive and most profitable table potato in existence; of white skin and flesh, large size, fair quality, and entirely free from disease; yield, 389 bushels per acre. Through the whole extent of our country no potato has given more universal satisfaction than this variety. Lapstone kidney, for its beautiful shape and appearance. It succeeds in soils where the Prince Albert has failed. It is an excellent baking potato, and by many preferred to any other.

For late: white peachblow; because it is, when matured, the most sought-for potato in the market, unequalled by any other variety for its mealiness. The growing of the white peachblow has made many a farmer rich, and favorable seasons will no doubt improve it again, as they have improved other varieties. Gleason; for its hardiness. It is a surer crop than any other potato. Be the season wet or dry, be the land manured with fresh manure or old, or none at all used, the Gleason is sure to grow, if it is planted early enough and cultivated. True its quality is not first-rate when dug, but it improves by keeping, and is quite acceptable if kept till April, when other varieties are no more fit for the table.

Should I choose six varieties, in addition to those characterized, I would name Early Cottage, Dykeman, Garnet Chili, Orono, Calico and Andes.

TSING TEA—Black Dragon Chop.
NATURAL LEAF, perfectly pure (TSING signifies pure) Prepared without any coloring or foreign substance. Cured on Porcelain (not copper) over a slow fire. Delightful flavor, exceedingly powerful and strong. Combines all the healthy virtues of the Tea-plant. Mandarins and higher class of natives use no other.
This celebrated Tea was first introduced here by the ORIENTAL TEA COMPANY, in May, 1868, when the limited quantity imported was rapidly sold, at the high price of $1.20 a pound. It met with such universal approval, and the demand for it was so great, that the Company at once made arrangements to procure a larger supply, upon more favorable terms, for the future;—and they have just received the first invoice for this year, which will be sold at the low price of $1.10 a pound, at which (but little over half what it cost one year ago) it is the cheapest Tea known; and the Company feel that they cannot too highly recommend it to all who drink Tea, as it possesses the flavor and strength, and the soothing, invigorating properties of the Black and Green, without any injurious quality; being chemically pure and free from coloring matter or any foreign mixture, it will suit the tastes and please all who love Tea.
The Tea is put up neatly in pound parcels, 36 pounds in a chest, with the price, $1.10, printed on each package. The wholesale price by the chest is $1.00 a pound, and orders from Traders, Hotel-Keepers, Peddlers, Clubs, or Families, for chests of 36 pounds or more, will be filled at the wholesale price. Parties living in towns where we have agents can always get this Tea from them.
Like all other goods sold by the Oriental Tea Company, this Tea is warranted to give entire satisfaction; and parties ordering can do so with the full assurance that if the whole or any part fails to suit, it may be returned at our expense, and we will refund the money.
SPECIAL NOTICE.—As a matter of convenience to the public, we are arranging with Apothecaries and other Merchants, all over the country, to act as Agents for selling our Teas and Coffees in their locality, at our wholesale prices. Our profits are small, but we give over four-fifths of them to Agents as Commission. We want an Agent in every town in the Union, and will send full particulars, terms, price-lists, &c., upon application by mail from Traders desiring it. AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR!
FOR THE RENOVATION OF THE HAIR.
The Great Desideratum of the Age.
A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy and effectual for preserving the Hair.
Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color and the gloss and freshness of youth.
Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application.
Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous.
Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness.
Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a
HAIR DRESSING,
nothing else can be found so desirable.
Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts longer on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

FOR SALE CHEAP—One 6-Passenger CONCORD COACH. Apply to HENRY R. STODDARD, Vaughan Street.

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

SATURDAY, JUNE 12, 1869.

THE STATE PRINTING of New Hampshire had always been done in Concord, up to 1867, but in that year Mr. John B. Clarke of the Mirror carried it to Manchester, on the plea that it should rotate to different sections of the State,—as we see no reason why it should not. But now, having had it two years, it was held by other parties who accept the general theory of rotation, (meaning in this case, the friends of O. C. Moore of the Nashua Telegraph,) that two years was the proper limit for its possession.

Mr. Clarke, on the other hand, urged that the Concord Statesman and Independent Democrat had it six or seven years each, and that the outlay needed by him, as by any other new appointee, was very heavy, and that three years was not an unreasonable request for him and his successsors out of Concord to ask to be established as the term.

The Statesman publishers, on Tuesday afternoon, placed on the desk of each member of the Legislature, a long printed circular, urging the claims of Asa McFarland, Esq., of that paper, to the position of Printer, — stating that when Mr. Clarke got it, the Independent Democrat lost it by disagreement among their own friends,—and that as it had been tacitly understood that the office was to alternate in terms of two years, between the two Concord Republican papers, and the Ind. Dem. lost it by their own misconduct,—it was now the Statesman's turn again. They also urged that the office should be always located in Concord, and that their paper had never received any contributions or pap as a party organ, while the Ind. and its managers have been well fed, and at the same time frequently had not been loyal to the party.

As their circular stated that their office, under one name or another, had the Printing in 1859 and '60, '61 and '62, and '65 and '66, six years, while Fogg & Co. of the Independent had it the other seven out of the thirteen years since the Republicans came into power in 1854 up to the time of Mr. Clarke's appointment,—it seems to be the general opinion, that the Statesman's chances were injured rather than improved by the publication.

At the Republican Legislative Caucus for nominations, Tuesday evening, the interest all centered in the office of Printer,—as in that of Speaker, on the first similar meeting of the season.—These officers were ballotted for, all the rest on both occasions being nominated by acclamation. The candidates were three,—Asa McFarland of Concord, O. C. Moore of Nashua and John B. Clarke of Manchester,—Frank W. Miller of Portsmouth, who had been presented by his friends as a candidate, withdrawing in favor of Mr. Clarke,—but for which action, the result might have been different.

Strong efforts were made by friends of the rival candidates, to postpone the nominations and also the election of State Printer—but without avail; and on the first ballot Mr. Clark was renominated, receiving, however, but a single vote in excess of the number necessary; Clarke 83, McFarland 42, Moore 37, Frank W. Miller 1. The change of one vote from Clarke to any other candidate, would have defeated the choice, and then the result none can tell. Mr. Clarke was confirmed in the House next day.

The Monitor on Tuesday published a statement of the amounts paid for printing in each year since 1854, viz.:

1854	$5,881 00	1862	$3,930 08
1855	5,367 89	1863	5,033 74
1856	5,281 35	1864	4,745 40
1857	6,511 54	1895	13,720 84
1858	5,422 04	1866	15,331 30
1859	5,863 04	1867	17,792 88
1860	5,320 69	1868	24,919 56
1861	4,510 40

The struggle is between the Concord papers, each for themselves and jealous of the others on the one hand; and the other prominent papers out of Concord, and each for themselves, but not especially jealous or envious of each other, but only of Concord, in this matter.

As the Monitor or Independent publishers saw no chance for their getting the office, they seek to make it valueless,—and so have procured the introduction of a resolution inquiring into the expediency of abolishing the office of State Printer. This was referred to the Com. on retrenchment and reform; but like a good deal of talk under this name elsewhere, the scheme is easily seen through, and will scarcely succeed. It is answered with, if the prices as fixed by law, for the amount of work done, are too high, cut them down; but why not as well put the other State offices or work up at auction, as the Printing?

Mr. Clarke has done the work well and promptly, and the great increase in the bills, is caused by the long Adjutant General's Reports, Provincial Records, Compiled Statutes, &c. The amount will probably be much less in future. Let us have peace!

The News.

A terrible colliery explosion occurred Thursday at Merthyr-Tydvil, in South Wales, by which 120 miners lost their lives.

Belfast, Ireland, has been rioting.

Paris is still politically agitated.

The republicans of Iowa have nominated Gov. Merrill for re-election.

The Cincinnati Base Ball Club won a game with the Lowells on Boston Common, Thursday, 29 to 9. The Lowells were without Lovett, their famous pitcher.

AGAMENTICUS.—Having a desire to be to a certain degree in the fashion, I lately determined to go to a watering-place; but, not caring to follow too closely the example of others, I concluded to neither wait for the regular "season" nor go to the sea-coast, but at once to try what kind of watering-place there was on top of Mount Agamenticus. It's splendid,— the only drawbacks being that you have to carry all the water you want up with you, in a jug,—and the old rogue down at the bottom, who charges you roundly for not taking care of your horse. Then it is cheaper than Rye Beach or Boar's Head, particularly if you can get some one else to pay for the team and furnish the provisions,—as I did. It is just the place for dyspeptics to go to get an appetite, and for others to enjoy a gorge-ous picnic. The necessaries for the trip are few and simple. A strong carriage with good springs; a horse that can haul it and its contents up and down planes inclined forty-five degrees from the horizontal, and walk on top of a common stone wall in perfect confidence, with his eyes shut; a peck of oats for him to eat; bread and butter, cheese, cold ham, boiled tongue, dough-nuts, pickles, sardines, radishes, biscuit, cake, dates, raisins, coffee, sugar, milk, eggs, apples, strawberries, tea and onions for your own consumption; with a junk of ice in a bucket, a milk-can to contain water, and a tin kettle in which to boil it for coffee, are about all that's needed. It is requisite to take exactly twice the quantity of each article which is considered necessary, otherwise there will only be half enough.—But I have omitted from the list the most important item—the ladies. Each gentleman would do well to take three,—two will answer, but I like three better.

The road is by no means so bad as it might be, and gets better all the way from the mountain till you get home.—The directions for reaching the place are simple,—when you come to two or more roads, take the worst one,—that leads to Agamenticus. Arrived at the foot, look after your horse yourself, take the bread, cheese, ham, tongue, apples, onions, ice and can of water, give the sugar, raisins and tea to the ladies to carry, and lead off up the hill. You can't go wrong as long as you keep ascending; and a slight fall adds greatly to the romance of the affair, provided you land in a picturesque attitude near some of the terrified young ladies.—But if you manage so badly as to light on your hands and knees, and lose the water out of the milk-can, you will need the sounds of feminine mirth which you are sure to hear as you go pensively down for more water, to cheer you.

When you reach the top, make a fire and get coffee ready, by which time you and your companions will be abundantly able to eat up everything you've got, no matter how much you take along.—After dinner admire the view, which is extensive and varied. When I was up I was almost as much struck with the prominence in the landscape of Boon Island and Kittery, and an approaching rain-storm, as I was with the hideous magnitude of the charge the old rascal who neglected my horse made for doing the same, after I got down.

The time to start on your return will depend altogether on who takes care of your horse. If you do it yourself, and carry grain with you, you can easily reach Portsmouth in two hours; but if you trust the poor brute to the gentleman who "took care" of mine, (how my heart goes out in love to that venerable old scamp,—I firmly believe man is a regular article of diet with him,) you will have to push behind all the way home, yourself, the ladies assisting when going up the hills, though they will be able to ride down some of the steepest ones. In this case five hours will be occupied in returning.

Overcoats and waterproofs must be taken along, as it always rains when you are coming home,—nobody ever went to Agamenticus yet, that it didn't rain when they were coming home.

PAKEHA.

☞ The new steamer Appledore will begin to run regularly between this city and the Appledore House, at the Shoals, Tuesday, June 15.

☞ According to the new American Year Book, the Receipts from Licenses indicate that there were last year, at least 129,716 retail liquor dealers in the U. S., whose annual sales of liquors may be estimated at $500 each, or $648,580,000, for the year ending June 30, 1868.

☞ Our correspondent at Deerfield says;

The prospect for fruit here is poor. Grass was injured by the winter, and is rather thin; but is now doing well. The three women, who were so severely wounded by the vicious horse, as they were walking from church, on the 30th ult., are gaining; but it is feared Mrs. Swain may never entirely recover.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

A WONDERFUL PHYSICIAN—EXTRAORDINARY CURES WITHOUT MEDICINES.—Dr. Gage, the renowned Naturopathic Physician, whose wonderful cures without medicines or surgery have created such a stir throughout the principal cities of the Union, has taken parlors at the American House, Dover, N. H., from Tuesday, June 1st, until about the 20th.

The Dr. frankly tells the patient whether he considers the case curable, and daily rejects many he considers incurable. He charges nothing for consultation, and his terms for treatment are reasonable.

FOR CATARRH buy full Pint Bottles of Wolcott's ANNIHILATOR, in white wrappers. Sl. Wolcott's Pain Paint is also in white wrappers only. Sold at druggists.

FACTS FOR THE LADIES.—I have a Wheeler & Wilson machine, (No. 289), bought of Mr. Gardiner in 1853, he having used it a year. I have used it constantly, in shirt manufacturing, as well as family sewing, sixteen years. My wife ran it four years, and earned between $700 and $800, besides doing her house work. I have never expended fifty cents on it for repairs. It is, to-day in the best of order, stitching fine linen bosoms nicely. I started manufacturing shirts with this machine, and now have over one hundred of them in use. I have paid at least $3000, for the stitching done by this old machine, and it will do as much as any machine I have.

Home Questions for the Sickly and Debilitated.

Is it worth while to endure penal torture after every meal, when indigestion can be immediately relieved and permanently cured by so agreeable a remedy as HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS?

Does it pay to be compelled by debility and languor to abandon active business, when brain, nerve and muscle can be braced up, and the whole system restored to a healthy condition, by a course of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Why approach the dinner-table daily with a positive disgust for all that is savory and delicious, when a vigorous appetite for even the plainest fare is created by the use of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Is it wise to live in this bright world as if it were a dungeon, gloomy, disconsolate and miserable, when the worst case of hypochondria can be cured in a week by such a pleasant and wholesome exhilarant as HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Can it be possible that any person of bilious habit will run the risk of remittent fever or bilious colic, when he can tone and regulate the great secretive organ with HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Is it not a species of moral insanity for any merchant, farmer, mechanic or traveler, to be without the well known antidote to the effects of poisonous miasma and impure water, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Considering the barrenness and depressing nature of the functional derangements to which woman is subject, is it not tantalizing that any invalid of the fairer sex should hesitate to seek the certain relief afforded in this cordial, by the genial operation of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

These are questions of deeper interest than any of the political dogmas of the day, and those whom they concern are invited to give them something more than a passing thought.

Brandreth's Pills.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Brandreth's Pills have been known and used by your grandfathers and grandmothers. They are always safe, and sure to do you good. They are purely vegetable, and diminish the death principle; some think they increase the principle of life. But in taking out bad humors from the blood, they do make the body lighter, and thus seem to add energy. Many families have used them for upwards of forty years.

They are the best medicine for Colds, for all Bilious Affections, for Fickness about the Head or Heart, and in all Inflammatory or Contagious Diseases they are unrivalled. In all cases in which a purgative is indicated, no medicine yet known can be compared to them. Two hundred physicians have testified that Brandreth's Pills are superior to all other purgatives whatever. Sold by all Druggists. my21

To Owners of Horses.

Thousands of Horses die yearly from Colic. This need not be. Dr. Tobins' Venetian Horse Liniment will positively cure every case, if given when first taken. The cost is only one dollar. Every owner of a Horse should have a bottle in his stable, ready for use. It is warranted superior to anything else for the cure of Cuts, Wind Galls, Swellings, Sore Throat, Sprains, Bruises, Old Sores, &c. This Liniment is now about 30 years old, has been used and approved of for 21 years by the first horsemen in the country. Given to an overdriven horse, it is the best cordial in use. Orders are instantly received from the RACING STABLES of ENGLAND for it.

The celebrated William Woodruff has used and recommended it to his friends, years before his death. Col. P. P. Bush, of the Jerome race course, has given us a certificate stating it to be superior to any other he had used. Hundreds of others can be seen at the Depot, 10 Park Place, N. Y. Sold by the Druggists and Store-keepers. my21

TWO TABLE SPOONFULS of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoctions as usually made.

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the Extract of Sarsaparilla in certain affections, by Benjamin Travers, F.R.S. &c. Speaking of those cases and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states that no remedy is equal to the Extract of Sarsaparilla, its power is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is, in the strictest sense, a tonic with this invaluable attribute, that it is applicable in a state of the system so sunken, and yet so irritable as renders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

The best remedy for the cure of CONSUMPTION, and ALL DISEASES OF THE LUNGS. It causes the phlegm and matter to rise without irritating those delicate organs (the Lungs,) and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops night sweats, and changes all the morbid secretions to a healthy state.

It contains no opium in any form. It is perfectly harmless for the most delicate child. It is everywhere in good demand and gives good satisfaction.

The result of its use is proof of its great value.—Its extraordinary healing properties are experienced by all who use it. Their testimony will be found in a pamphlet, which can be had of the agents where the medicine is for sale. d25

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all that is to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter rises in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivaled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off in an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show that the liver can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless will great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which is properly prepared by Dr. Schenck, assists stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, &c., when they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient starves to death.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a source of inflammation and decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 2 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. myjy4

Magnetic Healing: Dr. Z. N. Morrison.

A LARGE AND FASHIONABLE AUDIENCE assembled at the Temple Thursday evening, notwithstanding the rain, to witness the wondrous performances of the Davenport Brothers, whose astonishing deeds have excited the curiosity of hundreds of thousands who have attended their seances in Europe and America. Commander E. Y. McCauley and Chief Engineer D. B. Macomb of the U. S. Navy were chosen from the audience to examine the dress and persons of the Davenports; and the cabinet in which their performances came off,—the front of which consisted of 3 doors. This was done thoroughly and completely, both gentlemen declaring that they were satisfied that no third person could be in or about the cabinet. The Davenports were then firmly bound by Messrs. McCauley and Macomb, being tied hand and foot, with their hands behind their backs, and then bound to the seats on which they sat facing each other, and to the rail of the cabinet. A tamborine, guitar, violin and bow, two bells, a fan and brass horn were placed in the cabinet and the doors closed. While the committee were closing the doors a hand appeared above the head of one of the brothers and touched one of the committee. The lights being partially turned down, an indescribable Babel of sounds was heard proceeding from the cabinet, and after a while the horn and bell were thrown out of an aperture near the top of the middle door and fell among the audience, the doors flew open and the Brothers were seen sitting bound as at first, with no perceptible change.

The doors were then closed and after four minutes and a half had elapsed were again opened, and the Brothers stepped out unfettered. Re-entering the cabinet they were found in a few minutes more securely bound than before, their feet being guyed so that it seemed impossible for them to move an inch.—Gentlemen in the audience who desired were invited to go upon the stage and examine the knots, &c., and several availed themselves of the privilege. It was found that one of the Brothers was bound so severely that the cord was almost cutting into the flesh. Chief Engineer Macomb then entered the cabinet and sat down between the brothers, and his hands were secured to one of each of theirs. The doors were closed, and the music (?) re-commenced. On being released, Mr. Macomb stated to the audience that he did not perceive any movement of either of the Davenports by which he could detect their agency in any of the manifestations. At his request the instruments had been played upon, raised above and placed upon his head, and his face was stroked by what appeared to be a human hand.

The appearance of a bare arm and hand through the aperture in the cabinet, during the performance, startled the audience perceptibly, and one of the most interesting features was the release of the Davenport Brothers from their bonds after their hands had been filled with flour, no traces of which could be seen on the black suits they wore, while flour was found in their hands as if it had remained there. At one time four hands appeared at the aperture in the cabinet.

At the close of the cabinet performance it was announced by Mr. Fay, the agent, that he would hold a dark seance immediately, and all who wished could purchase tickets for 50 cents. About 200 people remained, and the manifestations that followed were more interesting than the cabinet performance.—One of the Davenport Brothers and Mr. Fay were seated in chairs on the stage and the lights extinguished for a few minutes, after which it was found that they were bound. Their feet were then placed in easy positions on the floor and the places marked with chalk, so that if they moved them it would be seen that they could not replace them in the same positions exactly. The gas was again turned off, rappings were heard and the sound of the violin, &c., and they were found unbound, their feet remaining in the same positions. Mr. Macomb found (when the light was struck) the guitar between his knees, where it had been conveyed from the table, a distance of 12 to 15 feet.

Messrs. A. M. Hoyt and another gentleman were added to the committee on the stage, to discover what they could, and hold the drop curtain (before which the performances came off) so that no assistance should be rendered the performers from that quarter by any confederate behind the curtain. Mr. Fay then sat with his back to the audience, leaning on the desk, with Messrs. Macomb and McCauley seated on each side facing each other. Phosphorus was put upon the instruments, that they might be seen in the dark. The light was turned out and these instruments lying on the desk were played upon, raised at the request of Mr. Macomb, and finally passed about over the stage and audience, and thrown on the floor.

In conclusion, Mr. Fay was bound to a chair, and at the request of Mr. Macomb his coat was taken off in a half-minute, and the light was struck in season to see it descending among the audience, Mr. Fay being in his shirt sleeves. Mr. Macomb's coat was then laid near the desk and at his request was placed upon Mr. Fay in the dark, and when the light was struck it was evident that the coat was rather a tight fit.

The exhibitions were decidedly successful to the Davenports in a financial sense, and the audience were successfully mystified. We find no one who attended who pretends to explain the mystery, except those who believe in the spiritualistic doctrines. The Brothers offered no explanations and those in attendance went home well pleased with the entertainment and inquiring of each other, "How do you suppose they did it?"

How did they?

City Council, Thursday eve'g, June 10.

Board of Aldermen; Messrs. Spinney and Miller were absent.

The ordinance regulating the laying of sidewalks was amended and passed. It provides that all brick sidewalks hereafter laid shall have a granite curb-stone, 8 inches wide and dressed the usual way. All concrete walks shall be of coarse material, 3 inches thick, covered with at least one inch of fine material smoothly laid, and provided with a suitable curb stone. Claim of Mr. Plaisted for damages, caused by the compulsory removal of his apparatus for street sprinkling from Pleasant St. to Brewster St. was referred to Com. on Sts. to report in one week. Petition of M. H. Goodrich and others for repairs of Hill Street was referred to the same Committee.

Mr. Benson was directed to remove his fence on Water St. to the line of the street.

Permission was given to Wm. Ward to put one step to his house on Langdon and McDonough Streets each,—the sidewalk to be raised correspondingly.

The subject of extending the Engine House of S. F. Engine Co. No. 2, was referred to the Committee on Lands and Buildings, to procure plans and estimate of cost.

The subject of widening Sagamore Road was tabled for one week. Adjourned.

☞ The Manchester Union eulogises the Manchester Cornet Band as being celebrated abroad, and states that it is the only New Hampshire Band which is thought worthy of being hired to play at the Peace Jubilee. Rather fast talk that, inasmuch as the Portsmouth Cornet Band has been engaged for weeks to take part in the Jubilee concerts. Our neighbors have a good Band, but Portsmouth people are fully as proud of and well satisfied with their own Cornet Band, and from the numerous calls they have to play in other places we should judge that their fine music is highly appreciated — outside of Manchester, at least.

MASTA'S PULMONIC BALSAM
IS A SPEEDY and certain remedy for Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Influenza, Hooping Cough, Asthma and the various Affections of the Lungs.
☞ The attention of those afflicted with COLDS, COUGHS, and with any disease of the lungs, is directed to this valuable remedy. On account of sudden changes in the weather, colds and coughs are easily taken, and if neglected may lead to disease of the lungs. What is needed under such circumstances is a reliable remedy—speedy in affording relief, and effectual in arresting further progress of the disease.
☞ To arrest the existing irritation of the air-passages and the lungs, speedily and effectually, the seat and cause of cough is an important step gained toward relief and cure in the first stages of the disease. MASTA'S PULMONIC BALSAM possesses this important power, and while it promptly and effectually arrests all existing irritation, and rapidly relieves cough, it renders the lungs further relief by promoting a free discharge of the accumulated mucus in the air-passages, imparting a healthy action and vigor to the chest at the same time.
☞ Those suffering with cough and the first stages of lung disease, will therefore find in this valuable preparation a speedy and decided relief. Even those whose condition is beyond recovery, will derive from its use great benefit as well as comfort. For the class of diseases it is designed to relieve, the general commendation it has received has proved its efficacy beyond question. For the past ten years have been speedily and effectually cured by its timely use while suffering from severe cases, protracted coughs, and from other forms of lung disease. It is prepared from vegetable balsams and the medicinal properties of roots and herbs, with no minerals nor poisonous acids; simple and safe in the material used, it can be taken at any time.
Sold in Portsmouth by J. H. THACHER, and by Druggists and Dealers in medicines throughout the New England States.

Morning Chronicle.

BY REV. I. F. HOLTON, SO. MALDEN, MASS.

VIVET'S PASTORAL THEOLOGY, translated by Dr. Skinner and published by Ivison & Phinney, is not a new book, but one which I have just been looking at for the first time. It has interested me not a little; the more from its being a working out of problems familiar to us by a mind with which we have nothing in common. The coincidences with our conclusions ought to surprise us more than the discrepancies.

THE AGRICULTURIST for May comes in while I am writing. It is wonderful how this monthly quarto has insinuated itself into families. What have I to do with Percheron horses, rotary harrows, or horse pitchforks? And yet if every man that takes the Agriculturist should wish to discontinue it, the entreaties of wives and children would save Mr. Judd a first-class subscription list.—What I, personally, like in it is its science. I wish I knew of a religious paper in which there was that entire absence of scientific sham. It is as high authority on a scientific point as Silliman's Journal. I can say this of no other popular periodical unless it be a chemical one by Mr. Nichols of Boston, and of that I have seen too little to be sure.

PRACTICAL FLORICULTURE, by Peter Henderson, is, like his Gardening for Profit, to which I am so much indebted, a sufficient guide even to those who would raise flowers to sell. He who has two dollars to invest in floriculture does wisely to give one of them for information how to spend the other.—Flowers make the home attractive.—The man that despises them never ought to have a home. He misunderstands, as well as condemns, the work of his Creator.

THE AGRICULTURAL ANNUAL, also issued from the office of the American Agriculturist, contains, besides much miscellaneous matter, chapters on hoes and pigs. It has a synopsis of all our agricultural colleges, and the best article on fish-breeding I have seen. I do not like the words Boviculture, Ovriculture, Pisciculture, nor even the "Troutculture" of the Annual.

CRANDALL'S BUILDING BLOCKS, I owe to a picture in the Agriculturist. The children call them sticking-blocks, because they seem to cling together, like bees, in any shape you put them. I think two hundred pieces might be put into a bridge of a single span, which could yet be lifted by the center. They are an endless amusement, and even little three-year-old couples them into long trains, while the older ones have not yet tried one in five of the buildings figured on the chart that accompanied. One thing more to make home happy.

SAUNDERS' PRIMER is another. I have told you before of the invaluable primer published by the Harpers. It is enough to say of Saunders' that it is almost as good as Willson's. But I am not prepared to say that it is not even better. At any rate, to a child that is learning to read, both of these books is worth a dollar more than either (I think both is singular in that sentence).

ARITHMETICAL EXAMPLES.—I have long wished something that our arithmetics do not furnish. It is a waste of childish time to have forty examples in succession, all done in the same way.—What is needed is to learn how to do the sums. I found nearly what I want yesterday in the Robinson Series of Ivison & Phinney. The book consists of 1495 miscellaneous questions, arranged for five stages of advancement. A perfect arrangement of these five series is the bean ideal. Could that be attained fewer sums would be needed. I am sorry to see in all its tables nothing of the metric system. I see no rules for areas of circles, triangles, spheres and cones, or for the capacity of cones, pyramids and spheres. These, and a good table of specific gravities, should be found in all complete arithmetical works.

KIDDLE'S ASTRONOMY belongs to the same series. I took it because it has the new determinations for the distance of all heavenly bodies except the moon, which is right in the old books. I like the synthetic system pursued by this, much better than the analytic course, now too prevalent. The pupil wants us to plump at the facts,—not our reasons for knowing them. These analytic books make pleasant reading for the adept, but often are miserable text books for the tyro. The mechanical execution of this book is unequalled for a book of its grade. Its typography closely resembles that of the CALCULUS, the ultimate book of the Robinson Series. This series now includes something of all that the human mind yet knows of mathematics. The series has been preparing by Ivison & Phinney for something like a quarter century, and they are yet at work on it. This Calculus, though omitting much that properly comes within its range, is complete in the parts with which it deals. It is beyond the utmost requirements of any public course. But it is not beyond what an academy teacher ought to read, if teaching on year after year in the same humdrum course of algebra, geometry and surveying. It is death on a teacher's mind to be ground off on the upper side like a hone, without growing anywhere else.

BENJAMIN DOW AGAIN.—Every locality has its peculiar individual, whose oddities make him a marked character, and gives him sometimes more than a mere local reputation. Of this class is Benjamin Dow, of Lake Village, social reformer, gospel propounder (of the very newest dispensation); and author of a number of pamphlets which read like a pile of dictionaries in the earthquake regions. Mr. Dow's history is certainly a sad one. As a young man he held a responsible and lucrative position in a mercantile firm in Boston. He afterwards purchased a farm below Laconia village; and soon after family troubles commenced, which culminated in an attempt to take his life, by one David Hull, who struck him over the head with a fragment of a harrow, and threw what he supposed to be the lifeless body into a well. But the cold water revived Dow, and after remaining quiet several hours, he crawled out and made his way to a neighbor's house. Hull got a term in the State Prison for his participation in the affair. Dow had previously been somewhat insane, but this brutal treatment capped the climax. He became more confirmed in his vagaries, and his farm and most of his other property rapidly passed out of his hands. He still retains the impression that the farm is his own, and that Charles Prescott, the present occupant, is an interloper. Acting on this theory, he marched to the pasture on Tuesday, fully armed and equipped, and riddled two of Mr. Prescott's cows with bullets, for the purpose, as he says, of bringing matters to a settlement. He was arrested, and is now held at the jail. What the result will be we can not tell. But it is very evident that Dow is not a responsible person, although he should not be allowed to go around killing persons' cows with impunity.—Lake Village Times.

DEY DOS'T DIE DAT WAY.—The comments of a colored preacher on the text "it is more blessed to give than to receive," are inimitable for point as well as eloquence. "I've known many a church to die, cause it didn't give enough; but I never knowed a church to die 'cause it gave too much. Dey don't die dat way. Brederin, has any of you ever knowed a church to die cause it gave too much? If you did, just let me know: and I'll make a pilgrimage to dat church, and I'll climb by de soft light of de moon to its moss-covered roof, and I'll stand dar and lift my hands to heaven and say, 'Blessed are de dead dat die in de Lord.'"—Congregationalist.

AMERICAN

BUTTON-HOLE, OVERSEAMING, AND

SEWING MACHINE!

H. N. DUNYON, 27 Market Street,

Agent for Portsmouth and vicinity.

The Reasons Why

This is the best Family Machine to Purchase.

1. Because it will do everything that any machine can do—the finest of sewing, hemming, felling, cording, tucking, braiding, binding, gathering, quilting, &c., better than any other machine.

2. Because it can work a beautiful button-hole, making a fine pearl, as by hand. (Not done on any other Sewing Machine.)

3. Because it will work a beautiful eyelet-hole. (No other machine can.)

4. Because it will embroider over the edge, making a neat and beautiful border on any garment. (Not done on any other Machine.)

5. Because it can do "overhand seaming," by which shirts, pillow-cases and the like are sewed "over and over." (No other Machine can do it.)

Caution.

We would hereby warn the Public against alleged advertisements of Button-Hole Attachments, as the AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE is the first and only Button-Hole and Sewing Machine combined in the world.

This Machine is for sale only at our establishment, 27 Market Street, where we cordially invite the Public to Call and Examine for themselves, and be convinced that this is the Best and Cheapest Machine for any family.

N.B.—All Machines are Warrant'd for one year.

Instruction given to the house of purchaser free. Persons buying this Machine never wish to exchange for any other.

AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT!

THE RIGHT THING AT LAST!

BENJAMIN NORTON,

Having been appointed Selling Agent for this City and surrounding towns, of the AVERILL CHEMICAL PAINT COMPANY, is now prepared to sell any quantity, from one pound upward, of

THE BEST PAINT!

ever offered in this city.

It is Durable, Beautiful, Water Proof, Elastic and Economical.

This Paint is all Ready for Immediate Application, and requires no oil, thinning or drying.

It dries with a hard, rich, glossy surface; does not run from seams or nail holes; will not chalk, crack or peel off; covers more surface with the same body, and is cheaper, more lasting, and better in every respect than any other Paint.

Many testimonials from those who have used it in other places of its superiority over other Paints might be given; but I will only invite those of this city and surrounding towns who intend using Paints, to call at the

GROCERY AND PROVISION STORE,

Nos. 16 & 18 Cabot Street,

which is the ONLY PLACE in the City where it has been used, and examine the Paint where it has been applied in ten or twelve different shades, and where they can choose any color they desire for a house, outside or in, and buy from one pound upwards.

In using the Chemical Paint, there is no difficulty in matching any color at any time, as all the shades are numbered, and the same number will always match.

These Paints are manufactured in New York, and Newburgh, Ohio. BENJ. NORTON,

Agent for Chemical Paint Company.

WHAT ADVERTISERS SAY.

The firm, whose letter we print below, gave us in 1867 what was then the largest contract we had ever received for our "LISTS OF 100 LOCAL NEWSPAPERS." The fact that they have yearly renewed the order and increased the amount is the best argument we can give that these "LISTS" are good advertising mediums.

LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL,

MANUFACTURERS OF

Axes, Shovels, Saws, &c.,

No. 118 WATER STREET,

PITTSBURG, PA., Dec. 3, 1868.

MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO.:

Gentlemen:—One year ago with much hesitation we gave your agreement for one of your Lists of One Hundred local papers; a very short time thereafter we unhesitatingly added two more lists of One Hundred papers.

But a short time elapsed before we were inquired of on every side for "Colburn's Patent Rail Jointed Ax," prompting us to that year plan of Lists had reached the very parties to whom we proposed to introduce the new patent Ax.

The year having now nearly gone by, we cannot but believe the system of advertising by "Lists of Local Papers" is just the kind of advertising we want, and we to-day forward you an order still a third one of Lists of One Hundred papers, making the number now altogether four (4) Lists of One Hundred (100) local papers.

The more we talk with newspaper agents and editors' agents the more satisfied we are that the arrangement we have made with you is preferable to any we have ever heard of. The benefit of the Ax itself is, of course, something to do with the great demand for it, but we are satisfied that by your system of advertising "Every Man has accomplished in one year what would have or ought to have taken us five years to accomplish.

Respectfully,

LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL.

The following from the National Publishing Co., of Philadelphia, may be taken as an answer to those who inquire if these "Lists" can really be good advertising mediums.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10, 1868.

MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 40 PARK ROW:

Gentlemen:—It is more than three years since we began advertising in your "Lists of Good Hundred Papers" each, and in that time have given "The List System" its original trial by such a thorough trial, and we can now say it is the cheapest and best general advertising medium we have any knowledge of.

We have tried every possible mode of advertising, have dealt with the parties direct, and through nearly every advertising agency in the country, and have no hesitation in saying that your Lists have paid us 50 per cent better than any other way. Respectfully,

The ancient town of Londonderry celebrated its one hundred and fiftieth anniversary on Thursday with the usual interest.

The Londonderry Celebration, last week, was successful every way; attended by 10,000 people. Chas. H. Bell of Exeter was the orator; Horace Greeley and Senator Patte son made good speeches; and the multitude dined socially.

Concord is on a direct line between Rochester, this State, and Troy, N. Y.

Last week Wednesday, as Mr. Emerson Furber, of Farmington, was engaged in harrowing with a span of horses in an orchard, and while he was riding on the harrow, the hames of the harness hit a limb of a tree and it rebound and hit Mr. Furber on or near his left eye, and as a consequence he will lose sight of that eye.

As five men were at work putting up the roof timbers on a large three-story building at Lake Village, the floor of the third-story suddenly gave way and the whole upper portion of the building fell through with a crash to the second floor. The workmen were all buried in the ruins, but soon extricated. John Leavitt was injured, probably fatally. The remaining workmen were all more or less injured. The building was badly damaged. The accident was caused by want of proper supports for the third story floor.

At Dover, on Monday of last week Wm. Stearns sold over $800 worth of Dry Goods, which is thought to be the largest sale in that line ever made in Dover.

In Hanover, the barns and out buildings of the Closson farm, owned by John Fuller, were burned on Thursday forenoon last week. They were situated about a mile from the College, on the river road to Lyme, and were among the best barns in the county.

A straggling Indian named Dennis Thomas is in jail at Keene, charged with rape of a respectable old lady of near 70 years, in the cemetery at Walpole.

The Lake Village Times says, in relation to the poisoning case, the preliminary examination of Dr. Foster has been postponed to the 19th of July.

Mr. John M. Dame, of Gilford Village, accidentally shot off three of his fingers on Tuesday forenoon. He had a double-barrel gun, one barrel of which he had discharged. He placed his hand over the muzzle, and was attempting to rap the priming into the tube of the loaded barrel, when it discharged with the above result.

Five Hundred Cords of wood, being about one half of a lot of one thousand cords, was burned at Franklin, on Thursday afternoon. It was the property of James Taylor and was uninsured. The fire was occasioned by blasting logs. It was only by great exertions that the entire lot was not consumed.

A double house in Concord was burnt on the 10th, by sparks falling on the roof.—It was occupied by Wm. M. Chase and S. L. Currier.

Isaac Buzzell of Barrington became a suicide by hanging, May 19, in his own house, and was found by his sister. His age was 40, his habits and reputation good, and prospects fair: cause of suicide, unknown.

Eliza B. Eastman of Fisherville, a maiden lady fifty years of age, committed suicide on the night of the 7th. Her bonnet was found on the banks of the Contoocook river and the body recovered. She is supposed to have been insane at the time, as her circumstances were comfortable and no particular cause known. Miss E. has worked in various families at Fisherville, in the capacity of housekeeper, and is well spoken of by them. She leaves five brothers and four sisters, all of whom, with a single exception, live out of the State.

A young man named Millard Osmore, 18 years of age, was burned to death on Friday evening, June 4, at Coffin and Nourse's flannel mills, in Newport. He was reading in bed, and overturned the lamp.

The Atlantic and St. Lawrence Railroad has been declared to be in a shameful condition by a committee of the New Hampshire legislature.

TSING TEA—Black Dragon Chop.
NATURAL LEAF, perfectly pure (TSING signifies pure) Prepared without any coloring or foreign substance. Cured on Porcelain (not copper) over a slow fire. Delightful flavor, decidedly powerful and strong. Combines all the healthy virtues of the Tea-plant. Mandarins and higher class of natives use no other.
This celebrated Tea was first introduced here by the ORIENTAL TEA COMPANY, in May, 1868, when the limited quantity imported was rapidly sold, at the high price of $1.80 a pound. It met with such unqualified approval, and the demand for it from all sections was so great, that the Company at once made arrangements to procure a larger supply, upon more favorable terms, for the future;—and they have just received the first invoice for this year, which will be sold at the low price of $1.10 a pound, at which (but little over half what it cost one year ago) it is the cheapest Tea known; and the Company feel that they cannot too highly recommend it to all who drink Tea, as it possesses the flavor and strength, and the soothing, invigorating properties of both Black and Green, without any injurious quality; being chemically pure and free from coloring matter or any foreign mixture, it will suit the taste and please all who love Tea.
The Tea is put up neatly in pound parcels, 36 pounds in a chest, with the price, $1.10, printed on each package. The wholesale price by the chest is $1.00 a pound, and orders from Traders, Hotel-Keepers, Peddlers, Clubs, or Families, for chests of 36 pounds or more, will be filled at the wholesale price. Parties living in towns where we have agents can always get this Tea from them.
Like all other goods sold by the Oriental Tea Company, this Tea is warranted to give entire satisfaction; and parties receiving it can do so with the full assurance that if the whole or any part fails to suit, it may be returned at our expense, and we will refund the money.
SPECIAL NOTICE.—As a matter of convenience to the public, we are arranging with Apothecaries and other Merchants, all over the country, to act as Agents for selling our Teas and Coffees in their locality, at our warehouse prices. Our profits are small, but we give over four-fifths of them to Agents as Commission. We want an Agent in every town in the Union, and will send full particulars, terms, price-lists, &c., upon application by mail from Traders desiring it. DYSPEPSIA
AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who last attended me to try Dodd's Nervine and Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and still improved, following it up I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Dodd's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being well once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. E. B. LIBBY.

POLLARD'S LIFE OF JEFF DAVIS.—The Life of Jefferson Davis, with the Secret History of the Confederacy,—by Pollard,—is nearly all ready for the press, and will shortly be published, by the National Publishing Co., Philada., We make the following extracts from one of the advanced sheets of the work, —most damaging to the democratic party at the north, because too true.

So equally had parties come to be divided in the North, when the Chicago Convention nominated McClellan for President, that the entire Democratic party was bold enough to declare, in the most deliberate manner, that the war was a "failure." Mr. Davis could not fail to perceive the significance of the Chicago Convention. He had private correspondents in that Convention. Indeed it is well known that during the entire war, Mr. Davis maintained secret communications with many distinguished Northern politicians, generally those of the Democratic party.

The letters and documents he received from them were so numerous that they were kept in a special, private archive, entitled the Presidential Bureau of Correspondence. These confidences were kept from Congress,, and even from his Cabinet; and so anxious was Mr. Davis to conceal them that it is a curious fact that, some days before the surrender of Richmond, he had them conveyed to a secret place, where they are yet safely deposited. In this "under ground" correspondence Mr. Davis had been well informed of the Chicago Convention: that "it meant peace for the North and independence for the South," as a distinguished gentleman of New England wrote him, and that all there was of doubt of the success of the Chicago nominees, depended on the success of his own administration at Richmond!

The News.

France.—The political excitement and agitation in Paris is still very great, and the government is taking extraordinary precautions to prevent a general outbreak. The Emperor, accompanied by the Empress, rode through the Montmartre district Thursday, but the imperial presence did not appear to restore order and quiet. Several editors have been arrested, and a number of journals have been seized by the police.

On Thursday night the agitation continued after midnight, and cavalry paraded through the streets all night. Shortly after midnight the crowd in the Montmartre district broke through the line of police and formed a barricade, but they were dispersed, and pursued in all directions by the troops. Windows were broken and other damage done. The cavalry charged on the crowd several times, and many citizens were wounded, but no one killed. The police have been very active, and it is reported they made nearly six hundred arrests from Thursday midnight to Friday noon.

England.—The debate on the Alabama claims question in the House of Commons has been postponed until the 9th proximo. The recent colliery explosion in Wales is not quite so terrible in its consequences as at first reported, the number of lives lost, now being set at seventy-six.

Catalogue of Tilden Ladies' Seminary for the year ending July 16 1869,—and of the Alumnæ, who have graduated under the same principal, (Prof. Orcutt) with the same course of study, during the last 13 years. The frontispiece is a fine view of the Seminary Building, which is pleasantly located at West Lebanon, N. H. The institution is represented as prosperous and promising. The Catalogue and appendix are contained in a finely executed pamphlet of 32 pages.

—The use of absinthe is said to be increasing to an alarming extent in New York. Many of the bars retail it as they do other liquors. One of the most brilliant writers on the New York press has nearly ruined himself physically and intellectually by the use of this pernicious sedative for only a year and a half.

—Mr. George T. Angell writes from Europe to Our Dumb Animals, that he has not seen in Ireland or Scotland a check-rein on a draft horse, and very seldom on any horse.

Editorial Correspondence.

CONCORD, June 12.

—On Friday a special train over the Northern Railroad, furnished for the purpose by Gov. Stearns and Supt. Todd of that Road,—took the Legislative Committees on Agricultural College, on Agriculture and on State Institutions, with officers of the N. H. State Agr. Society, and various other State officials, and invited friends, to visit Dartmouth College at Hanover. The trip was highly enjoyed by the party, which filled two cars.

Leaving Concord at half past 7, a brisk ride up the beautiful valley of the Connecticut, with the loveliest river-scenery on one hand, and numberless green hills and mountains shutting in the view on the other,—left us at Hanover about half past 10. The imposing front of the Tilden Female Seminary at West Lebanon, and the beauties of White River Junction, (which is a union both of rivers and railroads,) and the numerous bridges, ponds, and sites of unused water-power along the Merrimack, were the chief matters of interest on the route. On this river probably more cotton cloth is made than on any other in the world.

At Hanover, several coaches and big wagons, each with four horses, took the party up, up, up those everlasting hills, to the beautiful plateau whereon stands Hanover and Dartmouth. We pass through a very long bridge over the Connecticut, which cost the town of Hanover $15,000 or more a few years ago, when built in place of one burnt.—It is free, and the only one in this region that is, although this one little town had to build almost the whole of it, as the river is entirely in the State of New Hampshire, instead of the centre of it being the dividing line between the States of N. H. and Vermont, as is usual.

Arriving at the Dartmouth Hotel, opposite the College Grounds, our party was received by President Smith and the Professors, pleasantly and cordially; and after driving about the town, and returning to the hotel, all paid a visit to the new Gymnasium and other buildings.

The Gymnasium is a fine new brick building, of two stories, presented to the College not long since, by Mr. Geo. H. Bissell of New York, a native of Orford and graduate of Dartmouth. It is staunchly built, and well furnished with all the appliances for amusement and developing the muscle—which several of the visitors tested, (but themselves more severely,) in various ways. The institution we doubt not is productive of much good, though Dr. Crosby stated that as a physical measure he preferred the military drill in all our schools. For our own part, for amusement we would not object to the gymnasium, but for exercise, something useful would always seem to be preferable to us.

The lower half of the Gymnasium is occupied entirely by four bowling alleys, the upper by varied fixtures,—and President Smith alluded to the progression of ideas, which formerly forbade but now provides, such harmless amusement. And as we examined this endowed building, and later in the day the other College gifts, and the Tilden Seminary before referred to,—we could but wonder again for the hundredth time, why none of the citizens and natives of old Portsmouth, who have died during the past two centuries, have not bestowed some of the wealth they could not carry with them, to improve and beautify the dear old city.—Is it because they have not thought of it, or what?

A bill is before the Legislature, to incorporate the Agricultural College, and making an appropriation for it; and this visit was to examine into the matter of locating the buildings at Hanover, or elsewhere, permanently? President Smith, and most of the party, favor Hanover, as possessing in Dartmouth, advantages which can never be secured elsewhere in the State. And in his very pleasant remarks he stated the strange fact, that never before, he believed, during the century's existence of Dartmouth, has any committee from the Legislature visited it!

The party dined at the Dartmouth Hotel, and we felt compelled, on a previous visit, a couple of years ago, to complain of the management of the house, (for which our readers will recollect we were threatened with a libel suit,) we now take pleasure in saying that the fare on this occasion was excellent and abundant, and we never desire to set down to a nicer dinner. We made no acquaintance with the landlord, who is the same now as then.

The students and many citizens were gathered on the broad and beautiful College green, to witness the Base Ball match between the Bowdoin and Dartmouth Nines, for which a half-holiday was given. The Bowdoins were much the nearer matched in size as a club, and evidently outplayed the Dartmouths,— whose members were very unequal in size,—from the start.

The afternoon was spent in examining the College buildings and curiosities, and at half-past 4 the wagon and our trains were again put in motion for us. On arriving at W. R. Junction again, and having nearly an hour to spare, our party accepted the invite from the Proprietor of the spacious and elegant Tilden Seminary, standing on a hill on the other side of the river, and ran the trains over, for us to visit the institution. It is an elegant structure of brick, and has recently been enlarged by the addition of a wing at either end. It is beautifully situated, and has upwards of 100 young lady students, who were unanimously voted to be a very charming collection of girls, and all looked healthy and happy. After examining the house and grounds, and giving three hearty cheers for the ladies, who responded with a lively fluttering of handkerchiefs at the windows, we returned across the river and are long were in Concord again—all voting a most agreeable trip, and one which we think will not be without its uses. v.

☞ The Great Jubilee in Boston opens to-morrow—and such an opening the world has never seen or heard. We give programme for first day.

☞ Dr. Helmbold does not depend alone upon advertising for success, but upon the merits of the goods advertised. Articles that have no merit can be sold for a time, until the public discover the cheat, and then away goes the business and the profits. Helmbold is too shrewd a man for that; he does not expend money for anything that is worthless, but procures a first-rate article, and then lets the world know that he has it. It costs a vast amount of money to do this, of course, but it pays in the long run. This prince of advertisers thinks nothing of making contracts for forty or fifty thousand dollars' worth of advertising in one day, and he has frequently paid as much as five thousand dollars cash for the use of a page of one of the city dailies for a single day. It requires a man to have great faith and good judgment to expend money like this. Helmbold has both, and he makes money out of it.

☞ The Boston Trotting Association hold a grand meeting at Mystic Park, Medford, Tuesday to Friday afternoon of this week,—trotting to commence at 2 o'clock each day, and two grand trials of speed each afternoon. Cattle Market at Brighton.

FOR THE WEEK ENDING THURSDAY, JUNE 10.

[Reported for the Boston Journal.]

At market for the current week—Cattle 1307; Sheep and Lambs 4713; Swine 4100; number of Western Cattle 1023; Eastern Cattle 14; Northern Cattle 170. Cattle left over, 1.

Prices Beef Cattle—Extra $12 50 @ $13 00; first quality $12 00 @ $12 25; second quality $11 25 @ $11 75; third quality $10 00 @ $11 00; poorest grade of coarse Oxen, Bulls, &c., $9 00 @ $10 00 ₱ 100 lbs; (the total weight of hides, tallow and dressed beef.) Hides—Brighton Hides 10c ₱ lb; Country Hides 9½ @ 10c ₱ lb.

Brighton Tallow 8 @ 8½c per lb; Country Tallow 7 @ 7½ ₱ lb.

Wool Skins $1 50 @ $2 25 each; Lamb Skins 50c; sheared Skins 25c each; Calf Skins 18 @ 22c ₱ lb.

The supply for the week was not so large as that of last, and the quality was not so good. Prices upon the best grades of Cattle were from 25 @ 50c ₱ cwt higher, but upon the poorer grades the poorer qualities there was no material change. The trade has been active. Many of the best lots of Cattle were taken in advance of market. There were few very nice Cattle sold as high as 13½c ₱ lb, but most of the sales ranged from 11½ @ 13c ₱ lb.—There were but few of the poorest grades of Cattle in market. There were a few Eastern Cattle in market, but they were held at higher prices than any Cattle have been sold for this week.

Store Cattle—Yearlings $18 @ $30; two year olds $30 to $45; three year olds $45 @ $65 ₱ head. There are but few Stores brought to market during the Summer months. Most of the Small Cattle that are in a fair condition are sold for Beef.

Working Oxen—The supply is light and there is not much call for them. A few pairs is all that the market requires. We quote sales at $190, $215, $250 @ $285 ₱ pair.

Milch Cows—Prices, extra $85 @ $115; ordinary $50 @ $80; Store Cows $35 @ 50 ₱ head.—Most of the Cows in market are of an ordinary grade. There was a fair supply in market. Prices for Milch Cows depend a great deal upon the fancy of the purchaser.

Sheep and Lambs—The larger portion of Sheep and Lambs in market were from the West, and were either owned by the butchers or taken at a commission. There were but few sales made.—Northern Sheep sold at from 4 @ 9c ₱ lb, and from $2 50 @ $4 50 ₱ head; extra $4 50 @ $9 ₱ head.

Swine—Store Pigs wholesale 12 @ 16c ₱ lb; retail 13 @ 20c ₱ lb. Fat Hogs—$300 at market; prices 10 @ 10½c ₱ lb. The trade for Store Pigs is good, and good as it has been for several weeks past, and there was not so large a supply in market.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

The best remedy for the cure of CONSUMPTION, and ALL DISEASES OF THE LUNGS. It contains no phlegm and matter to rise without irritating those delicate organs (the Lungs,) and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops night sweats, and changes all the morbid secretions to a healthy state.

It contains no opium in any form. It is perfectly harmless for the most delicate child. It is everywhere in good demand and gives good satisfaction.

The result of its use is proof of its great value.—Its extraordinary healing properties are experienced by all who use it. Their testimony will be found in a pamphlet, which can be had of the agent where the medicine is for sale. d25

Home Questions for the Sickly and Debilitated.

Is it worth while to endure penal torture after every meal, when indigestion can be immediately relieved and permanently cured by so agreeable a remedy as HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS?

Does it pay to be compelled by debility and languor to abandon active business, when brain, nerve and muscle can be braced up, and the whole system restored to a healthy condition, by a course of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Why approach the dinner-table daily with a positive disgust for all that is savory and delicious, when a vigorous appetite for even the plainest food is created by the use of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Is it wise to live in this bright world as if it were a dungeon, gloomy, disconsolate and miserable, when the worst case of hypochondria can be cured in a week by such a pleasant and wholesome exhilarant as HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Can it be possible that any person of bilious habit will run the risk of remittent fever or bilious colic, when he can tone and regulate the great secretive organ with HOSTETTER'S BITTERS? Is it not a species of moral insanity for any merchant, farmer, mechanic or traveler, to be without the best known antidote to the effects of poisonous malaria and impure water, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Considering the harrassing and depressing nature of the functional derangements to which woman is subject, is it not astonishing that any invalid of the feebler sex should hesitate to seek the certain relief afforded in such cases, by the genial operation of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

These are questions of deeper interest than any of the political dogmas of the day, and those whom they concern are invited to give them something more than a passing thought.

Brandreth's Pills.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Brandreth's Pills have been known and used by your grandfathers and grandmothers. They are always safe, and sure to do you good. They are purely vegetable, and diminish the death principle; some think they increase the principle of life. But in taking out bad humors from the blood, they do make the body lighter, and thus seem to add energy. Many families have used them for upwards of forty years.

They are the best medicine for Colds, for all Bilious Affections, for Fullness about the Head or Heart, and in all Cutaneous and Contagious Diseases they have no superior. In all cases in which a purgative is indicated, no medicine yet known can be compared to them. Two hundred physicians have certified that Brandreth's Pills are superior to all other purgatives whatever. Sold by all Druggists. my21

To Owners of Horses.

Thousands of Horses die yearly from Colic. This need not be. Dr. Tobias' Venetian Horse Liniment will positively cure every case, if given when first taken. The cost is only one dollar. Every owner of a Horse should have a bottle in his stable, ready for use. It is warranted superior to anything else for the cure of Cuts, Wind Galls, Swellings, Sore Throat, Sprains, Bruises, Old Sores, &c. This Liniment is no new remedy. It has been used and approved of for 21 years by the first horsemen in the country. Given to an overdriven horse, it acts like magic. Orders are constantly received from the RACING STABLES of ENGLAND for it.

The celebrated Hiram Woodruff used and recommended it to his friends, years before his death. Col. P. P. Bush, of the Jerome race course, has given me a certificate stating it to be superior to any other he had used. Hundreds of others can be seen at the Depot, 10 Park Place, N. Y. Sold by the Druggists and Store-keepers. my21

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Manhood.

IN the young and rising generation the vegetative powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and decline of form, show the impossibility of application to mental effort, show its baneful influence.—It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst moves, regardless of the ever-changing diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwards upon themselves.

If the patient be a female, the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety, as the first symptom in which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and vivifying the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it fed on; the energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for of value; Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more distressing to our patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread for Fear of Themselves; no Repose of Manner, no Earnestness, no Speculation, but a hurried Transition from one question to another.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on—which this medicine invariably removes—soon follow Loss of Power, Fatuity, and Epileptic Fits, in one of which the patient may expire.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this and result occurred to two patients; reason had for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample testimony to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibition appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite devoid of expression. Mirth nor Grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur it is rarely articulate.

"With woeful measures wan Despair
Low sullen sounds his grief beguiled."

Whilst we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences. HOPKINS'S HEALTH RESTORATIVE FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU. There is no tonic like it. It is an anchor of hope to the surgeon and patient, and this is the testimony of all who have used or administered it.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, the tight cough, which makes it tire a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be used at the same time. Clean the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing the obstructions of the liver, gall and gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the liver and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach throw out the acid gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive apparatus, gorging up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Cancer, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

When a patient has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, adhesions, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases we can not be cured. It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood. The Pulmonic Syrup is the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to weary for food, digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow fat, the lungs commence healing, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely for all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 226 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption. All physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 to 3. my12

From the Journal.

THE FAIRY OPERA, on Tuesday evening, at the Temple, was a charming entertainment, warmly received by a full, fashionable and appreciative audience. It was a scene of beauty which haunted me in pleasant dreams all the night long. Miss Annie Davis, a lassie of seventeen summers, sustained the very interesting part of Laila, with native ability in representing the character assigned to her. Her solos were given with sweetness of voice and precision of movement. Miss Alice Swasey, of scarcely thirteen summers, Queen of the Fairies, admirably enacted and sang the important parts assigned to her, showing native talent and modesty. Both were elegantly dressed, wearing crowns of dazzling beauty. The mountain maidens all performed their several parts with much accuracy of time and tune, appearing very interesting throughout the exercises. Mr. Angelo Beck, from Boston, played the piano occasionally with admirable skill. The Mocking Bird, in particular, with his own peculiar variations, brought upon his head storms of applause. Mr. Moses, the teacher of the young ladies and painter of the two beautiful back scenes, accompanied the voices with the piano, and conducted the whole with calm dignity and precision. Never have we attended a concert room where more quiet interest and real enjoyment was evinced. In fine, we believe this (as we understand) the first presentation here of Stratton's opera of Laila, is a complete success, and only wonder that it was not given more than one night.

RIZZIO.

☞ From the new cottages of Messrs. Straw of Manchester, and Downing and Walker of Concord, on Locke's Neck, Rye Beach, no less than 11 lights can generally be seen, although two of these, most distant, are not visible at high water. This Neck we believe is the most seaward point of Rye, and the nearest to the Shoals, and is a charming position for summering. We learn that Capt. Wm. Walker, who was an old stager, is to run a coach between Rye Beach and Greenland Depot this season.

LIFE INSURANCE.—The State Commissioners report 34 or more foreign Life Insurance Co.'s doing business in New Hampshire—and the amount of premiums reported received last year is $549,162.50, while the losses paid here foot up only $493,146.01. In round numbers, then, our citizens invested at least half a million dollars in foreign Life Companies last year—and as several of the Co.'s keep no separate record of their business in this State, and of course many residents of the State insure when in other States, no doubt the amount is much larger. What is the reason a New Hampshire Life Ins. Co., could not succeed well?

A CURIOUS CONTRADICTION.—One of our New Hampshire exchanges, calling itself "The ——— Democrat" has two editorials in the paper of June 3, both designed to find fault with the Republican party in general, and with Gen. Grant's administration in particular; and both find fault about the Navy;—but the two items destroy each other. Here is item No. 1:—

Why add the enormous figures of $20,000,000 for a navy, when we are at peace with the world, and hardly a ship on the ocean to protect, if we were not?

And here is item Number 2:—

The Government is disposing of its supernumary war vessels as rapidly as possible. Wonder if England is buying them? So many of them should not be sold as not to have "a new more left of the same sort."

This opposite fault finding may remind the reader of the drunken husband, who as the story goes, went home and beat his wife one night because she sat up for him, and another night because she didn't. And it is a specimen of democratic newspaper growling.

—Prof. Park, of Andover Institution, has gone to Europe to find health.

Rev. Dr. Storrs, of Braintree, Mass., having reached the age of 80, wishes for a colleague, to preach and be the acting pastor of his parish; a very reasonable request, after 50 years of service.

Rev. Moses Gerould, more than 40 years a pastor in Langdon, N. H., has removed to Concord; his eyesight having failed.

—Strawberries are now extraordinarily plenty in New York. Good qualities retail for ten cents a quart, and the average of berries bring only six cents. Several cargoes of Norfolk berries have been dumped into the river.

The Democratic Government of Kentucky is running behind hand financially, and is accused of great extravagance.

OUR CRIMINAL PROCEDURE.—As we have advanced in christian civilization, we have abolished the death-penalty in respect to all crimes but one—murder in the first degree. There is but one step further in advance, when confinement for life in the penitentiary will be substituted, and that is a severer punishment, but is more humane, and affords the culprit time for repentance. In England capital punishment has been abolished within the last half century in respect to a variety of offences, which were not for shedding blood. We notice in the Westminister Review a treatise of a counsellor at law, who says he has had twenty years experience in criminal cases, and contends that in their criminal procedure, especially in cases of murder, the accused ought to be interrogated. They may be, before the coroner's inquest, or on a first examination before a magistrate.

He states that under the English procedure, on the first examination, the testimony of all the witnesses is reduced to writing in the form of depositions, and after a bill of indictment has been found, on the trial before the Jury, the Depositions are delivered to the Court, which may be examined by the attorney for the prosecution, and the respondent's counsel, and that there is but little opportunity for introducing more evidence. It seems to us that in the trial of criminal cases, in that particular, there is a great defect in the English procedure. We agree with the author, who has had long experience, that there ought to be a right to put questions to the accused and receive his answer, especially when his life is at stake. Under our practice, when the accused is put upon his trial before the petit Jury, his mouth is sealed. The learned counsellor, says, "It is difficult to see why the accused should not be interrogated, and why there should be any scruple about convicting a murderer out of his own mouth. The prejudice against such a practice no doubt arises from what we see of the way in which it is carried on in foreign courts!"

Under the French and other foreign systems, the accused is interrogated. Under our Constitution, the accused is not required to answer such questions as would criminate himself. But if examinable, he might answer such questions as would lead to proof in his innocence. For this privilege the author assigns many weighty reasons. His answers might lead to further investigation, and sometimes to a postponement of the trial to get more evidence. Why should a defendant in civil cases be allowed to testify, and the lips of the accused in criminal cases be closed?

In cases of murder, the evidence is, generally, circumstantial, and if any doubt remains, it should be for the benefit of the prisoner. The records of the English, as well as American jurisprudence, show that many innocent persons have been convicted, and executed; while still more of the guilty escape punishment, partly for the want of a more perfect system. A JURIST.

—It is claimed by a Florentine professor that somnambulism may be cured by simply winding a copper wire, slender and flexible, around the leg of the patient, leaving an end long enough to touch the ground. The theory is that the wire conducts away the electricity of the body.

The police board at Washington have passed an order that hereafter no member of the police force of the District shall make any internal use of intoxicating liquor without a written order of the proper medical officers of the force, under pain of dismissal.

—Asa Sanderson, for many years principal of Essex Academy, Vt., has been detected in a series of forgeries for various amounts, and taken leg bail for Canada. There is suspicion that he caused the burning of Essex Academy, at the close of the winter term.

—An Englishman was recently sentenced to three months' imprisonment for killing a dog that frightened his horse.

Morning Chronicle.

Editorial Correspondence.

CONCORD, June 12.

On Thursday afternoon, at close of business, Prof. Stone, of the Hartford Deaf Mute Asylum, gave a short lecture, and exhibition of a few pupils from the institution. The exhibition was novel, and his remarks on the subject quite interesting, — and all must have in some measure appreciated the blessing it must be, to children incapable of gaining ideas in the usual way, to have open to their blank minds this special system of education and christianization.

Dr. Stone stated that of the 1800 pupils who have been in the Hartford Asylum, about 180, or ten per cent, have been from New Hampshire; and that there are 60 or more deaf mutes now in this State, of whom only 13 are at the Institute, because of lack of appropriation by the State. The usual appropriation annually is $2500.

He also said that deafness, even partial, is usually hopeless of cure, notwithstanding all pretences to the contrary; and that of the deaf youth, about one-half are born so, and the other half become so by accident or disease.

The education of the blind is very difficult, as they have no language naturally except that of signs, and of course this must be very limited.—Nearly all mutes have perfect organs of speech, and fail to talk solely because they have no conception of sound. Of course they can gain no knowledge or appreciation of music or other sounds—but deaf children at play will laugh, or in pain or terror will scream, groan or cry,—these being natural and not acquired language. Of the half-dozen pupils shown, three were children from this State, and all appeared happy and well cared for.

—We had the pleasure of attending a chorus Concert on Thursday evening, under direction of Mr. Geo. Jackman—the singers being those who will attend the Boston Jubilee. The choir numbered seventy or more, and had the good sense to select their soloists from their own number, and not send for professional singers to win all the glory and absorb all the money. Mrs. Shepard of Holderness played the piano splendidly, and Mrs. Hosmer of Concord won great applause as chief soloist. Miss Moore, and Messrs. Ingalls and Donohoe, also did well in parts.

The concert was grand, and besides the Jubilee music, included lighter pieces for variety. The great fault was lack of promptness, not in performance, but in putting the pieces on,—so that it was fully half past 10 at the close of the entertainment. A part of this delay was caused by the repeated and determined encores of Mrs. Shepard, who is a great favorite wherever she goes, and probably the most brilliant pianist in the State; and of Mrs. Hosmer, whom we found a very charming vocalist.—But we never saw so much delay between pieces before.

The attendance was not large,—not nearly as great as at the concert we attended here last week in the same hall, by the Blood(y) good troupe of Eph Horn and Company. Both entertainments were fine of their kind, but while we enjoy a good minstrel concert, we cannot understand how anybody who desires advancement in home music, can fail to patronize a concert so creditable as this. The price did not keep many away — although the cheapness might a few—for tickets were put at the ridiculously low rate of 25 cents. F.

PLUCK.—Nothing wins the esteem of a true American quicker than an exhibition of out and out pluck, such as has been manifested by the Harvard boys in challenging the Oxford and Cambridge boat crews to row on their own course and in their own style of rowing.

And if we want proof that the action of the Harvards is heartily endorsed, we have it in the American courtesies tendered the men, when they shall begin their journey to "Merry England. Mr. James Fiske, Jr. offers them a free" passage to and from New York in his steamboats; Mr. Stetson places the Astor House at their disposal while they are in New York; the Inman Line take them over at half price, and while in England they will be put through by the resident Americans. The London Rowing Club have also placed their boat house and club room at their disposal, and elected them honorary members of the club, while at the same time, Mr. Jerome, who will be in London with his yacht, has offered them the use of the same while he remains there. Thus it will be seen that "Our Boys" will be in the receipt of courtesies on all sides, and all because they have pluckily resolved to contend on English waters for the International University Championship.—Nat. Chron.

☞ An officer direct from the Plains says that the immediate cause of the late Indian troubles in Kansas was the firing upon a squaw by some white settlers. Eleven white persons are known to have been killed in retaliation for this outrage.

Those "white settlers" must have been drunken men or Ku-Klux.—Sober men, in their senses, would not shoot at a woman, whether red, white or black.

—To refute General Butler's ridicule of his mummy statements, General Kilpatrick has purchased at Lima a fine specimen mummy, which will be fowarded to the Smithsonian Institution by the next steamer. He says he will send a whole graveyard of them if any one will pay the expenses.

Mr. Edward E. Parker, a member of the senior class of Dartmouth College, has been elected to deliver the centennial poem on class day, July 20.

The Ladies' Monumental Society of Rindge has procured four memorial tablets, inscribed with the names of thirty-four soldiers from that town who died in service during the rebellion; and placed in the Town Hall.

The seventh annual convention of the Grand Council of the Royal and Select Masters of the State was held at Concord, Most Illustrious Grand Master John R. Holbrook of Portsmouth in the chair. After the transaction of general business, the officers for the ensuing year were chosen, Thomas T. Sanborn of Concord being elected Most Illustrious Grand Master. All of the subordinate councils were represented.

A new Freewill Baptist Church (not a meeting-house,) has been formed in South Kingston, and Mr. John B. Merrill is ordained pastor.

Jared M. Davis, who failed to appear at the last term of the District Court, was arrested and taken to Concord on Tuesday. He is charged with robbing mails.

The New Hampshire Historical Society held its forty-seventh annual meeting in Concord. Hon. Charles H. Bell of Exeter was re-elected president of the society.

At the annual meeting of the N. H. Historical Society, in Concord, last week, a Memoir of the late Hon. Chandler E. Potter was read by Rev. Dr. Bouton, and also a Memoir of the late C. W. Brewster, Esq., by Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett.

The Dover Gazette says that J. L. Jackson of that city has disposed of his splendid mare, "Lady Allen," to a gentleman named Hollister of Chicago, for the nice little sum of $1500.

At Dresden, Me., Thursday night, a robber entered a store and loaded $500 worth of goods into a wagon, but was disturbed and fled, leaving goods and team behind.

PROPOSALS!

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
BUREAU OF YARDS AND DOCKS, 14th May, 1869.

Sealed Proposals for each class, separately indorsed, "Proposals for Class No. (name the class,) for the Navy Yard at (name the yard)" will be received at this Office until the 12th of June next, at 3 o'clock P. M., and the Opening of the Bids will be commenced at 10 o'clock A. M., on the following Monday, (June 14th,) for furnishing and delivering at the several Navy Yards named, the Materials and Articles embraced in Printed Schedules, which, with the form of offer and guarantee, will be furnished on application, and sent by mail, if so requested, to persons desiring to offer to contract for any or all of the classes named therein, by the commandants of the several Navy Yards, for the Yards under their command, or by the Paymaster nearest thereto, or by the Bureau for any or all of the Yards.

To prevent confusion and mistakes in sealing the offers, no bid will be received which contains classes for more than one yard in one envelope; nor any bid which is not perfect and complete in itself according to the form of offer and guarantee; nor each individual of a firm must sign the bid and contract.

Bidders are referred to the printed instructions, which will be furnished with the schedules, and they are hereby cautioned and particularly notified that their offers should be made on the printed forms prescribed by the Bureau, and be mailed in time to reach their destination before the time expires for receiving them; no bid will be considered which shall not be received after the period stated, and no allowance will be made for failures of the mail. All offers must be accompanied by the bidder's license, or a certified copy thereof, and the bidder must state distinctly at what Paymaster's office he desires all his bills to be paid.

To guard against offers being opened before the time appointed, bidders are requested to use the printed envelopes, furnished by the Bureau, endorsed thus:—"Proposals for classes Nos. (name the classes) for the Navy Yard at (name the yard)" "To the Chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks, Navy Department, Washington, D. C."

The certificate to the guarantor's responsibility must be signed by the Assessor of Internal Revenue for the district in which they reside.

The schedule will state the times within which articles will be required to be delivered. If any articles are named in the schedule which are not known to be in common and general use, the bidders will ascertain promptly whether such articles can be procured; and if they cannot be readily obtained, the fact must be reported to the Bureau at once, before bids shall be received.

The bidder must sign the contract, and their responsibility be certified to by the Assessor of Internal Revenue for the district in which they reside.

All offers not made in strict conformity with the instructions accompanying the schedules will, at the option of the Bureau, be rejected.

The classes of this Bureau are numbered as follows:

Class No. 1, Bricks; No. 2, Stone; No. 3, Yellow Pine Lumber; No. 4, Yellow Pine Lumber No. 5, Oak and Hard wood; No. 6, White Pine, Spruce, Juniper and Cypress; No. 7, Lime, Hair and Plaster; No. 8, Cement; No. 9, Gravel and Sand; No. 9½, Moulding and Firesand and Fireclay; No. 10, Slate; No. 11, Iron, Iron Spikes and Nails; No. 12, Steel; No. 13, Pig Iron; No. 14, Files; No. 15, Paints, Oils and Glass; No. 16, Ship Chandlery; No. 17, Hardware; No. 18, Stationery; No. 20, Hay and Straw; No. 21, Provender; No. 22, Charcoal; No. 23, Bedding, Packing and Hose; No. 24, Sperm and Lubricating Oils; No. 25, Iron Work, Piping, &c.; No. 26, Augers; No. 31, Copper and Composition Nails; No. 32, Machinery and Tools.

WHAT ADVERTISERS SAY.
The firm, whose letter we print below, gave us in 1867 what was then the largest contract we had ever received for our "LISTS OF 100 LOCAL NEWSPAPERS." The fact that they this year renew the order and increase the amount is the best argument we can give that these "LISTS" are good advertising mediums.
LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL,
MANUFACTURERS OF
Axes, Shovels, Saws, &c.,
No. 118 WATER STREET,
PITTSBURG, PA., Dec. 5, 1868.
MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO.:
Gentlemen:—One year ago with much hesitation we gave you an order amounting to one of your Lists of One Hundred local papers; a very short time thereafter we unhesitatingly added two more Lists of One Hundred papers.
But a short time elapsed before we were inquired of on every side for "Colburn's Patent Red Jacket Ax," proving to us that your plan of Lists can be procured that very much for which we wanted to introduce the new patent Ax.
The year having now nearly gone by, we cannot but believe your system of advertising by "Lists of Local Papers" is just the kind of advertising we want, and we to-day forward you an order still adding three Lists of One Hundred papers, making the number now altogether four (4) Lists of One Hundred (100) local papers.
The more we talk with other agents and editors' agents the more satisfied we are that the arrangement we have made with you is preferable to any we have ever heard of. The merit of the Ax itself has, of course, something, but we attribute great demand for it, but we are satisfied that by your system of advertising by "Lists" we have accomplished in one year what would have ordinarily taken us five years to accomplish.
Resp'ctfully,
LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL.
The following from the National Publishing Co., of Philadelphia, may be taken as an answer to those who inquire if these "Lists" can really be good advertising mediums.

J. R. JONES, President.
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10, 1868.
MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 40 PARK ROW:
Gentlemen:—It is more than three years since we began advertising in your "Lists of One Hundred Papers" and we feel that time have given "The List System," as originated by you, a thorough trial, of we can now say it is the cheapest and best general advertising medium we have any knowledge of.
We have tried every possible mode of advertising, having dealt with the press direct, and thro' nearly every advertising agency in the country, and have no hesitation in saying that your Lists have paid us 50 per cent. better than any other way. Respectfully,

No message has been sent to the Legislature of this State for years, which has been so generally and cordially commended in all quarters and by all parties as that of Governor Stearns.

A new arrangement in the hours of session at the Dover High School commenced last Tuesday. Half past eight and half past one o'clock will be the opening and closing hours of a one-session experiment, with two recesses, during the remainder of the term.

A Normal Music School, will be held at City Hall, Dover, to commence Monday, July 12, and continue six weeks, under the instruction of W. O. Perkins, of Boston, assisted by Miss C. A. Brackett of Boston, Mr. J. E. Perkins, Mr. J. P. Cobb, Miss M. Mathews, and Mr. L. P. Whitney. See advertisement.

Edward G. Palmer aged 15, fell into the canal at Manchester, on Friday, as he attempted to jump into a boat, and was drowned.

Bartlett W. Clough, was instantly killed on the 10th, at East Deering, by the fall of a tree in the woods where he was at work.

There is a litter of fourteen hound puppies, all of one color, in Manchester.

Chas. Treadwell, a young man employed on the Suncook railroad, fell from an upper window in a boarding house at Suncook, Friday night, and was severely injured, perhaps fatally.

At Berlin Falls on the 3d inst., the saw mill of Daniel Green was wholly destroyed by fire, together with a large amount of rough and manufactured lumber. At the time of the fire the mill was running by steam, and the fire is supposed to have originated from the engine. Loss $10,000; no insurance.

We learn from the Peterborough Transcript that a barn near Dublin Pond, owned by William Phillips, was destroyed by fire on the night of the 30th ult., together with all its contents, consisting of a valuable horse, two cows, two calves, and a quantity of farming tools and hay. Loss, $600; no insurance. The fire is attributed to an incendiary.

While George Miller, foreman in the tannery at Enfield, was trying to regulate the water gauge to a steam boiler, one day last week, it suddenly blew out, and he was severely scalded by hot water and steam. He has now recovered so as to be about.

New Publications.

Peterson's Ladies' National Magazine, for July, has a fine engraving of the Romance of a Boarding School, with a story to match;—and other attractions.

The Bride's Fate, by Mrs. Emma D. E. N. Southworth, a sequel to "The Changed Brides," is in press and will be published in a few days by T. B. Peterson & Brothers, Philadelphia. It will command a very large sale, as it is fully equal to "The Changed Brides," "Fair Play," and "How He Won Her," which have proved to be three of the best read novels ever published, and which are having unprecedented sales, for Mrs. Southworth is, beyond all doubt, the popular female novelist of this day. It will be issued in a large duodecimo volume of over five hundred pages, in uniform style with the others, and sold at the low price of $1.75 in cloth, or $1.50 in paper cover.

A LARGE FAMILY.—Died in Barnstead, May 4th, 1869, Phebe A. Pendergast, aged 64 years, 7 months; in Tuftonborough, May 20th, 1869, John Piper, aged 85 years, 8 months; in Wolfeborough, May 30th, 1869, Nancy Foss, aged 74 years, 6 months.

The above were of a family of 21 children of John Piper, late of Tuftonborough, N. H., who was a soldier of the Revolution. He entered the army at the age of sixteen, and served till the close of the war. He died in 1830, aged 70; his first wife in 1803; aged 41; the second in 1842, aged 64. The children of each were nearly equal in number.

Seven of the children are now living, of course all past middle age. Of the 14 who have died, the youngest was aged 18, the next 30; and all the rest much older.

—Henry Clay Dean is suggested as democratic candidate for Governor of Iowa.

TSING TEA—Black Dragon Chop.
NATURAL LEAF, perfectly pure (TSING signifies pure). Prepared without Poisonous coloring or foreign substances. Cured on Porcelain and copper lover a slow fire. Delightful flavor, exceedingly powerful and strong. Combines all the healthy virtues of the Tea-plant. Mandarins and higher class of natives use no other.
This celebrated Tea was first introduced here by the ORIENTAL TEA COMPANY, in May, 1868, when the limited quantity imported was rapidly sold, at the high price of $1.80 a pound. It met with such unqualified approval, and the demand for it from all sections was so great, that the Company at once made arrangements to procure a larger supply, upon more favorable terms, for the future; and they have just received the first invoice for this year, which will be sold at the low price of $1.10 a pound, at which (but little over half what it cost one year ago) it is the cheapest Tea known; and the Company feel that they cannot too highly recommend it to all who drink Tea, as it possesses the flavor and strength, and the nothing, invigorating properties of both Black and Green, without any injurious quality; being chemically pure and free from coloring matter or any foreign mixture, it will suit the taste and please all who love Tea.
The Tea is put up neatly in pound parcels, 36 pounds in a chest, with the price, $1.10, printed on each package. The wholesale price by the chest is $1.00 a pound, and orders from Traders, Hotel-Keepers, Peddlers, Clubs, or Families, for chests of 36 pounds or more, will be filled at the wholesale price. Parties living in towns where we have agents can always get this Tea from them.
Like all other goods sold by the Oriental Tea Company, this Tea is warranted to give entire satisfaction; and we invite comparison, or with the full assurance that if the whole or any part fails to suit, it may be returned at our expense, and we will refund the money.
SPECIAL NOTICE.—As a matter of convenience to the public, we are arranging with Apothecaries and other Merchants, all over the country, to act as Agents for selling our Teas and Coffees in their locality, at our warehouse prices. Our profits are small, but we give over four-fifths of them to Agents as Commission. We want an Agent in every town in the Union, and will send full particulars, terms, price-lists, &c., upon application by mail from Traders desiring it. DYSPEPSIA
AND LIVER COMPLAINT.
Important Certificate.
Having been afflicted with chronic disease of the digestive organs (described by physicians as enlargement of the liver and inflammation of the stomach), for more than ten years, and suffered what words can never describe, without relief from the most celebrated medical skill that could be consulted, I was induced by the physician who was attending me to try Roubo's Peruvian Bitter Invigorator. He had witnessed its effects, he said, in his own practice, and could recommend it in the highest terms. I had about lost faith in everything; but I followed his advice, procured the medicine. The effect inspired me with hope. I continued its use, and improved, following up the I grew stronger and stronger, and suffered less and less from my troubles. This for some months—until I was relieved and needed it no longer. Roubo's Nervine restored me to complete and sound health; and no language is able to express the gratitude I feel at being well once more. I am thoroughly cured of the horrible suffering that had made ten years of my life most wretched. No one can conceive my joy who has not experienced a like recovery. R. B. MIBBY.

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

TUESDAY, JUNE 15, 1869.

☞ Late Arizona advices received are to the effect that about 300 Indians attacked a train of nine wagons and eighty mules laden with government stores for Camp Grant. After a resistance of ten hours, the teamsters were joined by a small force of soldiers, but the Indians compelled them to abandon the train with a loss of three men killed and three wounded. The loss of the Indians is not known. Soon after capturing the train, the savages set fire to the wagons and destroyed them together with their contents. The property was valued at about $20,000.

A LIVE PAPER.—The Boston Herald, which had about 25 columns of telegraphic reports of the celebration of Memorial Day, had a Supplement on Monday containing 25 columns of reading matter pertaining to the Jubilee.—Under its new management the Herald takes the front rank in New England journalism.

CUBA.—The reports of a heavy engagement at Puerto Padre are confirmed. The Spaniards admit a loss of 60 killed, and estimate that of the Cubans at 200 killed and wounded. The insurgent general Marmal was killed in this battle.

☞ The day of the Jubilee has come—the great bawl opens this Tuesday afternoon, that is, the singing; but the dancing ball is appointed for Thursday evening. The like of either has never been seen in this country; and to visit this modern Coliseum, will be one of the events of a lifetime. We can compare the mighty rendering, (not to say rending) of those grand choruses, to nothing less than the harmony of the spheres.

The Portsmouth Cornet Band returned home from rehearsal in Boston, on Saturday evening; and proceeded Monday morning, to take part in the opening. They are the only musical organization representing Portsmouth at the Jubilee.

NATIONAL PEACE JUBILEE—GRAND BALL AT THE COLISEUM.—The announcement is made in another portion of our columns of another grand enterprise in connection with the Boston Musical Festival. At the solicitation of prominent citizens, who wish to furnish an opportunity for the social as well as artistic entertainment of the visitors to their city, a grand ball will be given in the Coliseum, Thursday evening, June 17, under the general management of a committee of one hundred and fifty gentlemen, including a large number of influential business men and wealthy citizens, whose endorsement is a sufficient guaranty of the high character of the proposed social Festival. The list is given in the amusement advertising column.

The music, which will be a great feature, will be performed by five hundred first-class instrumental performers, under the direction of P. S. Gilmore (certainly the largest orchestra ever heard at any ball on this hemisphere.) During the intermission of dancing a combination of four celebrated military bands, largely augmented, will perform favorite selections, and there will be no intermission in the programme of splendid music given.

The tickets are placed at comparative moderate rates, [$5 securing a ticket admitting a lady and gentleman; extra ladies' tickets may be had at proportionate price. For the convenience of ladies and gentlemen, convenient dressing-rooms will be arranged and fitted up. The ball will open at 9 o'clock with a promenade. Dancing will commence at 9 1-2 o'clock.

Although the details of the ball have been kept almost entirely sub rosa, there is already a general flutter of expectation among the fair sex; and when the unparalleled accommodations that the immense building will furnish for a great number of participants are considered, the enterprise gives promise of being the most magnificent affair of the kind ever undertaken in this country.

Naturally, the throng who will be present will be made up of the large circle of friends of the committee, of the elite among the thousands of visitors from other cities, and distinguished officials, military and civic, from the capital. These festivities will most appropriately close the anniversary which the day signalizes. Tickets may be had at the Music Hall, and at the St. James, Tremont, Parker, Revere and American hotels.

☞ President Grant will arrive at Boston, Wednesday forenoon, at 10 o'clock.

The Merchant Service.—No. XVI.

Some time ago I noticed a communication in a newspaper, commenting upon a tragedy which had just taken place at sea,—an officer stabbed by a sailor, —and advising, as an effectual means of preventing such occurrences, that seamen should be allowed to carry only knives with very short blades, and square across at the point; urging that the sheath-knives commonly worn by American seamen are deadly weapons, with which they are not fit to be trusted. The article itself proved the writer to be quite innocent of any real knowledge of sea life; yet he was right as far as he went, for, though marlinespikes, heavers and capstan-bars are sometimes used for purposes of offence and defence by sailors, the knife is the most usual, because the most convenient and effective weapon. But the writer wholly overlooked a simpler and more effective plan of preventing outrages by seamen, which is, to give them the rights to which they are entitled as men, and thus remove all motive for crime. Sailors do not burn ships nor kill their officers for fun. Nine of every ten such crimes are committed either in revenge for wrongs, in pursuit of liberty, or in defence of life or limb. Oppressed and enslaved by laws which practically deny them protection for life or liberty, seamen are ever ready to break those laws when it can be done with safety; and few of their number attach any disgrace or moral guilt to the act of burning a bad ship to get clear of her,—while very many look upon murder of cruel officers as being much more dangerous than wrong. They fear the law, but do not respect it.—They are steadily crushed by its weight, and seldom supported by it; and so long as they are made to feel that the law recognizes them only to punish, so long will they regard the use of the match and the knife as justifiable means of defence or vengeance.

Few of the great crimes committed by sailors, as mutiny, murder and shipburning, but would be found to have their origin in wrongs committed by their superiors, could such cases be sifted to the bottom. This, so far as the sailor is concerned, is nearly impossible. "The law" must be made terrible, if not just; and evidence to convict of guilt and justify punishment is looked for,—not circumstances to palliate or justify the illegal acts. (I except mutiny cases where homicide has occurred, tried in U. S. Commissioners' courts.) Take any great mutiny for an example, —those at Spithead and the Nore, for instance, where the seamen of the whole British fleet drove their officers on shore, and were prepared to battle to the death for the justice and mercy they had never had accorded them. Terrified and cowed by the outbreak which their own faults had originated, the Admiralty acknowled the sailors' claims to be just, and yielded to them. But, once the mutineers had submitted, examples were required, and up to the yard-arm went the leaders who had demanded justice only, as the British rulers themselves acknowledged.

Take the mutiny of the Hermione frigate. She was proved to have been a very hell of wrong and torture to her crew; but that did not prevent a court martial from hanging more people for the mutiny than were engaged in it,—most of them on no other proof than the unsupported evidence of one man, (the ship's butcher,) the safety of whose own neck depended on his success in convicting others.—Look at the famous mutiny of the Bounty. Those mutineers were hunted down and destroyed; yet her commander, Lieut. Bligh, was an overbearing, tyrannical brute, with the courage and mercy of a bloodhound, and totally unfit to be entrusted with the happiness or lives of others'—as was shown at a later date, when the people of New South Wales mutinied against him as Viceroy, and drove him from power without asking consent from the crown. The colonists were not rubbed out for this offence, however, not being old sailors.—had they been, the hangman would have had a lively time of it for a spell.

But these are old stories, and the ships were all British; yet I have a right to adduce them to support my assertion that cruelty and deprivation of just rights are not regarded as extenuating circumstance when seamen break the law,—our regulations for the government of sailors not recognizing in the least degree the American principles of liberty and justice for all, but, on the contrary, exaggerate the worst features of the British laws, without retaining any of the better ones. The British sailor, if he sticks closely by his country's laws, is protected to a certain extent by them; the American sailor must equally obey the law, but is not protected by it. PAKEHA.

CABLE NEWS.—The political excitement in Paris reached its height on Friday, and on Saturday quiet was nearly restored. The troops prevented any excesses, but were obliged to make numerous arrests.

In England, large meetings of the opponents of the Irish church bill, were held on Saturday in Manchester, Munster and Liverpool. The Times says that the House of Lords must abandon its position on the bill.

In Spain, the Duke of Montpensier has arrived, and his claims to the crown were vigorously urged in the Cortes on Saturday. General Prim has stated that diplomatic relations with Mexico will soon be resumed. A great republican demonstration was made at Cordova on Friday, but it was broken up by the military. The meeting was held for the purpose of protesting against a return to a monarchy. Deputies were present from every southern province. Revolutionary speeches were made.—The Spanish and American flags were entwined, and the people shouted for America and for Gen. Grant. 50,000 persons were present. During the meeting the military and civic guard interfered, creating a panic, during which many women and children were trampled down and several lives were lost.

TWENTY DOLLARS A YEAR is a small sum to pay for a sense of security against loss by fire or theft of those valuables so large a proportion of mankind possess, such as bonds, deeds, mortgages, plate, laces, jewelry, diamonds, &c., and yet that sum will rent a safe in the UNION SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS, 40 State street, Boston, which are as perfect as human ingenuity can devise. Larger safes range from $25 to $100 a year. The managers also receive at low rates, for safe keeping, valuable paintings, rare books, choice works of art, family plate, town records, &c. The Manager, Henry Lee, will furnish circulars with full information.

This was attended with the most intense pain in all parts of the body. Failing to obtain relief from any of the physicians whom she employed from time to time, she was induced to try the PLANTATION BITTERS, and to her surprise and joy they have relieved her, and she is now in good health and flesh. 23

Home Questions for the Sickly and Debilitated.

Is it worth while to endure penal torture after every meal, when indigestion can be immediately relieved and permanently cured by so agreeable a remedy as HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS?

Does it pay to be compelled by debility and languor to abandon active business, when brain, nerve and muscle can be braced up, and the whole system restored to a healthy condition, by a course of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Why approach the dinner-table daily with a positive disgust for all that is savory and delicious, when a vigorous appetite for even the plainest fare is created by the use of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Is it wise to live in this bright world as if it were a dungeon, gloomy, discontented and miserable, when the worst case of hypochondria can be cured in a week by such a pleasant and wholesome exhilarant as HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Can it be possible that any person of bilious habit will run the risk of remittent fever or bilious colic, when he can tone and regulate the great secretive organ with HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Is it not a species of moral insanity for any merchant, farmer, mechanic or traveler, to be without the best known antidote to the effects of poisoned air and impure water, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Considering the harrassing and depressing nature of the functional derangements to which woman is subject, is it not astonishing that any invalid of the feebler sex should hesitate to seek the certain relief afforded in such cases, by the genial operation of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Brandreth's Pills.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Brandreth's Pills have been known and used by your grandfathers and grandmothers. They are always safe, and sure to do you good. They are purely vegetable, and diminish the death principle; some think they increase the principle of life. But in taking out bad humors from the blood, they do make the body lighter, and thus seem to add energy. Many families have used them for upwards of forty years.

They are the best medicine for Colds, for all Bilious Affections, for Fullness about the Head or Heart, and in all Cutaneous and Contagious Diseases they are unrivalled. In all cases in which a purgative is indicated, no medicine yet known can be compared to them. Two hundred physicians have testified that Brandreth's Pills are superior to all other purgatives whatever. Sold by all Druggists. my21

To Owners of Horses.

Thousands of Horses die yearly from Colic. This need not be. Dr. Tobias' Venetian Horse Liniment will positively cure every case, if given when first taken. The cost is only one dollar. Every owner of a Horse should have a bottle in his stable, ready for use. It is warranted superior to anything else for the cure of Cuts, Wind Galls, Swellings, Sore Throat, Sprains, Bruises, Old Sores, &c. This Liniment is no new remedy. It has been used and approved of for 30 years by the first horsemen in the country. Given to an overdriven horse, it acts like magic. Orders are constantly received from the RACING STABLES of ENGLAND for it.

The celebrated Hiram Woodruff used and recommended it to his friends, years before his death. Col. P. P. Bush, of the Jerome race course, has given me a certificate stating it to be superior to any other he had used. Hundreds of others can be seen at the Depot, 10 Park Place, N. Y. Sold by the Druggists and Store-keepers. my21

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

The best remedy for the cure of CONSUMPTION, and ALL DISEASES OF THE LUNGS. It causes the phlegm and matter to rise without irritating those delicate organs (the Lungs,) and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops night sweats, and changes all the morbid secretions to a healthy state.

It contains no opium in any form. It is perfectly harmless for the most delicate child. It is everywhere in good demand and gives good satisfaction.

The result of its use is proof of its great value.—Its extraordinary healing properties are experienced by all who use it. Their testimony will be found in a pamphlet, which can be had of the agents where the medicine is for sale. 425

Dr. Hunt's Aromatic Invigorator

removes from the system the ill effects caused by the excessive use of alcoholic liquors, and effectually destroys the appetite for those stimulants. It gives tone to debilitated mucous surfaces. Effete matter is removed from the system, thereby restoring it to its normal healthful condition. As a medicine, it is quick and effectual, curing the most aggravated cases of Dyspepsia, Kidney Complaints, and all other derangements of the Stomach and Bowels, in a speedy manner.

This elegant preparation has stood the test of years. A wine-glassful before eating will give a good appetite and prevent all suffering from indigestion. Ladies of weak and delicate constitution should take the Invigorator three times a day. A wine-glassful before retiring will insure sweet and refreshing sleep. All the proprietor asks is a trial, and to induce this he has put up the Invigorator in pint bottles at 50 cents,—quarts $1.00. Principal Depot, 45 CENTRAL WHARF, BOSTON. SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivaled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by a healthy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relaxe the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show when the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood, without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much: they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of themselves. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, ulceration of the lungs, or there is a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole system. Nature has to feed the lungs, the stomach or make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease, and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years, and who weighed 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his friends and relatives pronounced him incurable, and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery (nine years ago) he has sinced sinced have kept Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, (see full letters for advice and terms be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

UNFAILING EYE PRESERVERS!

OUR CELEBRATED

Perfected Spectacles and Eye Glasses

Are gaining steadily and certainly a reputation unsurpassed. The readily ascertained superiority they possess over the ordinary Spectacles makes them very popular.

IT IS A FACT

That they render impaired sight clear and distinct; strengthen and preserve the eyes; are very easy and pleasant to wear, and last many years without change being necessary, so that in the end they are the cheapest as well as the best.

REAL ESTATE IN ROCKINGHAM COUNTY. Conveyances for week ending June 12.
(Reported for Chronicle & Gazette.)

PORTSMOUTH.—Saml. Treat & als. to James W. Raitt, for $1912, 3-4 of land and buildings south side of Deer Street.

Wm. A. Hall and als. to Thos. H. Odlon, for $1250. Land and buildings bounded North by Court St., East by Liberty Street.

Wm. Simes to Henry M. Clark. Land and buildings on Islington Street for $6500.

SO. NEWMARKET.—Henry P. Neal to John M. Paul. Land for $100.

NEWMARKET.—Haines Abigail H. F. to Alanson C. Haines. Land for $50.

Martha Folsom and als. to J. G. & E. Bennett. Land and buildings for $900.

STRATHAM.—Abby Barker & al. to Ezra Barker, farm for $3000.

NORTHWOOD.—John G. Mead to Wm. H. Mead. Land for $100.

DEERFIELD.—Stephen F. Fogg to Saml. Lang. Land for $800.

Henry D. Tompkins to Arthur M. Chase. Land and buildings for $750.

LONDONDERRY.—David A. Worthley & als. to Rebecca J. Kimball. Land for $500.

PLAISTOW.—Addison Brickett to Charlotte J. Brickett. Land for $38.

DANVILLE.—Thos. Page to James M. George. Land for $100.

SALEM.—Francis F. Kimball to Wm. G. Crowell. Land for $515.

Mary C. Pettengill to Walter Pettengill, all her Estate for $800.

STONE & MURRAY'S CIRCUS.—This circus, one of the largest and one of strongest in point of talent of any now traveling, will arrive here on Friday morning next, and make a grand parade through our principal streets. The company is a powerful one, comprising the great equestrian John Henry Cooke, Miss Emily Cooke, the splendid English equestrienne; the wonderful acrobats, the Snow Brothers, and Murray and Hutchinson; the comic pantomimists, Barry and Reeves; and the popular clown, Mr. Den Stone, besides the equestrians, gymnasts, tumblers and comedians without number.

ODDS AND ENDS.—One hundred and twenty-nine recruits have enlisted under the banner of W. I. Trafton for service on the 5th of July, and the corps is still enlarging. Mr. Trafton desires all who have mules and ponies not too old to eat, who are willing to contribute to the cause and help out the celebration, which by no means is to be a one-horse affair, to bring them in at 45 Congress Street. They will be carefully fed and recuperated on flour barrel scrapings and sawdust chop, and watered on the exhaust steam from the engine on the premises.

☞ The friends of Mr. J. E. Ayer, (formerly Assistant Teacher at the Boys' High School in this city,) will be glad to learn that he has recently been appointed Professor of the Latin language and literature at the Western University of Pennsylvania. Mr. Ayer's promotion has been very rapid, and his success adds another laurel to his own industry and old Dartmouth his alma mater.

☞ A neat storekeeper on Market Square, thinks the Band Stand is no ornament to the vicinity, and recommends that it be painted or white-washed. If it was cut in two, the sections could easily be removed, and placed out of the way when not in use.

☞ A young son of Mr. Owen Caswell of Newcastle, about a year and a half old, was scalded to death on Saturday by upsetting a pot of boiling coffee into his face, mouth and eyes. His sufferings were terrible, and he lived but a few hours.

☞ We learn that a pair of ear rings which were mailed through the Portsmouth Post Office several months ago by one of our prominent jewellers, and never reached their destination, have come to light through the recent investigations.

EASTERN RAILROAD.—Peace Festival. On Wednesday, June 16, a special train will leave Boston for Portsmouth and Way Stations at half-past 8 o'clock in the Evening, to accommodate those attending the Peace Jubilee.

☞ The New Hampshire Gazette for this week, is now ready for delivery at the Chronicle office. Price 5 cts. per copy—$2. per year. Contains all the Local and other reading from the Daily Chronicle.

☞ For Fourth of July sport, there will be two trots at the Rockingham Trotting Park, near this city, on the afternoon of Monday the 5th, of which, particulars hereafter.

☞ A correspondent says that two-fifths of the stock of the Concord & Portsmouth Railroad being owned in this city, there would seem to be no good reason why Portsmouth should not have one or two Directors in the Board.

☞ Harding & Doane's new schooner, "W. H. Y. Hackett," arrived at this port on Sunday with a six weeks catch of codfish—500 quintals.

☞ Business Meeting and Rehearsal of Portsmouth Philharmonic Society at Mr. Tilton's Music Room, this Tuesday Evening at 8 o'clock.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

EXETER, June 14.

"Are you going to the Jubilee?"—"What day are you going?" "How long are you going to stay?" etc., etc. Such are the queries that are heard on all sides, and have been for the past week. A large number of our Exeter people have made arrangements to visit Boston during the Peace Festival, your correspondent among the number. I never was in Boston on a celebration day, and I expect to return tired and exhausted; but I shall have the immense satisfaction of having attended the Jubilee, and what more could a reasonable person desire?

Apropos of the Jubilee, the latest novelty in the dry goods line, is the "Jubilee calico." Its specialties are small shields, on which are printed the word "Peace," and regular music lines, with the notes of "Hail Columbia," and other patriotic airs. None has been worn here yet, but I learn that these goods have had and are having an immense sale in and around Boston.

Repairs will soon be commenced on the First Congregational Church. Some $2000 will be expended, most of which has already been raised by subscription. One of our most energetic business firms has generously offered to make up any deficiency.

The "Flower Queen" will be produced here next Monday evening, by a select class, under the direction of Mrs. M. E. Packard, our popular soprano, whose experience in the business is sufficient guarantee of the excellence of the entertainment.

The paragraph concerning the ancient grave stone, bearing the date of 1716, has made the rounds of the State newspapers, and here is another one "of the same sort." I visited an old burial-place recently, near the Exeter Gas Works, and the first stone I examined bore the following inscription:

"Here lies ye body of Capt. Jonathan Thing, dec'd Oct'r ye 31st, A. D. 1694."

Close by is the grave of his wife, the head stone showing that she died in August, 1691. There are other stones bearing dates, 1709, 1710, 1711, and one inscribed with the name of Sarah Dudley, "Born Feb. 25, 1666–7; departed this life Jan. 24, 1712–13."

The ladies of the Water Street Baptist Church will give a social entertainment and strawberry festival on the 22d inst. A specialty of the sale of all descriptions of aprons will be one of the features. The object is to procure funds for the erection of a new church.

Yours, H.

AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE, OVERSEAMING, —AND— SEWING MACHINE!

H. N. DUNYON, 27 Market Street, Agent for Portsmouth and vicinity.

The Reasons Why

This is the best Family Machine to Purchase.

1. Because it will do everything that any machine can do—the finest of sewing, hemming, felling, cording, tucking, braiding, binding, gathering, quilting, &c., better than any other machine.
2. Because it can work a beautiful button-hole, making a fine pearl, as by hand. (Not done on any other Sewing Machine.)
3. Because it will work a beautiful eyelet-hole. (No other machine can.)
4. Because it will embroider over the edge, making a neat and beautiful border on any garment. (Not done on any other Machine.)
5. Because it can do "overhand seaming," by which shirts, pillow-cases and the like are sewed "over and over." (No other Machine can do it.)

Caution.

We would hereby warn the Public against alleged advertisements of Button-Hole Attachments, as the AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE is the first and only Button-Hole and Sewing Machine combined in the world.

This Machine is for sale only at our establishment, 27 Market Street, where we cordially invite the Public to Call and Examine for themselves, and be convinced that this is the Best and Cheapest Machine for any family.

N. B.—All Machines are Warranted for one year. Instruction given at the house of purchaser free. Persons buying this Machine never wish to exchange for any other.

HORACE GREELEY IN THE RIOT.

Only a hundred muskets had been brought into the building during the night; but these, by a happy ruse, had been magnified in the estimation of the mob into at least five hundred. They kept the rascals at bay for the night, but were totally insufficient for the regular defence of the building. With even a hundred brave men behind them they could no more have withstood that infuriated crew of five thousand than a feather can withstand a whirlwind. This was fully appreciated by the defenders, and it was determined that if the building should stand over night, to load it up to the muzzle in the morning.

Accordingly, by the following noon, it was a perfect arsenal. The first floor was barricaded with bales of printing paper, and provided with a steam hose, that would have badly "scorched" any intruder; and the second story had at one of the windows a small cannon, loaded with grape and canister, and at the others piles of hand grenades, ready to be hurled upon the rioters. The third story was equally well armed, and in the larger editorial room were a dozen forty-pound shells, with fuses shortened so they would explode on striking the pavement. These, with a brace or more of muskets at every window, and a hundred and fifty determined men, all under command of an experienced army officer, completed the armament of the building.

This arsenal Mr. Greeley entered about noon on the second day of the riot, and making his way to the editorial rooms, he looked curiously about at the warlike preparations. "What are these?" he inquired, inspecting the shells, which were ranged in an irregular semi-circle near one of the front windows.

"Balls of fire and brimstone for those red ragamuffins down there on the sidewalk."

"But I wanted no arms brought into the building."

"Yes, we know; but Col. Adams now has command of the Tribune, and we propose to see this dance out, if it lasts till doomsday."

Without further remark Mr. Greeley went to his work, and all the day was knee-deep in editorials and exchanges.

Meanwhile a noisy mob was in possession of Printing-house Square, and whoever entered or left the building was greeted with yells and curses, and threats of even rougher treatment. Still, a throng of friends kept pouring in and out all the day, and these visitors so impeded Mr. Greeley's work that it was eight o'clock at night before he had finished his last leader. As it grew towards dark one friend after another went to him, urging him to leave for home, and representing the great danger of remaining after sunset. To all his answer was, "I am not quite through; I will go in a few minutes."

At last General Busteed came in from the street, reporting that the crowd, now greatly augmented, were clamoring wildly for "ould Grayley." "It is absolute madness," he added, "for you to stay longer;" but the answer still was, "I am not quite through; I will go in a few minutes."

Eight o'clock at last came, and then Col. Adams and another gentleman sent out for a close carriage, to be brought to the side door, and then going to Mr. Greeley, accosted him somewhat as follows:

"Mr. Greeley, a carriage will be here instantly. We want you to leave the office."

"I'm not quite ready; I will go in a few moments," was again the quiet answer.

"We insist on your going now. A hundred and fifty of us are risking our lives in defending your building, and you have no right to add to our danger."

At this the philosopher slowly rose, and with his peculiar smile, said, "But why order a carriage? I could have gone just as well in a street car."

"You couldn't have got to a car. Look down there, and see the kind of crowd that surrounds the building."

He looked down and saw what might have made a man of even iron nerve turn a little pallid. The infernal regions had been unroofed, and the devils were there, shouting and hooting, and howling, and groaning on the pavement. Such another crew never got together on this or any other planet; and as he looked they shouted, "Come out, ye ould haythen: come out, and we'll teach ye a naygar's as good as a Irishman."

"Well, they are a hard looking set," he said, turning quietly around and drawing on his coat, preparatory to leaving; "where could these fellows have come from?"

He was smuggled into the carriage, the door was closed, and in half an hour he was miles away, in safety.

As all know, the riot lasted two days longer. During every hour of those two days the Tribune office and its editor were in almost hourly danger; but Mr. Greeley came and went as usual and as usual attended to the duties of his position, as if only quiet were reigning over the blood-deluged city; and all this while some of the great dailies were posting him as a politroon; and even a venerable archbishop had the bad taste to publicly brand him as morally and physically a coward!

Whatever may be the facts touching Mr. Greeley's moral or physical courage, he showed upon this occasion an intellectual courage that stood him in good stead, and constituted him in very deed a hero.—EDMUND KIRKE in Packard's Monthly, for June.

—General Canby has decided that one of Andrew Johnson's pardons does not remove political disabilities.

—A vigorous effort is being made in Brazil to secure the abolition of slavery in that country.

THE COAL STRIKE.—The Philadelphia Ledger says the strikers in the coal region have decided on an increase of wages, so that the operators agree to a new basis for regulating wages—namely, a fixed percentage of the price realized for coal. This is more repugnant to operators than the demand for increased pay. They characterize the proposition as a desire on the part of the miners to become partners in the shipping and sale of coal; sooner than which, some operators declare, their mines may remain unworked for a year. The prospect of an early settlement of the difficulties is not promising.

But if these double and twisted Coal Rings, of operators and operatives, do not bring forward their coal in due season and at a fair price.—then let the consumers of coal (a million or two or them) next November petition Congress to reduce the duty on imported coals and woods to a very low rate, immediately.

—The guano on the Chincha Islands is nearly exhausted. In a few months these islands will be deserted, and then all the ships now engaged in the trade will make for the Guanape Islands, five degrees South of the equator. There is a supply of guano at Baker's Island, in the Hawaiian group, estimated at from 250,000 to 2,000,000 tons, and worked by the United States.

OVER THE FENCE.—Chief Justice Chase, in straddling the fence for a better view of the political future, has gone two far and jumped clear over. When loyal men go out to lay flowers on the graves of those who fought their own dead, it will be a good while while after the Chief Justice tenants a grave of his own.—Boston Sunday Times.

—The Ohio Legislature has lately passed a law prohibiting the marriage of first cousins and of girls under sixteen years of age. It also provides that the marriage of a young lady under 21 years of age, without the consent of her parents shall not be valid.

—An English gentleman, having made a rockwork planted with ferns in front of his house, presumed upon the ignorance of callers for alms by posting up this notice:—"Beggars beware! Scolopendriums and Polypodiums are set here!"

—The "collar girls" of Troy, N. Y. about two thousand of whom are on a strike for increased wages, have been receiving only from twelve to twenty five dollars per week.

PROPOSALS!

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
BUREAU OF YARDS AND DOCKS,
Washington, 14th May, 1869.

Sealed Proposals for each class separately indorsed, "Proposals for Class No. (name the class.) for the Navy Yard at (name the yard)," will be received at this Office until 12 o'clock, noon, next, at 3 o'clock P. M., and the Opening of the Bids will be commenced at 10 o'clock A. M., on the following Monday, (June 14th,) for furnishing and delivering at the several Navy Yards named, the Materials and Articles embraced in Printed Schedules, which, with the form of bid and guarantee, will be furnished on application, and sent by mail, if so requested, to persons offering to offer to contract for any or all of the articles required therein, by the commandants of the several Navy Yards, for the Classes for the Yards under their command, or by the Payers for the nearest thereto, or by the Bureau for any or all of the Yards.

To prevent confusion and mistakes in sealing the offers, we bid we be grateful if each bidder shall use for each one form (one paper) for each class, which is not perfect and complete in itself according to the forms offered on application, and each individual offer, a firm name, and not a fictitious one.

Bidders are referred to the printed instructions, which will be furnished with the schedules, and they are hereby cautioned to carefully and fully read that their offers should be made on the printed form prescribed by the Bureau, and be mailed in time to reach their destination before the hour of receiving them; no bid will be considered which shall be received after the period stated, or which shall be received by any other means than the mail. All offers must be accompanied by the bidder's license, or a certificate of copy thereof, and the bidder must state the name of what Paymaster's office he desires all his bills to be paid.

To guar against offers being opened before the time appointed, bidders are requested to use the printed envelopes furnished by the Bureau, endorsed thus: —Proposals for Classes Nos. (name the classes) for the Navy Yard at (name the yard)—"Proposals for Navy Yards and Docks, Navy Department, Washington, D. C."

The certificate to the guarantor's responsibility must be certified to by the Assessor of Internal Revenue for the district in which the bidder resides.

The schedule will state the times within which articles will be required to be delivered. If any articles are required to be of a description which not known to be in common and general use, the bidders will ascertain promptly whether such articles are to be procured in the Navy Yards they contained, the fact must be reported to the Bureau at once, before bids shall be opened.

The bidder's residence, street, and their responsibility be certified to by the Assessor of Internal Revenue for the district in which they reside.

All offers not made in strict conformity with the instructions accompanying the schedules will, at the discretion of the Bureau, be rejected.

The classes of the Bureau are numbered as follows:

Class No. 1, Bricks; No. 2, Stone; No. 3, Yellow Pine Timber; No. 4, Yellow Pine Lumber; No. 5, Oak and Hard wood; No. 6, White Pine, Spruce, Juniper and Cypress; No. 7, Lime, Hair and Plaster; No. 8, Cement; No. 9, Gravel and Sand; No. 10, Moulding and Firewood and Fuel; No. 11, Slate; No. 12, Iron, Iron Spikes and Nails; No. 13, Steel; No. 14, Pig Iron; No. 15, Tiles; No. 16, Paints, Oils and Glass; No. 17, Ship Chandlery; No. 17 Hardware; No. 18, Stationery; No. 20, Hay and Straw; No. 21, Provisions; No. 22, Charcoal; No. 24, Salting, Packing and Hoop; No. 25, Sperm and Lubricating Oils; No. 26, Iron Work, Piling, &c.; No. 26, Augers; No. 27, Copper and Composition Nails; No. 28, Machinery and Tools.

GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., ADVERTISING AGENTS, No. 40 Park Row, N. Y. WHAT ADVERTISERS SAY.

The firm, whose letter we print below, gave us in 1867 what was then the largest contract we had ever received for our "LISTS OF 100 LOCAL NEWSPAPERS." The fact that they still year renew the order and increase the amount in the best argument we can give that these "LISTS" are good advertising mediums.

LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL, MANUFACTURERS OF Axes, Shovels, Saws, &c., No. 118 WATER STREET, PITTSBURG, PA., Dec. 3, 1868.

MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO.:

Gentlemen—One year ago with much hesitation we gave you our business, and inclosed the Lists of One Hundred local papers; a very short time therefore sufficed to satisfy us that the lists of One Hundred papers.

But a short time elapsed before we received of on every side for "Colburn's Patent Red Jacket Axe," referring to the fact that some of Lists had reached the very parties to whom we wanted to introduce the new patent Axe.

The year having now nearly gone by, we cannot but feel a pleasure in offering our testimony to have proved of value. The merit of the Ax itself has, of course, something to do with the great demand for it, but we are satisfied that by your agency we have accomplished, we have accomplished in one year what would have ordinarily taken us five years to accomplish.

Respectfully yours,
LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL.

The following from the National Publishing Co., of Philadelphia, may be taken as an answer to those who inquire if these "Lists" can really be good advertising mediums.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10, 1868.

MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 40 PARK ROW:

Gentlemen—It is more than three years since we began advertising in your "Lists of One Hundred Papers" each, and in that time I have found "The List Systems," as originated by you, a thoroughly trial, and we can now say it is the cheapest and most satisfactory advertising medium we have any knowledge of.

We have tried every possible mode of advertising, having dealt with the press direct, with twenty every advertising agency in the country, and have no hesitation in saying that your Lists have paid us 50 per cent. better than any other way. Respectfully,

HORACE GREELEY AT THE DERBY CENTENNIAL.—The address of Horace Greely, was so marked, that we give space to an abstract of it, knowing that it will be read with interest. He was good, unexpectedly so; not that the vast crowd had not been anxiously waiting to see his shiny head rise above the platform magnates, but few anticipated just the turn his remarks would take. After a quaint apology for weakness of voice, he spoke upon the influence of race on human character and human destiny. He briefly sketched the peculiarities of the Scotch-Irish race, and showed that although numerically weak, generations ago, and originating in a country small in area, so that it could be crossed in three or four hours, it has influenced the world. Scotland is small, but it is a country of great men.

Greece is but a spot on the map, and yet the interests of the civilized world center there; Palestine (pronounced Pa-les-tine by H. G.) is a small, rocky province, but the destinies of the human race center there. It is not the great countries that have influenced the world the most, but an open Bible begets nobility of character, and firm, brave devotions to the truest principles of liberty. It was to the advantage of the Scotch settlers of Derry that they stopped for a generation in Ireland; emigration always gives to people broader ideas, and in the passage to Ireland the Scotch were taken out of the shell, and their ideas of civilization enlarged and liberalized, and in the longer journey over the ocean to this country they lost some of the less genial traits, and gained some new ones of which we, their descendants, reap the benefits.

The Protestant Reformation exerted a powerful influence over the Scotch-Irish race, developed their peculiarities, and enlarged their good qualities. John Knox was the type of the race, and he protected himself, his ideas, and his race far into future. The Scotch are eminently a Bible reading people, and the Bible gives great and ennobling characteristics to a nation, freedom of thought supplemented by freedom of action, and makes a people brave and liberty-loving. It is impossible to enslave, either mentally or socially, a Bible-reading people; the principles of the Bible are the ground work of human freedom. Mr. Greeley enlarged grandly on this idea, and that to the Bible the Scotch-Irish owned their leading features, their love of liberty, education and the distribution of education.

New England teaches the schools of the continent. He told an anecdote of Daniel Webster, whom he called "our representative man." Webster was once conversing, with a Senator in Washington, when a drove of mules passed by. "See," said the southerner, "see some of your constituency." "Yes," replied Webster, "they are some of our Yankee school-teachers going South to keep school."

Knowledge and love of the Bible are New England institutions. In New York we are now having a struggle. The old world hierarchies are pressing us, and the attempt is making to destroy our public school sysetm and substitute sectarian, theological schools, contrary to the very spirit of our institutions. The time may come when our children will separate in the streets, and go to sectarian schools attached to their respective churches; but when it does come we shall have a nation different from that our fathers intended; the American character and American priciples will then be radically changed; then will be the death of our present institutions founded on common schools and a free Bible. These are our corner stones, and if our nation stands at all it must be on these.

In brief, Mr. Greeley's address was a noble defence of an open Bible and our common school system, and he took very hopeful views of the future of the country. He told an anecdote which bore delicately and shrewdly upon what some consider his vagaries during the war. "At one time," said he, "when things looked dark in the war, and when men were despondent who now insist that they never were, a timid man asked me if republican institutions were not nearly played out. No, said I, we can afford to fight for fifty years more, if thereby we can secure our common schools and twelve honest men in a jury-box."

The address was very well received, and was a genuine treat to the vast audience who listened attentively to its delivery. Mr. Greeley was in admirable humor, and infused his spirit into his hearers.—Boston Advertiser.

—The Nashville Union (Dem.), speaking of the coming election in Tennessee, says that there is a fair chance for the rival Republican nominees for Governor to try their strength, "for it is certain that no Democrat will be a candidate."

But let no man believe it, till after election. It is much more likely that a grand push will be made at the last hour.

—The stockholders of the Belfast and Moosehead Lake Railroad, have ratified a lease of their road to the Maine Central Railroad Company for a term of fifty years.

DODD'S NERVINE DID IT.
NEW LONDON, CONN., April 26, 1869.
REMEMBERED FRIEND:
I thought it well to wait another week before writing, to see if I continued to improve, as I have been doing for some time, under the treatment of the new medicine, and I am happy to tell you that I am getting better—even faster than when you were here. I commenced the use of DODD'S NERVINE without anybody advising me to it. When I began with it I could only walk from my bed to the chair. My trouble has been extreme pain in the head, and has lasted over three years. All the medicine I have heretofore taken has failed to give any relief. I am now able to go up and down stairs, and daily improving. I consider the NERVINE the best medicine I ever found, and shall continue its use, for I am confident of entire recovery. I have taken three bottles, and would not be without it on any account. [je15 8w] Very truly, MRS. I. S. NUTE.
A LETTER
FROM DR. CONNACHER
To Dr. Wolcott,
Dear Sir:—A Man
Called on me last night
To visit a sick woman,
Who was not expected to live till morning.
Several physicians
Had attended her,
And yesterday the Priest
Visited her for the last time.
She had been confined
Five weeks before my visit.
I found the room
Where she lay crowded
With Men and Women,
Watching for her to die.
She was so low
She could not speak
Only in Whispers,
And very weak.
She had severe inflammation of the Bowels. I applied PAIN PAINT freely, and in less than fifteen minutes every particle of Pain was gone.—Another TRIUMPH for our PAIN PAINT. Her flesh was nearly raw from repeated applications of Mustard Plasters. They purchased a $5 bottle of PAIN PAINT, and she is doing well, and out of Danger. I had just got home, and nearly asleep, when another person came after me, wanting relief for his wife, who had toothache. She was cured instantly by applying PAIN PAINT freely to the outside of her face. Last Monday night a gentleman who keeps a Livery Stable here called on me to visit his Wife, who has been suffering for a long time with Liver complaint, Cough, and a host of troubles, the result of Catarrh. Every Physician in this town has practiced on her, but always left her worse. The Better that continued the Drugs she had swallowed would fill a large Dry Goods Box. In her case I used both PAIN PAINT and the ANNIHILATOR. The first minutes she was entirely relieved of all pain, and could talk in longer breaths than she had done in many months. She bought a pint of PAIN PAINT and a pint of the ANNIHILATOR, and is recovering her health rapidly. I could send you a hundred cases where I have used your Medicines for Pain, Sickness, and Diseases, which had baffled all the skill of Medical Practitioners, that have fully recovered by your simple home Remedies, by my recommendations, and for whom I have prescribed.
A Baptist Clergyman here in Hyde Park is an enthusiastic admirer of PAIN PAINT, and wants to get one of your Charts to hang up in his library. He thinks PAIN PAINT is the greatest thing ever known. I shall go to Pittsburgh a few days and will write you again more particulars. I cannot close without sending you a sworn affidavit, handed to me by a gentleman residing in Wilkesbarre, Penn., to whom I applied PAIN PAINT with astonishing success. DR. J. CONNACHER.
SCRANTON, PA., May 12th, 1869.
On Friday, April 30, I was suddenly taken with rheumatism in my back, so that I was unable to leave my bed. On Monday, May 3, Dr. Connacher was sent for; with great pain and difficulty I turned over in bed to have him rub my back.—In less than three minutes I arose and dressed myself and went down stairs. I felt no more pain and not little soreness; I went to the store of the public square and to the Bristol House in less than twenty minutes from the first application of Pain Paint. I am now free from all pain, and can be seen any day at the fruit and confectionary store on Main Street, near the public square.
SAMUEL BUZINE.
WILKESBARRE, PENN., May 5, 1869.
Sworn and subscribed before me the 5th day of May, 1869.
E. B. HARVY, Justice of the Peace, Wilkesbarre, Penn.
Dr. R. L. WOLCOTT, of 181 Chatham Square, N. Y., has more patients than any Hospital in the world. He discards all dosing, and removes pain, free of cost, at his office. His PAIN PAINT for Pain, and ANNIHILATOR for Catarrh and Weak Nerves, is sold at all Drug Stores. He charges nothing for advice, and sends to any person his Remedies, free of express charges, on receipt of $5 at each order. Therefore none need be deceived by counterfeits. He uses only White Wrappers. je15 4w

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 16, 1869.

The News.

A proclamation has been issued abolishing the discriminating duties against French vessels. The French government have acted reciprocally towards American vessels.

Mr. Burchard, the regular republican candidate for Congress in Mr. Washburne's Illinois district, is elected by a heavy majority. The returns received indicate a vote of nearly four in favor of Mr. Burchard to one for all other candidates. In many towns the vote was substantially unanimous though light.

In the House of Commons, Mr. Otway, under-secretary for the Foreign Department, said that the facts in the case of the seizure of the American brig Mary Lowell were in dispute. The United States government asserts that the vessel was seized in British waters, while the Spanish government maintains that she was captured on the high seas, beyond British jurisdiction.

At a cabinet meeting in London on Saturday an official communication from Mr. Motley was presented by Lord Clarendon. The report states that in the communication Mr. Motley informs her Majesty's government of the rejection by the United States Senate of the Alabama claims treaty, and represents that the grounds for the rejection were the insufficiency of the treaty for a full settlement of the questions in dispute between the two countries. He intiates that the present administration concurs in the reasons which led the Senate to decline to ratify the treaty, and says he is instructed to express the earnest desire of the American government for a full settlement of the important international questions at issue, as well as of claims of individual citizens growing out of the actions of either government during the late war of the rebellion.

DEBT REDUCED.—The N. Y. Tribune says "Secretary Boutwell's monthly exhibit shows that the national debt has been reduced more than twenty millions of dollars, or at the rate of eighty millions per annum, in the three months that have elapsed since Gen. Grant's inauguration. We call that a good beginning, considering that a new Congress has been in session, and has of course made a considerable haul for pay and mileage, and that our new diplomats have had to be provided with outfits. Of the $30,356,500 paid out of the Treasury in May for all other purposes than the purchase or payment of principal of the national debt, $19,831,000 were paid in satisfaction of interest on that debt, leaving barely $10,535,000 as the cost of carrying on the government, or at the rate of $126,420,000 per annum. This is rather better than the $300,000,000 that Horatio Seymour asserted, a little more than a year ago, we were paying to keep the South in subjugation. It is cheering; yet we believe it can be bettered. We hope to see the current cost of the government, except for public debt, brought within $100,000 000 per annum before Gen. Grant's term expires."

BASE BALL.—The Cincinnati Club won all three of the games at Boston last week, beating the Lowells 29 to 9, the Trimountains 40 to 12, and Harvards 30 to 11.

The Bowdoin Club of Maine beat the Dartmouths at Hanover on Saturday, 29 to 16.

THE GRAND PEACE JUBILEE opened at Boston on Tuesday. Admirals Farragut and Thacher and Commodore Winslow were among the distinguished visitors. The representatives of the Press, 300 in number, partook of a sumptuous banquet,—and the concert in the afternoon was immense. Our "Jotter" was present, and we expect a lively description of the whole affair from his pen. He telegraphs from the Coliseum that "the Concert was magnificent.—There has been nothing like it since the morning stars sang together. The building is perfection,—unequalled by aught save the vaulted arches of the dome of heaven. The whole scene was a benediction. Verily, heaven and earth seemed full of the Majesty of His great Glory.'

It is reported that the N. H. Legislature are to visit Boston on Wednesday."

President Grant will arrive in Boston this (Wednesday) forenoon.

STONE & MURRAY'S CIRCUS drew audiences that crowded the canvas at Manchester on Monday. The Union says the entertainments gave good satisfaction and the troupe is a superior one.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

PORTLAND, ME., June 14.

Eds. Chronicle:—Politics are growing lively. Our recent letter on the Gubernatorial contest caused considerable discussion on account of the plain truths uttered. We therein referred to Gov. Chamberlain's nomination as very doubtful. We now would remark that we should not be surprised if he would be successful—owing to certain "curious" events—which the Maine papers do not disclose.

It is a fact, which careful and impartial observation elicits, that a majority of the Republicans of Maine are opposed to Gov. Chamberlain's renomination, owing to the Temperance, capital punishment and other questions, as well as objection to the modus operandi of his name being presented by his correspondence friends.

All honor to Gov. Chamberlain for his heroism as a soldier and attributes as a man, but he will live to see his mistake.

It is a fact, that if Gen. S. F. Hersey of Bangor would consent to allow his name to be used even at the "eleventh hour" he would "go in" with a rush. But his extensive Western lumber business will not allow him to enter the field this year. He would be the strongest man in the State, as he is one of the ablest and most popular.

It is a fact that owing to Hon. Sidney Perham's strong temperance ideas, the so-called conservative—good-eating—and drinking—Republicans would not vote for him if nominated, although we might retain the Temperance vote.

It is a fact that the next United States Senatorship has much to do with the "inability" of the anti-Chamberlain regulars uniting upon a candidate. Senator Fessenden's term expires in 1871. Among those aspiring for the place are William Pitt Fessenden, Lot M. Merrill, Joshua L. Chamberlain, James G. Blaine, Israel Washburne Jr., John Lynch, and others. Strange though it may seem, all of these gentlemen although really opponents in politics, "are not opposed" to Gov. Chamberlains re-nomination at this time, and are not desirous of uniting upon any one—because they regard him as "gone up" politically, and his nomination and election will be really his defeat for the Senatorship.

It is a fact that these truths may as well be written by some one and as an impartial correspondent we have given them. Gov. Chamberlain deserves the respect and honor of every loyal heart and we therefore think his nomination will be a most unfortunate era in his political career.

It is this lack of opposition which causes "outsiders" to regard him as having a clear track because, apparently, the majority of the partys is in his favor, and that said majority comprises "nearly everybody," which is not so. The regular vote, if he is nominated, will be light and his majority small. "Let us have peace."

The Highland Cadets of Worcester, Mass., visited Portland last Friday and the Casco city was in a "flutter," especially the ladies of "sweet sixteen" or so. They are a splendid corps militaire. They were received by the officers of the Blues and Mayor Putnam welcomed them. A dress parade and promenade concert in the evening, a review and drill on the Western promenade, Saturday morning, were among the events of their visit.

The Strafford Guards of Dover will have a splendid reception and treatment on the 23d and 24th, the Blues having arranged an extensive programme.—The Portland Light Infantry, Capt. C. P. Mattocks, visit New York on the 4th of July, to be present at the Army of Potomac Reunion.

The International Young Men's Christian Association meets here July 14th.

The Portland Yacht Club is now fully organized and "almost" equals the Boston Club.

Portland is to have drinking fountains throughout the city, when "Sebago comes to Casco Bay." Each fountain is to have drinking places for men, horses and dogs.

Rev. E. C. Bolles, of the Congress Square Universalist Church yesterday preached his farewell sermon, preparatory to his leaving for Brooklyn. At a social meeting last week, he was presented with a costly painting, the work of Harry B. Brown of this city.

James Cooney, an employee of the Rolling Mill at Cape Elizabeth, on Saturday walked 50 miles in 11 hours and 3 minutes, including stopping to rest (only 17 minutes). His wager was 11 hours and 20 minutes. SANCHO.

☞ We have received the annual Reports of State Treasurer Sanborn and Adjutant General Head.

☞ The new Massachusetts liquor law exempts cider only from prohibited drinks.

New Hampshire Legislature.

A bill has been introduced in the House to tax bees.

On Tuesday the Speaker of the House gave notice that hereafter the names of all absentees will be published in the newspapers.

The House adjourned to Thursday, and the legislators go to Boston in a special train this (Wednesday) morning to attend the Peace Jubilee.

☞ Mr. Gilmore's great Jubilee Orchestra is, in point of fact, an organization made up of all the choice orchestras in the country. There will be scarcely a single first-class instrumentalist left in any of the great cities.

A GOOD CALF.—Mr, Wm. C. Garland of Rye, has a Cow which dropped a calf on Tuesday, weighing 102 pounds when 3 hours old. Who can beat that?

"ARISTOCRACY OF LABOR."—The word aristocracy, though a hated word as commonly understood, was yet a good word of no doubtful origin, bequeathed to us from the palmiest and best days of classic and refined Greece. It means originally "the rule of the best," and, of course, now means just what each assumes to be the best. One builds on wealth, and is a contemptible fop; another on rank or station, inherited or otherwise, and is a supercilious puppet; another on beauty, and becomes a soft simpleton; still another on mere intellectuality, and he is a cold, impervious iceberg; and another still, on intelligent and cultivated labor, and he becomes nature's nobleman. Yes, it is the aristocracy of intelligent labor we advocate to day. Not labor simply, but labor directed by culture.

It is not the simple digging that makes a man honorable, but when he has underlying his digging an earnest and noble purpose. Not the simple muscular action, driving the plane or wielding the axe, but the design and purpose that prompts this activity. Not simply the great drops of sweat dripping down from the brow, and the soil and grime upon the hands and face, that we so much admire; but these taken as the legitimate result of putting into execution those good plans that have been worked out beneath that tired brow; these considerations make such a man a nobleman.—A. J. Barrett's Address.

—Jelly-fish are already making their appearance in the Back Bay in large numbers. It is suspected that they are endeavoring to get a good position for hearing the approaching Musical Festival, as it is a well-established fact in natural history, that they have as fine an ear for music as a haddock, and are perfectly at home on the high sea.—Boston Advertiser.

—It is stated that the Pope has sent orders to the physicians of Paris, forbidding them to continue their attendance upon patients who after three days' dangerous illness still refuse to confess.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

HIGHLY COMPLIMENTARY.

NATIONAL PEACE JUBILEE ASSOCIATION,
Boston, May 31, 1869.

Dear Sirs: I take great pleasure in advising you officially that at a meeting of the Executive Committee of this Association, held on Saturday evening, it was, on motion of Mr. E. D. Jordan, unanimously voted,

That, if any pianos are to be used in the performances at the Coliseum, they shall be the grand orchestral pianos of Messrs. Haller, Davis & Co.

I remain, gentlemen, respectfully your ob't servant, HENRY G. PARKER, Secretary.
Messrs. HALLET, DAVIS & Co., Boston.

—We can assure our readers that "Barrett's Vegetable Hair Restorative" is a really valuable preparation, and that a trial is all that is needed to convince any one of its excellency.—Pittsburg Christian Advocate.

TWENTY DOLLARS A YEAR is a small sum to pay for a sense of security against loss by fire or theft of those valuables so large a proportion of mankind possess, such as bonds deeds, mortgages, plate, laces, jewelry, diamonds, &c., and yet that sum will rent a safe in the UNION SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS, 40 State street, Boston, which are as perfect as human ingenuity can devise. Larger safes range from $25 to $100 a year. The managers also receive at low rates, for safe keeping, valuable paintings, rare books, choice works of art, family plate, town records, &c. The Manager, Henry Lee, will furnish circulars with full information.

HONEY MOON.—We have not been able to know what this term is derived from, except that honey means sweet month or the happiest month in man's existence. We have letters from people in all parts of America and Europe saying that the happiest month of their existence is when using SPERRY'S STRAWBERRY WINE BITTERS, causing their recovery from a bed of sickness or long continued weakness, or complaint of long standing. These Bitters are got up with great care, and are doing the great work for which they were intended, of curing the weak and debilitated and fever and ague, and giving appetite, health and vigor to the human race in all climes.

FACTS FOR THE LADIES.—I have one of the Wheeler & Wilson Sewing-Machines, which has been in constant use for the past fifteen (15) years. It has never been repaired and to-day is in perfect order, and is equal for all kinds of work to any machine I have yet seen. It has been used in making heavy clothing, beside doing all manner of family sewing, and I think it gets better every day.
Toronto, Ontario. MRS. JOAN SCALES. je12

—A highly intelligent lady, a resident of Syracuse, N. Y., says that she was afflicted nearly a year, periodically, with derangement of the circulation, the blood rushing to the lungs with such force as to threaten congestion and death. This was attended with the most intense pain in all parts of the body. Failing to obtain relief from any of the physicians whom she employed from time to time, she was induced to try the PLANTATION BITTERS, and to her surprise and joy they have relieved her, and she is now in good health and flesh. 23

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Home Questions for the Sickly and Debilitated.

Is it worth while to endure penal torture after every meal, when indigestion can be immediately relieved and permanently cured by so agreeable a remedy as HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS?

Does it pay to be compelled by debility and languor to abandon active business, when brain, nerve and muscle can be brought up, and the whole system restored to a healthy condition, by a course of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Why approach the dinner-table daily with a positive disgust for all that is savory and delicious, when a vigorous appetite for even the plainest fare is created by the use of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Is it wise to live in this bright world as if it were a prison, gloomy, disconsolate and miserable, when the worst case of hypochondria can be cured in a week by such a pleasant and wholesome exhilarant as HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Can it be possible that any person of bilious habit will run the risk of remittent fever or bilious colic, when he can tone and regulate the great secretive organ with HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Is it not a species of moral insanity for any merchant, farmer, mechanic or traveler, to be without the best known antidote to the effects of poisonous air and impure water, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS?

Considering the harrassing and depressing nature of the functional derangements to which woman is subject, is it not astonishing that any invalid of the feebler sex should hesitate to seek the certain relief afforded in such cases, by the genial operation of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS?

These are questions of deeper interest than any of the political dogmas of the day, and those whom they concern are invited to give them something more than a passing thought.

Brandreth's Pills.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Brandreth's Pills have been known and used by your grandfathers and grandmothers. They are always safe, and sure to do you good. They are purely vegetable, and diminish the death principle; some think they increase the principle of life. But in taking out bad humors from the blood, they do make the body lighter, and thus seem to add energy. Many families have used them for upwards of forty years.

They are the best medicine for Colds, for all Bilious Affections, for Fullness about the Head or Heart, and in all Cutaneous and Contagious Diseases they are unrivalled. In all cases in which a purgative is indicated, no medicine yet known can be compared to them. Two hundred physicians have testified that Brandreth's Pills are superior to all other purgatives whatever. Sold by all Druggists. my21

To Owners of Horses.

Thousands of Horses die yearly from Colic. This need not be. Dr. Tobias' Venetian Horse Liniment will positively cure every case, if given when first taken. The cost is only one dollar. Every owner of a Horse should have a bottle in his stable, ready for use. It is warranted superior to anything else for the cure of Cuts, Wind Galls, Swellings, Sore Throat, Sprains, Bruises, Old Sores, &c. This Liniment is no new remedy. It has been used and approved of for 21 years by the first horsemen in the country. Given to a proof driven horse, it acts like magic. Orders are constantly received from the RACING STABLES of ENGLAND for it.

The celebrated Hiram Woodruff used and recommended it to his friends, years before his death. Col. P. P. Bush, of the Jerome race course, has given me a certificate stating it to be superior to any other he had used. Hundreds of others can be seen at the Depot, 10 Park Place, N. Y. Sold by the Druggists and Store-keepers. my21

The Pain Killer

Is both an Internal and External Remedy.

THE PAIN KILLER
Should be used at the first manifestations of Cold or Cough.

THE PAIN KILLER—
Don't fail to keep it in the house ready for use.

THE PAIN KILLER
Is an almost certain cure for CHOLERA, and has without doubt, been more successful in curing this terrible disease than any other known remedy, or even the most Eminent and Skillful Physicians. In India, Africa and China, where this dreadful disease is ever more or less prevalent, the PAIN KILLER is considered by the natives, as well as by European residents in those climates, A SURE REMEDY.

THE PAIN KILLER—
Each Bottle is wrapped with full directions for its use.

THE PAIN KILLER
Is sold by all Druggists and Dealers in Family Medicines. my21

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

The best remedy for the cure of CONSUMPTION, and ALL DISEASES OF THE LUNGS. It causes the phlegm and matter to rise without irritating those delicate organs (the Lungs,) and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops night sweats, and changes all the morbid secretions to a healthy state.

It contains no opium in any form. It is perfectly harmless for the most delicate child. It is everywhere in good demand and gives good satisfaction.

The result of its use is proof of its great value.—Its extraordinary healing properties are experienced by all who use it. Their testimony will be found in a pamphlet, which can be had of the agents where the medicine is for sale. 425

THE LATEST DISCOVERY
In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been obtained. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral purgative of the same class, and as agreeable to the taste as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It contains two botanical extracts, perfectly harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and destined in this pleasant form to supersede and banish from general use, the nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous caustic is the main ingredient. More than were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in its operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

One thousand experiments

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the fairer sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitely more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopoeia.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative powder, or nauseous pill.

Holloway's Pills and Ointment.—As inclement Spring is fruitful of pulmonary disorders, and coughs, colds, catarrh, sore throat, asthma, &c., are now particularly prevalent. Don't trifle with these dangerous disorders. Purge the system of the inflammatory elements which sustain them, with a dose or two of HOLLOWAY'S PILLS, and rub the Ointment, night and morning, over the chest and throat until the absorbents have taken up a sufficient quantity to saturate the skin. By this means relief will be afforded in a few hours. Sold by all Druggists. 19

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Manhood.

IN the young and rising generation the vegetative powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and unhealthy form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show its baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwards upon themselves.

If the patient be a female, the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety, as the first symptom by which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it fed on; the energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain; the parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU, for Weakness arising from excesses or early indiscretion, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Head, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Nervous Irritability, Leading to Disease, Nothing is more desirable to such patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread for Fear of Themselves; no Repose of Manner, no Earnestness, no Speculation, but a hurried Transition from one question to another.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on—which this medicine invariably removes—soon follow Loss of Power, Paralysis, and Epileptic Fits, in one of which the patient may expire.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients; premonitory symptoms had left them, and died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Lunatic Asylums, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibition appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute—neither Mirth nor Grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur it is rarely articulate.

"With woeful measures wan Despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguiled."

Whilst we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences. HELMBOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU. There is no danger in its use. It is as mild as a dove to the surgeon and patient, and this is the testimony of all who have used or prescribed it.

Sold by Druggists and Dealers everywhere.—Price $1.25 per bottle, or Six Bottles for $6.50, delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

Prior to this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relaxe the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison, which is very dangerous to use unless that great card, that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions, or the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, goes to the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood, without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are in a state of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost the power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, give a relish for food, cause it to digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the several medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 38 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1y14

Special Notice—Latest Discovery in Medicine.

SEVERAL COLUMNS of unwritten "locals" are crowded out of to-day's issue on account of the scarcity of 'em. We hope to publish full accounts of matters and things when they happen—if they ever do. It is rumored that a small boy was seen to glance into an unoccupied lock box at the Post Office on Tuesday, and that a detective is after him to see what he wanted; also, that an unmarried young lady is acquainted with the boy, and will be hauled up before a Commissioner, shortly, to see what she knows about it. We refrain from publishing her name (his ditto) because it might interfere with the investigations now pending — and said names are unknown to us.

A few boys are seen in by-ways playing marbles, and at the Plains practising base ball — but other excitements are scarce. The shop-keepers are amusing themselves by running off cheap lots of goods at lower rates than their neighbors.

The attendants of the Peace Jubilee can, without doubt, rest assured of the security of their earthly possessions left behind, as a more quiet spirit never pervaded Strawberry Bank than just at this time.

Marshal Johnson has searched in vain for delinquents worth mentioning newspaporially, and nothing is expected to create more excitement than the coming discharges at the Navy Yard, which, it is said, will strike some of the old settlers.

The Band is not expected to play, "on the Square," this week, on account of their being unable to appear in two places at once. Gilmore, whose front name is Patrick, has them in Boston, as President Grant indicated his desire to listen to their enchanting strains. They have been rehearsing "Capt. Jinks" of late,—for Jubilee presentation,—the air being unfamiliar to Bostonians. The Philharmonics have not gone up (to the Jubilee,) as they were to have a business meeting, Tuesday evening, which prevented.

The other band didn't attend the Jubilee because they don't exist any more. The Odds and Ends had engaged to attend, but their velocipedes were not as numerous as the would-be riders, and Gen. Trafton left them at home on account of the rain. The Thespians voted not—to go—but the President and Cabinet have signified their intention of attending the next entertainment,—"Family Jars" and "Alls Well That Ends Well" being the pieces selected.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mrs. Alice Young of Dover, formerly of Portsmouth, a sister of Mr. Geo. Herbert, fell dead in this city on Water street, near Hancock, Tuesday forenoon. She was 31 years of age, and was in consumption, burst a blood vessel and bled to death.

☞ Stickney's Circus arrived in this city Tuesday night, on the way back from their Eastern trip, and were taken over the Concord Railroad in a special train at 3 o'clock Wednesday morning, in charge of Mr. J. W. Hildreth, Master of Transportation.

EASTERN RAILROAD.—Peace Festival. On Wednesday, June 16, a special train will leave Boston for Portsmouth and Way Stations at half-past 8 o'clock in the Evening, to accommodate those attending the Peace Jubilee.

☞ The New Hampshire Gazette for this week, is now ready for delivery at the Chronicle office. Price 5 cts. per copy—$2. per year. Contains all the Local and other reading from the Daily Chronicle.

☞ The steamer "Fairy," of Boston, Capt. Ridgeway, arrived in our harbor Tuesday afternoon, on a trial trip. She is a trim little boat of 15 tons, intended for the use of fishing parties, &c.

ACCIDENT.—William Devine, 16 years of age, had his arm and hand badly mangled by being caught in the machinery at the Kearsarge Mills about 6 o'clock, Tuesday evening.

☞ The weather for a week has been more like April than June. The frequent and copious showers must keep pasturage good.

☞ The Lake Shore Railroad, pro or con, promises to be a question before the N. H. Legislature again, ere the present session closes. And the Portsmouth & Ogdensburg Road also, perhaps.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

SANDOWN, June 14.

I send a few items relating to valuation, taxes, &c., in this town the present year. Total valuation, $222,018. State tax, $936. County tax $556.50. School tax $390. Rate of taxation $1.57 1-2 on $100. Poll tax $2.36. There are thirteen who pay a tax of $50 and upwards, and three whose taxes exceed $100.

Hampstead will vote next Saturday on the question of taking stock in the proposed Nashua & Rochester R. R., to the amount of 5 per cent. of the valuation of the town.

Mr. Isaac Smith, for 50 years a resident of Hampstead, and during most of that time engaged in trade, died in that town, last Thursday aged 76 years. He was a man of influence, honorable in his dealings with his fellow men, and his death is a loss to the community. He was the father of Hon. Isaac W. Smith, Mayor of Manchester, Nath. C. Smith, shoe manufacturer, and Rufus C. Smith, merchant of Hampstead. C.

WOMEN TRADERS.—In our old Usher Ledger, women figure largely as traders, and somewhat as customers in another way. On Dec. 12, 1677, Mrs. Elizabeth Lidget is credited 196£ 18s 8d pr 4 Pipes & 18 hds. of Malaga Brandy, &c. And on the 18th of the same month, "Elizabeth Belchard of Cambridge, widdow," is charged with 2 barrells Madeira 7£ 1s. And on Oct. 9, 1679, Mrs. B. is charged with 1 Pipe Canary, at 24£.

Agricultural Items.

After planting do not think the labor done. Success depends on thorough cultivation.

Watch the currants for the first appearance of the worm, and dust them well with white hellebore.

Would you force garden plants? Sprinkle every forty-eight hours with liquid manure made by leaching yard-manure, ashes and bone-dust. If the stuff is strong, dilute largely. A correspondent informs the American Entomologist that by burying a few onions in ants nests he had caused them to abandon their quarters. The same paper learns from horticulturists that two or three table spoonsful of kerosene poured into the holes in their nests will produce the same effect.

It is now settled that the whole potatoes should not be planted unless one has so many left over that he cannot get rid of them in any other way. Cut in single eye and put two eyes in a hill is now generally recommended. A gentleman planted one season whole potatoes and the finest tubers he could select, and the result was that he had any quantity of tops, with a yield of "mighty small potatoes and a few in a hill."

The sunflower is very useful. Its leaves soon become large enough to be used as a covering for young cabbage and tomato plants. Its stem affords an excellent hop or bean pole, and when dead in the fall, if cut up and kept dry, it answers well for kindling wood. The leaves can be plucked off through the summer without injury to the plant, and dried for fodder, or fed green to milch cows or horses. Its seeds make a fine oil, or chicken feed. It is said to be absorbent of malaria, and is often cultivated as a preventive of fevers near dwellings that occupy low places.

The Horticulturist recommends the following wash for fruit trees: Last year an experienced fruit-grower, the owner of a fine orchard near Niagara river, Western New York, wrote us that in the care of his trees he had practiced one simple method with eminent success. He takes lye from leached ashes, mixes a little grease with it, heats quite warm, and with a syringe throws it up into all parts of the trees, branches and trunk. It will effectually kill all kinds of caterpillars, and all kinds of worms that are either infesting the trees in nests or running over the bark. Trees treated in this manner were exceedingly healthy, beautiful and vigorous in appearance, possessing a smooth, glossy bark, and bore the best apples in the country. The remedy is easy and cheap.

BUTTON-HOLE, OVERSEAMING, —AND— SEWING MACHINE!

H. N. DUNYON, 27 Market Street,
Agent for Portsmouth and vicinity.

The Reasons Why

This is the best Family Machine to Purchase.

1. Because it will do everything that any machine can do—the finest of sewing, hemming, falling, cording, tucking, braiding, binding, gathering, quilting, &c., better than any other machine.

2. Because it can work a beautiful button-hole, making a fine pearl, as by hand. (Not done on any other Sewing Machine.)

3. Because it will work a beautiful eyelet-hole. (No other machine can.)

4. Because it will embroider over the edge, making a neat and beautiful border on any garment. (Not done on any other Machine.)

5. Because it can do "overhand seaming," by which shirts, pillow-cases and the like are sewed "over and over." (No other Machine can do it.)

Caution.

We would hereby warn the Public against alleged bogus advertisements of Button-Hole Attachments, as the AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE is the first and only Button-Hole and Sewing Machine combined in the world.

BY REV. I. F. HOLDEN, SO. MALDEN, MASS.

WILSON ON PUNCTUATION.—The hair-splitting in the paragraph about Saunders' Primer, in my last, reminded me of a mare's-nest I have found. You laugh when I tell you that I have discovered this book after years of editorial life and after no small amount of writing for the press. (Shame on me!) I have been a dabster at punctuation, following an unwritten code of my own devising which did tolerably well. Yet there were about twenty cases in which I was in doubt, to say nothing of others in which I was in error. So I was quite delighted to find a substantial duodecimo from which the whole science of punctuation can be taught most thoroughly. You must have been familiar with the book for years; why do you not urge your correspondents to read it and follow it?

HANDBOOK OF CHEMISTRY, by W. J. Rolfe and J. A. Gillet, is published, like the above, by Woodworth, Ainsworth & Co. I should conjecture that one of the authors took up chemistry after completing his education, and that the other never did. I told you before of a similar work by the same authors, and I regret to say that in this smaller book, there is with much change very little improvement. They "play" that the pupil will not believe any thing that he has not seen demonstrated by experiment. Of the seven substances first named, one only is familiar. The study of these two books must be intolerable except to persons of mature mind. It grieves me to say this of a beautifully made book from the house that issues the best Greek series I expect to see, (Crosby's,) the drawing-series from which I hope so much in common schools, and so much else that is excellent. But I say what I believe, or, rather, much less.

THE CRATER LAMP-CHIMNEY is an invaluable contrivance of our friend Williams, of the green sign in Union St., Boston. It goes on the ordinary new kerosene lamp, and will cook a small quantity of anything you please, for hours, while you read by the lamp. It will get up a cup of tea, or a dose of medicine for a sick child, toast a cracker, or even prove an economical mode of preparing an afternoon meal. It adds almost nothing to the cost of the light. With a young child this crater is a necessity.

GRANT'S DEFEAT has saddened me more than did some of the disasters of the war. He thought he could be the President that the Constitution provides for us. I had hoped this of him, and his first moves fully justified these hopes. But he was defeated on A. T. Stewart, a man who would have collected, perhaps fifty millions more of revenue than the able and honest lawyer who fills his place. But he would have run that one thing "into the ground," rewarding nobody, making places for no needy politicians, doing none of the dirty work necessary to hold wicked men in the party. This defeat became well nigh a rout when he appointed to foreign posts men that he knew were unfit. Witness poor Pile, voted down by the very men who had asked Grant to nominate him! He may have been rejected because he ate with his knife. Certainly it was not because he could talk no Portuguese, or even French; other men, who will disgrace the nation abroad by these deficiencies, were confirmed. The man for that place was Fletcher.

But how can we hope for a decent Senate with venal legislatures? In better days an agent said to a New Hampshire legislator: "Here is a vote for the democratic candidate for Senator, and here a $10 bill; I wish the vote was in the ballot box and the bill in your pocket." "I will take both," was the reply, "but will make no promises, except that, if the ballot does not go in, I will return the bill." He artfully exchanged the ballot for one which a democrat was about to cast; it went in and his own vote went against it. It is a merit to deplete the enemy's treasure-chest. Legislatures are a thousand times worse now, and the U. S. Senate suffers the consequence.

FETICHE shocked me more in a late Congregationalist than ever before. A nice, excellent, pious body tells her pastor that she had made up her mind to poison her babe. She bought the poison, and fixed upon a day (the Holy Sabbath!) to do the deed. But the spirit of procrastination got hold of her; she put off the disagreeable job, which would do just as well for a rainy Sunday; so she went to worship God instead. Something she heard there changed her mind. And so, afterwards, she shows her fine boy to her pastor and tells her story with a satisfied air, as if she had come very near killing a Durham calf for veal! What are we coming to? Is it not time for a race to die out when it has become capable of all this? Or would it re-awaken conscience to hang the wife of some Doctor of Divinity who enjoys a $5000 salary in a first-class church?

Our future looks dark to me. Are we approaching the fate that overtook Italy in the height of its prosperity?—From what hive shall issue the Hunnish swarm that shall make our daughters slaves, and the prolific mothers of a half-breed race? If half of Sprague's ravings are true, the operation of our laws cannot go on to another generation. Months ago I talked with an enlightened, educated, sane and good man, a lawyer, who said that the time was soon coming when we should find it necessary to hang a large portion of our millionaires, whose conspiracies have robbed the millions who work.—He assured me that they were rapidly crowding us to a reign of terror. But if Grant should conquer the Indian ring and the Whiskey ring, the Senate to the contrary notwithstanding;—if the States become sole owners of the railroads, and, with the nation, run the expresses, Celtic and Teutonic patches may keep our nation in wear for a century longer.

WOOD ASHES are one of the most valuable fertilizers within reach of the farmer. The unleached article has the more potash, but the leached is thought to be quite as valuable. In leaching they shrink a good deal, and lime is usually added, which increases their value. They are generally sold, too, at a less price. Ashes are well suited to all farm crops, and are very beneficial in the fruit yard and orchard. Most farmers still sell wood in the cities and villages, and, rather than go home empty, they should carry back ashes and other fertilizers, to replace the potash, lime, and phosphoric acid that have been carried off in the crops and animals sold. Ashes show immediate effects from their application, and at the same time last long in the soil. They are very highly appreciated in the onion growing districts, but may be applied with equal advantage to ordinary farm crops. They should be kept as near the surface as possible, spread and harrowed into the seed bed, or applied directly to the growing crops.

—Teacher—"Gerty, you were a very good girl to day." Gerty — "Yes ma'am; I couldn't help being good; I had a stiff neck."

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR!

FOR THE RENOVATION OF THE HAIR.

The Great Desideratum of the Age.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy and effectual for preserving the Hair.

Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color and the gloss and freshness of youth.

Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application.

Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous.

Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness.

Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable.

Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts longer on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

WHAT ADVERTISERS SAY.

The firm, whose letter we print below, gave us in 1867 what was then the largest contract we had ever received for our "LISTS OF 100 LOCAL NEWSPAPERS." The fact that they this year renew the order and increase the amount is the best argument we can give that these "Lists" are good advertising mediums.

LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL,

MANUFACTURERS OF

Axes, Shovels, Saws, &c.,

No. 118 WATER STREET,

PITTSBURG, PA., Dec. 3, 1868.

MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO.:

Gentlemen:—One year ago with much hesitation we gave you an advertisement for one of your Lists of One Hundred local papers; a very short time thereafter we unhesitatingly added two more Lists of One Hundred papers.

But a short time elapsed before we were inquirers of on every side for "Colburn's Patent Red Jacket Ax," proving to us that your plan of Lists and Prices was the best we could find to which we wanted to introduce the new patent Ax.

The year having now nearly gone by, we cannot but believe your system of advertising by "Lists of Local Papers" is just the kind of advertising we want, and we to-day forward you an order still adding one more List of One Hundred papers, making the number now altogether four (4) Lists of One Hundred (100) local papers.

The more we talk with newspaper agents and editors' agents the more satisfied we are that the arrangement we have made with you is preferable to any we have ever heard of. The merit of the Ax itself has, of course, something to do with the great demand for it, but we are satisfied that by your system of advertising by "Lists" we have accomplished in one year, and would have ordinarily taken us five years to accomplish.

Respectfully,

LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL.

The following from the National Publishing Co., of Philadelphia, may be taken as an answer to those who inquire if these "Lists" can really be good advertising mediums.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10, 1868.

MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 40 PARK ROW:

Gentlemen:—It is more than three years since we began advertising in your "Lists of One Hundred Papers" for us, and in that time have given "The List System," as originated by you, a thorough trial, and we can now say it is the cheapest and best general advertising medium we have any knowledge of.

We have tried every possible mode of advertising, having dealt with the principal press, and throughout nearly every advertising agency in the country, and have no hesitation in saying that your Lists have paid us 50 per cent. better than any other way. Respectfully,

No. 40 Park Row, N. Y.
WHAT ADVERTISERS SAY.

The firm, whose letter we print below, gave us in 1867 what was then the largest contract we had ever received for our "LISTS OF 100 LOCAL NEWSPAPERS." The fact that they this year renew the order and increase the amount is the best argument we can give that these "Lists" are good advertising mediums.

LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL,
MANUFACTURERS OF
Axes, Shovels, Saws, &c.,
No. 118 WATER STREET,
PITTSBURG, PA., Dec. 3, 1868.
MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO.:
Gentlemen:—One year ago with much hesitation we gave you an advertisement for one of your Lists of One Hundred local papers; a very short time thereafter we unhesitatingly added two more Lists of One Hundred papers.
But a short time elapsed before we were inquired of on every side for "Colburn's Patent Red Jacket Ax," proving to us that your plan of Lists had reached the very parties to whom we wanted to introduce the new patent Ax.
The year having now nearly gone by, we cannot but believe your system of advertising by "Lists of Local Papers" is just the kind of advertising we want, and we to-day forward you an order still adding one more List of One Hundred papers, making the number now altogether four (4) Lists of One Hundred (400) local papers.
The more we talk with newspaper agents and editors' agents the more satisfied we are that the arrangement we have made with you is preferable to any we have ever heard of. The merit of the Ax itself has, of course, something to do with the great demand for it, but we are satisfied that by your system of advertising by "Lists" we have accomplished in one year what would have ordinarily taken us five years to accomplish.
Respectfully,
LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL.

The following from the National Publishing Co., of Philadelphia, may be taken as an answer to those who inquire if these "Lists" can really be good advertising mediums.

OFFICE OF THE National Publishing Company,
No. 25 SEVENTH STREET.
J. R. JONES, President.
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10, 1868.
MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 40 PARK ROW:
Gentlemen:—It is more than three years since we began advertising in our "Lists of One Hundred Papers" each, and in that time have given "The List System," as originated by you, a thorough trial, and we can now say it is the cheapest and best general advertising medium we have any knowledge of.
We have tried every possible mode of advertising, having dealt with the press direct, and thro' nearly every advertising agency in the country, and have no hesitation in saying that your Lists have paid us 50 per cent. better than any other way. Respectfully,

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR!
FOR THE RENOVATION OF THE HAIR.
The Great Desideratum of the Age.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy and effectual for preserving the Hair.
Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color and the gloss and freshness of youth.
Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application.
Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous.
Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness.
Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a
HAIR DRESSING,
nothing else can be found so desirable.
Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts longer on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

DODD'S NERVINE DID IT.
NEW LONDON, CONN., April 26, 1869.
REMEMBERED FRIEND:
I thought it well to wait another week before writing, to see if I continued to improve, as I have been doing for some time, under the treatment of the new medicine, and I am happy to tell you that I am getting better—even faster than when you were here. I commenced the use of DODD'S NERVINE without anybody advising me to it. When I began with it I could only walk from my bed to the chair. My trouble has been extreme pain in the head, and has lasted over three years. All the medicine I have heretofore taken has failed to give any relief. I am now able to go up and down stairs, and daily improving. I consider DODD'S NERVINE the best medicine I ever found, and shall continue its use, for I am confident of entire recovery. I have taken only three bottles, and would not part with it on any account. [je15 8w] Very truly, MRS. I. S. NUTE.

A LETTER
FROM DR. CONNACHER
To DR. WOLCOTT.
Dear Sir: A Man
Called on me last night
To visit a sick woman,
Who was not expected
To live till morning.
Several physicians
Had attended her,
And yesterday the Priest
Visited her for the last time.
She had been confined
Five weeks before my visit.
I found the room
Where she lay crowded
With Men and Women,
Watching for her to die.
She was so low
She could not speak
Only in Whispers,
And very weak.
She had severe inflammation of the Bowels. I applied PAIN PAINT freely, and in less than fifteen minutes every particle of Pain was gone. Another TRIUMPH for your PAIN PAINT. Her flesh was nearly raw from repeated applications of Mustard Plasters. They purchased a $5 bottle of PAIN PAINT, and she is doing well, and out of Danger. I had just got home, and nearly asleep, when another person came after me, wanting relief for his wife, who had toothache. She was cured instantly by applying PAIN PAINT freely to the outside of her face. Last Monday night a gentleman who keeps a Livery Stable here called on me to visit his Wife, who has been suffering for a long time with Liver complaint, Cough, and a host of troubles, the result of Catarrh. Every Physician in this town has practiced on her, but always into her grave. The Bottles that contained the Drugs she had swallowed would fill a large Dry Goods Box. In her case I used both PAIN PAINT and the Antidote

The News.

The News from Europe is not important. The emigration from Liverpool to this country still continues unusually large.

At home the papers are crowded with Jubilee matter.

The Supreme Court of Georgia has decided (Judge Warren dissenting) that negroes in that State are eligible to office. A common sense decision.

Two more under officers of the emigrant ship James Foster have been convicted of brutal treatment of passengers.

Uncle Sam is again running the powder works near Augusta, Georgia, for some unexplained purpose.

The English post office authorities have determined to reduce newspaper postages to a halfpenny.

In a Chicago park is a notice to visitors to "Cep of she Gras." The orthography is ascribed to Mr. Sprague, the gentleman who is mulcted in $100,000 damages for breach of promise.

California is to have a Japanese colony, and the members will bring bamboo, mulberry trees, wax plants and tea seeds, so as to establish a miniature Japan on our shores.

A colored lady in Colfax township, South Carolina, presented four boys to her husband in one day this month. The father is sixty-seven years old.

At Cincinnati, June 15, Three tobacco manufacturers assaulted Col. A. Hoagland, special agent of the Revenue Department. Hoagland was unarmed, and says his assailants were all armed. He escaped by taking refuge in a store. One of the parties struck him and threatened to kill him for seizing his manufactory. The tobacco factories of all three assailants were seized some months ago.

SENATORIAL ITEMS.—Senator Fowler lately spoke at Gallatin, Tennessee, and advised the youth of the country to copy the character and career of ex-President Johnson. He also informed the colored people that to the same person were they indebted for their freedom, and that to him must they turn, and him must they follow.

Senator Pomeroy attended the recent anti-secret society meeting in Chicago and made a very pious speech on the subject.

Pomeroy's piety, Fowler's veracity, and Johnson's temperance, are all about equal;—and put one reader in mind of some old doggerel lines that run thus:

My word is as good my bond, said Old Tay:
Deny it and I'll make you repent!
I grant they are equal, but pray do not bray.
For neither is worth half a cent.

☞ When the fate which sooner or later overtakes all men shall overtake William Lloyd Garrison, there will not be found a nobler editaph for his monument than the words uttered concerning him by the poet Bryant, on a recent occasion, in the Cooper Institute, in N. Y. city:

"Not all the gold dug from the mines of California and those of the Ural Mountains, though to these were added all the diamonds found in Brazil, and all the pearls gathered by divers on the floor of ocean in the Orient, could tempt that man to espouse a cause which did not seem to him absolutely just."

New Publications.

The Riverside Magazine for July comes with a midsummer table of contents. "A Tale of the Sunset Sea" is one of those pictured fairy poems by Miss Bishop, which readers of the "Riverside" have learned to look for. Mr. Stockton comes with further adventures of the droll fairy Ting-a-ling: the sketch of "Joan of Arc" is concluded: Mr. Benjamin tells "How a Sail Boat is built and rigged." Hans Anderson slips in with his latest, freshest story, and the number makes a fine show with its two dozen pictures, large and small. Published by Hurd and Houghton, New York. $2.50 a year.

L'Idee Nouvelle: A New Idea.—Such is the title of a new paper printed at Worcester, Mass.,—in the French and English languages, in alternate columns;—a very convenient matter for Frenchmen learning to read English, or Yankees wishing to read French.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT AT A COAL MINE.—A very serious accident occurred at a coal mine near Brazil, Ind., on Monday. A loaded car on a steep grade broke the rope which held it, and rushed back with fearful velocity for six hundred feet. Three men, all of whom had commenced work at the mines for the first time that day, were struck by the car on its way, and two of them were killed. The third escaped without much injury.

Editorial Correspondence.

AT THE COLISEUM, BOSTON, June 15. The first Jubilee Concert has closed,—closed, as you already know, most gloriously. I shall not go into ecstacies or particulars here, but will briefly note a few points perhaps a little out of the common course. It seems tame to say the affair passed off with success,—and yet that is all that can be said for the grand conception of Mr. Gilmore.

Everybody was delighted and astonished,—with the accuracy and precision of the performances, fully as much as the immensity of everything. The fact is, that while the shouts of the mighty chorus of 11,000 singers and players, reverberated through this musical shiphouse like the sound of mighty waters, and at times actually seemed to

"Come as the waves come
When navies are stranded,"

and all was majestic, sublime—yet we fancy there was with many a feeling of surprise if not disappointment, that the volume of sound was not more stunning and overwhelming. But in this immense structure, the chorus was not appreciably greater in volume, except to singers, than that of the Handel and Haydn Society's Festival, of one-tenth the actual amount, at the Music Hall last year. And it is no doubt true, that after getting to a certain point, the addition of more voices gives little if any more effect.

The selection that filled the hall best, was the Star Spangled Banner, with its long rolling tones; and this, with America, Anvil Chorus, and Inflammatus, were encored to repetition. Parepa's splendid voice was heard in solo in every part of the building—to the delight of all; but we could not distinguish Ole Bull's violin, although the mere knowledge of his presence was enjoyable.

We do not know the number of the audience,—we set it at double that of the choir; but we were told that Mr. Gilmore estimated it as not much greater. But no matter—there was plenty of room, and everybody was free to move about and change seats when they pleased,; and all passed very comfortably. The firing of artillery by electricity, in several pieces, timed exactly with the accent of the music; and the 100 anvils in the chorus were a great feature, as hammered by red-shirted firemen.

—After all was over, and we passed into the Press Headquarters—the large and handsomely-decorated room where a splendid banquet was spread in the morning, and the feast of pleasant words, not less than of fat things, was enjoyed by the numerous editors and other invited guests—as we looked over the long tables, but lately groaning with the richest viands of Smith, the caterer,—covered now only with stationery, and lined on either side with rows of eager scribbling reporters, from far and near,—while no sound broke the stillness save the ceaseless click of the several telegraphic machines here located,—we thought, this is not, indeed, the least feature of the Jubilee!

Rarely, if ever before, have so many devotees of the quill been found together,—representatives of the press from Maine to Utah; and never were such reporters' quarters furnished, as these of Superintendent Niles. Among the decorations, was a bust of Franklin, the most distinguished son of Boston, whose name shall never die while the greatest master of song shall endure.

Let every one who can, get a look at the Jubilee, at any rate. We ne'er may see the like again. Yours, F.

BOSTON, 16.

What between the Jubilee, the President, N. H. Legislature, our home Board of Aldermen, Boston City banquet, and big Horse Trots,—yours truly is rather put to it to fill all the places he is expected or allowed to represent, or even to keep in any one place.

The Jubilee is still an increasing success. Tickets are at a premium. The crowds of strangers in the city to-day are great, to see the Presidential man of destiny on horseback. The N. H. Legislature came down in a special train of nine cars this morning, and return at 7 o'clock this evening.

I am reminded by the adopted name of the Coliseum, and the list of authors on the programmes, that the ancient architects and composers compare creditably with any of the moderns, yet. F.

On Wednesday, Boston was crowded as it never was before. The railroads were taxed to their utmost capacity in transporting eager travellers to and from the city. The arrival of President Grant and the review of 6000 State troops furnished occupation sufficient for the curious. The Coliseum in the afternoon was a bewildering scene of splendor. Nine tenths of the seats were occupied, and all the tickets for standing room had been sold.

The arrival of the President and Admiral Farragut was the signal for the vast audience to rise and give vent to their enthusiasm by hearty rounds of cheers.

The concert was very fine, the choruses rang out with immense power, and the occasion was one that will always be remembered with delight. A description of the Jubilee seems tame beside the grand experience of seeing and hearing. Nothing like it was ever seen, and an opportunity to witness such an extensive musical entertainment may not be afforded again in a life time. G.

☞ A Freewill Baptist Church of 22 was organized last Monday, at Winthrop, Mass.: thirteen of these members were baptized last Sabbath, by Rev. J. Mariner of Haverhill: the average age of the thirteen, was over 40 years, and the oldest candidate was in his 30th year.

—The late Charles O. Rogers, of the Boston Journal, left a very large estate, near a million and a quarter, but much of it the result of fortunate real estate investments. The Journal is estimated as worth half a million, of which he owned eight-tenths, the other two-tenths belonging to Wm. Clapp and S. N. Stockwell, the working editors and managers.

—The English postal department has completed arrangements for the purchase of all the telegraph lines in the united kingdom, preparatory to operating the same. The plan has been tried in Belgium, and works satisfactorily, the charge being ten cents to any part of the kingdom.

—At South Hadley a few days ago, in repairing the old Minister Hayes place, in the chimney on the second floor was found an entrance opening into an unused closet, and in this oven-like place were two smoked hams that were in a perfect state of perservation, and had been there over fifty years.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

General Debility is Nature's Appeal for Help.

Thousands of persons, without any specific ailment, are the victims of languor and lassitude.—The unthinking are apt to confound this species of inertia, with laziness; whereas it usually arises from a want of organic energy, for which the subjects of it are no more responsible than the near-sighted are for their defective vision. Such persons, although they may be free from pain, are as truly invalids, and as much in need of medical aid, as if they were tormented with the pangs of acute disease. They require a TONIC and ALTERATIVE, that will rouse and regulate their torpid organizations. In cases of this kind, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS produce an immediate and most favorable effect.

The debilitated and desponding valetudinarian, who feels as if he were but half alive; who shuns company, and has no relish either for business or pleasure, is metamorphosed, by a brief course of this most potent vegetable instrument, into quite a different being. The change effected by the BITTERS, in his bodily and mental condition, is a surprise to himself and to his friends. He mopes no longer; the active principle of life, which seemed to have died out of him, is re-awakened, and he feels like a new man. Remembering that debility is not only an affliction itself, but an invitation to disease, no time should be lost in recruiting the broken-down system with this choicest and most potent of all TONICS AND NERVINES.

Holloway's Pills to Dyspeptics.—Laugh at those who tell you that Dyspepsia cannot be cured. You will have good cause to laugh if you try HOLLOWAY'S PILLS as a remedy. Your sensations, after the first dose, will assure you that the cure has begun. You will find your appetite improved, your stomach less uneasy, your head clearer, your spirits lighter, your nerves firmer, your body stronger. Perserve, and all the distressing symptoms of your complaint will vanish. There are some rules without exceptions. This is one of them. Sold by all Druggists.

Important Fact.

We see that persons of strong constitutions, and young, suffer for days with pains of the limbs, loss of appetite and fever, who suddenly get well after a chole followed by slimy, bilious stools. There relief produced by these evacuations were the original guide to the idea and practice of purging Pills, which, when enforced by Brandreth's Pills, always benefits, usually cures, and often prevents disease, especially Scarlet Fever and diseases of similar character.

I. L. Cook, publisher of the "State Banner," Bennington, Vt., says Brandreth's Pills cured him of Dyspepsia, after being afflicted with it over five years. His friends and doctor considered his recovery impossible; but six boxes of Brandreth's Pills restored his health perfectly.

A young lady of Mount Pleasant was sorely troubled with Tape-worm. All advice and medicine failed to help her. She had no rest. Thin, worn and unhappy, she looked the picture of misery. At last she concluded to try Brandreth's Pills. In one year she took seventy-two boxes.—They brought away, according to her computation, over two hundred yards of tape-worm. At length all her bad symptoms left her; she slept and ate naturally, and her health became fully restored. je17

"A Word to Horsemen."

DR. TOBIAS' CELEBRATED VENETIAN HORSE LINIMENT has been tested by the first Horsemen in the country, and proved to be superior to any other. The late Hiram Woodruff, of "trotting fame," was never without a bottle in his stable. It is also used by Col. Bush, of the Jerome Park Course, at Fordham, N. Y., who has over twenty running horses under his care, among which rank some of the finest stock in America.—It is warranted to cure Lameness, Sprains, Bruises, Scratches, Galls, Cuts, Wind Galls, Colic, Sore Throat, Nail in the Foot, and Over Heating, when used according to the directions.

All who own or employ Horses are assured that this Liniment will do all, if not more, in curing the above named complaints. No horse need die of Colic, if when first taken, the Liniment is used according to directions. Always have a bottle in your stable.

Dr. Ham's Aromatic Invigorator

removes from the system the ill effects caused by the excessive use of alcoholic liquors, and effectually destroys the appetite for these stimulants. It gives tone to debilitated mucous surfaces. Effete matter is removed from the system, thereby restoring it to its normal healthful condition. As a medicine, it is quick and effectual, curing the most aggravated cases of Dyspepsia, Kidney Complaints, and all other derangements of the Stomach and Bowels, in a speedy manner.

This elegant preparation has stood the test of years. A wine-glassful before eating will give a good appetite and prevent all suffering from indigestion. Ladies of weak and delicate constitutions should take the Invigorator three times a day. A wine-glassful before retiring will insure sweet and refreshing sleep. All the proprietor asks is a trial, and to induce this he has put up the Invigorator in pint bottles at 50 cents,—quarts $1.00. Principal Depot, 43 CENTRAL WHARF, BOSTON. SPECIAL NOTICES.

Manhood.

IN the young and rising generation the vegetative powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and unclasped form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show its baneful influence.—It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This but serves to retard movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwards upon themselves.

If the patient be a female, the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety, as the first symptom which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it fed on; the energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain; the parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU, for Weakness arising from excesses or early indiscretion, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Irregularity, Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Want of Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread for Fear of Themselves; no hope of Marriage, Dizziness, Sadness, no Speculation, but a hurried Transition from one question to another.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on—which this medicine invariably removes—soon follow Loss of Power, Fatality, and Epileptic Fits, in one of which the patient may expire.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients; reason had for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibition appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute—neither Mirth nor delight ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur it is rarely articulate.

"With woeful measures wan Despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguiled."

Whilst we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift to humanity for the removal of the consequences. HELMBOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU. There is no time lost in its administration; no hope to the surgeon and patient, and this is the testimony of all who have used or prescribed it.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, the Seaweed Tonic plings on the stomach, a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, relaxing the obstructions which have been called morbid calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to digest the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, to stop fever, and in doing so they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient starves and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost the power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the pulmonic will begin to mend the lungs, it will digest food and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills to clean out all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the celebrated medicines named above, and many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at the Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 1 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1y jl4

STONE THROWING.—Perhaps some of our readers may recollect the old story, of the Stone Throwing Devils, at New Castle, in the olden time. It would seem that there are a few modern demons, of the same sort.

The Manchester Mirror of Tuesday, informs us, that on Monday night about 12 o'clock, in that city, as a young man of 18 years, named E. A. Stowe, was standing on the sidewalk near the corner of Central and Elm streets, he was hit in the forehead, over the right eye, by a stone thrown by an unknown hand; he was stunned, and rendered unconscious, remaining so next day, and will probably die.

Stone throwing is quite too common among boys in this city.

PORTSMOUTH AHEAD.—Two patriotic individuals, having learned from good! local authority that the Peace Jubilee at Boston is a "humbug," started an opposition one on Market Square, on Wednesday evening, sang "Sherman's March" for an opening piece, and then wound up by selling quantities of pens, pen-holders, &c. Our Jubilee was a success.

WHO CAN EXPLAIN IT?—I do not regret that everybody who could get money enough to get to the Jubilee with has gone, nor do I longer mourn the sad impecuniosity which has kept me at home,—the two circumstances having developed in me a power, hitherto unknown, which has at once elevated me to an equality with the Davenports, in my own opinion. I have discovered that I possess an irresistable power of attraction over a horse's tail, equally astonishing to the horse and to myself, for I neither know whence the power proceeds nor how I exercise it. The discovery occurred as follows:

My landlord and his family have gone Jubileeing, of course, but didn't take me. They left me behind to take care of the equine, Dolly, and to cook for myself,—but I won't. We happen to have a young lady visitor from Boston, and my gallantry will not allow me to interfere with her "woman's right" to cook breakfast for me, and feed and curry Dolly.

On Wednesday morning, after polishing Dolly with a brush and comb, she turned her into the yard to nibble grass, and when she thought grass enough had been eaten, sent me to tow her into the stable. Then I discovered my wonderful influence over the animal's tail. As I approached to catch Dolly, the end with the head on it was swung away from me and the other one presented, in a style which showed conclusively that it was against her will. I was not so much surprised as to be unable to experiment, — and I walked twenty-eight times round and round in a circle, the remarkable "influence" which I have "developed" attracting the animal's tail so strongly as to swing her around as fast as I walked, her forefeet remaining stationary and her head being always turned from me. The animal evidently attempted to stop her gyrations, but couldn't,—testifying her terror and disgust by squealing and laying back her ears. At last the influence came on with extra power all at once, and Dolly's hinder hoofs were suddenly drawn from beneath her and elevated high in the air,—the electricity, magnetism, or whatever it may have been, drawing off one of her shoes, passing it by my ear and sticking it into the woodshed door, where it remains.

There was no delusion in all this.—I distinctly saw the tail follow me round in a circle as I walked, drawing Dolly after it; and I plainly heard the horse-shoe whiz as it went past my head and its thud as it struck the wood, showing that it was a genuine and not an imaginary piece of iron, and was not transported without some powerful agency. What that agency was is for science to decide.

To relieve the animal from her terror I went in and reported, "I can't stop to catch that horse, — hav'n't got time,"—and then I watched the young lady before spoken of as she went to catch her. The total absence of the "influence" was remarkable. Dolly stood as quietly as an old sheep, and the tail showed no intention of pulling her round in a circle as it had just done when I tried to catch her; so the lady put her in the stable, remarking to me, "Isn't Dolly a gentle, kind creature?"

Can these occurrences be explained by any known laws of nature, or must we refer them to the supernatural?

A barn belonging to George Haselton of East Canaan, situated on his meadow a short distance from the rest of his buildings, was set on fire on the night of the 12th and burned to the ground. No insurance. The reporter says that an attempt was made to burn it a short time before, but it was fortunately discovered in time to put it out.

Messrs. Robinson & Hoyt at Meredith Village have a large fish nursery, comprising three ponds, made by damming up a brook. They contain twenty-four thousand trout of different sizes, from the wee bit of a one to the big fellows that break a man's pole. They also have twenty- four thousand salmon fry. Six thousand yearling salmon were placed in the Pemigewasset last week.

We learn from the Nashua Telegraph that the valuation of Milford is $1,184,-000, an increase of $40,000 over last year. Rate of taxation, $1.43 per hundred. Number of polls, 612. Poll tax, $2.15. Amount of money in savings bank, $200,000. Amount of railroad stock owned in town, $1000,000.

Wilton observed Sunday, the 13th inst., as the day for decorating soldiers' graves. Exercises were held at the Congregational church in the afternoon, after which a procession marched to the cemetery and performed the ceremony of decoration.

Bull Mountain, just east of Rumney, is reported to contain a latent volcano. At any rate, persons who have worked on the side of the hill, the past year, say they have heard strange noises, apparently proceeding from its bowels, resembling distant thunder or the running of large herds of horses.

The six circular saw mills in Grantham are expected to cut two and a half million feet of lumber this year. The mill of H. Alexander & Son will send two hundred thousand planed hemlock boards to Worcester, Mass.

A Mr. Jordon of Great Falls recently found a patridge's nest while on a trouting expedition, took a dozen eggs from it and put them under a hen. Nine have been hatched, and the question now is can they be domesticated.

On Saturday evening, at Manchester, Mr. David Worthley was sitting on an out-door stair rail, reading, when the decayed rail broke, and he went down about 15 feet to the ground, and was badly jarred by the fall.—On Sunday evening, as several ladies were looking at some new tombs, in the Manchester Cemetery, one lady took hold of a projecting piece of marble which fell on one of her feet, inflicting a painful and serious injury.

A TALE TOLD OUT OF SCHOOL.

"First person I love, second person thou lovest, third person he loves," drawled the head boy in the class. The next, a little girl, took it up promptly; "Plural—First person we love, second person you love, third person they love."

"And we all love."

The interruption came in a whisper, loud enough to be heard all over the room, causing the older boys and girls to smile and giggle; and the teacher, Miss Olive Burnett, looked up quickly, glancing along the row of large scholars on the back seat—young men and women—for this was a country school, and in the winter. She had come to look for trouble from that quarter. Every day some fresh aggravation, some new infringement of the rules and offence against the discipline made it hard work for her, a girl of eighteen, to maintain her authority over those forty turbulent spirits, constantly incited to insubordination by the example of their acknowledged leader, Scott Goldrick.

He sat there, at the far her end of the bench, quite in the corner, a good-looking young man of twenty, with curly chestnut hair and a mutinous curve of the lip, with head bent low over his slate, and fingers busy in figuring out some difficult problem in arithmetic. But Miss Burnett was not deceived by the apparently studious air. And there was an undertone of resolute determination in her voice as she said, looking quietly over the forty faces before her:

"These interruptions must come to an end at once. There is a point where forbearance ceases to be a virtue, and I think it has been passed. From this time out I shall enforce every rule of the school. The penalty for the next interruption of this kind will be twelve strokes of the ruler," carelessly balancing the slip of cherry-wood in her fingers.

The clear, bright face in the corner was lifted for a moment; the dark, hazel eye looked steadily into Miss Burnett's blue eyes; only a moment, the space of a breath; then the hand went on again steadily with that endless maze of figures, and Miss Burnett went on with her work.

Hard work it was, especially hard work to-day. All day long the vivid scarlet had burned in her cheeks, making her passing lovely, while her temples throbbed with pain, and one of the children feeling her feverish touch, wondered "what made Miss Burnett's hand so hot." She must not give up, though. There was too much depending on her for that. A helpless mother and two little sisters, hardly more than babies yet, all dependent for the bread they ate, upon the overworked young teacher. Truly, failure here would be her disaster.

But she must not fail. Would those interminable lessons never be finished? She wanted to go home and rest.

Two hours of tolerable order and quiet, and the day's work was nearly ended, when in the midst of the last recitation came again that interrupting whisper, plainly heard all over the room.

For an instant Olive Burnett's heart failed her. Could she muster courage enough to ferule Scott Goldrick, the oldest and largest boy in the school—a man grown? The thought came at once that it was unmanly in him to try her so. But, right or wrong, her word was passed and must be kept; her authority was assailed and must be maintained now or lost altogether. To falter now was to give up all. So, calling up all her nerve, though her head throbbed dizzily, she closed her book quietly, dismissed the class and faced the school as she said, slowly:

"The scholar who whispered that last time will please step forward."

There was a dead silence for an instant, then Scott Goldrick left his seat and walked up to where the young teacher stood. No boyish mischief in his manner now; no mocking deference; no shade of defiance, but, instead, a quiet manliness that was harder to meet than any bravado would have been.

"You can understand, Mr. Goldrick, that this is not a pleasant duty to me," her voice steady, but lower than usual, so low that some who were listening, did not catch the words at all. "You can understand that it is not pleasant for me to do this, but my rule must be respected."

For an answer he bowed and held out his hand. They were counted out faithfully—twelve strokes—no more, no less. Did he know how every one hurt her? Perhaps he did, for his eyes were on her face all the while, and when the last one was given he walked back to his seat, a little graver than before, that was all.—And the rest of the scholars opened eyes of amazement They had expected high words and open defiance at the least. This new gentleness was not fear; they knew that well. Fear and Scott Goldrick's name never went together. If it was voluntary submission to discipline, why they might as well all yield too.

Miss Burnett heard him talking to some of the older scholars outside the door after the roll was called and the school dismissed. "What! resist a lady? You'll never see me do that. Besides, I deserved the ferule for breaking the rules. I didn't mean to interrupt the last time, though. I'm going away to-morrow to my uncle's counting house in C——. Then the door closed, and Miss Burnett heard no more.

Going away! She said the words over and over to herself, sitting there with her head laid down on the table before her.—Going away! What would she do, missing day by day the bright face in the corner, and the voice that, spite of aggravations without number, was still the pleasantest voice in the world to her. What should she do?

The great pile of copy-books there on the table were still untouched, when, half an hour later some one opened the door and came in; some one whose step she knew so well. Scott Goldrick had come back for his books and slate. But she did no lift her head. He stood before her presently with the books on his arm and his hat in his hand.

"I am going away, Miss Burnett, to stay. Will you bid me good-bye?"

Still she did not look up or speak. He persisted, gently.

"Have I offended you beyond all hope of forgiveness?"

She gave him her hand at that.

"No, but——"

"But you are sick, Miss Burnett!" as he saw her face plainly. "You are really sick. What can I do for you?"

She tried to smile.

"It is only a headache—I have had it all day—and a touch of fever with it, perhaps, nothing more."

"You have been sick all day, and I have been aggravating the life out of you," he said, remorsefully, in his earnestness kneeling down on one knee beside her chair with a half bold, half shy grace, "I have made you trouble constantly, not to-day only, but ever since you came here to teach. What a brute you must think me! It was unmanly and cowardly to act as I did. No, you must let me make full confession now," kissing the hand she laid over his mouth to stop him. But, Miss Burnett, you are very ill," seriously alarmed now at the sight of her white face and closed eyes; for the self-control maintained by main force all day, and up to this moment, had given away suddenly, and weaker than a child she sat there, her breath coming in little short gasps.

Unused to woman's moods and "ways," he was at a loss what to do. He had an idea, though, that when a lady fainted, cold water was the thing, so he sprinkled her face with the cup standing on the table within reach of his hand, and, manlike, he drew her head down upon his shoulder.

She was not altogether unconscious, for she made a weak movement to withdraw herself from his arm, but he whispered, "Trust me and lie still, will you not, till you are better?" conscious the while of an odd, pleasant thrill at his heart, as her face lay so near his own that he could have touched it with his lips.

If he had been a dozen years older, he would most likely have yielded to the temptation and kissed the roses back to her cheeks, but there was just the least bit of boyish timidity yet about him; and besides he could not forget that he had been in part the cause of this very illness, and his heart smote him regretfully every time he looked at her.

She sent him away by-and-by—as soon as she was able to sit up without support. She would not let him go home with her, either, though he begged her to let him do so; she would do better by herself she said. But seeing the troubled look in his eyes as he turned away, she relented so far as to say:

"I trust we part friends."

He came back to her at this, saying earnestly:

"Can you be my friend after what you have known of me the past two months?"

"I can be— I am sincerely your friend."

"Thank you for that. Knowing it, I shall not carry such a sorely troubled conscience away with me."

Ah! he never guessed that, instead of a troubled conscience, he was carrying Olive Burnett's heart away with him.

It was seven years before they looked upon each other's faces again. Such a long, long interval. Those seven years had changed Scott Goldrick into a successful business man, steadily amassing his thousands, and alive to the brilliant, courted young widow, Mrs. Logan.

She had grown heart-sick of teaching, and one day in a desperate mood gave it up and married Paul Logan, the rich land owner. Scott Goldrick, hearing of it in the distant city where he was living, said, "Such a pity! She was one woman of a thousand, and deserved a better man than that."

Well, Paul Logan was a better man than Scott Goldrick's words would seem to imply, and, better still, his gold brought all comforts to the helpless mother until she died, and a home and all the advantages of wealth to the little sisters. And now with her husband two years in his grave, Mrs. Logan went freely into society again.

"Such a lovely woman," men always said when speaking of her. And Scott Goldrick endorsed the verdict when he met her at a reception one evening, and the hostess, supposing them to be unacquainted, presented him.

It was the Olive Burnet of seven years ago who smiled up at him, as she said to Mrs. Lake, "Mr. Goldrick and I are very old friends."

"You remember me, then," he said, as he led her away.

"I never forget," was the sweetly grave reply.

But somehow, even with this flattering beginning, they did not seem to make much progress in the renewal of their old acquaintanceship. Meeting often, as they did, at party and ball reception, at concert and theatre and opera, there was always an undefinable something, a distance between; and it was quite at the close of the winter that calling one morning on Mrs. Logan, to make his adieu before leaving town, Scott Goldrick lingered a moment as he bowed over her hand at parting, to say, half jestingly, but yet in earnest, too:

"Do you remember the old schoolhouse?"

"Yes, I remember. I am going out there on purpose to see it this coming summer."

"And I too. Who knows but what we shall meet?"

It was in the midst of the August heats that Mrs. Logan, paying a flying visit to Rycfield, procured the key of the old school-house—empty now for summer vacation—and walked down there alone one afternoon to look at it.

The door swung rustily upon its hinges as she entered and looked curiously about. It was not the cleanest place in the world, for a coat of dust, raised by the last sweeping, had settled over everything; but the rough-coated walls looked as familiar as ever, and the glazed maps hanging there, and the unpainted wooden benches. It was in that corner that Scott Goldrick used to sit—and remembering, a tide of recollections rushed over her, and she sat down in the low-backed chair and laid her head down upon the pine-table, just as she had done that evening more than seven years before.

Sitting there buried in thought, she did not hear the footstep that crossed the threshold—that paused there at the door, and then came to her, while a voice said:

"Miss Burnett, I am going away. Will you bid me good-bye?"

She looked up with a little cry—to meet a pair of clear, hazel eyes, to see before her a bright handsome face, and heavy waves of chesnut hair.

"You are really here, Mr. Goldrick! I could almost believe that the old days had come back again."

"You used to call me Scott, then," he said, significantly, coming around and kneeling on one knee beside her chair. "You are not pale now, so I shall not sprinkle your face with water," glancing at the empty cup standing there on the table, "but I should like to have your head on my shoulder again."

She made a movement to rise, but he detained her.

"Don't be offended, Olive," he said earnestly. "I made confession of my sins that night, let me make another confession now. I think I began to love you that evening, but I was a boy, and did not understand my own heart. I know now that I love you. Your face has always been before me as the sweetest and finest in the world. You sent me away from you then. Don't be so cruel again. I want to stay with you always, Olive. I want to be your husband. May I?"

For answer she put up her white hand and drew his head down upon her shoulder. And the brown walls must have opened eyes of astonishment, if eyes they had, to see Scott Goldrick kissing the blushing little woman. You see when a man falls in love for the first time at twenty-seven he is apt to be desperately in earnest.

And in the gathering gloom of twilight they locked the door of the old school-house behind them and turned their steps homeward, not teacher and pupil now, but plighted husband and wife.

A STORY OF THE OLDEN TIME.—The Liberal Christian tells it as follows:—

It was the custom of the Puritan congregations to dispense with the reading of the Bible in their public services. There was a minister settled near Boston whose sermons were often two hours long, and to whom Gov. Hancock addressed a note offering to furnish his congregation with a Bible as a present, if they would consent to their minister's reading from it as a part of the regular service on Sunday. After service the next Sunday, the good minister read the Governor's note to the congregation. Whereupon, one of the worthy elders rose and said, "Reverend sir, I object; for now the service is too long, so that it is impossible to get home and milk the cows before dark; and if the Scriptures are read besides what is now done, it would be hard to tell how late we might be kept." The good minister rose, and said that he "would take care that the time required for reading God's word should be taken from the other parts of the service, and that the service should not be lengthened by the proposed reading." The elder declared himself satisfied. The present of the Governor was accepted by a vote of the whole congregation, and from that time the Bible was read in that congregation.

The Christian Era, (Baptist paper of Boston,) copies the story, with this remark:

It is hard to believe the story told by the Liberal Christian, and one would fain hope it is an invention of some enemy of the old Puritans, for, among their faults a neglect of the Bible cannot be reckoned.

We assure our friend of the Era, says Uncle Toby, that the story is genuine history, and no invention of an enemy, or of anybody. And we add what we know to be the facts, that while the Scriptures were not neglected by the old Puritans and Pilgrims in New England, but were read in their families and schools much more than now,—yet the Bible was not generally read in their public assemblies for the first hundred years after their settlement in this country.

In the records of the First (Congregational) Church in Kittery, Me., under date of February, 1752, it is mentioned that "the Church stopt after Lecture, and after some conversation, it was Voted, That reading a portion of Scripture be for the future made one part of our public worship."

This record is one of the first entries made by Rev. Dr. Stevens, who was then a new pastor, and it was an innovation;—as Rev. Mr. Newmarch, his predecessor, who had preached there 40 years, probably never read a chapter in the pulpit.

As we read (30 years ago) in the Piscataqua Association, a historical sketch of that Church, and came to the above vote, some of the younger ministers interposed the question, "Didn't they always read the Bible in meetings?" "No (said Rev. Mr. French) it was a new thing then; and met with some opposition, as the people, or a portion of them, were desirous to have the ministers earn their salaries by preaching, while the people could read the bible for themselves!"

Similar votes were passed by the Portsmouth Churches, about the same time.

We suppose the origin of the non-reading to be this: the Puritan Dissenters from the Church of England, wishing to get as far away as possible from their usages, and knowing how largely the Scriptures are read in their service, concluded to have no reading at all.

The experience and advancement of a hundred years, and the sober thought at the close of that period, taught them better, and so they introduced Scripture Reading into their service, at the period above mentioned.

—Dr. Turner, in one of his reports of the Inebriate Asylum, speaks of three children which were born to habitually inebriate parents, and were all three idiots. Afterward these parents reformed and lived temperately several years, during which period of temperance two more children were born, and were active and intelligent. Finally, the parents again fell into inebriety, and had two more children, both idiots.

—Gail Hamilton sent a note of regret to a silver wedding in Illinois in which she said:—"When one has stayed married twenty-five years in Illinois, I suppose it is worth while to ring the bells over it! Pray consider that I touch the rope with none the less heartiness because I am hundreds of miles away."

THE HALLOW-EVE MYSTERY.

A LEGEND OF THE BLACK HALL.

CHAPTER I.

THE BERNERS OF THE BURNING HEARTS.

"Their love was like the lava flood
That burns in Etna's breast of flame."

Near the end of a dark autumn-day, not many years ago, a young couple, returning from their bridal tour, arrived by steamer at the old city of Norfolk; and taking a hack, drove directly to the best inn.

'The gentleman registered himself and his party as Mr. and Mrs. Lyon Berners, of Black Hall, Virginia, and two servants.

'We shall need a private parlor and chamber communicating for our own use, and a couple of bedrooms for our servants,' said Mr. Berners, as he handed his hat and cane to the bowing waiter.

'Certainly, sir. What would you like for tea?' asked the landlord.

'Oh, anything you please, so that it is nice and neatly served,' said Mr. Berners, with a slightly impatient wave of his hand as if he would have been rid of his obsequious host.

'Ah-ha! anything I please! It is easy to see what ails him. He lives upon love just now; but he'll care more about his bill of fare a few weeks hence,' chuckled the landlord, as he left the public parlor to execute his guests orders.

The bridegroom was no sooner left alone with his bride than he seated her in the easiest arm-chair, and began with affectionate zeal to untie her bonnet strings and unclasp her mantle.

'You make my maid a useless appendage, dear Lyon,' said the little lady, smiling up in his eyes. 'You love me too much dear Lyon! You love me so much! Yet not too much either! for oh! if you should ever cease to love me, or even if you were ever to love me less, I—I—dare not think what I should do!' she muttered in a long, deep, shuddering tone.

'Why, Sybil, my wife—you beautiful mad creature! You are a true daughter of your house! A Berners of the burning heart! A Berners of the boiling blood! A Berners of whom it has been said, that it is almost as fatal to be loved as to be hated by—'

Suddenly in the midst of their converse they heard the sound of weeping—low, deep, heart-broken weeping.

Both paused, looked at each other, and listened.

The sound seemed to come from a room on the opposite side of the passage to their own apartment.

'What is that?' inquired Sybil, looking up to her husband's face.

'It seems to be some woman in distress,' answered Lyon. 'Oh! see what it is, dear, will you!' entreated Sybil.

She was herself so happy, that it was really dreadful to be reminded just then that sorrow should exist in this world at all.

But if she could have foreseen the woe that was come to herself, to her husband and to the object of her sympathy, she would have held Lyon back, as with the grip of fate, from the mission she now had sent him.

For the weeper was a beautiful woman—a deserted wife—named Rosa Blondelle, who, although but a few days landed from the vessel which had brought her from Europe, had been robbed of her jewels and money by her husband, and then left to her fate in that Norfolk hotel.

Sybil was deeply moved by this lady's story, and insisted on taking Mrs. Blondelle home with her to Black Hall, and Mr. Berners gave his assent to her wishes.

But before they got ready to set out on their journey, Sybil bitterly repented of the arrangement. Mrs. Blondelle was so enchantingly lovely, that Mr. Berners at once began to yield to her charms; and Sybil for the first time, saw him pay the homage of admiration to other beauty than her own.

This kindled the fires of jealousy in her heart, and by the time they reach Black Hall, those fires had become fanned into an inextinguishable flame.

And no Berners had ever been known to forgive an object of jealousy.

Black Hall, the abode of Mr. and Mrs. Berners, was a palatial old Virginia mansion, situated in the heart of the Black Valley, a few miles from Blackville, the county town. It had been in Mrs. Berners' family for generations, and was renowned for the scenes of gayety and hospitality which had transpired beneath its roof.

Mrs. Berners, the last of her race, to give vent to the emotions of her restless, jealous heart, resolved to reinaugurate the festivities of the olden time, and for that purpose announced a mask ball for the evening All-Hallow-Eve, and at once set about getting all things in readiness.

One day when she was absent at Blackville, making purchases, Lyon and Rosa became so absorbed in one another, as to become oblivious of the entry of Mrs. Winterrose the old house-keeper, who found them sitting closely side by side, her hand clasped in his. On Sybil's return, the old housekeeper described this scene to her, with many exaggerations. The revelation seemed to freeze Sybil into ice.

'Oh, my heart! my heart!' she moaned, turning deathly pale. And then she bitterly added, 'Deceived! Betrayed! Scorned! Laughed at! Well, well!' she continued, nodding grimly; 'well, well, since deceit is the fashion of the day, I too will be in the fashion of the day, I too will be in the fashion; I too will wear a mask of smiles! But behind that mask I will watch!—Oh, how I will watch! Not at my fancy-ball alone will I play a part, but before it, and perhaps after it! None shall ever know how I watch, what I see, until I descend with the fell swoop of the eagle. And henceforth let me remember that I am a daughter of the house of Berners, who never failed a friend or spared a foe. And oh, let the spirit of my fathers support me, for I must ENDURE until I can AVENGE!'

And oh! could those drifters with sacred love—those wanderers on the brink of a fearful abyss—have seen the look of her face then, they would have fled from each other for ever, rather than to have dared the desperation of her roused soul.

But they saw nothing, knew nothing, suspected nothing!

And thus all the three drifted towards the awful brink of ruin.

CHAPLER II.

THE FIRST FATAL HALLOW EVE.

It was All-Hallow Eve, a night long anticipated with delight by the whole neighborhood and much longer still remembered with horror by the whole country.

It was the occasion of Sybil Berners' mask ball; and Black Hall, the Black Valley, and the town of Blackville were all in a state of unprecedented excitement; for this was the first entertainment of the kind that had ever been given in the locality, and the gentry of three contiguous counties had been invited to assist at it.

The throng at Black Hall was great, and the characters assumed by the maskers were various and well sustained.

But far the most beautiful, far the most terrible figure in the pageantry of the evening, was that of Sybil Berners! She had chosen for her character the unprecedented part of the impersonation of the Spirit of Fire. It suited well with her whole nature. Her costume was but an outward sign of the inward fervor.

Sybil had confided the secret of her costume to no one but her husband, who was himself attired as "Harold the Saxon," while Mrs. Blondelle assumed the character of "Edith the Fair."

Sybil had not been long in the room before the coquetting of her husband and Mrs. Blondelle, drove her nearly to distraction. Observing that whenever she came near them, they were on their guard, Sybil exchanged disguises with one of her guests and intimate friends, Beatrix Pendleton, and thus was enabled to watch her husband and his companion without the least restraint.

Sybil observed that a masker, representing Death, whom nobody seemed to know, watched Mrs. Blondelle as closely as she did herself; and she subsequently had occasion to remember and shudder at the fact.

Seeing the watched couple seat themselves on a small sofa in one corner of the room, she glided to an ottoman near them, in time to hear Mrs. Blondelle say:

'No, Lyon, your wife is not my friend—she is my deadly enemy. She is fiercely jealous of your affection for me, though it is the only happiness of my unhappy life. And she will make you throw me off yet.'

'Never! no one, not even my wife, shall ever do that. I swear it by all my hopes of—'

Sybil glided away. She could bear no more.

Supper-time drawing near, when all the guests would have to unmask, Sybil and Beatrix re-exchanged costumes, and went down to the drawing-room together just as the last quadrille was completed, and the company began to march to the supper-room.

As each couple passed into the supper-room, they took off their masks, and handed them to attendants, placed for that purpose to the right and left of the door. Thus, when the company filled the room, every face was shown, but "Death" was nowhere to be seen.

At last the party broke up. Only a few of the guests remained all night. These were shown to their rooms, and the others having gone, as fate would have it, Mrs. Blondelle went into the little reception parlor to meet Mr. Berners, who assured her that thenceforth he could never extend to her more than a brother's affection.

'Then give me a brother's kiss,' she sighed. 'That is not much to ask, and I have no one to kiss me now. So give me a brother's kiss, and let me go,' she pleaded plaintively.

He hesitated for a moment, and then bending over her, he said:

'It is the first, and for your own sake it must be the last, Rosa!' and he pressed his lips to hers.

It was the last as well as the first; for at the meeting of their lips they were stricken asunder as by the fall of a thunderbolt!

And Sybil, blazing with wrath, like a spirit from the Lake of Fire, stood between them!

She looked not human—with her whole face and form heaving, palpitating, flashing forth the lightnings of anger!

'Sybil!' exclaimed her husband, thunder-struck, appalled.

She waved her hand towards him, as if to implore or command silence.

'I have nothing to say to you,' she muttered, in low and husky tones, as if ashes were in her throat. 'But to YOU!' she said, and her voice rose clear and strong as she turned and stretched out her arm towards Rosa, who was leaning in affright against the wall—'TO YOU, traitress, who has come between the true husband and his wife—in the morning you must leave the house you have desecrated! for if you do not, or if I ever find your false face here again, I will tread down and crush out your life with less remorse than ever I set heel upon a spider! I will, as I am a Berners! And now, begone, and never let me see your form again!'

Rosa Blondelle, who had stood spell-bound by the terrible gaze and overwhelming words of Sybil, the wronged' wife, now suddenly threw up her hands, and with a loud cry fled from the room.

And Sybil dropped her arm and her voice at the same instant, and stood dumb and motionless.

And now, at length, Lyon Berners spoke again.

'Sybil!' he said, 'this house is yours! You must do as you please. But this I tell you: that in the same hour which sees that poor and friendless young creature driven from the shelter of this roof, I leave it too, and leave it for ever!'

If Lyon Berners really meant this, or thought to bring his fiery-hearted wife to terms by the threat, he was mistaken in her character.

'Oh, go!' she answered, bitterly—'go as soon as you like, Lyon Berners. Good-night and—good-by,' she said, and with a wave of her hand she passed from the room.

He was mad to have spoken as he did; madder still to let her leave him so! how mad, he was soon to learn.

Lyon Berners remained walking up and down the room some time longer. The lights were all out, and the servants gone to bed. Yet still he continued to pace up and down the parlor floor, until suddenly piercing shrieks smote his ear. In great terror he started forward and instinctively rushed towards Rosa's room, when the door was suddenly thrown open by Rosa herself, pale, bleeding from a wound in her breast.

'Great Heaven! What is this?' he cried, as, against with amazement and sorrow, he supported the ghastly and dying form, and laid it on the sofa, and then sank on his knees beside it.

'Who, has done this?' he wildly demanded, as, almost paralyzed with horror, he knelt beside her, and tried to stanch the gushing wound from which her life-blood was fast welling.

She opened her bloodless lips, now paling in death, and gasped forth the words:

'She—Sybil—your wife. I told you she would do it, and she has done it. Sybil Berners has murdered me,' she whispered. Then raising herself with a last dying effort, she cried aloud, 'Hear, all! Sybil Berners has murdered me.'

And with this charge upon her lips, she fell back DEAD.

'Even in that supreme moment Lyon Berners' first thought, almost his only thought, was for his wife. He looked up to see who was there—who had heard this awful, this fatal charge.

ALL were there! guests and servants, men and women, drawn there by the dreadful shrieks. All had heard the horrible accusation.

And all stood panic-stricken, as they shrank away from one who stood in their midst.

It is she, Sybil, the accused, whose very aspect accused her more loudly than the dying woman had done; for she stood there, still in her fiery masquerade dress, her face pallid, her eyes blazing, her wild black hair loose and streaming, her crimsoned hand raised and grasping a blood-stained dagger.

'O, wretched woman! most wretched woman! What is this that you have done?' groaned Lyon Berners in unutterable agony—agony not for the dead beauty before him, but for the living wife, whom he felt that he had driven to this deed of deperation.

'Lyon Berners, do YOU believe me guilty?' she asked.

He looked up, and their eyes met. If he had really believed her guilty, he did not now. He unswered briefly and firmly:

'No, Sybil! Heaven knows that I do not; but explain this horrible business—if you can!'

'The explanation is this,' she said, emphatically. And then her voice arose clear, firm, and distinct, as she continued:

'I was in my chamber, which is immediately above that occupied by Mrs. Blondelle. My chamber is approached by two ways, first by the front passage and stairs, and secondly by a narrow staircase running up from Mrs. Blondelle's room. I do not know how long I had sat there, when I heard a piercing shriek from some one in the room below. Instinctively I rushed down the communicating stairs and into Mrs. Blondelle's room, and up to her bed, where I saw by the light of the taper she was lying. Her eyes were closed, and I thought at first that she had fainted from some fright until, almost at the same instant, I saw this dagger,—here Sybil stooped and picked up the dagger that she had dropped a few minutes before—'driven to its hilt in her chest. I drew it out. Instantly the blood from the opened wound spirted up, covering my hand and sleeve with the accusing stains you see! With the flowing of the blood her eyes flew wildly open! She gazed affrightedly at me for an instant, and then with the last effort of her life, for which terror lent her strength, she started up and fled shrieking to this room. I still holding the dagger that I had drawn from her bosom, followed her here. And—you know the rest,' said Sybil; and overcome with excitement, she sank upon the nearest chair to rest.

Her story had evidently made a very great impression upon the company present. But Lyon Berners suddenly exclaimed:

'Good Heavens! that lady's mistaken charge has put us all off the scent, and allowed the murderer to escape. But it may not yet be too late! Some clue may be left in her room by which we may trace the criminal! Come, neighbors, and let us search the premises.'

And Lyon Berners, leaving the shuddering women of the party in the room with Sybil and the dead, and followed by all the men, went to search the house as grounds for traces of the assassin.

But the search proved fruitless. No trace of an intruder could be found, nor was there any evidence of robbery. Furthermore, all the windows were found fastened on the inside. They had been no way of entering the murdered woman's room except by the stairway leading from Sybil's chamber.

CHAPTER III.

THE HAUNTED CHAPEL.

The Haunted Chapel to which Mr. and Mrs. Berners were going was in a dark and lonely gorge on the other side of the mountain.

They arrived safely at the old ruin where in the course of the day they were joined by Mrs. Berners faithful servant Joe, whose affection for his mistress had led him to play the spy, and find out where she was going, and secretly follow her with provisions and means for making her somewhat comfortable.

The fugitives felt so depressed, that even the cheerful supper supplied by Joe could not relieve them of the overshadowing gloom which had settled on their hearts. A strange drowsiness soon oppressed them and they sunk into a deep sleep, as though they had been drugged with some powerful narcotic. Mr. Berners was aroused before daylight by Joe, who instantly drew him outside the chapel in alarm.

Sybil, left alone in the Haunted Chapel, continued to sleep soundly. How long she had slept she never could tell, when she was suddenly and fearfully aroused.

She felt hands at work about her person. They were creeping under her shoulders and under her limbs; they were lifting her from her mattress. Her eyes flared open in wild affright; and she saw two black affrighted forms, the one at her head, the other at her feet.

She tried to cry out in her agony of terror; but her voice died away in her bosom, and all her powers seem palsied. They raised her up, and bore her on—great heaven! whither!

To the open door of the vault under the chapel, from whose haunted depths a spectral light gleamed!

They bore her down the dreadful steps, and laid her on the deadly floor!

The iron door clanged loudly to, resounding through the dismal arches.

'We have her now!' one muttered a hoarse voice. A hollow laugh responded.

And Sybil swooned with horror!

When Sybil recovered from her death-like swoon, she found herself in a spacious cavern of such exceeding beauty and splendor, that for an instant she lost sight of her terrors in her astonishment and admiration, and then her eyes settled upon a figure who seemed the sole occupant of the place.

This was a young girl, who, with her red cloak thrown mat-like on the moss, was seated upon it cross-legged in the Turkish fashion. Her elfin face, her malign eyes, her wild, black hair and picturesque costume, were all so in keeping with the aspect of the place, that one might have deemed her the spirit of the cavern.

The two women looked at each other in silence for perhaps half a minute; and then Sybil spoke:

'What place is this? Who are you? Why am I brought hither?

'One question at a time,' answered the girl. 'What place this is concerns you little; I am a gipsy; and my name is Gentilisha; why you are brought here,' ahl that concerns you very much! It concerns your liberty, and perhaps your life.':

'I do not believe it! You have had me torn away from my husband! Where is he now?' haughtily demanded Mrs. Berners.

'He is likely in the hands of constables, who are by this time in possession of the haunted Chapel. But fear nothing! Him they they will release again, for they have no right to detain him; but you they would have kept, if they had caught you. The constables were coming there for us, but they would have found you, had we not brought you away with us. That was my doing. I made your removal the condition of my silence.'

'But when will you communicate with my husband, to relieve his dreadful suspense?'

"As soon as it shall be safe to do so. Our first care must be our own safety, but our second will be yours.'

Sybil said no more at the moment; but sat looking at the speaker, and thinking of all that had befallen her in the Haunted Chapel.

CHAPTER IV.

THE ROBBER CHIEFTAIN.

He was the mildest mannered man
That ever scuttled ship, or cut a throat.

Sybil had passed the day in the robbers' den with her strange companion, who astonished her by stating that the captain of the band had been present at her masquerade. Late in the afternoon, dinner was announced, at which several of the robbers appeared, with Moloch, a gigantic ruffian, at their head. Moloch was the lieutenant of the band, and in the absence of the captain, ruled with brutal sway. Becoming inflamed with wine, he took a seat by the side of Sybil, threw his arms about her, and attempted to imprint a kiss upon her lips.

Sybil struggled in terror, and the gipsy girl cried out:

"Men! why don't you interfere? He is rude to the lady!'

"We never meddle between other men and their sweethearts. Do we, mates?" called out one.

'No, no, no!' answered the others.

'Oh, if Satan were here!" cried the girl, in despair.

'SATAN IS HERE!' responded a voice close by.

And the robber captain stood among them as if he had risen from the earth.

Moloch dropped Sybil, and cowered in the most abject manner.

Sybil looked up, and turned cold from head to foot; for in the handsome, stately, graceful form of the brigand chief, she recognized the finished gentleman who, in the character of "Death," had danced with her at her own mask ball, and—the probable murderer of Rosa Blondelle.

While the walls of the cavern seemed whirling around Sybil, the robber captain calmly came up to her, lifted his hat and said:

'Spirit of Fire, I am happy to welcome you to your own appropriate dwelling place; and then, without expecting an answer, he turned to Moloch, and said in his smoothest tones:

"Be so good as to give me this seat, sir."

But Sybil saw that the giant turned pale and trembled like the fabled mountain in labor, as he left the seat by her side, and slunk into another at some distance.

The wine passed freely at the robbers' table, and the men grew merrier, wilder, more uproarious. Sybil became very much alarmed; and not so much by the noisy orgies of these rude revellers, as by the dreadful gaze of Moloch fixed upon her from the opposite end of the table where he sat, and the offensive language of Satan's eyes whenever they turned towards her.

At length, unable to bear the trouble longer, she arose from her seat, and courtesying to these brigands as she would have done to any set of gentlemen of whom she was taking leave, Sybil left the cavern, followed by Gentilisha, the gipsy girl.

'I must take you to another grotto. You cannot occupy mine to-night,' said the girl, with evident reluctance.

'But, oh! why, why may I not stay with you? I am afraid to sleep alone in this terrible place!' pleaded Sybil.

'I have a reason, but I cannot tell it to you now. Yes, I will, too! I will tell you at all risks! Sybil, this is this: My chamber is not safe for you! I myself am not strong enough to protect you! You might be carried off forcibly from my side! I must hide you where no devil may find you to-night, whispered the girl.

'Oh, do not leave me here alone!" pleaded Sybil. 'If I must stay, stay with me! I do not fear death: but oh! I fear those men! Do not leave me!'

"I must, for your own safety. They must not miss me, or their suspicions will be aroused.'

Then potaing to a bed of moss, and recommending her guest to lie down and seek repose, the gipsy girl glided away through the labyrinth of caves and was lost to sight and hearing.

Sybil's first impulse was to start up and run after her hostess, but she restrained herself, and sank half fainting upon the heap of moss.

There was but a faint sparkling of light in the cave, coming from a crevice in the roof through which the moonlight entered.

'Seek repose,' had been the advice of Gentilisha.

Sybil dared not seek it if she could, and could not have found it if she had. Hour after hour passed in trance-like stillness and silence, when at length she fancied she heard a creeping, stealthy step approaching. Nearly frozen with terror, she listened and watched more intently than ever. Alone, helpless, in darkness and solitude, what horrid fate must she meet! The creeping, cautious footstep drew nearer, nearer!

Oh, Heaven! it was no fancy! The entrance of the cavern was more deeply darkened for one moment, and then the huge form of Moloch stood within the cavern and nearly filled it up.

Paralyzed with horror, Sybil could neither move nor cry out—not even when the monster approached her, and put his profane hand upon her face. The above is all of this story that will be published in our columns. The continuation of it from where it leaves off here can be found only in the New York Ledger, which is for sale at all the bookstores and news depots. Ask for the number dated June 26, and in it you will find the continuation of this beautiful tale. The Ledger has the best stories of any paper in the world; and Henry Ward Beecher, James Parton and Fanny Fern, have articles in every number.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

SANDOWN, June 15.

Messrs. Editors:—We were pleased to see in your paper of last week an item of news from Sandown. Not only has she thrown off the galling yoke of the democratic party, but she proposes to take a higher stand beside her sister towns.

Already we find she is gaining a position in many of our leading papers calculated to encourage and beckon her onward in the glorious way she has commenced.

We are glad to learn that there is a grand movement to obtain additional mail privilege. Truly it should be successful; the present method is intolerable. It is a complete persecution. In this time of Railroad and Telegraph communications, for any town to have the mail but twice a week is all wrong. Nothing will sooner drive away forever all enterprise and life from a town, nothing more completely kill out every spark of ambition. And it would be nothing strange if, with the present mail facilities of Sandown, Danville and East Hampstead, were they not accommodated at Plaistow, most of the business men of these towns should go away, to places more open to civilization.

A few years since a mail route was established by Congress, from Plaistow via East Hampstead to Danville and Sandown, returning daily. Post Masters were appointed and propos als received for carrying the mail. The people had begun to rejoice and consider the thing all fixed, but Messrs. Marston, Lovering and Moulton, of Exeter, felt something slipping through their fingers. They thought the gain of their old lumbering one-horse lightning express would be materially lessened and they stopped it. By what means, we leave them to explain, and for what reasons; now we trust they will hardly be able to do so;—but the good of the towns will henceforth be regarded and not the pockets of contractors.

The past winter Danville has built a nice large schoolhouse, for one of her districts where at present the school, Mr. P. A. Hunt's, with about fifty pupils, is most successfully going on. The room is a model of comfort and convenience, and might well be considered a thing of beauty in towns of more pretentions. The other schools in town are going through successful terms under competent and earnest teachers.

Jubilee Jottings.

The rendering of the "Star Spangled Banner" at the first concert is spoken of as follows by the Portland Press.—"So perfect was the time and so harmonious the vocalism, that the great building was filled with the grandest and most soul-stirring music, exciting the audience to the highest pitch of enthusiasm, and causing that vast assemblage of 25,000 souls to spring to their feet and give vent to their enthusiasm in cheers that reverberated again and again through the Coliseum, while the air was filled with tens of thousands of white handkerchiefs, eagerly waved by gentlemen as well as ladies."

At the ticket office on the north side of the Coliseum, over a bushel and a half of greenbacks were taken on Wednesday.

The Boston Journal estimates the number of people in Boston on Wednesday at nearly half a million.

Mrs. Dunlap of Chicago was seized with apoplexy, Wednesday afternoon, in the Coliseum, while the performances were going on, and died in ten minutes. She was a sister-in-law of Mr. Dunlap, the eminent railroad contractor.

The President and 200 others sat down to a rich banquet at the Revere House about 6 o'clock P. M., on Wednesday. The English Minister, Sir Edward Thornton, was present, and spoke briefly in reply to a toast.

The lady soloists were very tastefully dressed. Madame Parepa-Rosa wore a white muslin with a gauze de Chambry overdress; adorned with red and blue knots. Miss Adelaide Phillipps wore a white tulle with a gauze de Chambry overdress; the under-skirt caught up with rose-buds, and the whole dress ornamented with the same.

New Hampshire sent 810 singers to the Jubilee.

The great choral triumph of the occasion was Mendelssohn's exquisite composition from the "Elijah," "He watching over Israel," which was given with a delicacy, grace and precision that would have done credit to a picked chorus of a hundred singers. This triumph must be accounted very great, artistically, when the difficulties of the piece are taken into consideration, but such a tribute of praise does not even suggest the lofty and soul-stirring influences which the performance was calculated to have upon the minds of sensitive listeners. Indeed, his must have been a very callous or unimpressible nature which did not yield in some measure to the combined sweetness, sublimity and purity with which the whole work was instinct, and which did not thrill with some emotions of reverence and awe, as the words of the great refrain, "He slumbers not, nor sleeps," repeated themselves in their quiet yet awful beauty.

The New York Times says "the first concert of the Peace Jubilee was one of the most remarkable successes ever accomplished in this or any other country." The Tribune says "the natives are highly elated with what they have done, and they really have reason to be." The Sun praises the arrangements, but thinks it was not a great success, looked at critically and from a musical point of view."

The Boston Advertiser says; "the most sceptical and censorious, who protested against the undertaking in the interest of high art, confess its brilliancy and grandeur. To treat the subject with ridicule at this stage of its progress implies both a want of knowledge and a want of candor." Of those most interested in its success it says; "the popular verdict is already in their favor; they have risen above ridicule, and have fairly turned the tables on their censors."

The Advertiser says of the occasion; "Fourth of July in its worst estate of holiday enjoyment, is nothing compared with the noise and confusion surging round the place devoted to Peace. In blissful contempt, organ grinders make the day hideous with obsolete Champagne Charley, or draw undignified crowds with over-worked monkeys; peep shows of all descriptions are advertised by gesticulating managers in silk hats and linen dusters. What becomes of all the lemonade, soda and beer, root, "Jubilee" and lager,—flowing from never-failing fountains—is a question too painful to solve just here. Every one hopes the keepers of these disfiguring booths may "live long and prosper," but their want of sentiment in locality ought to be trampled under the heels of public opinion! The Coliseum is in very bad company, barring the photographic establishment on its right. Here a perfect likeness, warranted, can be taken and framed in ten minutes! Rapidity of this order deserves a choice lot on the Back Bay land.

There is a large element of Boy in the Coliseum surroundings. He is met with bundles of whips that one would like to buy if only to apply in the right direction, or he stands guard over clothes baskets filled with the pinkest of popped corn, or he peddles strongly scented lozenges at ruinous prices; in fact boys both great and small haunt the stranger, and try to take him in with every sort of edible. Colic and music meet here on common ground; ice-cream, lemon-pie, Trowbridge and Beethoven are on amicable terms, if propinquity can make things agree.—A beautiful order in the abstract reigns supreme, the masses behave well, but the unsightly shanties disfiguring what should be so grand besides theoretically, are disorderly to an eyeloving system and heaven's first law. It takes no very wild imagination to call the outside circle a Pandemonium of chips and shavings."

☞ The Boston Advertiser says that the names of forty-one naval vessels were changed by Secretary Borie. Some of the names selected can hardly be deemed an improvement. Such musical names as Agamenticus, Casco, Canonicus, Tippecanoe, Saugus, and Tonawanda, are abandoned for Terror, Hero, Scylla, Vesuvius, Centaur, and Amphitrite, respectively. The Greek and Roman Mythology furnishes four-fifths of the new names, and the rest are either servile imitations of the British nomenclature or the biblical Samson, Goliath and the like.

—Mr. Carlyle says of Disraeli, that "on the whole he is the fittest man for the place, because he is the honestest. He is a scoundrel, it is true, but he never pretended to be anything else." Carlyle's judgments are somewhat ferocious.

Cattle Market at Brighton.

FOR THE WEEK ENDING WEDNESDAY, JUNE 16.

[Reported for the Boston Journal.]

At market for the current week—Cattle 19,833; Sheep and Lambs 5547; Swine 8[illegible]; number of Western Cattle 1885; Eastern Cattle —; Northern Cattle and Working Oxen 100. Cattle left over —.

Prices Beef Cattle—Extra $13 00 @ $13 50; first quality $12 25 @ $12 75; second quality $11 50 @ $12 00; third quality $10 50 @$11 25; poorest grade of coarse Oxen, Bulls, &c., $9 50@ $10 25 ⅌ 100 lbs; (the total weight of hides, tallow and dressed beef.) Brighton Hides 10c ⅌ lb; Country Hides 9 @ 9½c ⅌ lb.

Brighton Tallow 8 @ 8½c per lb; Country Tallow 7 @ 7½c ⅌ lb.

Lamb Skins 50c; sheared Sheep Skins 25c each; Calf Skins 18 @ 22c ⅌ lb.

The supply from the West was larger than that of last week, but the quality of the Cattle, upon an average, was not so good. Cattle cost from ¼ @ ½c higher in Albany than they did last week. There were quite a number of butchers went to Albany and bought their supply for the week. The best Beeves are selling at from ¼ @ ½c ⅌ lb higher than they sold the last week. There were but a few Cattle in market, except those from the West. The 17th being a legal holiday, we have made our report out one day earlier than usual. Most of the Western Cattle came in yesterday and there was a very fair demand for them.

Store Cattle—There are none in market but Working Oxen and Milch Cows. Nearly all the small Cattle that are brought into market are sold to slaughter.

Working Oxen—The supply is light and there is not much call for them. Prices—Extra from $300 @ $325; ordinary $200 @ $275 ⅌ pair. The supply will be light until Cattle commence coming from Maine.

Milch Cows—Prices, extra $85 @ $115; ordinary $40 @ $60; Store Cows $35 @ $40 ⅌ head. Most of the Cows in market are of an ordinary grade.

Sheep and Lambs—There was a larger supply from the North than that of last week. Prices remain about the same. We quote extra at $4 50 @ $9; ordinary lots $2 25 @ $4 ⅌ head. Nearly all the Western Sheep are purchased by butchers or taken at a commission.

Swine—Store Pigs wholesale 12½ @ 14c ⅌ lb;—retail 13 @ 16c ⅌ lb. Extra spring Pigs 23 @ 25c ⅌ lb. Fat Hogs—$800 at market; prices 16½ @ 17c ⅌ lb.

TWENTY DOLLARS A YEAR is a small sum to pay for a sense of security against loss by fire or theft of those valuables so large a proportion of mankind possess, such as bonds deeds, mortgages, plate, laces, jewelry, diamonds, &c., and yet that sum will rent a safe in the UNION SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS, 40 State street, Boston, which are as perfect as human ingenuity can devise. Larger safes range from $25 to $100 a year. The many ers also receive at low rates, for safe keeping, valuable paintings, rare books, choice works of art, family plate, town records, &c. The Manager, Henry Lee, will furnish circulars with full information.

HONEY MOON.—We have not been able to know what this term is derived from, except that honey means sweet month or the happiest month in man's existence. We have letters from people in all parts of America and Europe saying that the happiest days of their existence is when using SPEER'S STANDARD WINE BITTERS, causing their recovery from a bed of sickness or long continued weakness, or complaint of long standing. These Bitters are got up with great care, and are doing the great work for which they were intended, of curing the weak and debilitated and fever and ague, and giving appetite, health and vigor to the human race in all climes.

FACTS FOR THE LADIES.—I have one of the Wheeler & Wilson Sewing-Machines, which has been in constant use for the past fifteen (15) years. It has never been repaired and to-day is in perfect order, and is equal for all kinds of work to any machine I have yet seen. It has been used in making heavy clothing, beside doing all manner of family sewing, and I think it gets better every day.

Toronto, Ontario. MRS. JOAN SCALES. je12

—A highly intelligent lady, a resident of Syracuse, N. Y., says that she was afflicted nearly a year, periodically, with derangement of the circulation, the blood rushing to the lungs with such force as to threaten congestion and death. This was attended with the most intense pain in all parts of the body. Failing to obtain relief from any of the physicians whom she employed from time to time, she was induced to try the PLANTATION BITTERS, and to her surprise and joy they have relieved her, and she is now in good health and flesh. 23

SPECIAL NOTICES.

General Debility is Nature's Appeal for Help.

Thousands of persons, without any specific ailment, are the victims of languor and lassitude.—The unthinking are apt to confound this species of inertia, with laziness; whereas it usually arises from a want of organic energy, for which the subjects of it are no more responsible than the near-sighted are for their defective vision. Such persons, although they may be free from pain, are as truly invalids, and as much in need of medical aid, as if they were tormented with the pangs of acute disease. They require a TONIC AND ALTERNATIVE, that will rouse and regulate their torpid organizations. In cases of this kind, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS produce an immediate and most favorable effect.

The debilitated and desponding valetudinarian, who feels as if he were but half alive; who shuns company, and has no relish either for business or pleasure, is metamorphosed, by a brief course of this most potent vegetable invigorant, into quite a different being. The change effected by the BITTERS, in his bodily and mental condition, is a surprise to himself and to his friends. He mopes no longer; the active principle of life, which seemed to have died out of him, is re-awakened, and he feels like a new man. Remembering that debility is not only an affliction itself, but an invitation to disease, no time should be lost in recruiting the broken-down system with this choicest and most potent of all TONICS AND SERVINES.

Holloway's Pills to Dyspeptics.—Laugh at those who tell you that Dyspepsia cannot be cured. You will have good cause to laugh if you try HOLLOWAY'S PILLS as a remedy. Your sensations, after the first dose or two, will assure you that the cure has begun. You will find your appetite improved, your stomach less uneasy, your head clearer, your spirits lighter, your nerves firmer, your body stronger. Persevere, and all the distressing symptoms of your complaint will vanish. There are some rules without exceptions. This is one of them. Sold by all Druggists.

Important Fact.

We see that persons of strong constitutions, and young, suffer for days with pains of the limbs, loss of appetite and fever, who suddenly get well after a cholic followed by sloppy, bilious stools. The relief produced by these evacuations were the original guide to the idea and practice of purgation, and which, when enforced by Brandreth's Pills, always brings results, usually cures, and often prevents disease, especially Scarlet Fever and diseases of similar character.

I. L. Cook, publisher of the "State Banner," Bennington, Vt., says Brandreth's Pills cured him of Dyspepsia, after being afflicted with it over five years. His friends and doctors considered his recovery impossible; but six boxes of Brandreth's Pills restored his health perfectly.

A young lady of Mount Pleasant was sorely troubled with Tape-worm. All advice and medicine failed to help her. She had no rest. Thin, careworn and unhappy, she looked the picture of misery. At last she concluded to try Brandreth's Pills. In one year she took seventy-two boxes.—They brought away, according to her computation, over two hundred yards of tape-worm. At length all her bad symptoms left her; she slept and ate naturally, and her health became fully restored. je17

"A Word to Horsemen."

DR. TOBIAS' CELEBRATED VENETIAN HORSE LINIMENT has been tested by the first Horsemen in the country, and proved to be superior to any other. The late Hiram Woodruff, of "trotting fame," was never without a bottle in his stable. It is also used by Col. Bush, of the Jerome Park Course, at Fordham, N. Y., who has over twenty racing horses under his care, among which rank some of the finest stock in America. It is warranted to cure Lameness, Sprains, Bruises, Scratches, Galls, Cuts, Wind Galls, Colic, Sore Throat, Nail in the Foot, and Over Reaching, when used according to the directions.

All who own or employ Horses are assured that this Liniment will do all, if not more, in curing the above named complaints. No horse need die of Colic, if, when first taken, the Liniment is used according to directions. Always have a bottle in your stable.

Prices, in Pint bottles, One Dollar. The genuine is signed S. I. TOBIAS on the outside wrapper. For sale by the Druggists, Saddlers and Storekeepers throughout the United States. Depot, 10 Pack Place, New York. je17

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Manhood.

IN the young and rising generation the vegetative powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show its baneful influence.—It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. Then is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body too much imbedded to give rest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwards upon themselves.

If the patient be a female, the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety, as the first symptom in which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase body too much unbedded to give rest to healthful energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain; the parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU, for Weakness arising from excesses or early indiscretion, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread for fear of Exposure to Friends; no Pleasure, no Earnestness, no Speculation, but a hurried Transition from one question to another.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on—which this medicine invariably removes—soon Exhaust Loss of Power, Fatuity, and Epileptic Fits, in one of which the patient may expire.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Philadelphia Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients; reason had for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibition appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute—neither Mirth always nor wisdom. Should a sound of the voice occur it is rarely articulate.

"With woeful measures wan Despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguiled."

Whilst we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are pleasured to add, there is invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences. HELMBOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU. There is no tonic like it. It is an anchor of hope for the surgeon and patient, and this is the testimony of all who have used or prescribed it.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, natural to the lungs, and by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is loose a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

The Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented by art of man, or God, to compare with them. Calomel is deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care, that will unlock the gall ducts and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Scrofula, ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make good blood; the food is lost. Now if a chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest well and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and in the last twenty years many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 38 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yja4

CITY COUNCIL, June 17th.—The Mayor absent; Ald. Spinney elected to the Chair. The Com. on Streets reported in favor of the petition of M. H. Goodrich and others, for repairs of Hill Street. Adopted. Also in favor of City exchanging land with E. C. Varney, to straighten Woodbury St. Adopted.

On bill of Wm. Plaisted, for expense of removing Water Tanks for St. Sprinkling, from Pleasant St., the same Com. reported leave to withdraw, which was adopted.

Com. on City Lands and Buildings, reported plan for repairs and enlargement of Engine House No. 2. Referred to said Com. with power to act.

The question of widening Sagamore Road was again laid over till next meeting, Tuesday Evening, when the Freemen's Point Road hearing will be had.

Petition of I. C. Dickson and others, for acceptance of Dover St., referred to Com. on Sts.

Petition of Stephen H. Simes & Co., and others, for weekly cleaning of Market St., was referred to Com. on Sts., with power to act.

The Union Cornet Band, by Wm. Critchley, asked for Ward Room No. 1 in which to practice. Referred to the chairman of Com. on City Lands and Buildings, with power to act.

MORE RASCALITY UNEARTHED.—Mr. Gershom F. Melcher of this city has been missing several articles of jewelry from his store of late, and, on Wednesday night, officer Thomas Entwistle arrested two youngsters supposed to be concerned in the robbery. Upon being placed in the lock-up they confessed to having possession of the articles, but stated that they purchased them. Mr. Melcher agreed not to prosecute the boys on condition that they would return the articles, which they did, and no further action will be taken in the matter should the boys in future keep out of mischief. The property recovered amounted to $50 or $60 in value, and consisted of rings and studs. Our police force are always on the alert and non-residents as well as residents of Portsmouth, inclined to thieve, have little prospect of remaining undiscovered in their operations in this vicinity while the police force is so active and vigilant.

STONE & MURRAY'S CIRCUS.—The following, from the Springfield Republican, will give an idea of the excellence of this popular circus:

"The pavilion of Stone & Murray was completely filled last night by a most enthusiastic audience, and hundreds were actually refused admittance, the managers preferring to remain satisfied with a full house of patrons, all comfortably seated, than to have an overflowing crowd in constant confusion. The performances were the finest we ever saw, and gave unbounded satisfaction. The troupe is a very large one, and composed of the magnates of the ring. In fact, we are certain that no other exhibition can equal that of Stone and Murray."

They give two of their entertainments this (Friday) afternoon and evening, and we have no hesitation in commending them to those who enjoy entertainments of the kind.

☞ The case of Saml. Wilson, for larceny, which was taken to the Supreme Judicial Court for this District at Exeter, had judgment rendered on the verdict, the exceptions having been overruled. The court adjourned sine die at 11 o'clock, Thursday.

☞ Horn & Bloodgood's Combination troupe appear here on Saturday evening, and if they are as well received as their performances merit they will have a full house.

THE COAL STRIKE.—The Philadelphia Ledger announces that the strike in the coal regions is about at an end, such arrangements having been made between the contending parties as will insure harmony of action in future, without detriment to the interest of consumers and the general public.

☞ The stores of Mr. Abner Greenleaf, a Portsmouth boy, were burned in Brooklyn, Wednesday morning, Loss $60,000.

☞ Dover people are beginning to talk of celebrating the 250th anniversary of the settlement of that place, which will be in 1873.

—The wife of Daniel Coughlin of North Brookfield gave birth a short time ago to three daughters, weighing seven pounds each.

New Hampshire Legislature.

The House on Thursday took up a bill to relieve the town of New Castle from taxation.

Mr. Ray, of Lancaster, explained the peculiar situation of the people of New Castle, who were poor, their town isolated and surrounded by water, dilapidated, etc., they were really unable to pay in their assessment, and got their living solely by fishing.

Mr. Reding of Portsmouth, was in favor of the bill. The building of Government boats and public roads near New Castle had brought many there during the war who were improperly enrolled.

Mr. Mason of Moultonborough thought it was a bad precedent.

Mr. Badger of Concord supported the bill: also Mr. Wadleigh of Milford, who thought the present burdens of New Castle were likely to depopulate the town.

Mr. Page said the case was similar to that of the town of Rollinsford, and that all visible taxable property in New Castle only amounted to $13,000. The bill relieves the town from 50 per cent. taxation on its assessment. It was finally read a third time and passed.

NAVY YARDS.—A Washington dispatch to the Boston Advertiser, says;—The Board of Naval Officers, of which Rear-Admiral Lardner is president, has been for some time making an examination of the various navy yards on the Atlantic coast. The board find the navy yards generally in good condition, considering the amount of work done in them since the beginning of the war, but will make some recommendations looking to their greater efficiency. Some things about them are not near as taut and trim as in European yards. The board will also advise the Secretary of the Navy to call on Congress at its next session for a moderate appropriation to carry out some of their suggestions.

☞ Mr. Moses Yeaton, of this city, after ten day's labor, has succeeded in raising the Congregational church at North Hampton, eleven feet. The building is 39 by 70 feet, with steeple, bell, &c., and is to have a chapel in the basement. The work was done without the slightest injury to the walls or any part of the structure.

☞ The Engines which were built at this Navy Yard for the Nantasket have been tested at the wharf and pronounced by competent judges to be all that is required for first class engines. No occasion for the slightest alteration.

☞ The bill of exceptions in the case of Pike, the murderer of Mr. and Mrs. Brown of Hampton Falls, has been over-ruled, and Sheriff Morse will hvae the unpleasant duty of hanging Pike in November, if no reprieve is granted.

☞ After four years delay the bounty due the officers and crew of the Kearsarge who participated in the capture of the Alabama is payable. It amounts to about $80 for a landsman.

☞ Emma A. Ridley of Auburn, N. Y., was struck by lightning and instantly killed the other day while standing at a table, ironing. No injury was done to the house.

THE VERDICT in the Chicago Craig-Sprague breach of promise case seems to have been entirely satisfactory to the lookers-on.—When the jury took their stand in the box a number of persons behind the bar quietly rose from their seats and looked anxiously and eagerly forward. No one seemed to breathe. The fair plaintiff, who covered her eyes with a handkerchief when the jury entered, looked up wistfully and bent over the arm of the chair, awaiting the final edict. When the words of the foreman fell upon the ears of the people: "We, the jury, find for the plantiff the full amount of damages," the hall resounded with cheers, clapping of hands, boisterous laughter, and such yells as would have weakened the knees of a warrior. The plaintiff's head fell on the shoulder of her mother, and a grand rush was made from outside the bar towards the $100,000 party, the lady victor, mother, brother, and smiling counsel, for congratulation. Hand-shakings, pattings of the shoulder, kisses and weeping were the order of the hour. It is hinted that a number of the jury in making this extraordinary verdict were animated by the intention of getting divorced from their own wives, and "going for" Amanda.—Exchange.

Morning Chronicle.

THE GRAY FRIARS' DOG.—In the city of Edinburgh the old chapel of the Gray Friar Monks stands in the churchyard where some of Scotland's noblest sons and daughters are buried. Nearly seven years ago a man was buried in the old churchyard. Among the mourners was a small terrier dog. He laid himself down on the grave of his master, and did not retire when the funeral procession moved out of the yard. The sexton saw the dog, and left him to sleep on the newly-made grave till morning. Morning came, and the dog was in his place. When people walked around his master's resting-place he paid no attention to them. But if one visitor attempted to tread on the soil, to him so sacred, the growl of the dog indicated his displeasure. He would at once fly at the throat of a person who did not heed his growl. More than six years, in cold and rain, in snow and storm, this affectionate animal has slept in Gray Friars' churchyard on the grave of his master. All attempts to seduce him from his chosen bed have failed.

On dark and stormy nights the kind sexton has tried to coax the dog from his cold couch, at least until the storm had passed; but in vain. Once or twice the dog has been fastened up in the vestry when the rain beat violently; but, on each occasion, the little fellow had broken through the windows and made his escape. At one time he was tied up; but he mourned so piteously, and howled so terribly, that he was allowed to go out into the tempest and lie down over the spot where the friend he loved rested in his narrow bed.

No one knew where the dog came from, nor who his master was. The name given to him is "Gray Friars' Bobby."

Many things about this wonderful dog are quite as marvelous as his remarkable affection. The manner in which he lives, how he counts time and number days, is really marvelous. He goes out for his breakfast at a given hour each morning. He has his morning meal at the same place. A kind baker has fed him each morning for many years. At noon his dinner comes from another place. Bobby remains on the grave till the great gun of the Castle booms out the hour of noon. He then gets up and walks out of the churchyard. He goes some blocks away. At the restaurant of Mr. John Trael the dog finds his dinner. Mr. Trael has given Bobby a good meal at midday for six years, and will as long as he has a crumb to spare, or the dog needs one. The dog knows the hour of twelve as well as any man in Scotland.

Bobby has a pantry near the grave, in which he places what he does not wish to eat at once. He hides his food under a tombstone. On Friday he saves a part of his dinner and hides it away in the pantry. On Saturday he also saves a part of his dinner. Bobbs can count. He knows when Friday and Saturday arrive. He never miscounts.

Only on those two days does he put away part of his food. He knows that Sunday is coming. He knows that Mr. Trael, his good friend, is also a friend of the Sabbath, and will not keep his shop open on that day, even to give him a dinner. If he does not save something to eat, he will have to go hungry. On Sunday Bobby does not leave the grave of his master. The Castle gun sounds out the midday hour on the Sabbath as it does on other days of the week, but Bobby does not stir. He hears it, as he always does; but he knows that it is the Lord's day. He does not go forth to seek food. He eats his frugal meal that he laid up on Friday and Saturday, and keeps quiet all day on the lonely grave of his master.

A REMEDY FOR CLUB-FOOT IN CABBAGE.—Last summer, in my grounds at Jersey City, where we have never been able to get two crops of cabbages successfully without having them injured by club-foot, my foreman suggested to me to experiment with a bed of about half an acre, to be planted with Early Wakefield cabbage. One-half of this he proposed to manure at the rate of 2000 pounds per acre. This was accordingly done in the usual way, by sowing the bone dust on the ground after ploughing, and then thoroughly harrowing in. During the month of May we could see no perceptible difference in the beds, but just as soon as our first hot days in June came, down wilted the portion that had been dressed with stable manure, showing a well-defined line the whole length of the bed, and on pulling the plants up we found that our enemy was at work; while in that portion that had been dressed by the bone dust not a wilted plant could be seen, but, on the contrary, the crop had most unusual vigor. This experiment has been to me one of the most satisfactory that I ever tried: it still further proves that the destructive insect cannot exist to an injurious extent in a soil impregnated with lime, and also proves that we have a most effective remedy in this valuable and portable manure. Henderson's Gardening for Profit.—

—A cat passed some urchins in the street the other day, when one spoke up with a feeling of injury, "it's always the way; you never can find a stone when you see a cat."

THE PEACE JUBILEE.

We are bound for the Boston Jubilee;
Three cheers for the good Peace Jubilee;
For the deafening roar of the jubilee,
The fearfullest noise that ever shall be.
For a thousand instruments you will see,
And a hundred anvils there will be,
And a city full of artillery,
And old King Cole with his fiddlers three,
Hurrah, hurrah for the jubilee.

We are bound for the Boston jubilee,
To sing our sing and to see our see.
O! the heavens will shake with the sound when we—
Join the chorus crash of the Jubilee.

Thunder and guns, and an earthquake shock;
A flourish of trumpets; a ringing of bells;
A stunning earsplitting; a chorus of yells.
An explosion as tho' a great mountain of rock
Should fall on the earth with a terrible knock,
And shiver the world in a general smash—
This would give an idea of this jubilee clash.
For the clamor shall rise till it reaches the skies,
And startles the world with tremendous surprise,
And echo re-echoes it back as it flies;
Through the earth and the air and the isles of the ocean, [ion.
Till the universe rings with a sudden commo-
You are bound for the Boston jubilee;
But I will be hanged if I will go with thee.
For I fear that my ear will be stunned when I hear,
And make me as deaf as a post could be.
So I'll sit on the ridgepole, and gaze o'er the sea,
Till the voice of your music floats over to me;
A terrible clash, and a terrible roar,
That echo shall carry from shore to shore.

All the tomcats in creation,
All the dogs in ululation,
All the donkey's in the nation,
All the cows in emulation,
All the bears with heavy growling,
All the wolves their music howling,
All the lions and the tigers,
In the Indian jungles prowling:—
Ne'er could raise a song to be—Anything—O jubilee!
Anything—compared with thee.

WHAT ADVERTISERS SAY.
The firm, whose letter we print below, gave us in 1867 what was then the largest contract we had ever received for our "LISTS OF 100 LOCAL NEWSPAPERS." The fact that they this year renew the order and increase the amount is the best argument we can give that these "Lists" are good advertising mediums.
LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL, MANUFACTURERS OF Axes, Shovels, Saws, &c., No. 118 WATER STREET, PITTSBURG, PA., Feb. 3, 1868.
MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO.:
Gentlemen:—One year ago with much hesitation we gave you an advertisement for one of your Lists of One Hundred local papers; a very short time thereafter we unhesitatingly added two more Lists of One Hundred papers.
But a short time elapsed before we were inquired of on every side for "Colborne's Red Jacket Ax," proving to us that your plan of Lists had reached the very parties to whom we wanted to introduce our new patent Ax.
The year having now nearly gone by, we cannot but believe your system of advertising by "Lists of Local Papers" has been the best of advertising we want, and we to-day forward you an order still adding one more List of One Hundred papers, making our order now altogether four (4) Lists of One Hundred (100) local papers.
The more we talk with newspaper agents, and editors and publishers, we are the more satisfied we are that the arrangement we have made with you is preferable to any we have ever heard of. The merit of the Ax itself has, of course, something to do with the great success we are satisfied we owe to that by your system of advertising by "Lists" we have accomplished in one year what would have ordinarily taken us two years to accomplish.
Respectfully, LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL.

The following from the National Publishing Co., of Philadelphia, may be taken as an answer to those who inquire if these "Lists" can really be good advertising mediums.
OFFICE OF THE National Publishing Company, No. 26 SOUTH SEVENTH STREET. J. R. JONES, President.
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 16, 1868.
MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 40 PARK ROW:
Gentlemen:—It is more than three years since we began advertising in your "Lists of One Hundred Papers" each, and in that time have given "The List System" as originated by you, a thorough trial, and we can now say it is the cheapest and best general advertising medium we have any knowledge of.
We have tried every possible mode of advertising, having dealt with the press direct, and thro' nearly every advertising agency in the country, and have no hesitation in saying that your Lists have paid us 50 per cent. better than any other way. Respectfully, NATIONAL PUBLISHING CO.

POULTRY AND EGGS.—A good deal of experience has taught us that success in the poultry-yard depends as much upon good general management as upon any one thing. When the eggs of any hens indifferently are kept for the purpose of raising young chickens, and little attention is paid to the particular hens reserved for laying, it will in general be found that the profits are small, and the quality of fowls raised rapidly deteriorates.

In addition to the usual plan of selecting only the best formed and quietest hens for breeding purposes, we have found it of advantage to pay considerable attention to the age of the fowls which we retain. For the production of eggs for domestic consumption we never keep hens beyond their second year, but for raising chickens we have found it to be poor policy to employ eggs laid by hens less than two years old. We have always found that the chickens from the older hens are more easily raised, have stronger constitutions, and turn out every way better than those raised from pullets. The eggs consequently cost more, but this extra expense is but a small item on the number of eggs usually employed for hatching.

In order to have eggs during winter, besides the usual appliances of meat, lime, sand, bones, etc., we always make sure of having some very early chickens. The pullets of these will commence to lay in October or November, and will lay throughout the winter. Next season we draft a few of the very best of these and keep them as breeders, the balance being fattened and killed off as soon as they have positively ceased laying. At this time it is wonderful how rapidly hens take on fat.

We often see accounts of hens not laying because they are too fat. When considering the case with which hens fatten as soon as they cease laying for the season, we have often thought that the true way to state the case, is, that they fattened because they did not lay. At this age they are delightfully tender and juicy, and we would about as soon think of fattening a cow that gave twenty quarts of milk a day as to think of fattening a laying hen.—Country Gentleman.

STRAWBERRY WINE.—A strawberry grower in Western Pensylvania has been experimenting in the making of strawberry wine. As the results of his experiments, he has succeeded in getting a superior quality of beautiful, clear and palatable wine. Whenever the price of berries is low, he turns them into wine, making it by the barrel. His process of manufacturing is as follows: Three quarts of strawberries, with hulls on (for he mashes all up together) make one quart of juice. To this he adds three quarts water and three pounds best sugar; putting the whole into a sweet barrel, and leaving the bung out for fermentation. These are his proportions for mixing. When fermentation subsides, the barrel is closed up, and the strawberry wine is ready for use, and will keep ten years and more.

This is a comparatively new use for strawberries, and may be worthy of consideration to those who have a surplus of berries which they do not choose to put in market.—Utica Herald.

TEMPERANCE IN GOFFSTOWN.—In the Narrative of the State of Religion, read at the late Conference in Francestown, it was remarked that unusual interest in the cause was manifested in Goffstown. The minister, Rev. Mr. Gerould, preached a Temperance Sermon, which the physician, Dr. Carr, followed up with a lecture on the evils of liquor drinking from a medical stand point. A majority of the legal votes petitioned the selectmen to enforce the Prohibitory Law.—The rum sellers, either voluntarily or under compulsion, closed their bars, and a Good Templar Lodge, called "Uncanoonuc, No. 100, has been organized with about thirty charter members, embracing many of the leading citizens, their wives and children. They are evidently in earnest and mean business. Would that a like Temperance revival might extenk to other towns of our County!—Amherst Cabinet

—A man in Kendall County, Illinois, who lost forty head of cattle last year by the introduction of disease among them by Texas cattle, has recovered $500 damages against a drover who brought the Texas cattle into the State in violation of law. The latter proposes to carry the matter up and test the constitutionality of the law.

Either the drover must be a fool himself, or else he must suppose the judges to be fools.

DODD'S NERVINE DID IT.
NEW LONDON, CONN., April 26, 1869.
REMEMBERED FRIEND:
I thought it well to wait another week before writing, to see if I continued to improve, as I have been doing for some time, under the treatment of the new medicine, and I am happy to tell you that I am getting better—even faster than when you were here. I commenced the use of DODD'S NERVINE without anybody advising me to it. When I began with it I could only walk from my bed to the chair. My trouble has been extreme pain in the head, and has lasted over three years. All the medicine I have heretofore taken has failed to give any relief. I am now able to go up and down stairs, and daily improving. I consider the NERVINE the best medicine I ever found, and shall continue its use, for I am confident of entire recovery. I have taken only three bottles, and would not be without it on any account. [jel5 4w] Very truly, MRS. I. S. NUTE.

A LETTER
FROM DR. CONNACHER
To DR. WOLCOTT.
Dear Sir: A lady friend
Called on me last night
To visit a sick woman,
Who was not expected
To live till morning.
Several physicians
Had attended her,
And yesterday the Priest
Visited her for the last time.
She had been confined
Five weeks before my visit.
I found the room
Where she lay crowded
With Men and Women,
Watching for her to die.
She was so low
She could not speak
Only in Whispers,
And very weak.
She had severe inflammation of the Bowels. I applied PAIN PAINT freely, and in less than fifteen minutes every particle of Pain was gone.—Another TRIUMPH for your PAIN PAINT. Her fault was nearly raw from repeated applications of Mustard Plasters. They purchased a $5 bottle of PAIN PAINT, and she is doing well, and out of Danger. I had just got home, and nearly asleep, when another person came after me, wanting relief for his wife, who had toothache. She was cured instantly by applying PAIN PAINT freely to the outside of her face. Last Monday night a gentleman who keeps a Livery Stable here called on me to visit his Wife, who has been suffering for a long time with Liver complaint, Cough, and a host of troubles, the result of Catarrh. Every Physician in this town has practiced on her, but always her fear worse. The $5 Bottle that contained the Drugs she had swallowed would fill a large Dry Goods Box. In her case I used both PAIN PAINT and the ANNIHILATOR; in a few minutes she was entirely relieved of all pain, and could talk in longer breaths than she had done in many months. She bought a pint of PAIN PAINT and a pint of the ANNIHILATOR, and is recovering her health rapidly. I could send you a hundred cases where I have used your Remedies for Pain, Sickness, and Diseases, which had baffled all the skill of Medical Practitioners, that have fully recovered by your simple and harmless Remedies, by my recommendations, and for whom I have prescribed.
A Baptist Clergyman here in Hyde Park is an enthusiastic admirer of PAIN PAINT, and wants to get one of your Charts to hang up in his library. He thinks PAIN PAINT is the greatest thing ever known. I shall go to Pittston in a few days and will write you again more particulars. I cannot close without sending you a sworn affidavit, handed to me by a gentleman residing in Wilkesbarre, Penn., to whom I applied PAIN PAINT with astonishing success. DR. J. CONNACHER.
SCRANTON, PA., May 12th, 1869.
On Friday, April 30, I was suddenly taken with Rheumatism in my back, so that I was unable to leave my bed. On Monday, May 3, Dr. Connacher was sent for; with great pain and difficulty I turned over in bed to have the Doctor blister me. In less than three minutes I arose and dressed myself and went down stairs. I felt no more pain and but little soreness. I walked all around the public square and to the Bristol House in less than twenty minutes from the first application of Pain Paint. I am now free from pain, and can be seen any day at the fruit and confectionary store on Main Street, near the public square.

Dr. R. L. WOLCOTT, of 181 Chatham Square, N. Y., has more patients than any Hospital in the world. He discards all dosing, and removes pain, free of cost, at his office. His PAIN PAINT for Pain, and ANNIHILATOR for Catarrh and Weak Nerves, is sold at all Drug Stores. He charges nothing for advice, and sends to any person his Remedies, free of express charges, on receipt of $5 at each order. Therefore none need be deceived by counterfeits. He uses only White Wrappers. Jel5 4w

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

SATURDAY, JUNE 19, 1869.

Editorial Correspondence.

BOSTON, June 17.

Dear Chronicle:—Everything is jubilee, of one sort or other—the bells and guns at sunrise this morning reminding me that this is the glorious 17th of June, and that the Chronicle does not get it for a holiday, as everybody should over whom floats the star-spangled, and as almost everybody here does, except the newspaper men, who are doubly busy this week.

The crowds in and about the Coliseum, on Wednesday, were immense—in all being estimated at fifty thousand people; and the sight was one of a lifetime when the President and suite, including the immortal Farragut, were greeted by the shouts of that mighty chorus, with the welcome of the flag of the free, amid the wild hurrahs of the entire audience, all rising, and waving handkerchiefs and hats.

The military display of ten regiments was extensive, and very creditable for State Militia, and an event so impromptu at that; a great drawback to its completeness being the lack of a very numerous Police to keep the crowds clear of the troops as they passed. In New York, where they have 2600 Police, they can keep the streets clear between a procession and the sidewalks, but Boston, with only about 300 Police, and a large portion of these at the Coliseum, could not do it up exactly as the authorities would have liked this time.

President Grant's visit greatly pleased the people, as an event; but his public taciturnity and apparent lack of cordiality, and personal interest, (which, of course, is only apparent,) disappoint many, who do not appreciate his golden silence. When welcomed formally in the Legislative halls, and again so spontaneously at the great concert room, and again at the City Banquet,—he replied never a word. Well, the sphinx may be actually the greatest character, after all; for he certainly could have made a brief response if so disposed, as his very neat and laconic remarks on one or two exceptional occasions have shown. We think no less of so great a man of action, who has been tried as he has by fire, that he is not, will not be, a speech-maker, although of all the charms in the world there are none like the power of oratory. Verily, words are silver.

— The second Concert passed off gloriously, and included the Star-Spangled Banner and Anvil Chorus, with cannon accompaniment, etc. The former piece is the most satisfactory piece of all, and probably both these will be given every day. The attendance to-day is expected to exceed that of yesterday, and will probably be the culmination of the whole affair, with the grand ball with 5,000 gas-lights to-night.

— The City Banquet Wednesday evening, at the Revere House, to President Grant and the other City guests, was an elegant affair, though social and without any stiff formality,—a'l passing off pleasantly, and closing by 9 o'clock. Of which perhaps a word hereafter.

— I do not design a full and detailed report of the proceedings at the Coliseum, or any where else, but only to give an occasional note and comment on things in general as they pass.

I am more and more convinced by the correctness of the theory advanced to me by the best authorities before the commencement — that the increase of numbers beyond a certain point does not appreciably add to the power of a chorus, either to participant or listener —in value or reach of sound. The most satisfactory pieces are those of choral character. The Star Spangled Banner loses all its thin and hackneyed character, and is sublime, with all this power.

And notwithstanding the theory that low or bass notes extend the farthest, it is a fact that the trebles, and especially the magnificent Parepa's, fills the hall best. Even Addie Phillipps' robust contralto was tame beside it.

The Coliseum building, especially when full of people, is a wonderful sight—worth a long journey to witness. A friend who has visitited the famous cathedrals and audience halls of the old world remarked to us that nothing he had ever seen gave so impressive an idea of space. Even St. Peter's at Rome, although a hundred feet longer than the Coliseum, (which we believe is 500 long and 300 wide,) yet is so divided by pillars and otherwise, as to afford less idea of expanse.

The sudden death of a Chicago lady during the Concert on Wednesday, (Mrs. Dunlap, formerly Miss Pond of Boston,) would have created a sensation if known at the time. She died of heart disease, no doubt, as also did a brother a few years ago. A gentleman who was present when she was taken into the reception room informs us that she was placed in a recumbent position —but we believe the idea of the physicians is that the body in such cases should be kept upright. The injury of a gunner, by the mysterious premature discharge of a cannon, on the first day, by which he lost an eye, is almost the only accident we hear of. The jam about the building and at the entrances is tremendous at concert time. A party of half a dozen gentlemen and ladies, at the St. James Hotel, were invited by ex-Secretary Fox to visit the concert Wednesday afternoon. But they counted without their host, or he without them; for, on alighting from their carriages, the surging and swaying crowd separated Mr. Fox from his wife, and each from all, and although for a little while the members of the party could see one another swept along and whirled around like chips in an eddy of the river's tide, as one of them aptly expressed it,—no two of them met together again until after the concert, and neither could ascertain whether the others got in or not. Numerous were the separations and interruptions of this sort, but all more laughable than serious, and many ladies were passed in by the very civil doorkeepers, whose husbands did not know whether they were out or in.

— Among the numerous representatives of the Press, Miss Kate Field of the New York Tribune, and several other lady correspondents, occupy seats at the reporters' tables, among other brother editors. The proprietor of the Prince Edward Island North Star, (who goes in for annexation to the U. S.,) is the most down east delegate, we believe, and Mrs. Partington and the Fat Contributor are among the celebrities.

—President Grant appears to best advantage on horseback. On Wednesday he rode a small but very spirited bay, the smallest but most fiery of ten horses that stood saddled to his chaise; but wether this was his especial selection or mere accident, we know not. But the General rode superbly of course, and attended by Gen. Butler and staff,—with his hat in hand, bowing to the crowds, as he rode through the densely packed streets, to the Coliseum, pleased the people much better than when receiving eloquent addresses and cordial public greetings in absolute silence, and absolutely almost without so much as a word of acknowledgement.

—The City Dinner at the Revere House, Wednesday evening, or we might almost say afternoon, was a select but very cosy affair. The guests assembled at 6, and all was over by 9 o'clock. Probably about four hundred guests, sat down to an elegant supper, but the presence of the distinguished men was a more attractive feast to us, even than the long list of fat things on the bill of fare, which included a catalogue of niceties sufficient to surfeit an epicure to eat through it. Speech making is going out of fashion at dinners, you know,—perhaps because the President has set the example, but more probably on account of its being a bore to everybody usually. So after dining the President took his departure with Secretary Boutwell, for Groton, where he spent the night. Mayor Shurtleff called for a toast to the President, and three cheers were afterwards given, for Grant, who left amid cheers and waving of handkerchiefs,—and Farragut received a no less cordial farewell.

At the tables, the President and the Mayor of Boston sat at the head of one, Admiral Farragut with Speaker Jewell of the Massachusetts Legislature, at another, and a prominent colored lawyer of this city at another near—suggestive proximity. Coms. Winslow and Rodgers, ex-Gov. Smyth, and numerous others world-renowned men, statesman and warriors, were also included among the guests. Gilmore's Band, with Arbuckle for leader, furnished inspiring music; and the tables were profusely decorated with lovely bouquets, so numerous that every guest might take one for a souvenir as he left.

We found Com. Winslow as courteous as he is brave, and he related to us that his meeting Speaker Jewell, reminded him that the latter was Judge Advocate before a Court Martial of which he (Winslow) was a member, at the time of his appointment to the Kearsarge, and his sudden departure breaking up the jury, the long evidence in the case then pending, had to be all gone over with again.

—Your correspondent, and the press generally, are greatly indebted to Aldermen White and Talbot, (the latter of the American Union and Flag of our Union,) Mr. Durham of the Boston Sunday Times, and of course to Br. S. R. Niles, there among others—for special courtesies on this occasion and all through the campaign.

Thursday being partially a holiday, and the affair having worked up to fever heat,—this is the climax thus far, and is not expected to be excelled. Tickets were at a premium in the morning, seats selling by speculators as high as $25; and $10 to stand up, and more were sold after early in the day at headquarters, even to stand. The audience was immense, and all went merry as possible.

The total expenses of this big sing' foot up about three hundred and fifty thousand dollars; and both in itself and the means used to promote it, are the best exemplification of the power and benefits of advertising which the world ever saw. We mean that without the newspapers, this Jubilee could never have been very jubilant; and that gloriously excellent and artistic as it is, the whole affair would pay well, even if every cent of the cost were taken from the City treasury, merely as an advertisement of the City of Notions—which are usually good notions, and will have to be grander than ever after this, to be attractive and successful. To Mr. Gilmore, and Treasurer Jordan of the Com. on Arr. seems chiefly to be due the real basis of success of the affair; and ex-aldermen C. W. Slack, at the City dinner, severly denounced the kid glove old fogies who opposed it, and praised Young America who put it through. But we think the fogies are as useful as the fast ones, and in fact the basis and foundation of all.

Yours, F.

New Hampshire Items.

A sad accident occurred in Amherst, on Thursday evening June 10. Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Peabody of Lowell, and Mrs. Charles Coggin of Milford, had been spending the afternoon with Mr. Francis Peabody, and as they were driving from the yard, the horse took a sudden start, throwing them out with great violence. Mr. P. received very severe, and it is feared, fatal injuries. His collar bone was twice broken, two ribs broke, and his side and back much injured. He remained unconscious for an hour, and when reason returned, suffered intensely. The ladies escaped with less injuries; although Mrs. Coggin was a good deal hurt, no bones were broken. Mr. P. has been engaged in the printing department of the Merrimack Company, Lowell, and came to Milford to visit a brother, while repairs were being made to the machinery in that establishment.

MECHANICS' EXHIBITION.—The Mass. Charitable Mechanic Association announce in this paper another of their popular Exhibitions of American Manufactures and Mechanical Skill, commencing in Boston, Sept. 15th. Manufacturers, Inventors, and Mechanics are especially interested.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY
In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as agreeable to the taste as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S
is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It contains two botanical extracts, perfectly harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and destined in this pleasant form to supersede and banish from general use, the nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous excitant is the main ingredient. More than were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in its operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

One thousand experiments

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the fairer sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitly more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an agreeable specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular practitioner.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a Pill or any powder or pill.

Ellis' Iron Bitters.

Having used your Iron Bitters in my practice, I can testify to its superior tonic properties for invigorating the appetite and promoting digestion. I can unhesitatingly recommend it in cases of general debility and dyspepsia, and in conditions of the system requiring the use of a ferruginous tonic. Its agreeable flavor must recommend it to all. Batchelor's Hair Dye.

This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world; the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable, instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effects of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautifully black or brown. Sold by all Druggists and Perfumers, and properly applied at the Wig Factory 6 Bond Street, New York.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

General Debility is Nature's Appeal for Help.

Thousands of persons, without any specific ailment, are the victims of languor and lassitude.—The unthinking are apt to confound this species of inertia, with laziness; whereas it usually arises from a want of organic energy, for which the subjects of it are no more responsible than the near-sighted are for their defective vision. Such persons, although they may be free from pain, are as truly invalids, and as much in need of medical aid, as if they were tormented with the pangs of acute disease. They require a TONIC AND ALTERATIVE, that will rouse and regulate their torpid organizations. In cases of this kind, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS produce an immediate and most favorable effect.

The debilitated and desponding valetudinarian, who feels as if he were but half alive; who shuns company, and has no relish either for business or pleasure, is metamorphosed, by a brief course of this most potent vegetable invigorant, into quite a different being. The change effected by the BITTERS, in his bodily and mental condition, is a surprise to himself and to his friends. He mopes no longer; the active principle of life, which seemed to have died out of him, is re-awakened, and he feels like a new man. Remembering that debility is not only an affliction itself, but an invitation to disease, no time should be lost in recruiting the broken-down system with this choicest and most potent of all TONICS AND NERVINES.

Holloway's Pills to Dyspeptics.—Laugh at those who tell you that Dyspepsia cannot be cured. You will have good cause to laugh if you try HOLLOWAY'S PILLS as a remedy. Your sensations, after the first dose or two, will assure you that the cure has begun. You will find your appetite improved, your stomach less uneasy, your head clearer, your spirits lighter, your nerves firmer, your body stronger. Persevere, and all the distressing symptoms of your complaint will vanish. There are some rules without exceptions. This is one of them. Sold by all Druggists.

Important Fact.

We see that persons of strong constitutions, and young, suffer for days with pains of the limbs, loss of appetite and fever, who suddenly get well after a chills followed by slimy, bilious stools. The relief produced by there evacuations were the original guide to the idea of the practice of purgation, and which, when enforced by Brandreth's Pills, always benefits, usually cures, and often prevents disease, especially Scarlet Fever and diseases of similar character.

I. L. Cook, publisher of the "State Banner," Bennington, Vt., says Brandreth's Pills cured him of fever and ague, after being afflicted with it over five years. His friends and doctors considered his recovery impossible; but six boxes of Brandreth's Pills restored his health perfectly.

A young lady of Mount Pleasant was sorely troubled with Dog-worm. All advice and medicine failed to help her. She had no rest. Thin, careworn and unhappy, she looked the picture of misery. At last she concluded to try Brandreth's Pills. On one box she found no rest. Thin. They brought away, according to her computation, over two hundred yards of tape-worm. At length all her bad symptoms left her; she slept and ate naturally, and her health became fully restored. jel7

"A Word to Horsemen."

DR. TOBIAS' CELEBRATED VENETIAN HORSE LINIMENT has been tested by the first Horsemen in the country, and proved to be superior to any other. The late Hiram Woodruff, of "trotting fame," was never without a bottle in his stable. It is also used by Col. Bush, of the Jerome Park Course, at Fordham, N. Y., who has over twenty running horses under his care, among which rank some of the finest stock in America.—It is warranted to cure Lameness, Sprains, Bruises, Scratches, Galls, Cuts, Wind Galls, Colic, Sore Throat, Nail in the Foot, and Over Heating, when used according to the directions.

All who own or employ Horses are assured that this Liniment will do all, if not more, in curing the above named complaints, as Tobias' Liniment of Colic, if, when first taken, the Liniment is used according to directions. Always have a bottle in your stable.

Prices, in Pint bottles, One Dollar. The genuine is signed S. I. Tobias on the outside wrapper. For sale by the Druggists, Saddle Makers and Storekeepers throughout the United States. Depot, 10 Park Place, New York jel7 was accomplished by the election of Grant, and a revolution of immense social importance has been effected by the general substitution of that pure and harmless preparation,

A Great Political Revolution

Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye,

for the deadly compound of lead and brimstone of which, according to the "Journal of Chemistry" and the "Medical Gazette," more than thirty varieties have been foisted upon the public! Cristadoro's Dye is the only one that and Professor Chilton, over his own signature, declared that it is perfectly wholesome.

HAS BEEN ANALYZED;

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATIVE, as a Dressing, acts like a charm on the Hair after Dyeing. Try it.

Dr. Ham's Aromatic Invigorator

removes from the system the ill effects caused by the excessive use of alcoholic liquors, and effectually destroys the appetite for these stimulants. It gives tone to debilitated stomachs, and relaxed fibres. Effete matter is removed from the system, thereby restoring it to its normal healthful condition. As a medicine, it is quick and effectual, curing the most aggravated cases of Dyspepsia, Kidney Complaints, and all other derangements of the Stomach and Bowels, in a speedy manner.

This elegant preparation has stood the test of years. A wine-glassful before eating will give a good appetite and prevent all suffering from indigestion. Ladies of weak and delicate constitutions should take the Invigorator three times a day. A wine-glassful before retiring will insure sweet sleep and refreshing sleep. All the proprietor asks is a trial, and to induce this he has put up the Invigorator in pint bottles at 50 cents,—quarts $1.00. Principal Depot, 45 CENTRAL WHARF, BOSTON. Sold by all Druggists. my15eod1m

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

The best remedy for the cure of CONSUMPTION, and ALL DISEASES OF THE LUNGS. It causes the phlegm and matter to rise without irritating those delicate organs (the Lungs,) and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system, stops night sweats, and changes all the morbid secretions to a healthy state.

It contains no opium in any form. It is perfectly harmless for the most delicate child. It is everywhere in good demand and gives good satisfaction.

The result of its use is proof of its great value.—Its extraordinary healing properties are experienced by all who use it. Their testimony will be found in a pamphlet, which can be had of the agents where the medicine is for sale. 625

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Manhood.

IN the young and rising generation the vegetative powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show its baneful influence.—It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary excitements of ever-changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body too much confined to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwards upon themselves.

If the patient be a female, the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety, as the first symptom in which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it fed on; the energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fearfull a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain; the parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU, for Weakness arising from excesses or early indiscretion, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Wakefulness, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude pain in the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Pimples, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread for Fear of Themselves; no Repose of Manner, no Earnestness, no Speculation, but a hurried Transition from one question to another.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on—which this medicine invariably removes—soon follow Loss of Power, Paralysis, and Epileptic Fits, in one of which the patient may expire.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients; reason had for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibition appears. The unfortunate are mutually sodden and quite destitute—neither Mirth nor Grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur it is rarely articulate.

"With woeful measures wan Despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguiled."

Whilst we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences. HELMBOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU. There is no table like it. It is an Anchor of Hope to the surgeon and patient, and this is the testimony of all who have used or prescribed it.

Sold by Druggists and Dealers everywhere.—Price $1.25 per bottle, or 6 bottles for $6.50. Delivered to any address. Describe symptoms in all communications.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood: the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing the torpidity of the liver, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing ever has been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to digest the food, and makes the blood with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood, without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, accurated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If the patient has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, ulcerations, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make a blood out of food. Now is the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest freely and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets healthy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the forementioned medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 25 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. G. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yja4

☞ on Wednesday night a fleet of 30 or 40 fishing vessels came into Portsmouth harbor, and many of the fishermen were roving about town. A party of them on their way back to their vessels through Kittery amused themselves by trampling down flower gardens, tearing down fences, cutting halyards of flag poles, &c. They hitched the halyards of one of the Grant flag poles to the door knob of the house of a widow lady and pulled it from the door. They did not enter, however, but took to their heels when the knob gave way. A repetition of such acts will probably cause trouble to the mischief makers, as the indignant denizens of that neighborhood have provided themselves with powder and shot, which they will not hesitate to use bountifully.

FATAL SPORT.—The Dover Enquirer mentions the death of a young man in that city, John P. Austin, who was, on Tuesday evening June 15, accidently shot in the forehead by Anna Gage, at the residence of Mr. Orrin Collins. Several young persons were collected at the house of Mr. C., with whom young Austin worked.—He had a revolver, which they were looking at and handling, He put a cap upon one of the barrels of the revolver, and handing it to Miss Gage told her to shoot him. She playfully took the pistol, aimed it at his head, and discharged it, the ball entering his head above the right eye, killing him almost instantly. No blame is attached to Miss G, as none of the party supposed the pistol to be loaded. Mr. A was about 17 years of age, and of steady and industrious habits.

The blow falls heavily upon relatives and friends, and adds one more death to the thousands which have occured by the playful discharge of fire-arms, which were supposed to be empty, but were not searched.

☞ One day last week, a little boy was drowned at Indianapolis, Ind., and the body could not be found. Two nights after, the men who had been employed to search for it dreamed twice that he saw the body under water, at a point some distance below where the boy was drowned. This impressed him so strongly that at daylight he repaired to the spot indicated, when to his astonishment he saw the dim outlines of the body, floating beneath the surface of the water, rising and sinking at intervals, just as it appeared in his dreams.

WASHINGTON ITEMS.—The Freedmen's Relief Society here has of late received applications from all sections of the country for laborers, and they are supplying the demand as rapidly as possible. This labor seems to be now well appreciated at the North as the Secretary here has assurances daily.

The Medical Society of Washington, are troubling themselves with the negro question, and have just rejected two dark skinned M. Ds. who wished to become Fellows. Both are regularly educated physicians, hold diplomas received from institutions of recognized character and standing, and both have licenses to practice from the Medical Society of the District of Columbia. There was no objection to their professional fitness, the opposition being solely on account of the color of their skin. The attendance of members of the society was large, and but twelve physicians voted for their admission.

The Washington Typographic Union are troubling themselves in a similar way.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

YORK, June 14.

Messrs. Editors:—Last Saturday evening at the village, and among what is called "upper ten," was witnessed the greatest fight of the season. I notice your correspondent in last week's issue, gives the report of a wagon belonging to a certain man in Kittery being cut and defaced, &c. It is supposed that the row of Saturday evening was the partial result of the wrongs done the wagon in question. But to give you the programme:

At about 9 o'clock, as two men (one of whom was the owner of the wagon spoken of) were coming from the harbor towards the village, they were suddenly saluted with brick bats and other missiles being thrown at their carriage. They stopped their horse, when the driver was taken from his seat, and some six or eight ruffians (they deserve no better name) proceeded to give him a sound thrashing. The other person jumped from the carriage, and made for the crowd, being, as I am informed, capable of thrashing a dozen such fellows, but they stood far off and continued to throw bricks, &c., doing some serious injury to both persons, and also completely destroying the covering of the top buggy. They also cut the harness and cleared the horse from the carriage.

I am informed that one man had a front tooth knocked out and lip badly cut by a brick; the other man had one of the cords in the back part of the neck cut nearly off by another brick. Take this all in all, it is the most stirring affair that has been witnessed in this quiet place for a long time, and it is only the effect of that house, and "the wavy ringlets of her flaxen hair."

That old lady, Mrs. G., is on tip-toe with her many evil surmisings and anxious questions, and she "can't think what Mr. — can be thinkin' on to have so many men a goin' to his hous'n, and he a knowin' on't, too."

The writer takes neutral ground here, on the fixed principle that two wrongs do not make a right. The cause and effect here, are most strongly condemned by all good citizens, save one old farmer, and 'tis said he has had a finger in the same pie, and therefore feels interested that the house may stand against storms and winds that are now breezing up. Yours, INO.

"Beware of Vidders."

'Afore the governor vith-draws,' said Mr. Weller, 'there is a pint, respect vich Sammy has a question to ask. [Vile that question is a perwadin' this here conversation, p'raps the gen'men vill permit me to re-tire.'

'Wat are you goin' away for?' demanded Sam, seizing his father by the coat tail.

'I never see such a undootiful boy as you, Samivel,' returned Mr. Weller, 'Didn't you make a solemn promise, amounting almost to a speeches of wow, that you'd put that ere question on my account?'

'Well, I'm agreeable to do it,' said Sam, but not if you go cuttin' away like that, as the bull turned round and mildly observed to the drover ven they wos a goadin' him into the butcher's door. The fact is, sir,' said Sam, addressing me, 'that he wants to know somethin' respectin' that ere lady as is housekeeper here.'

'Ay. What is that?'

'Vy, sir,' said Sam, grinning still more, 'he vishes to know vether she'—

'In short,' interposed old Mr. Weller, decisively, a perspiration breaking out upon his forehead, 'vether that 'ere old creetur is or is not a widder.

Mr. Pickwick laughed heartily, and so did I, as I replied decisively, that "my housekeeper was a spinster."

"There!" dried Sam. "now you're satisfied. You hear she's a spinster.'

'A wot?' said his father, with a deep scorn.

'A spinster,' replied Sam.

Mr. Weller looked very hard at his son for a minute or two, and then said.—

'Never mind vether she makes jokes or not, that's no matter. Wot I say is, is that 'ere female a widder, or is she not?'

'Wot do you mean by her making jokes?' demanded Sam, quite aghast at the obscurity of his parent's speech.

'Never you mind, Samivel,' returned Mr. Weller, gravely; 'fuss may be very good things or they may be very bad 'uns, and a female may be none the better or she may be none the vurse for making of 'em; that's got nothing to do with widders.'

'Vy, now,' said Sam, looking round, 'would anybody believe as a man at his time o' life could be a running his head agin spinsters and punsters being the same thing?'

"There ain't a straw's difference between 'em," said Mr. Weller. "Your father didn't drive a coach for so many years, not to be ekal to his own lungvidge as far as that goes Sammy."

Avoiding the question of etymology, upon which the old gentleman's mind was quite made up, he was several times assured that the housekeeper had never been married. He expressed great satisfaction on hearing this, and apologized for the question, remarking that he had been greatly terrified by a widow not long before, and that his natural timidity was increased in consequence.

"It wos on the rail," said Mr. Weller, with strong emphasis; "I wos a goin' down to Birmingham by the rail, and I wos locked up in a close carriage with a living widder. Alone we wos; the widder and me wos alone; and I believe it wos only because we wos alone in the conveyance, that that 'ere widder didn't marry me afore ye reached the half-way station. Yen I think how she began a screaming as we wos a goin' under them tunnels in the dark—how she kept on a faintin' and ketchin' hold o' me— and how I tried to bust open the door as was tight-locked and perwented all escape—Ah! It was a awful thing, most awful!"

Mr. Weller was so very much overcome by this retrospect that he was unable, until he had wiped his brow several times, to return and reply to the question whether he approved of railway communication, notwithstanding that it would appear from the answer which he ultimately gave, that he entertained strong opinions on the subject.

"I con-sider," said Mr. Weller, "that the rail is unconstitootional and an invader o' privileges, and I should wery much like to know what that 'ere old Carter as once stood up for our liberties and won 'em too—I should like to know wot he would say if he wos alive now, to Englishmen being locked up with widers, or with anybody, against their wills. Wot a old Carter would have said, a old Coachman may say, and I as-sert that in that pint o' view alone, the rail is an invader. As in the comfort, vere's the comfort o' sittin' in a harm cheer lookin' at brick walls or heaps o' mud, never comin' to a public house, never seein' a glass o' ale, never goin' through a pike, never meetin' a change o' no kind (horses or otherwise), but always comin' to a place, ven you to come to one at all, the wery picter o' the last, with the same p'leesmen standin' about, the same blessed old bell a ringin', the same unfort'nate people standin' behind the bars, a waitin' to be let in; and everthing the same except the name, vich is wrote up in the same sized letters as the last name' and vith the same colors. As to the honor and dignity o' travellin', vere can that be vithout a coachman; and vot's the rail to sich cocahmen and guards as is sometimes forced to go by it, but a outrage and a insult? As to the pace, vot sort o' pace do you think I, Tony Weller, could have a coach goin' at, for five hundred thousand pound a mile, paid in advance before the coach vos on the road? And as to the ingein—a nasty, wheezin, creakin', gaspin', puffin', bustin' monster, always out o' breath, vith a shiny green and gold back, like a unpleasand beetle in that 'ere gas magnifier—as to the ingein as is always a pourin' out red hot coals at night, and black smoke in the day, the sensiblest thing it does in my opinion, is, ven there's smethin' in the vay, and it sets up that 'ere frightful scream vich seems to say, 'Now here's two hundred and forty passengers in the wery greatest extremity o' danger, and here's their two hundred and forty screams in run?"

COST OF POULTRY RAISING.—Mr. Leland the great poultry raiser, says that he can raise a thousand pounds of poultry more cheaply than he can raise a thousand pounds of beef, mutton or pork. This may be true if one has the scraps and swill from a large hotel to feed them. In some wild localities the thing might be easily done, but it will be found that chickens require a great deal both of feed and room, and both these are expensive in the better portions of the country.

One reason why very small flocks of chickens pay the highest per centage of profit is, that they derive the greatest proportional benefit from household scraps, and these are never entered in the bill of costs, while they are the most efficient agents in the production of eggs.

What I wish to impress upon those who are not farmers, but persist in keeping a pig or pigs in small premises, is that there is a great deal more food in a dozen or two of hens, well kept and cared for, than there is in pigs, besides being of a better quality and more saleable.

Now, as to cost, few if any hens eat more than a bushel of grain a year, the quantity consumed being governed by the range they have. A friend who occupies some 20 or 30 acres of land in this section, was always complaining he could get no eggs. I suggested that he dispense with his pigs, and turn all his kitchen scraps over to his hens. He has tried it for several years, and now finds he has more eggs and chickens than he can consume. Nothing will induce him to go back to pigs again. As he keeps a number of horses, he does not require hogs to make manure. I made the same suggestion to a young man who lately bought a farm at Farmer's Village, Seneca Co., N. Y. He said to me lately that he found poultry was the cheapest food for his workmen, besides being so much better than salt "junk," all the time, as the sailors say.—Cor. Country Gentleman.

AMERICAN

BUTTON-HOLE, OVERSEAMING, AND—

SEWING MACHINE!

H. N. DUNYON, 27 Market Street,
Agent for Portsmouth and vicinity.

The Reasons Why

This is the best Family Machine to Purchase.

1. Because it will do everything that any machine can do—the finest of sewing, hemming, felling, cording, tucking, braiding, binding, gathering, quilting, &c., better than any other machine.

2. Because it can work a beautiful button-hole, making a fine pearl, as by hand. (Not done on any other Sewing Machine.)

3. Because it will work a beautiful eyelet-hole. (No other machine can.)

4. Because it will embroider over the edge, making a neat and beautiful border on any garment. (Not done on any other Machine.)

5. Because it can do "overhand seaming," by which shirts, pillow-cases and the like are sewed "over and over." (No other Machine can do it.)

Caution.

We would hereby warn the Public against albogus advertisements of "Button-Hole Attachments, as the AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE is the first and only Button-Hole and Sewing Machine combined in the world.

This Machine is for sale only at our establishment, 27 Market Street, where we cordially invite the Public to Call and Examine for themselves, and be convinced that this is the Best and Cheapest Machine for any family.

N. B.—All Machines are Warranted for one year. Instruction given at the house of purchaser free. Persons buying this Machine sever wish to exchange for any other.

WHAT ADVERTISERS SAY.

The firm, whose letter we print below, gave us in 1867 what was then the largest contract we had ever received for our "LISTS OF 100 LOCAL NEWSPAPERS." We feared that they this year renew the order and increase the amount is the best argument we can give that these "LISTS" are good advertising mediums.

LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL,
MANUFACTURERS OF
Axes, Shovels, Saws, &c.,
No. 118 WATER STREET,
PITTSBURG, PA., Dec. 3, 1868.

MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO.:
Gentlemen:—One year ago with much hesitation we gave you an advertisement for one of your Lists of One Hundred local papers; a very short time thereafter we unhesitatingly added two more Lists of One Hundred papers.

But a short time elapsed before we were inquirer of on every side for "Colburn's Patent Red Jacket Ax," providing the parties to whom we had reached the very parties to whom we wanted to introduce the new patent Ax.

The year having now nearly gone by, we cannot but believe your system of advertising by "Lists of Local Papers" is just the kind of advertising we want, and we to-day forward you an order still adding one more List of One Hundred papers, making the number now altogether four (4) Lists of One Hundred (100) local papers.

The more we know of our newspaper agents and editors' agents the more satisfied we are that the arrangement we have made with you is preferable to any we have ever before tried. The merit of the Ax itself has, of course, something to do with the great demand for it, but we are satisfied that by your system of advertising by "Lists" we have accomplished in one year what would have ordinarily taken us five years to accomplish.

Respectfully,
LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL.

The following from the National Publishing Co., of Philadelphia, may be taken as an answer to those who inquire if these "Lists" can really be good advertising mediums.

MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 40 PARK ROW:
Gentlemen:—It is more than three years since we began advertising in your "Lists of One Hundred Papers" each, and in that time have given "The List System," as originated by you, a thorough trial, and we can now say it is the cheapest and best general advertising medium we have any knowledge of.

We have tried every possible mode of advertising, having dealt with the papers direct, and thro' nearly every advertising agency in the country, and have no hesitation in saying that your Lists have paid us 50 per cent. better than any other way. Respectfully,

GARGET IN COWS.—Something was printed of late about a free feed of salt causing the garget in cows, and that a free feed of beans would cure the same. I know nothing about it, but will say that within a couple of days in the middle of February last, after salting my cows, one of them, and the best one at that, was taken very severely with caked bag, although milked regularly as before. I expected she would get over it, as my cows have sometimes done before, by constant milking, especially as it was in mid-winter. She grew worse very fast, however, lost flesh wonderfully fast, and would scarcely lie down or eat at all.

Not knowing what to do, and happening to think of the bean remedy I had seen recommended in your paper, I commenced feeding about two quarts of them twice a day, and it was not 36 hours before her bag commenced softening. The cow seems completely over her garget now, but gives just no milk at all in the side (two teats) affected, although before she was taken she gave six or eight quarts per day. Perhaps the garget's coming and going as it did, in connection with the salt and the beans, was purely accidental, and perhaps not. I cannot tell, but if my cows have garget again I shall try beans.

A HORSE STORY.—The Salem Gazette of June 9, tells the following story of a recent occurrence in Windham, illustrating animal instinct and affection.

Mr. Lummus, the expressman, has two mares, Jenny and Topsey, which have been driven together eighteen months, and have become very much attached. On Sunday morning, Mr. L. let them, (with his other two horses) out to graze for a short time by the roadside, and they all strayed some distance out of sight of his house.

Topsey becoming thisty attempted to drink from a ditch by the side of the road,—when owing to the softness of the bank she was precipitated headlong into the ditch, and her efforts to get out served only to force her farther into the mud and water. Jenny finding that her mate was in trouble, and seeming to know that help must come from man, started at full run for the nearest house, occupied by Mr. Perkins, neighing all the while as if calling for help. Coming near the house she would turn and run again towards the horse. This strange conduct attracted the attention of Mr. Perkins, who immediately repaired to the meadow, when he found Topsey nearly suffocated. Having raised her head and placed some brush under it to keep it above the water, and seeing that he could do nothing alone to get her out, he started to inform Mr. Lummus. Jenny had meanwhile been standing quietly looking on, and occasionally uttering a faint neigh to reassure Topsey that she was still anxious for her release, but no sooner had he disappeared from her sight over a hill than she again started for help at full speed.

Mr. Lummus had gone in search of his horses, and met Mr. Perkins just as Jenny came in sight of them; who, as soon as she saw her master coming, again turned and ran to her poor friend. Arriving at the scene of trouble Mr. L. ascertained that more help was needed; he returned to his house, called his neighbors, and having provided themselves with ropes and levers, they were soon enabled to extricate the poor beast from her watery bed. As soon as she found herself again on terra firma she gave a short quick neigh, which was answered by Jenny who was standing near by, and seemed as well pleased as Topsey herself.

WOULDN'T BE HUMBUGGED.—Quite an amusing incident occured at the depot of the P. S. & P. R. R., in Biddeford on Tuesday. A lady asked the baggage-master to check her trunk to Boston. The baggage-master desired to know which route she was going. The lady thinking the inquiry an impertinent one, answered accordingly and told him it was "none of his business,—that all she wanted him to do was to check her trunk." The baggage-master explained to her that there were two routes to Boston, and he wished to know which she was going, that he might send her trunk by the same route, and he asked her again which route she was going. Quick came the indignant reply, "why, you fool, by this railroad."

The depot master now appeared, and informed the lady that some twenty miles beyond here there are two routes to Boston, and that a part of the cars went one of them and a part the other, and she must make up her mind which she would take. The lady now became more indignant than ever, and declared that "if they had such works as that, she wouldn't go by the railroad at all, but would go to Portland and take the boat; and true to her word, she waited for the down train, and we presume took the boat for Boston. Couldn't humbug her.—Dem.

DODD'S NERVINE DID IT.
NEW LONDON, CONN., April 26, 1869.
REMEMBERED FRIEND:
I thought it well to wait another week before writing, to see if I continued to improve, as I have been doing for some time, under the treatment of the new medicine, and I am happy to tell you that I am getting better—even faster than when you were here. I commenced the use of DODD'S NERVINE without anybody advising me to it. When I began with it I could only walk from my bed to the chair. My trouble has been extreme pain in the head, and has lasted over three years. All the medicine I have heretofore taken has failed to give any relief. I am now able to go up and down stairs, and daily improving. I consider the NERVINE the best medicine I ever found, and shall continue its use, for I am confident of entire recovery. I have taken only three bottles, and would not be without it on any account. [je15 8w] Very truly, MRS. L. S. NUTE.

A LETTER
FROM DR. CONNACHER
To Dr. WOLCOT.
Dear Sir: A Man
Called on me last night
To visit a sick woman,
Who was not expected
To live till morning.
Several physicians
Had attended her,
And yesterday the Priest
Visited her for the last time.
She had been confined
Five weeks before my visit.
I found the room
Where she lay crowded
With Men and Women,
Watching for her to die.
She was so low
She could not speak
Only in Whispers,
And very weak.
She had severe inflammation of the Bowels. I applied PAIN PAINT freely, and in less than fifteen minutes every particle of Pain was gone.—Another TRIMPH for your PAIN PAINT. Her flesh was nearly raw from repeated applications of Mustard Plasters. They purchased a $5 bottle of PAIN PAINT, and she is doing well, and out of Danger. I had just got home, and nearly asleep, when another person came after me, wanting relief for his wife, who had toothache. She was cured instantly by applying PAIN PAINT freely to the outside of her face. Last Monday night a gentleman who keeps a Livery Stable here called on me to visit his Wife, who has been suffering for a long time with Liver complaint, Cough, and a host of troubles, the result of DRINKING. Every Physician in this town has practiced on her, but always left her worse. The Bottles that contained the Drugs she had swallowed would fill a large Dry Goods Box. In her case I used both PAIN PAINT and the ANNIHILATOR; in a few minutes she was entirely relieved of all pain, and could talk in longer breaths than she had done in many months. She bought a pint of PAIN PAINT and a pint of the ANNIHILATOR, and is recovering her health rapidly. I could send you a hundred cases where I have used your Remedies for Pain, Sickness, and Diseases, which had baffled all the skill of Medical Practitioners, that have fully recovered by your simple and harmless Remedies, by my recommendations, and for whom I have prescribed.
A Baptist Clergyman here in Hyde Park is an enthusiastic admirer of PAIN PAINT, and wants to get one of your Charts to hang up in his library. He thinks PAIN PAINT is the greatest thing ever known. I shall go to Pittsburgh a few days and will write you again more particulars. I cannot close without sending you a sworn affidavit, handed to me by a gentleman residing in Wilkesbarre, Penn., to whom I applied PAIN PAINT with astonishing success. DR. J. CONNACHER.
SCRANTON, PA., May 13th, 1869.
On Friday, April 30, I was suddenly taken with rheumatism in my back, so that I was unable to leave my bed. On Monday, May 3, Dr. Connacher was sent for; with great pain and difficulty I turned over in bed to have him Paint my back.—In less than three minutes I arose and dressed myself and went down to my store. I felt no more pain and but little soreness; I walked all around the public square and to the Bristol House in less than twenty minutes from the first application of Pain Paint. I am now free from all pain, and can be seen any day at the fruit and confectionary store on Main Street, near the public square.

Dr. R. L. WOLCOT, of 187 Chatham St., N. Y., has more patients than any Hospital in the world. He discards all dosing, and removes pain, free of cost, at his office. This is the BEST for Pain, and ANNIHILATOR for Catarrh and Weak Nerves, is sold at all Drug Stores. He charges nothing for advice, and sends to any person his Remedies, free of express charges, on receipt of $5 at each order. Therefore none need be deceived by counterfeits. He uses only White Wrappers. je15 4w

The News.

Commodore Nutt and Minnie Warren were married on Thursday, at West Haven, Conn.

The crops throughout the State of Kansas promise finely.

On the 17th at Canandaigua, United States detective Russell J. Lowell, for collusion and conspiracy with counterfeiters, was arrested and lodged in jail to await trial.

The Williamsburg Dime Savings Bank was robbed by sneak thieves of nearly $6000, on Thursday morning.

At Richmond, Va., on Thurday morning, United States Marshal Parker made a descent on an alleged Cuban recruiting rendezvous, and arrested N. H. Harrison, the leading man. Harrison had plenty of funds in bank, and promptly gave bail in sums of $1000 to appear in court. It is stated that about thirty men were recruited. The men are promised $500 bounty in New York.

The Nova Scotia Repeal League has passed resolutions declaring that every legitimate means should be used to bring about a union with the United States.

The interest on South Carolina bonds and stock will be paid July 1st.

Ripe apples at this season are an exclusive luxury of dwellers in Texas. The prairies of northern Texas have been literally covered this season.

The population of the Marquesas Island is said to be rapidly diminishing by effects of disease and war. Leprosy and intemperance are making fearful havoc among them. They now number 8000.

As Hezekiah Greene and wife, of Mason county, Va., were walking home from a neighbor's, through the woods, one day, last week, a tree suddenly fell and crushed Mrs. G. into a shapeless mass. Her husband narrowly escaped a similar fate. They had been married but a few weeks.

The workmen at Hoosac Tunnel have been on a strike for a reduction of the hours of labor from ten to eight, but failed to carry their point, and are going to work again.

Miss Sarah T. Lovell died at Bangor this week at the age of 67 years, after having been bed-ridden for thirty-six years.

Mr. George Tyler was drowned in Poor Farm Pond at Georgetown, on Sunday, by the upsetting of a boat. He was 26 years of age.

Florida is the twenty-fifth State that has ratified the Fifteenth Amendment.

Both sides profess to be confident in Virginia, while the best judges admit that the majority either way will not be large.

Even the Kentucky Democrats are learning. In Boyle county they resolved that, as the Democracy of that county were divided as to the expediency of allowing negroes to testify in courts of justice, that question should be no longer "a test of party fealty."

New Hampshire Legislature.

In the House on Friday, Mr. Daniel of Manchester, from the Committee on Railroads, reported the bill extending the time of the building of the Mount Washington Railway, without amendment.

Mr. Folsom of Exeter, moved to amend section 8 by adding "Nothing in this act contained shall authorize said corporation to maintain any hotel, eating-house or place of public entertainment within the lines of the road as located under the provisions of this act."

A debate ensued; at the close of which the amendment was voted down, 29 to 162. Another amendment of similar tendency was voted down, 60 to 169—and the bill was passed.

Mr. Hughes, of Ashland, from the Committee on Railroads, reported the bill in amendment of the charter of the N. H. Central Railroad, with a recommendation that it be postponed to the next session. Adopted.

Mr. Folsom of Dover, from the same Committee, reported the bill uniting the Exeter and Salisbury Railroads without amendment. Accepted.

Mr. Hackett of Portsmouth, from the Committee on National Affairs, submitted the report of the majority of that committee in reference to the Constitutional Amendment, in the form of a joint resolution, to ratify the 14th Amendment. A minority report recommended that it be indefinitely postponed. On motion of Mr. Hackett of the two reports were laid on the table, and made the order of the day for Thursday evening next, at 7 1-2 o'clock.

Mr. Kidder of Manchester, from the Committee on Incorporations, reported the bill incorporating the New Hampshire Mutual Life Insurance Company, and the bill in relation to the city aqueduct, without amendment, and they were ordered to a third reading.

Editorial Correspondence.

BOSTON, SATURDAY P. M., JUNE 19.

The great Peace Jubilee closed to-day with a concert by 7000 school children and an orchestra of 600. About 25,000 people were in attendance and were mostyl seated. The children sang finely and with marked precision of time and tune; Ole Bull electrified the audience with one of his famous violin solos; Miss Adelaide Phillipps rendered with effect the drinking song, "Il regreto per esso fallire," from Donizetti's "Lucretia Borgia;" and Madame Parepa-Rosa sang more sweetly than ever, "Let the bright Seraphim," from Handel's "Samson," with trumpet obligato by M. Arbuckle,—filling the vast building with melody. The audience were wild with delight, and insisted on the repetition of both pieces, which they were favored with. Miss Phillipps and Madame Rosa sang a duett from "Stabat Mater," which was encored, and the grand festival wound up with "Old Hundred," which the audience joined in singing. The thousands of singers and listeners then slowly withdrew, as if loth to leave the scene of the greatest and grandest musical triumph ever known.

We are under obligations to S. R. Niles, Esq., of advertising fame, and to R. H. Dunham, Esq., of the Boston Sunday Times, for especial favors at a time when tickets of admission were bringing fabulous prices, none being for sale at the ticket offices. The arrangements for the accommodation of the Press were most complete, and the foreign correspondents are astounded at the liberality displayed, while the Westerners overflow with heartfelt encomiums of the manner in which the Press have been cared for.

The praises of Gilmore, Zerrahn, Tourjee and the other active managers of the Jubilee are upon every lip, and the members of the Press held a meeting at their headquarters this afternoon and adopted a series of resolutions, offered by Mr. E. A. Andrews, of the Peoria (Ill.) Transcript, thanking the officials for kindness and attention, and congratulating Mr. Gilmore on the glorious success. The fourth resolution was as follows, and expresses the feelings of every member of the Press who has visited the Coliseum:—

"Resolved, That we further deem it a duty, as it certainly is a pleasure, to tender our grateful acknowledgments to Messrs. Stephen R. Niles, R. H. Dunham, R. M. Pulsifer, O. E. Doolittle, and their appointees, for the numerous courtesies extended, and their untiring and impartial efforts to facilitate and lessen the labors of those whose pleasing duty it has been to record in detail the success of the greatest musical festival in the history of the world."

Mr. Gilmore is the recipient of a magnificent gold watch, costing $500, from the members of the orchestra.

The only regret we hear expressed is at the refusal to sing the "Star Spangled Banner" on Friday, when 40,000 people wished for and expected it. The weather throughout has been most favorable, as if Providence smiled on the undertaking begun in face of obstacles that well nigh proved too great to be overcome.

The remarkable order kept during the week is a theme of general conversation. It is estimated that 300,000 people were in and about the Coliseum during the five days, and it was necessary to make but 50 arrests,—the arrests averaging but one in 10,000! 320 extra policemen were on duty at the Coliseum. During a two-days' sojourn in Boston we saw but one fracas, and that was in the Public Garden, between a colored individual and an Irishman, in which the latter was the aggressor, and got a heavy blow on the caput with the head of a cane in return for two given the darkey straight from the shoulder. A policeman walked them off under arrest, and one of them certainly had a fearful headache!

The complimentary entertainment tendered the Press of the United States and Canada at the Museum, Friday evening, by Mr. Warren, was attended by nearly every representative in the city, and the house was crowded to repletion. Warren appeared in a "Victim of Circumstances" and as "Billy Lackaday" in "Sweethearts and Wives." The acting was of Warren's best, and enjoyable in the extreme.

Boston is being deserted by strangers, and has in a great measure resumed its wonted serenity. On Friday the crowds began to lessen and on Saturday the grand begira was at its height. The hotels, eating saloons, and shop-keepers have reaped a rich harvest; the visitors have left behind millions of dollars; Gilmore has immortalized his name; Boston is self-satisfied with this last and greatest addition to her laurels; and the managers of the Jubilee are content with more than paying their immense expenditures from the untold wealth represented by bushels of greenbacks taken at the Coliseum. G.

HON. HENRY J. RAYMOND, of New York, who died at 5 o'clock on the morning of the 18th, was at his desk in the office of the Times, until 6 o'clock on the evening of the 17th, apparently well. During the afternoon he had been with a daughter to Greenwood Cemetery, to select a lot for his family, having lost a son. From the office at 6 o'clock, he went home and dined, sat with his family and friends till between 9 and 10, and then went to a political meeting. At half past 2 his family found him upon the floor of his hall entrance, insensible and dying.—and all was soon over. The Doctors say the fatal disease was apoplexy. He had been a very healthy man, of great endurance, and probably taxed his powers sometimes beyond measure.

W. H. ALEXANDER, who has been thirteen years connected with the Concord Railroad, Co. in various capacities and who has many friends in Portsmouth, is, we learn, about to remove to Fishkill Landing, N.Y. to take the position of Division Superintendent on the Boston, Hartford & Erie Railroad, his section being the Dutchess & Columbia R. R. We are happy to endorse him as one of the most popular railroad men hereabouts. Our list of "marriages" recently made to favorable mention of him. He takes his family with him—everywhere.

FAST TIME ON THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.—A San Francisco despatch of June 10th says—

Pullman's palace train arrived at Sacramento to-day, having run over the Central Pacific Road from Promontory Point at a speed of 35 to 50 miles an hour on a level, and 25 to 35 miles on ascending grades. The passengers report the road generally in a good condition. A thousand workmen are daily improving it. There is no reasonable ground for the Eastern apprehensions of any source. Of the entire line across the Continent, the only 50 miles of really rough road are on the Union Pacific east of Wasatch, which are rapidly being perfected. In the meantime trains are moving cautiously.

THE EXETER RAILWAY.—The Exeter Railroad, of which mention is made in the Legislative proceedings, is proposed to run from the Concord & Ports. Railroad in Epping to the Eastern Railroad in Salisbury or Amesbury, Mass. The distance is about 18 miles. A charter was granted last year for the portion in this State, and at the present session of the Massachusetts Legislature a charter has been granted for the short distance in that State; and the bill now before our Legislature is to authorize a union of the two proposed links, as is done in other like cases.

—Beecher says that men confess every-thing but their own besetting sins. They steer clear of these. Who ever heard a man say, "O Lord, I am as proud as Lucifer: humble me; or, "O Lord, I am so mean and stingy that 'tis only with great pain that I can unclose my fist; make me generous."

—The city of Newburyport has voted to aid the Exeter Railway, to the amount of one per cent. upon the valuation of that city.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY
In Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as agreeable to take as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It contains two botanical extracts, perfectly harmless in themselves, but embodying all the remedial properties of mercury, and destined in this pleasant form to supersede and banish from general use, the nauseous pills and powders of which that dangerous excitant is the main ingredient. More than were made by the inventor of this peerless remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in its operation, and when combined with the medicinal taste of the curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

One thousand experiments

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the female sex are subject, the Lozenge is found infinitely more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered by quacks. Combining all the medicinal virtues of the most general aperient, they have no equal either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular practitioner.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge will ever again take a purgative powder, or draught or pill.

Ellis' Iron Bitters.

Having used your Iron Bitters in my practice, I can testify to its superior tonic properties for invigorating the appetite and promoting digestion. I can unhesitatingly recommend it in cases of general debility and dyspepsia, and in conditions of the system requiring the use of a ferruginous tonic. Its agreeable flavor must recommend it to all. Sold by all Druggists and Perfumers, and properly applied at the Wig Factory 6 Bond Street, New York.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

General Debility is Nature's Appeal for Help.

Thousands of persons, without any specific ailment, are the victims of languor and lassitude.—The anthinking are apt to confound this species of inertia, with laziness; whereas it usually arises from a want of organic energy, for which the subjects of it are no more responsible than the near-sighted are for their defective vision. Such persons, although they may be free from pain, are as truly invalids, and as much in need of medical aid, as if they were tormented with the pangs of acute disease. They require a TONIC and ALTERATIVE, that will rouse and regulate their torpid organizations. In cases of this kind, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS produce an immediate and most favorable effect.

The debilitated and desponding valetudinarian, who feels as if he were but half alive; who shuns company, and has no relish either for business or pleasure, is metamorphosed, by a brief course of this most potent vegetable invigorant, into quite a different being. The change effected by the BITTERS, in his bodily and mental condition, is a surprise to himself and to his friends. He mopes no longer; the active principle of life, which seemed to have died out of him, is re-awakened, and he feels like a new man. Remembering that debility is not only an affliction itself, but an invitation to disease, no time should be lost in recruiting the broken-down system with this choicest and most potent of all TONICS AND NERVINES.

Holloway's Pills to Dyspeptics.—Laugh at those who tell you that Dyspepsia cannot be cured. You will have good cause to laugh if you try HOLLOWAY'S PILLS as a remedy. Your sensations, after the first dose or two, will assure you that the cure has begun. You will find your appetite improved, your stomach less uneasy, your head clearer, your spirits lighter, your nerves firmer, your body stronger. Persevere, and all the distressing symptoms of your complaint will vanish. There are some rules without exceptions. This is one of them. Sold by all Druggists.

Important Fact.

We see that persons of strong constitutions, and young, suffer for days with pains of the limbs, loss of appetite and fever, who suddenly get well after a cholic followed by slimy, bilious stools. The relief produced by these evacuations were the original guide to the idea and practice of purgation, and which, when enforced by Brandreth's Pills, always benefits, usually cures, and often prevents disease, especially Scarlet Fever and diseases of similar character.

I. L. Cook, publisher of the "State Banner," Bennington, Vt., says Brandreth's Pills cured him of Dyspepsia, after being afflicted with it over five years. His friends and doctors considered his recovery impossible; but six boxes of Brandreth's Pills restored his health perfectly.

A young lady of Mount Pleasant was sorely afflicted with a Tape-worm. All advice and medicine failed to help her. She had no rest. Thin, careworn and unhappy, she looked the picture of misery. At last she concluded to try Brandreth's Pills. In one year she took seventy-two boxes.—They brought away, according to her computation, over two hundred yards of tape-worm. At length all her bad symptoms left her; she slept and ate naturally, and her health became fully restored. je17

"A Word to Horsemen."

DR. TOBIAS' CELEBRATED VENETIAN HORSE LINIMENT has been tested by the first Horsemen in the country, and proved to be superior to any other. The late Hiram Woodruff, of "trotting fame," was never without a bottle in his stable. It is also used by Col. Bush, of the Jerome Park Course, at Fordham, N. Y., who has over twenty running horses under his care, among which rank some of the finest stock in America. It is warranted to cure Lameness, Sprains, Bruises, Scratches, Galls, Cuts, Wind Galls, Colic, Sore Throat, Nail in the Foot, and Over Heating, when used according to the directions.

All who own or employ Horses are assured that this Liniment will do all, if not more, in curing the above named complaints. No horse need die of Colic, if, when first taken, the Liniment is used according to directions. Always have a bottle in your stable.

PAIN KILLER.

WE beg leave to call the attention of the public to this long celebrated and unrivalled

FAMILY MEDICINE.

The PAIN KILLER is a purely vegetable compound, and while it is a most efficient remedy for Pain, it is a perfectly safe medicine even in the most unskilful hands.

For Summer Complaints,

Or any other form of bowel disease in children or adults, it is an almost certain cure, and has without doubt been more successful in curing the various kinds of

CHOLERA,

Than any other known remedy, or even the most skillful physician. In India, Africa, and China, where this dreadful disease is ever more or less prevalent, the PAIN KILLER is considered by the natives, as well as European residents in those climates. je19

A SURE REMEDY.

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.

The best remedy for the cure of CONSUMPTION, and ALL DISEASES OF THE LUNGS. It causes the phlegm and matter to rise without irritating those delicate organs (the Lungs,) and without producing constipation of the bowels. It also gives strength to the system: stops night sweats, and changes all the morbid secretions to a healthy state.

It contains no opium in any form. It is perfectly harmless for the most delicate child. It is everywhere in good demand and gives good satisfaction.

The result of its use is proof of its great value.—Its extraordinary healing properties are experienced by all who use it. Their testimony will be found in a pamphlet, which can be had of the agents where the medicine is for sale. d25

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Manhood.

IN the young and rising generation the vegetative powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack-lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show its baneful influence.—Soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the busy and stirring scenes of the city, the powers of the body too much enfeebled by what it calls a healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwards upon themselves.

If the patient be a female, the approach of the disease is looked for with anxiety, as the first symptom is which nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of anxiety is the result; for what it calls the energies of the system are prostrated, and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain; the parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU, for Weakness arising from excesses or early indiscretion, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Cold Feet, Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pallid Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Feverishness of the Skin, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Want of Mobility, Restlessness, Want of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread for Fear of Themselves; no Impose of Manner, no Earnestness, no Speculation, but a hurried Transition from one question to another.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on—which this medicine invariably removes—soon follow Loss of Power, Fatuity, and Epileptic Fits, in one of which the patient may expire.

During the Superintendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients; reason had for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases, Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy death bed by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibition appears. Hopeless imbecility mutually sodden and quite destitute—neither Mirth nor Grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur, it is rarely articulate.

"With woeful measures wan Despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguiled."

Whilst we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an antidote of chemistry for the removal of the consequences. HELMBOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU. There is no instance on record, I ween, of a case of hope to the surgeon and patient, and this is the testimony of all who have used or prescribed it.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the stomach and liver ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration; or when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used. They cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions; they act on the liver like mercury, but do not salivate; act on the bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented, equal to mercury (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the secretions of the liver and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw the secretions of the liver to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it enters into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to cure night sweats, heal the lungs, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient starves to death.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Cankered or Scrofula Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of the food. Now the only chance is to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest well and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to gain the lungs commence to heal, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half-dozen.—Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. G. C. GOODWIN & CO., 38 Hanover Street, Boston, Wholesale agents. For sale by all druggists. d1yje4

S. J. COURT.—At the Law Term held in Exeter last week, (as reported in the News Letter,) the following business was transacted.

In "Hendrick D. Batchelder's Case," the finding of the Court at the Trial Term in April was printed and distributed so short a time before the sitting of the present Law Term (when it was to be finally disposed of) that, on motion of Mr. B.'s counsel, by reason of there not being sufficient time in which to prepare briefs, the case was continued to the adjourned term at Manchester, in August next.

Divorces have been decreed in favor of David Jewell Jr. v. Hannah T. Jewell; Sarah L. Lyford v. Bainbridge V. B. Lyford; John A. Sinclair v. Mary J. Sinclair; Albert P. Webster v. Sarah E. DROLL ERRORS.—It used to be the fashion, fifty odd years ago, in the newspaper offices, to read every thing by copy. Now it is not the fashion every where, or even generally. There were errors under the old usage;—and there are more under the new: the wonder is, however, not that there are so many, but that they are so few. Some of them are serious, more are ludicrous. Here is one of the latter kind, from an exchange.

The Ohio Legislature has lately passed a law prohibiting the marriage of first cousins and of girls under sixteen years of age. It also provides that the marriage of any young lady under twenty-one years of age, without the consent of her parents, shall not be valid. Under the old law, girls over fourteen years of age were allowed to marry with the consent of their parents, and those over eighteen to marry without consent. The new provision is a better bill to connubially inclined boys and girls in whose cases parental consent is withheld.

It is not probable that this class of boys and girls would call it a better bill; but it is highly probable that the writer of the item called it a bitter pill, and that the boys and girls think it so;—but the compositor made nonsense of it, and the proof-reader did not observe the error.

PERSONAL.—So keen is the appetite for this kind of gossip, that newspapers almost daily publish a list of what they call personals; and long ago the late Mr. N. P. Willis remarked, that what the public most desire to find in a newspaper is personalities.

New Hampshire Items.

Rev. Elmer Hewitt has received and accepted a call to be pastor of the Universalist Society in Dover.

The N. H. Convention of Universalist, at Claremont June 9 and 10, was fully attended, and the churches were represented as prospering. A Sunday School convention is to be held at Concord in September.

Mr. Charles C. Parker, who was a leading man in the late celebration at Derry, died very suddenly in that place on the 16th. His father, the late Rev. Edward L. Parker of Derry, died as suddenly, of heart disease, in July 1850, while returning from a lecture on Sunday evening.

Grass is said to be suffering from drouth, in and near Manchester. The Mirror recommends sowing Indian corn for fodder.

The Concord Statesmen asks, can any one tell what has become of the fund of $600, given many years ago by one Joseph Hall, the interest of which was to be appropriated to the support of sacred music in Concord?

Hon. George C. Peavey, Senator from No. 5, long a sufferer from an affection of the eyes, is aided by his wife, who sits by him in the Senate chamber and acts as his amanuensis.

Elder Ezra Ham and J. W. Cogswell, of Gilmanton, were injured by the premature explosion of a blast of powder. About half a pound of powder was ignited by the use of an iron bar.

The Executive Committee of the New Hampshire Historical Society will probably cover with slate the roof of the building in Concord, that has just became the property of the Society, and put iron shutters upon the windows on the south side. Other improvements will be made when the funds are sufficient.

Rev. J. G. Davis, of Amherst, remarkable amongst clergymen for his executive talent as well as ability in his chosen vocation, recently closed his account as administrator upon an estate of 150,000, with every thing accounted for to a cent.

The Littleton Republic says: "Work upon the Montreal extension is going on bravely. On Wednesday, between two and three miles of the track was laid, and at this rate the steam whistle will soon be heard echoing among the forest of old Coos."

A pine tree was recently cut in New-Hampton which grew in one trunk two or three feet from the ground, then divided into two shoots nearly of a size, and at the height of twenty feet united again, the top being like any of the group in which it grew.

An amateur farmer in Bradford was swearing mad a few weeks ago to find some sheep which he had recently purchased had no cutting-teeth in the upper jaw. He went so far as to threaten to take the law on the man who had sold him sheep without cutting-teeth in the upper jaw, for young animals.

When John Taylor Gilman was Governor of New Hampshire, his black servant, London, accompanied him to Concord. When the inauguration services were over, and the Governor had retired to his lodgings, all the negroes who came to town on Election Day assembled, and, led by London, proceeded to pay their respects to the Chief Magistrate, who treated the swarthy company.

A Tender Hearted Jury. One John Montgomery was tried and convicted of burglary in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, at New York on Tuesday. It appeared in evidence that he and two others entered the house of a citizen on the night of the 8th of February, and on coming out were observed and chased by the police. Montgomery's comrades escaped, but he turned and fired a pistol at one of the officers, who returned the fire, and afterward succeeded in capturing the burglar. The next morning there was found in Mr. Davis's garden, under a fir tree, a loaded billet, a black mask and string, a flask filled with powder, a bottle of chloroform, a pistol and dark lantern. The case being given to the jury, a verdict of guilty was rennered, with a recommendation of mercy, notwithstanding the atrociousness of the crimes which the villians contemplated.

—When a Scotch minister told his neighbor that he had preached two hours and a half the day before, the neighbor said to him, "Why, minister, were you not tired to death?" "Aw nae," said he, "I was as fresh as a rose; but it would have done your heart good to see how tired the congregation was."

—Miss Annie Surratt, so prominent in the assassination trial and in subsequent events, was married on Thursday to Mr. Toney of the Surgeon-General's office. The ceremony took place in a Washington Catholic church.

—At a town meeting held at Alfred on Saturday, it was voted to subscribe ten thousand dollars to aid in the construction of the Portland & Rochester Railroad from Alfred to Rochester.

Mrs. Lydia R. Bailey, the Printer. A most notable instance is the honored woman whose name heads this article, and who died in Philadelphia the 21st of February, in the 91st year of her age. Mrs. Bailey's husband was a printer, who died in 1808, in embarrassed circumstances. Undismayed by her loss, she took her husband's place, and for fifty-three years she conducted the business successfully. In 1861 she retired from business. Until the introduction of steam-power and machinery, her office was one of the largest in Philadelphia. She instructed forty-two boys into the mysteries of typography; and some of our present prosperous master-printers served their apprenticeship under her. For a considerable period she was elected City Printer by the Councils; and her imprint was well known.

She had great energy and decision of character. She was upright, and of high religious principle. For seven years before her death she bore composedly the physical weakness incident to protracted years; but her energy of mind remained in fuel vigor. At this period a large rent was offered for one of her houses by a person who desired to convert it into a drinking-saloon. "What!" she exclaimed with emphasis; "rent my property opposite my own church for a tavern! Not if you give me six thousand dollars a year!"

A staunch Presbyterian and a member of Old Pine Street Church—the church of famous preachers—she was regularly in her place, and during prayer she stood bolt upright, no matter how long the preacher prayed. It was matter of principle with her; and notwithstanding her kindliness of heart, she could not help expressing her disapproval of sister-members who sat during the time of intercession.—Typographic Adv.

—The Lewiston Journal records the following: A gentleman who listened to Parepa Rosa's reading of Ave Maria, expatiated warmly upon her performance, and the ease with which her voice could be heard throughout the whole building. "It is evident," said he with enthusiasm, "that she was built for the occasion!"

—Dutch emigrants who purpose to engage in shoemaking in this country always bring their lapstones with them.

AMERICAN

BUTTON-HOLE, OVERSEAMING, —AND— SEWING MACHINE!

H. N. DUNYON, 27 Market Street,
Agent for Portsmouth and vicinity.

The Reasons Why

This is the best Family Machine to Purchase.

1. Because it will do everything that any machine can do—the finest of sewing, hemming, falling, cording, tucking, braiding, binding, gathering, quilting, &c., better than any other machine.

2. Because it can work a beautiful button-hole, making a fine pearl, as by hand. (Not done on any other Sewing Machine.)

3. Because it will work a beautiful eyelet-hole. (No other machine can.)

4. Because it will embroider over the edge, making a neat and beautiful border on any garment. (Not done on any other Machine.)

5. Because it can do "overhand seaming," by which shirts, pillow-cases and the like are sewed "over and over." (No other Machine can do it.)

Caution.

We would hereby warn the Public against abogus advertisements of Button-Hole Attachments, as the AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE is the first and only Button-Hole and Sewing Machine combined in the world.

This Machine is for sale only at our establishment, 27 Market Street, where we cordially invite the Public to Call and Examine for themselves, and be convinced that this is the Best and Cheapest Machine for any family.

N. B.—All Machines are Warranted for one year. Instructions given at the house of purchaser free. Persons buying this Machine never wish to exchange for any other.

WHAT ADVERTISERS SAY.
The firm, whose letter we print below, gave us in 1867 what was then the largest contract we had ever received for our "LISTS OF 100 LOCAL NEWSPAPERS." The fact that they this year renew the order and increase the amount is the best argument we can give that these "LISTS" are good advertising mediums.
"LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL,
MANUFACTURERS OF
Axes, Shovels, Saws, &c.,
No. 118 WATER STREET,
PITTSBURG, PA., Dec. 3, 1868.
MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO.:
Gentlemen:—One year ago with much hesitation we gave you an advertisement for one of your Lists of One Hundred local papers; a very short time thereafter we unhesitatingly added two more Lists of One Hundred papers.
But a short time elapsed before we were inquired of on every side for "Colburn's Patent Red Jacket AX," proving to us that your plan of Lists had reached the very parties to whom we wanted to introduce our new patent AX.
The year having now nearly gone by, we cannot but believe your system of advertising by "Lists of Local papers" is the best for us to pursue, the arrangement we have made with you is preferable to any we have ever heard of. The merit of the Ax itself has grown so rapidly as to call for the great demand for it, but we are satisfied that by your system of advertising by "Lists" we have accomplished in one year what would have ordinarily taken us five years to accomplish.
Respectfully,
LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL.
The following from the National Publishing Co., of Philadelphia, may be taken as an answer to those who inquire if these "Lists" can really be good advertising mediums.

J. R. JONES, President.
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 10, 1868.
MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., 40 PARK ROW:
Gentlemen:—It is more than three years since we began advertising in your "Lists of One Hundred Papers" each, and in that time have given "The List System," as originated by you, a thorough trial, and we can now say it is the cheapest and best general advertising medium we have any knowledge of.
We have tried every possible mode of advertising, having dealt with the press direct, and thro' nearly every advertising agency in the country, and have no hesitation in saying that your Lists have paid us 50 per cent. better than any other way. Respectfully,

LOST.

Hark, a wail o'er the beautiful earth!
"Lost —— a soul of heavenly birth,
Turned away from her mother above,
Sinking deep in mire of selfly love."

Mourn the angels sadly all the day,
When a mortal passes on her darksome way,
Trailing her birthright-robe in sin:
Blackness without, and sorrow within.

"Mother, reach her a helping hand,
Turn her away from sins quicksand;
Turn her thoughts, her love to thee—
Help her to feel her need of thee."

"Show her mother, the deep abyss.
Then turn her sight to thy heavenly bliss,
Guide her wandering feet aright
Save from sin and temptation this night."

Rural Items.

Coal ashes are highly recommended by persons who have them, for a sandy soil.

A Pennsylvanian says, as a remedy against the striped bug pest, that water in which refuse onions or the tops and pealings of onions have been steeped, efficacious in driving away bugs from squashes and all their family, as well as the insect that troubles cabbages.

We have seen it stated on good authority that barren apple trees had been converted into fruitful ones, by girding them while in bloom. The directions are to remove a narrow ring of bark about three-fourths of an inch wide entirely around the tree just below the limbs, being careful to not injure the wood.

[A gentleman who has tried this, says it will work well for one season, but all his trees died the next year, as we should suppose they would.—Eds. Chron.]

The Horticulturist says that cultivators will find the following one of the very best selections for a list of twelve first-class pears: Doyenned'Ete Rostiezer, Bartlett, Belle Lucrative, Louise Bonne de Jersey, Sheldon, Seckel, Duchesse d'Angoulene, Buerre d'Anjou, Lawrence, Dana's Hovey, Glout Morceau. These are arranged in the order of ripening.

MOISTENING CHOPPED HAY FOR HORSES.—This practice is becoming more and more general. It is undoubtedly very beneficial. For horses that have any tendency to heaves, it is indispensable. The advantage, however, is not due merely to the fact that cutting the hay and moistening it with water "lays the dust": it does more than this; it softens the hay and meal, and renders it more easily digested. This, in fact, is the main point. And this suggests the question whether we can not carry the system farther. Steaming would be best, but at this hurried season it is out of the question on most farms.

But cannot some way of soaking the hay be adopted that will involve little labor, and which will make the hay more digestible, without washing out the soluble nutritious matter, or inducing fermentation? If nothing more was done than to mix the food for the next meal, say at morning for noon, at noon for night, and at night for next morning, the hay and meal would be softened materially, and would approximate nearer to fresh grass. We soak our dried apples before cooking them; why not our dried grass?—Am. Agr.

THE CURRANT in nearly all its varieties, is so wholesome and desirable a fruit, that too much attention cannot be given to its culture. Every farmer should devote a large patch of his garden to the growing of currants. A great many persons plant them in some neglected corner, perhaps alongside the fence where they have not the requisite amount of sunshine or room to become evenly furnished with bearing wood. Currants thrive well when partially shaded by distant, not contiguous trees; the drip of overhanging trees is injurious to them.

—An emigrant train, consisting of a man, his wife and four children, each bearing a part of the necessary utensils for housekeeping, passed through Columbus, Ohio, the other day. They were all barefooted and marched in a platoon. They camped out at night and walked all day. No one can doubt that that family will succeed.

—"Why don't you trade with me?" said a close-fisted tradesman to a friend the other day. The reply was characteristic. "You have never asked me, sir. I have looked all through the papers for an invitation in the shape of an advertisement, and found none. I never go where I am not invited."

—It was noticed by those who attended the late anti-secret society meeting in Chicago, that there was no well known clergyman or other person of any eminence in attendance.

—The greatest of all cunning is to appear blind to the snares laid for us; men are never so easily deceived as when they are endeavoring to deceive others.

—A colored lady in Colfax township, South Carolina, presented four boys to her husband one day this month. The father is sixty-seven years old.

DODD'S NERVINE DID IT.
NEW LONDON, CONN., April 26, 1869.
REMEMBERED FRIEND:
I thought it well to wait another week before writing, to see if I continued to improve, as I have been doing for some time, under the treatment of the new medicine, and I am happy to tell you that I am getting better—even faster than when you were here. I commenced the use of DODD'S NERVINE without anybody advising me to it. When I began with it I could only walk from my bed to the chair. My trouble has been extreme pain in the head, and has lasted over three years. All the medicine I have heretofore taken has failed to give any relief. I am now able to go up and down stairs, and daily improving. I consider the NERVINE the best medicine I ever found, and shall continue its use, for I am confident of entire recovery. I have taken only three bottles, and would not be without it on any account. [Je15 8w] Very truly, MRS. I. S. NUTE.

A LETTER
FROM DR. CONNACHER
To Dr. WOLCOTT.
Dear Sir:—I was Called on one last night
To visit a sick woman,
Who was not expected
To live till morning.
Several physicians
Had attended her,
And yesterday the Priest
Visited her for the last time.
She had been confined
Five weeks before my visit.
I found the room
Where she lay crowded
With Men and Women,
Watching for her to die.
She was so low
She could not speak
Only in Whispers,
And very weak.
She had severe inflammation of the Bowels. I applied PAIN PAINT freely, and in less than fifteen minutes every particle of Pain was gone—Another TREMENDOUS PAIN PAINT. Her flesh was nearly raw from repeated applications of Mustard Plasters. They purchased a $5 bottle of PAIN PAINT, and she is doing well, and out of Danger. I had just got home, and nearly asleep, when another person came after me, wanting relief for his wife, who had toothache. She was cured instantly by applying PAIN PAINT freely to the outside of her face. Last Monday night a gentleman who keeps a Livery Stable here called on me to visit his Wife, who has been suffering for a long time with Liver complaint, Cough, and a host of troubles, the result of Catarrh. Every Physician in this town has practiced on her, but always left her worse. The Bottles that contained the Drugs she had swallowed would fill a large Foot Box. In her case I used both PAIN PAINT and the ANNIHILATOR; in a few minutes she was entirely relieved of all pain, and could talk in longer breaths than she had done in many months. She bought a pint of PAIN PAINT and a pint of the ANNIHILATOR, and is recovering her health rapidly. I could send you a hundred cases where I have used your Remedies for Pain, Sickness, and Diseases, which had baffled all the skill of Medical Practitioners, but have fully recovered by your simple and harmless Remedies, by my recommendations, and for whom I have prescribed.
A Baptist Clergyman here in Hyde Park is an enthusiastic admirer of PAIN PAINT, and wants to get one of your Charts to hang up in his library. He thinks PAIN PAINT is the greatest thing ever known. I shall go to Pittsburgh in a few days, and will write you again more particulars. I cannot close without sending you a sworn affidavit, handed to me by a gentleman residing in Wilkesbarre, Penn., to whom I applied PAIN PAINT with astonishing success. DR. J. CONNACHER.
SCRANTON, PA., May 12th, 1869.
On Friday, April 30, I was suddenly taken with rheumatism in my back, so that I was unable to leave my bed. On Monday, May 3, Dr. Connacher sent me for; with great difficulty I turned over in bed to have him Paint my back.—In less than three minutes I arose and dressed myself and went down to the store, as well as ever, and but little soreness; I walked all around the public square and to the Bristol House in less than twenty minutes from the first application of Pain Paint. I am now free from all pain, and can be seen any day at the fruit and confectionary store on Main Street, near the public square. SAMUEL BUZINE.
WILKESBARRE, PENN., May 5, 1869.
Mr. SAMUEL BUZINE, Sir: I felt no more pain since the 5th of May, 1869, before } E. B. HARVY, Justice of the Peace, Wilkesbarre, Penn.
Dr. R. L. WOLCOTT, of 181 Chatham Square, N. Y., has more patients than any Hospital in the world. He discards all dosing, and removes pain, free of cost, at his office. His PAIN PAINT for Pain, and ANNIHILATOR for Catarrh and Weak Nerves, is sold at all Drug Stores. He charges nothing for advice, and sends to any person his Remedies, free of express charges, on receipt of the at each order. Therefore none need be deceived by counterfeits. He uses only White Wrappers. Je15 4w

The Daily Chronicle.

Portsmouth, N. H.

TUESDAY, JUNE 22, 1869.

The News.

A Spanish war steamer carried into the port of Havana on Saturday the schooner Sabine, captured on the high seas. The schooner was from Boston, and her officers claim that she was going to St. Mary, Hayti, or to Kingston. Her cargo consisted of thirteen Parrott guns and field pieces, 3000 shells, 1400 barrels of powder, and much other ammunition. The vessel will be detained until determined a legal prize.

Mr. Burlingame is making preparations to leave Paris for St. Petersburg with the Chinese embassay.

Maggie Mitchell is rapidly recovering.

The British government is greatly reducing its military force in the colonies.

Marshal Serrano has taken the oath of the Regency of Spain.

Paris is quiet.

Political affairs in Japan are not improved, and outrages upon foreigners continue to be reported. Three of Admiral Kimomoto's vessels attempted to capture the ram Stonewall, but the attack was unsuccessful. One of the Admiral's vessels was beached and burned.

Government officials have just effected the largest seizure ever made at Baltimore under the revenue laws. They have seized the distillery of the Ullmans, the largest in the country. The buildings alone are worth $100,000. The extensive frauds carried on have caused a loss of several hundred thousand dollars to the government, and some of the local revenue officers are implicated.

Another expedition is about to sail for Cuba from New York.

The account of General Webb's difficulty with the Brazilian government is not very creditable to that gentleman.

The Irish Church bill was passed to a second reading in the House of Lords, England, on Saturday morning at three o'clock, by a vote of 179 to 146.

The proofs of the frauds in the New Orleans custom house have been nearly completed, and the evidence is said to be overwhelming.

The bill to incorporate the Great Northern Railroad Company has passed both branches of the Massachusetts Legislature.

751 immigrants arrived in Boston on Saturday, from Liverpool.

The new base ball grounds at the South End, Boston, were opened on Saturday by a game between the Atlantics of Brooklyn and a Boston picked nine. Nine innings were played and the game was drawn—28 and 28 being the scores. Both sides were whitewashed on the last two innings.

The Cincinnatis beat the Olympics of Philadelphia in a base ball match, on Saturday, the score standing 23 to 11.

Two hundred school children fainted from the excitement and heat at the concert in the Coliseum at Boston on Saturday.

A milk war is raging in New Bedford among the grocers and marketmen, and it is selling at four, five, and six cents a quart.

Forty-six new discoveries of rich silver deposits are reported in the White Pine district, causing considerable excitement in that region. The shipments of bullion from there lately have averaged from $70,000 to $80,000 per week. The mining facilities will soon be doubled, and it is estimated that a half million dollars will be shipped in July.

☞ The number of people carried into Boston during Jubilee week by the railroads are estimated as follows;

Eastern	67,900
Boston & Providence	62,200
Boston & Albany	56,000
Boston & Maine	49,520
Boston & Lowell	46,225
Fitchburg	44,000
Old Colony	45,000
Hartford & Erie	30,000
Total	400,845

The crowds entering the city by steamers, boats, horse cars, carriages, &c., cannot be estimated. The Citizens' line of omnibuses carried 56,000 passengers during the week, and the Metropolitan Horse Railroad cars carried over 400,000 passengers during the five Jubilee days. Besides these—some walked!

The Traveller says "the aggregate number of passengers brought into Boston during Jubilee week was by actual returns over one million, exclusive of regular passengers The Cambridge Horse Railroad returns 200,000.

BOSTON GRANDEUR.—One of the New York papers remarks that the Jubilee was an attempt on the part of Boston to recover her past grandeur. But the Boston Journal thinks a city which shows an increased valuation of one hundred millions of dollars of property in five years, may be still considered as looking to her future rather than past grandeur.

SAINTS AND SINNERS.

BY PROF. ORCUTT AND UNCLE TOBY.

Was Job's Great Sinner?—Prof. Orcutt said he "was a great sinner,"—Uncle Toby, in the Chronicle recently, said that the Sacred History described him as a great Saint, but that it did not intimate that he was a great sinner; and quoted the repeated saying of Jehovah that he was a perfect and upright man, &c.

To this, Prof. Orcutt makes the following reply:—

TILDEN LADIES' SEMINARY, June 1.

Messrs. Editors:—My compliments if you please, to "Uncle Toby" of the "Chronicle." I would commend to him, the more careful study of Sacred History and Biblical Theology, especially as revealed in the book of Job and in the writings of Paul. Such an examination of the Record will show our good "Uncle" that the Bible Saint always "fears God and eschews evil," and also that sinless "perfection" is never claimed for him. Saint Job and Saint Paul stand on the same footing, in this respect, and both claimed to be "sinners," and Paul to be the "Chief" of sinners. Nor is there any "quackery" in this view of the case. I need no profane record to prove the truth of my position. Yours, HIRAM ORCUTT.

The Professor makes out a very fine point of "Sinless perfection," about which we said not a word:—but he does not touch the only point at issue between himself and Uncle Toby, which was Mr. Orcutt's assertion that Job was a great sinner, and Uncle T.'s denial of it, with proof from the Bible to the contrary.

The cases of Job and Paul are not parallel, except in a few particulars. True both of them confess themselves sinners; but while Paul styles himself the Chief of sinners, Job says nothing of the sort. Paul says that he was before his conversion, a blasphemer, a persecutor and injurious; but Job denies constantly, that he had ever been guilty of flagrant crimes.

In the New Testament history, Paul figures as breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the christians, and in the murder of Stephen he was accessory before the fact, in the fact, and after the fact, for he kept the raiment of them who slew him and was consenting to his death!

No such thing is recorded of Job; but much to the contrary;—showing him to be a "Bible saint" not merely one of the average quality,—but one of uncommon excellence,—for says Jehovah to Satan, there is none like him! that is who go so far in the right direction.

We have no possible objection to Paul's saintship, after he became a saint;—and the amount of his piety has no concern with Job in any way, that we see; Certainly it does not prove Job to be a great sinner! which is what we deny, as having no scriptural basis.

If the adjective great has any meaning or force, Job was not a great sinner, so far as the scripture history gives us his character.

What then, is the balance of authority? Answer, Satan, Job's three Friends, and Prof. Orcutt, all accuse Job of being a great Sinner,—while Jehovah pronounces him to be a perfect and an upright man,—yea a nonesuch in his day and generation! and his history, as we have it, bears out the truth of the Divine Declaration.

Uncle Toby reciprocates the compliments, and thanks the professor for the advice, which he might follow if it were possible, viz., to study the Book of Job and Paul's writings with more care than hitherto. It is possible Uncle T. might acquire more skill in finding out some hidden meaning in the Sacred History, if he were a hairsplitting theologian or metaphysician, as he is not; —but the Sacred History as recorded in the Bible, has been the careful and delightful study of a lifetime, with such helps as Henry, Scott, Adam Clarke, and others.

None of these writers here named, consider Job a great Sinner;—but all deem him an eminent and distinguished Saint; and tho', like all other mortals, fallible, they deem him a perfect man, on the authority of the Divine Declaration!

TWENTY DOLLARS A YEAR is a small sum to pay for a sense of security against loss by fire or theft of those valuables so large a proportion of mankind possess, such as bonds deeds, mortgages, plate, laces, jewelry, diamonds, &c., and yet that sum will rent a safe in the UNION SAFE DEPOSIT VAULTS, 40 State street, Boston, which are as perfect as human ingenuity can devise. Larger safes range from $25 to $100 a year. The managers also receive at low rates, for safe keeping, valuable paintings, rare books, choice works of art, family plate, town records, &c. The Manager, Henry Lee, will furnish circulars with full information.

Toronto, Ontario. MRS. JOAB SCALES. je12

—A highly intelligent lady, a resident of Syracuse, N. Y., says that she was afflicted nearly a year, periodically, with derangement of the circulation, the blood rushing to the lungs with such force as to threaten congestion and death. This was attended with the most intense pain in all parts of the body. Failing to obtain relief from any of the physicians whom she employed from time to time, she was induced to try the PLANTATION BITTERS, and to her surprise and joy they have relieved her, and she is now in good health and flesh. 23

SUMMER COMPLAINTS AMONG CHILDREN.—Dr. De La Motte of Paris says in his Treatise on Children: I have found that Dr. Speer's American Wine Bitters, given in small doses, with the Brest or beef tea between time, avoiding all vegetables, is the best remedy and almost certain cure, when taken in time. They are called SPEER'S STANDARD WINE BITTERS.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

General Debility is Nature's Appeal for Help.

Thousands of persons, without any specific ailment, are the victims of languor and lassitude.—The unthinking are apt to confound this species of inertia, with laziness; whereas it usually arises from a want of organic energy, for which the subjects of it are no more responsible than the near-sighted are for their defective vision. Such persons, although they may be free from pain, are as truly invalids, and as much in need of medical aid, as if they were tormented with the pangs of acute disease. They require a TONIC and ALTERATIVE, that will rouse and regulate their torpid organizations. In cases of this kind, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS produce an immediate and most favorable effect.

The debilitated and desponding valetudinarian, who feels as if he were but half alive; who shuns company, and has no relish either for business or pleasure, is metamorphosed, by a brief course of this most potent vegetable invigorant, into quite a different being. The change effected by the BITTERS, in his bodily and mental condition, is a surprise to himself and to his friends. He mopes no longer; the active principle of life, which seemed to have died out of him, is re-awakened, and he feels like a new man. Remembering that debility is not only an affliction itself, but an invitation to disease, no time should be lost in recruiting the broken-down system with this choicest and most potent of all TONICS AND NERVINES.

Holloway's Pillsto Dyspeptics.—Laugh at those who tell you that Dyspepsia cannot be cured. You will have good cause to laugh if you try HOLLOWAY'S PILLS as a remedy. Your sensations, after the first dose or two, will assure you that the cure has begun. You will find your appetite improved, your stomach less uneasy, your head clearer, your spirits lighter, your nerves firmer, your body stronger. Persevere, and all the distressing symptoms of your complaint will vanish. There are some rules without exceptions. This is one of them. Sold by all Druggists.

Important Fact.

We see that persons of strong constitutions, and young, suffer for days with pains of the limbs, loss of appetite and fever, who suddenly get well after a cholic followed by slimy, bilious stools. The relief produced by these evacuations were the original guide to the idea and practice of purgation, and which, when enforced by Brandreth's Pills, always benefits, usually cures, and often prevents disease, especially Scarlet Fever and diseases of similar character.

I. L. Cook, publisher of the "State Banner," Bennington, Vt., says Brandreth's Pills cured him of Dyspepsia, after being afflicted with it over five years. His friends and doctors considered his recovery impossible; but six boxes of Brandreth's Pills restored his health perfectly.

A young lady of Mount Pleasant was sorely troubled with Tape-worm. All advice and medicine failed to help her. She had no rest. Thin, careworn and unhappy, she looked the picture of misery. At last she consulted to try Brandreth's Pills. In one year she took seventy-two boxes.—They brought away, according to her computation, over two hundred yards of tape-worm. At length all her bad symptoms left her; she slept and ate naturally, and her health became fully restored. je17

"A Word to Horsemen."

DR. TOBIAS' CELEBRATED VENETIAN HORSE LINIMENT has been tested by the first Horsemen in the country, and proved to be superior to any other. The late Hiram Woodruff, of "trotting fame," was never without a bottle in his stable. It is also used by Col. Rush, of the Jerome Park Course, at Fordham, N. Y., who has over twenty running horses under his care, among which rank some of the finest stock in America.—It is warranted to cure Lameness, Sprains, Bruises, Scratches, Galls, Cuts, Wind Galls, Colic, Sore Throat, Nail in the Foot, and Over Heating, when used according to the directions.

All who own or employ Horses are assured that this Liniment will do all, if not more, in curing the above named complaints. No horse need die of Colic, if, when first taken, the Liniment is used according to directions. Always have a bottle in your stable.

THE LATEST DISCOVERY in Medication.

The great difficulty which physicians have been laboring for centuries to overcome, has at length been obviated. A vegetable Cathartic and alterative more efficient than any mineral preparation of the same class, and as agreeable to the taste as ordinary candy, is now offered to the sick in the form of a Lozenge.

DR. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S

is the most important medicinal novelty that modern chemistry has produced. It contains two botanical extracts, which, entirely harmless in themselves, but embodying all the medicinal properties of mercury, and destined in this pleasant form to supersede and banish from general use, the nauseous pills and portions of which that dangerous excitant is the main ingredient. More than were made by the inventor of this precious remedy before it was brought to its present state of perfection. The Lozenge is harmless in its operation, and altogether the medicinal taste of its curative components has been extinguished by chemical art, their virtues remain as active and potent as ever.

One thousand experiments

In Dyspepsia, Biliousness Constipation, Sick or Nervous Headache, Piles, Dropsy, and the irregularities to which the fairer sex are subject, the Lozenge will be found infinitely more effective than any of the horrible and disgusting compounds usually administered in such cases. As an antibilious specific and general aperient, they have no equal either among advertised preparations or the prescriptions of the regular pharmacopoeia.

☞ It is guaranteed that no one who has once tried Dr. ERASMUS WINSLOW'S Liver and Stomach Lozenge, will ever again take a purgative pother, or drench or pill.

removes from the system the ill effects caused by the excessive use of alcoholic liquors, and effectually restores the appetite for these stimulants. It gives tone to debilitated mucous surfaces. Effete matter is removed from the system, thereby restoring it to its normal healthful condition. As a medicine, it is quick and effectual, curing the most aggravated cases of Dyspepsia, Kidney Complaints, and all other derangements of the Stomach and Bowels, in a speedy manner.

This elegant preparation has stood the test of years. A wine-glassful before eating will give a good appetite and prevent all suffering from indigestion. Ladies of weak and delicate constitutions should take the Invigorator three times a day. A wine-glassful before retiring will insure sweet and refreshing sleep. All the proprietor asks is a trial, and to induce this he has put up the Invigorator in pint bottles at 50 cents,—quarts $1.00. Principal Depot, 41 TREMONT STREET, BOSTON. SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the liver and put it to work; then the appetite becomes good, the food digested and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens in the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well.—This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangerous to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out the gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a night sweat, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abscesses, bronchial irritation, ulceration of the lungs, or a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasted, but this is true of the body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only way to cure is to take Dr. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; the blood will begin to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success.

Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Doctor SCHENCK, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond St., New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover Street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours 9 each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

RAYMOND.—Hiram Sargent to Concord & P. R. R. Land for $25.

HORN & BLOODGOOD'S COMPANY gave one of the best entertainments of their kind ever given in this city, on Saturday evening, to a large and appreciative audience. The programme was varied and was put through with speed. Eph Horn was the same old darkey as ever, Harry Bloodgood brought down the house with his speech, Cool Burgess exercised his lungs and legs till the audience screamed with merriment, the two young clog and jig dancers did their best and were heartily applauded. Vivian and Miss Brent sang finely—and powerfully, too, and the whole entertainment was unexceptionable, except the debasing ballet dancing of the Clinetop sisters, and the played out afterpiece. The company includes many of the best artists in the profession and it is not necessary to introduce women in tights to insure the company a full house whenever they appear in Portsmouth. Legs and stuffed calves are at a discount with decent people, and many who enjoy a hearty laugh feel obliged to stay away from performances which minister to the most depraved tastes.

☞ Most of the Summer Hotels will be open this week. The Farragut and Atlantic Houses, at Rye Beach, which have been put in fine condition, are now open for transient or permanent company—both being conducted this season by J. C. Philbrick & Co., the proprietors, who are better than ever prepared to accommodate visitors. Among the improvements, a commodious covered walk now extends from the old Atlantic House, clear round to the new Cottage in rear of the Farragut; and the former dining hall of the Atlantic has been fitted for a reading room in front, and billiards in the rear.

The Sagamore House has been almost entirely made over, and is about twice as large as last year, and will doubtless prove even more attractive. See the new advertisements of both, this morning.

PERSONAL.—Chief Engineer Richard M. Bartleman, U. S. N., was in town on Monday, and a host of old acquaintances greeted him.

We are pleased to see Collector Chas. A. Shannon, who has been seriously ill with bilious fever for the past three weeks, once more on 'change.

Our readers may be interested in knowing that Mr. T. B. Johnson, the well known reconstructor of damaged umbrellas and cutlery, on Daniel Street, has sold out his business and goes to Iowa.

☞ A good opportunity for a pleasant moonlight ride down the harbor and to the Shoals in the new and trim little Steamer Appledore is afforded this evening, and arrangements have been made for a social dance at the Appledore House. Tickets for the trip, only $1. for a gentleman and lady.

☞ The attraction in Portsmouth on the Fourth (Fifth) of July, Monday—will be the Trotting at the Rockingham Park—for which entries are invited, as per the advertisement in another column.

NAVAL.—The steamer Penobscot, Commander Eastman, from Key West, sailed from Fortress Monroe, on Saturday, for this Naval Station. She will go out of commission.

The school ship Saratoga, from Havana June 7, by way of Key West, 11th instant, arrived in New York, Saturday morning, having on board a number of cases of yellow fever. In addition to two deaths which occurred at Havana, one officer and two men died during the passage from Key West, and the vessel had on board sixteen patients in different stages of the disease who have been removed to the hospital ship Illinois. The Saratoga received orders at Key West to proceed to the Portsmouth Yard, but in consequence of the alarming spread of yellow fever among the crew, Com. Whitney deemed it advisable to put into the nearest port. The Saratoga is a sailing vessel and has a crew of two hundred and four men.

Our Navy Yard Correspondence.

The U. S. S. Penobscot and Sloop Saratoga are expected in this harbor in a day or two. 'Tis reported that the Navy Department have received dispatches to that effect.

The Board of Health will take due precaution that the yellow fever shall not rage here. The vessels will lay at quarantine, as the Hospital is not yet finished.

The U. S. Nantasket got up 65 Revolutions per minute without heating, on Monday,—as good as 86 outside running,—a credit to our Engineers, Mechanics and to Government, because the work is done and well done.

There is to be a grand Picnic at Fernald's Grove at Elliot, July 5th. The two M. E. Sabbath Schools of Kittery, two of Elliot, one of York, one at Berwick and others will unite.

☞ Gideon Welles is the victim of a bequest. His mind has become agitated over a legacy of $2500 which falls to him by the death of a friend. He is coming to a conclusion as to the best manner of investing it—and it is reported that he is negotiating for the purchase of the steamer "Fox," which plied between Portsmouth and the Navy Yard four years ago, and afterwards went out of commission!

☞ The Congregational Society of Greenland recovered judgment at the late term of the Supreme Judicial Court at Exeter for $5000 and interest for over four years, from Albert R. Hatch, administrator of the estate of the late Francis March, being a legacy left the Society by the will of Mr. March. The attorney for the estate undertook to divert the amount from the real object intended, because that clause in the will was somewhat indefinitely worded.

☞ The New Hampshire Gazette for this week, is now ready for delivery at the Chronicle office. Price 5 cts. per copy—$2. per year. Contains all the Local and other reading from the Daily Chronicle.

☞ See Advertisements of Furniture and other goods at Auction, at residences to-day and to-morrow.

The Merchant Service.—No. XVII.

Of mutinies in American ships, where life has been taken, I know but little, particularly as to the ultimate fate of the mutineers; but I believe that a seaman in our merchant service has a much better chance of getting justice if he stains his hands with blood, than if he simply refuses to submit to ill-treatment—the magnitude of the offence insuring its thorough investigation.

The man who killed the second mate of the Staghound was sent home to be dealt with, and I do not know what became of him; though I do know that he was guiltless of murder, having been fully justified in taking any number of lives necessary to enable him to escape from such a ship. He may have got clear, having shed blood and been tried in a U. S. Commissioner's court; but four of the same ship's crew, who simply "knocked off duty" in Macao and did not kill anybody, were condemned to imprisonment till the ship was ready for sea, and then to be taken on board, to be further dealt with as the tender mercy of the tyrannical officers might dictate. Killing a man or two would have saved them from subsequent torture on board the Staghound, and insured them a fair trial in America, where their provocation to crime would have been allowed its just weight.

A shipmaster of this city, a most entertaining companion on a boat excursion, who used to boast that he never paid any wages to sailors, except for the passage from the last foreign port to America, — and to tell with much mirth of his savage cruelties to seamen and the many suits the ill-treated and robbed men had brought against him in foreign ports, not one of which ever went against him,—at last was killed by a knife in the hands of a lad of sixteen. That boy, I have no doubt, was a very bad one; and he had not been long enough at sea to know that he had no right to defend himself from violence or murder. What was done with him I do not know.

Without any positive knowledge of the fate of either of these offenders, I do not hesitate to say that their punishment by the law was far less than it would have been had they resorted to any less desperate means of defence or escape,—not to consider the treatment any ineffectual resistance to oppression would have provoked on board their ships. A consul cannot convict and hang a man accused of murder—the case must come home to be tried before a U. S. Commissioner's court; and in that one only of all American tribunals can the sailor hope for anything approaching justice. If his provocation has been sufficiently great he may escape punishment for taking life,—but not for any less offence upon which a consul can adjudicate.

I have never known or heard of an instance of mutiny without murder, in which the mutineers did not go to the wall, whether forced to the act of insubordination or not. In one case, the crew of a coal-laden brig (the Eolus) forced the master to return to portwhen three days out, the brig pronounced seaworthy, the crew sent to jail for three months, more men shipped and a fresh start made. In two weeks she returned to the same port with her crew, worn out at the pumps and was run on shore to keep her from sinking; the crew were paid off, the cargo taken out, and the brig condemned, sold and broken up. Yet the first crew were kept in jail till their three months expired, to punish them for revolting, though their lives would have been endangered had they not done so.

The crew of the Francis P. Sage were sent to the prison-bulks for refusing to work, after they had been beaten and kicked all the while they were at sea, and denied the privilege of seeing the consul! after reaching port; yet any honest jury would have regarded the treatment in that ship as a full justification of any means of defence the seamen could have used.

Many sailors recognize the fact that they have no rights under the law, and never expect or ask for justice from our consuls. The homicide of the Staghound (if my information as to his identity is correct) told me, years before he ever saw that ship, that he should never apply to a consular or other inferior tribunal for redress, nor use any half-way means of defence against oppression. "If I ever have to fight for it," said he, "I'll try to make a case that will take me to America to be tried; no consul's justice for me!" He carried out his promise; but for all that, he was not only an intelligent but a very quiet man. He knew that anything short of manslaying would only insure him still worse treatment on board ship, and "condign punishment" by the law on reaching port; but he believed,—as thousands of others do,— that extreme measures would assist him to get at least a show of justice.

The law is responsible for this feeling among seamen, as it is for their servitude to shipping-masters and rum-hole and brothel keepers, for their burning ships to escape from them, and for the cruelties of masters and officers. There is not a single redeeming feature in this maritime law of ours,—that is, in the part relating to the government of sailors; as to the part relating to their protection,—there is no such part. neither know nor care what the law says; I speak of what it does, as administered in foreign ports by our consuls, and in the inferior courts of our seaboard cities. PAKEHA.

THE FARM.—Farming is a profession, not to say a science. If any one doubts this statement let him leave his city home—for no one bred in the country will doubt it—and undertake to cultivate even a garden of half an acre for the summer. He will then find that knowledge is as essential to the right use of the spade as of the pen, and that there is as great a difference between scientific farming of Flanders, where literally not a weed is to be seen, and that of many of our farmers, the wealth of whose soil is about equally divided between fruits and weeds, as between the trade of a modern commercial city and the barter of a back-woods settlement.

It is true that many agriculturists are content to go on in the ways of their fathers, because experiments are costly. But it is also true that they are unable to compete with those who understand the use of new instruments, methods, and fertilizers.

Agriculture is also becoming in this country a popular recreation. Many a gentleman is content to spend on his country-seat money which he makes in the counting-room. The farmer is thus able to get the benefit of experiments without paying for them. This change in agriculture, which has converted it from drudgery to an art, has created a demand for a corresponding literature. "Fifty years ago staple agricultural periodicals did not exist on the American Continent." Now every considerable districts has one, while almost every weekly paper, secular or religious, has its agricultural department; and it will not be long before something of a library will be a part of the furniture of every well-ordered farm.—Harper's Magazine of July.

PRESIDENT GRANT SUSTAINED.—Just before the expiration of Andrew Johnson's presidential term he signed pardons for Jacob and Moses Dupuy of New York, father and son, who had been convicted of taking seized whisky from the custody of Internal Revenue officers. The father had been sentenced to pay a fine of $500 and be imprisoned for two years, and the son to one year's imprisonment and the payment of one dollar. When President Grant was inaugurated the pardons had not been delivered to the Dupuys, and he immediately ordered them to be revoked. A case was brought by their counsel, who maintained that a delivery of the pardons by the President to the U. S. Marshal was equivalent to a delivery to the prisoners. The question was tried before Judge Blatchford of New York, who decided that as the Marshal had not delivered the pardon to the warden of the prison when President Grant ordered its revocation, the latter order cancelled the pardon, which could only take effect after legal delivery. The case is a very interesting and important one, and it is quite likely that it will be carried up to higher courts.

MASTA'S PULMONIC BALSAM

IS A SPEEDY and certain remedy for Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Influenza, Hooping Cough, Asthma and the various Affections of the Lungs.

☞ The attention of those afflicted with COLDS, COUGHS, and with any disease of the lungs, is directed to this valuable remedy. On account of sudden changes in the weather, colds and coughs are easily taken, and if neglected may lead to disease of the lungs. What is needed under such circumstances is a reliable remedy—speedy in affording relief, and effectual in arresting further progress of the disease.

☞ To arrest the existing irritation of the air-passages and the lungs, speedily and effectually, the seat and cause of cough is an important step gained toward relief and cure in the first stages of the disease. MASTA'S PULMONIC BALSAM possesses this important power, and while it promptly and effectually arrests all existing irritation, and rapidly relieves cough, it renders the lungs further relief by promoting a free discharge of the accumulated mucus in the air-passages, imparting a healthy action and vigor to the chest at the same time.

☞ Those suffering with cough and the first stages of lung disease, will therefore find in this valuable preparation a speedy and decided relief. Even those whose condition is beyond recovery, will derive from its use great benefit as well as comfort. For the class of diseases it is designed to relieve, the general commendation it has received has proved its efficacy beyond question. For the past ten years have been speedily and effectually cured by its timely use while suffering from severe colds, protracted coughs, and from other forms of lung disease. It is prepared from vegetable balsams and the medicinal properties of roots and herbs, with no minerals nor poisonous acids; simple and safe in the material used, it can be taken at any time.

WHAT ADVERTISERS SAY.

The firm, whose letter we print below, gave us in 1867 what was then the largest contract we had ever received for our "LISTS OF 100 LOCAL NEWSPAPERS." The success that they this year renew the order and increase the amount is the best argument we can give that these "Lists" are good advertising mediums.

LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL,

MANUFACTURERS OF

Axes, Shovels, Saws, &c.,

No. 118 WATER STREET,

PITTSBURG, PA., Dec. 3, 1868.

MESSRS. GEO. P. ROWELL & CO.:

Gentlemen—One year ago with much hesitation we gave you an advertisement for one of your Lists of One Hundred local papers; a very short time thereafter we unhesitatingly added two more Lists of One Hundred papers.

But a short time elapsed before we were inquired of on every side for "Colburn's Patent Rod Jacket Axe," that purchasers had read of our Lists had reached the very parties to whom we wanted to introduce the new patent Ax.

The year following we not only gave by, we cannot but believe your system of advertising by "Lists of Local Papers" is just the kind of advertising we want, and we to-day forward you an order still adding one more List of One Hundred papers, making the number now altogether four (4) Lists of One Hundred (100) local papers.

The more we talk with newspaper agents and editors' agents the more satisfied we are that the arrangements we make with you is preferable to any we have ever heard of. The Axe speaks for itself has, of course, something to do with the great demand for it, but we are satisfied that by your system of advertising we have done in one year what would have ordinarily taken us five years to accomplish.

Respectfully,

LIPPINCOTT & BAKEWELL.

The following from the National Publishing Co., of Philadelphia, may be taken as an answer to those who think our "Lists" can really be good advertising mediums.

The Chronicle.

GRANT'S FELICITY OF LANGUAGE.—He exhibits at times, a rare felicity of language. His words generally come slowly, put they are to the point, and when analyzed, his speech often proves eloquent. His despatches abound in terse, significant expressions, like the response to Buckner, "No terms other than an unconditional and immediate surrender can be accepted. I propose to move immediately upon your works." "I propose to fight it out on this line, if it takes all summer," is historical. "Let us have peace," uttered by the head of the army, became the watchword of a party.

His famous letter to Andrew Johnson on the removal of Sheridan, is alive with earnestness; and his remarks to President Lincoln, upon receiving command of the armies, are a model of chaste and manly eloquence.

"Mr. President, I accept the commission with gratitude for the high honor conferred. With the aid of the noble armies that have fought on so many fields for our common country, it will be my earnest endeavor not to disappoint your expectations. I feel the full weight of the responsibilities now devolving on me; and I know if they are met, it will be due to those armies, and above all, to the favor of that Providence which leads both nations and men."

Take again, the short speech he made when he received the nomination for the Presidency: "I shall have no policy of my own to enforce against the will of the people;"—a sentiment full of wisdom and patriotism, and at the same time, the severest possible rebuke of the President, who strove so hard to force his policy upon an unwilling people.

At Galena, when his election was announced, he proclaimed: "The responsibilities of the position I feel, but accept them without fear;" while in his inaugural are opinions worthy to become maxims of public and international law. The truth is, that few men who call themselves orators, have made better or more effective speeches than he who has made so few, who never speaks till he has something to say, but upon due occassions always has something to say that is pertinent and forcible.—Atlantic Monthly.

VICK ON FLOWERS.—The flowers usually grown from seeds are Herbaceous Berennials, Biennials, and Annuals. Shrubs and trees are obtained at the nurseries. Hardy Bulbs, like Tulips, Crocuses and Hayciniths, should be planted in the autumn. Tender Summer Bulbs, like the Gladiolus, Tuberose, and Tiger Flower, must be set out in the spring.

Herbaceous Perennial are plants which die down to the ground every autumn, but the roots continue to live, and new branches and flower stems are thrown up for many years. Some continue indefinitely, but others die after three or four years, like the Sweet William; but if the roots are divided every year, they will continue to live and increase. These are called imperfect Perennials. Biennals flower the second and often the third year, and then die. Some varieties that are grown as annuals in a northern climate, are either perennials or biennials in their southern home, where there are no winter frosts. This is true of the Verbena, Marvel of Peru, etc. As annuals flower in a few weeks, or months at most, after being planted and can always be depended upon for a brilliant show, they have always been deservedly popular, and each year almost marks a great improvement in our list of fine annuals. With a proper arrangement, a continuous bloom may be kept up from early in July until frost. Annuals are classed as hardy, half hardy and tender. Hardy annuals are those that, like the Larkspur, Candytuft, etc., may be sown in the autumn or very early in the spring, in the open ground. The half hardy varieties will not endure frost, and should not be sown in the open ground until danger from frost is over. The Balsam and the Marigolds belong to this class.

The tender annuals generally require starting in a green-house or hot-bed to bring them to perfection, and should not be set in the open ground until the weather is quite warm. The Cypress Vine and the Sensitive Plant belong to this class; but, fortunately, very few of our fine annuals. Some of them do tolerably well if sown in the open ground the latter part of May, but very great success is not to be expected in this way.

SWEET CORN.—For table use, perhaps no vegetable is more generally liked than boiled sweet corn. Different varieties should be planted, such as Crosby's Early for the first eating, Stowell's Evergreen for one of the latest and best, and the Red Cob for an intermediate. If there is room for only one kind, by all means plant the Stowell's Evergreen. If you want good generous ears, filled out to their tips, then apply a generous coating of manure to the ground. If you fail in this, no after care or culture will make up for the deficiency. The best yield is given where the manure is spread, and ploughed or spaded in with some fine fertilizer in the hill, to give the corn a start.

DODD'S NERVINE DID IT.
NEW LONDON, CONN., April 26, 1869.
REMEMBERED HELLEND:
I thought it well to wait another week before writing, to see if I continued to improve, as I have been doing for some time; under the treatment of the new medicine, and I am happy to tell you that I am getting better—even faster than when you were here. I commenced the use of DODD'S NERVINE without anybody advising me to it. When I began with it I could only walk from my bed to the chair. My trouble has been extreme pain in the head, and has lasted over three years. All the medicine I have heretofore taken has failed to give any relief. I am now able to go up and down stairs, and daily improving. I consider the NERVINE the best medicine I ever found, and shall continue its use, for I am confident of its recovery. I have taken only three bottles, and would not be without it on any account. [je15 8w] Very truly, MRS. I. S. NUTE.

A LETTER
FROM DR. CONNACHER
To Dr. WOLCOTT:
Dear Sir: A Man
Called on me last night
To visit a sick woman.
Who was not expected
To live till morning.
Several physicians
Had attended her,
And yesterday the Priest
Visited her for the last time.
She had been confined
Five weeks before my visit.
I found the room
Where she lay crowded
With Men and Women,
Watching for her to die.
She was so low
She could not speak
Only in Whispers,
And very weak.
She had severe inflammation of the Bowels. I applied PAIN PAINT freely, and in less than fifteen minutes every particle of Pain was gone.—Another TRUMPE for your PAIN PAINT. Her flesh was nearly raw from repeated applications of Mustard Plasters. They purchased a $5 bottle of PAIN PAINT, and she is doing well, and out of Danger. I had just got home, and nearly asleep, when another person came after me, wanting relief for his wife, who had toothache. She was cured instantly by applying PAIN PAINT freely to the outside of her face. Last Monday night a gentleman who keeps a Livery Stable here called for me to visit his Wife, who has been suffering a long time with Liver complaint, Cough, and a host of troubles, the result of Catarrh. Every Physician in this town has prescribed on her, but always left her worse. The Bottles that contained the Drugs she had swallowed would fill a large Dry Goods Box. In her case I used both PAIN PAINT and the ANNIHILATOR; in a few minutes she was entirely relieved of all pain, and could talk in longer breaths than she had done in many months. She bought a pint of PAIN PAINT and a pint of the ANNIHILATOR, and is recovering her health rapidly. I could send you a hundred cases where I have used your Remedies for Pain, Sickness, and Diseases, which had baffled all the skill of Medical Practitioners, that have fully recovered by your simple and harmless Remedies, by my recommendations, and for whom I have prescribed.
A Baptist Clergyman here in Hyde Park is an enthusiastic admirer of PAIN PAINT, and wants to get one of your Charts to hang up in his library. He thinks PAIN PAINT is the greatest thing ever known. I shall go to Pittsfield in a few days and will write you again more particulars. I cannot close without sending you a sworn affidavit, handed to me by a gentleman residing in Wilkesbarre, Penn., to whom I applied PAIN PAINT with astonishing success. DR. J. CONNACHER.
SCRANTON, PA., May 12th, 1869.
On Friday, April 30, I was suddenly taken with rheumatism in my back, so that I was unable to leave my bed. On Monday, May 3, Dr. Connacher was sent for; with much difficulty I turned over in bed to have him Paint my back.—In less than three minutes I arose and dressed myself and went down stairs. I felt no more pain and but little soreness; I walked all around the public square and to the Bristol House in less than twenty minutes from the application of your Pain Paint. I am now free from all pain, and can be seen any day at the fruit and confectionary store on Main Street, near the public square.
SAMUEL BUZINE.
WILKESBARRE, PENN., May 5, 1869.
Sworn and subscribed before me the 5th of May, 1869.
E. B. HARVY, Justice of the Peace, Wilkesbarre, Penn.
Dr. R. L. WOLCOTT, of 183 Chatham Square, N. Y., has more patients than any Hospital in the world. He discards all dosing, and removes pain, free of cost, at his office. His PAIN PAINT for Pain, and ANNIHILATOR for Catarrh and Weak Nerves, is sold at all Drug Stores. He charges nothing for advice, and sends to any person his Remedies, free of express charges, on receipt of $5 at each order. Therefore none need be deceived by counterfeits. He uses only White Wrappers. je15 4w

The News.

The funeral of Hon. Henry J. Raymond, at New York on Monday, was largely attended by distinguished friends of the deceased.

The impeachment case against Judge Busteed seems to be falling through.

The Virginia election is close at hand, and the excitement is at fever heat. The result is doubtful.

President Roberts of Liberia is in Boston.

The new Massachusetts liquor law will go into operation July 1st.

U. S. Minister Nelson has arrived in Mexico.

Two more of the crew of the United States school-ship Saratoga have died of yellow fever.

Mrs. Ann Tessland was burned to death at Baltimore on Sunday by an explosion of a can of coal oil.

General Canby announces that no one will be admitted as a member of the Virginia legislature, to be elected in August, unless he can take the iron-clad test oath. This disturbs the conservatives as a majority of their candidates cannot take the required oath.

The President arrived in Washington on Monday, and says that any man might be pleased with such a reception as was given him in Massachusetts.

A surveying party wiped out four Cheyenne Indians in Kansas on Sunday.

After the close of the present fiscal year, June 30th, and until further notice, instead of weekly purchases of bonds and sales of gold, the Secretary of the Treasury will purchase $1,000,000 of bonds on alternate weeks, beginning Thursday, July 1st, and will sell $1,000,000 of gold on alternate weeks, beginning Thursday, July 8th.

The Great Eastern has commenced laying the new Atlantic Cable from France to America.

Milan is slightly disturbed.

The Cincinnatis won a game of base ball with the Athletics of Philadelphia, on Monday, 27 to 18. 20,000 spectators were present.

Army officers report a fight between the Sioux and Reis below Fort Bufford, in which the Sioux lost ten killed and fifteen wounded, and the latter lost one killed and thirty wounded.

New Hampshire Items.

Thomas Penick, a colored man, employed in an Enfield tannery, while at work on one of the large steam leaches, on the 10th, lost his balance, and fell into the leach, going to his waist in the boiling tan liquor. He got out alone, but not until he was terribly scalded. The worst burns were on his feet and legs, where his boots and clothes held the heat. It is thought he will recover.

Potatoes are selling in Enfield for 30 cents per bushel, and large quantities are yet on hand. Pigs four weeks old bring $5 each, so scarce is the porcine race in E.

A. M. Drake of Dover has a cow from whose milk in the first week of June almost twelve pounds of butter was made. The next week she gave milk enough for almost sixteen pounds. It averages seventeen quarts per day. The cow is a cross of Ayreshire and Durham, and is five years old.

In Concord on the 17th, Almir Blood, was arraigned before Justice Dana, and charged with obtaining a barrel of flour by false pretenses two years since. She was arrested on circus day, and in default of $18,93 to pay fines and costs, is in jail.

Mr. Ass Brown, of Raymond, in the section towards Candia, has exhibited several specimens of quartz taken from his farm, which contain evidences of copper, silver and gold. They have been examined by mineralogists, and pronounced good. Whether they will pay for working or not remains to be proved. Mr. Brown proposes to test the matter, and with that view has brought in specimens, and has sent specimens to the State Geologist.—Mir.

The hotels in the White Hills were opened for the season last Wednesday.

President Grant contemplates a visit to the State in about a month. He is expected to be present at the Dartmouth centennial.

According to the bill passed this session "for the advancement of anatomical and surgical science," the body of Pike will be surrendered to the doctors, after his execution, which is to take place this fall. In a conversation lately Pike expressed great fear that such a disposition should be made of his remains.

Editorial Correspondence.

BOSTON, June 19th.

Dear Chronicle:—

"Once more on the banks I stand,
O the dull, unchanging shore."

and not exactly that, either, only this gale-o'er-us old song occurs to me on returning to the Jubilee once more, although in a very different department this time,—for the change from music and worship to horse-trotting and jockeying, is certainly great enough for almost anybody, and sad indeed to some people. Well, never mind,—there is but a step between the sublime and the ridiculous, so they say; and at any rate, although there is difference enough in occupations and amusements, all will agree in liking the best, each of its kind. In this view, the music at the Coliseum and the racing at Mystic Park, were both highly enjoyable.

The grand singing bawl of three days was entirely satisfactory to me, without waiting to see the dancing ball, for I better like games which commence rather than end with the dawn. And why people should so generally desire to dance all night, any more than to sing, or walk, or row, or anything else, I could never see.

Every man to his own notion, however, and every woman too, so long as nobody's else rights be interfered with. So, letting those who pay the fiddlers, dance to their souls' (soles') content,—I could spare but one more day to the Jubilee, and the horses got that.

As was announced previously, 80 of the fastest trotting horses in the world, contended for eight purses, during the week, in all amounting to $20,000. For Friday, six 2:35 horses came to the score, after the $2000, and as this was divided into three parts, all struggled for it to the end. White Fawn took first money, or rather Dan Mace his driver did—for it is harder to beat drivers than horses, oftentimes. The white gelding miss-named Fawn, is a good runner, and as he came in ahead, he was unjustly allowed the heat, although the other horses that trotted squarely every inch of the way, were close up with him. If our rule was to be enforced, that any horse breaking] more than four times in a mile should be distanced, the skiving horses would not be so plenty nor so successful.

The $4000 purse, also in three parts, called four of the most famous] trotters out,—American Girl, Goldsmith Maid, George Palmer and Lucy. The first three took the money, in the order we place them. And here again the best jockey had it. The Goldsmith Maid, a small bay mare with an immense flowing black tail, was driven by Budd Doble, one of the best of drivers. She is a very quick scorer, and always came to the score three or four lengths ahead, and when the word "go" was given, shot like a rocket for the pole, and in this way won the first heat from American Girl. But as the judges would not start them in that way again, after four false starts, they were placed in line and the word given — the Maid's quick starting habit working in her favor still, of course. American Girl, a large bay mare, is one of the best horses that ever stood on iron, and she won the race fairly and squarely.

The attendance was very large, including a great number of elegant private teams; and Mr. Sprague, of the Providence track, remarked that he never saw so many fine horses together before. Fast trotting is generally considered pretty hard and wearing business, but we made up our mind long ago that it is not more severe on horses than editing and reporting is on newspaper men—and this view is confirmed by what we have seen at the Coliseum and elsewhere during Jubilee week. Be that as it may, or as it ought to be,—we observed that of all the trotters in both these races, all except George Palmer wore several boots, knee pads and other protections on their legs.

Between the heats, the magnificent stallion Fearnaught was driven round the track in a light wagon; and the matchless pair, old Ethan Allen and his son Honest Allen, were put to their flying speed in elegant style. Our thanks to Mr. W. P. Balch, Treasurer of the meeting, for the courtesies of the occasion.
